3 Close your rat-pits for the present. You cannot give the necessary attention to politics if you devote a great part of your time to killing rats. It is a very healthful and inspiring exercise, but just at present it would be more profitable to you and to me to kill off the Grant party. By the exercise of a little self-denial, you will be able to close the rat-pits and devote your entire energies to the success of the ticket.

4 Do not commit any unnecessary burglaries, murders or robberies. Although the laws are not very stringently administered, there is danger of an occasional conviction, and a consequent impairment of your strength in November. It would be well to appoint restraining committees in all the wards of New York city, whose duty it shall be to protect you against temptation.

5 Do not burn any orphan asylums or school houses. There is a prejudice in this country against arson, which we cannot hope to extirpate before November, and it would be unwise to excite it at the present time. There will be abundant opportunity to burn every orphan asylum in the country after the election of Greeley and Brown.

6 Do not say too much about pensioning rebel soldiers. It will be time enough to discuss this subject when our party gets into power. The people at large have an idea that they do not want to pay these pensions, and although it is well to let the fact be known in the South that we intend to pay them, it is well also to keep silent on that subject in the North.

7 Abuse General Grant in every possible way. It would be well also to say a word now and then about his family. Do not forget that his daughter has been abroad, and that perhaps her company has not been always of the best. Consult Carl Schurz on this point.

8 Promise every doubting Republican a Post-office. This plan has been very effective in strengthening the Liberal cause thus far. There may not be post-offices enough to go round, but that will not be determined until after the election.—St. Louis Dem.

Mount Desert.

CHAPTER V.

Round Mountain, below us, looks so invitingly near from where we are on Newport Mountain, and evidently commands so fine a view down the gorge, that the Mariner decides to climb it, and get acquainted with the bear that lives over there, in that black den under the trees, with the ground worn smooth around the opening. I cannot go with him, for the ascent has incapacitated me for further enterprises, and when he disappears down the wild ravine, I fall asleep on this magnificent couch. It is very strange to open my drowsy eyes on the dark crags and forests of Green Mountain opposite, and range after range of far-off hills, "in fluctuation fixed," wonderfully, solemnly, sacredly blue, as they can be only in such a light as this. I hear the mountain loving poet of Israel saying, "across the seas and continents and centuries that divideus, "Strength and beauty are in His sanctuary:— honor and majesty are before Him; His foundation is in the holy mountains." And the old song of everlasting trust, grander than the utmost grandeur of nature, higher than all her heights, deeper than all her depths, breathes its peace through these venerable solitudes;—"Lord, thou hast been our home in all generations; before the mountains were brought forth, or ever Thou hadst formed the earth and the world, even from everlasting to everlasting, Thou art God."

When quite awake I look for the Mariner on Round Mountain, but he is not there, and I call in some alarm. Only silence replies. Just as I begin to feel really anxious I hear him whistling up the hollow, and before long he joins me, rather the worse for wear. He went with difficulty a long distance down the mountain, until he reached a place where the descent would have been very easy, but as it must be made several hundred feet at a time, and he was not used to that way of travelling, he didn't venture to try it.

Now it is dinner-time,—that is, we are getting hungry, and as one of the open spaces along the path would be a pleasanter dining-hall than this wind-swept summit, we begin to go down. Again the Mariner bids defiance to the cairns, and improves on the appointed path so much, that by following him I find myself on a steep granite ledge, smooth and slippery, with nothing to cling to, and a prospect of rolling to the very foot of the mountain if I roll at all. He navigates me with some difficulty into the right path again, which we follow to the pleasantest of the openings and halt there for the ceremony of dinner. It is no mere form with us, though we prove to our landlord, by leaving half the contents of the basket, that he did us injustice. This is delicious cider and quenches thirst more durably than any other drink I have ever tried. The sweet, melancholy note of the spotted thrush is heard far down the mountains, in the noon silence of these dense forests. Farther and farther retreats the silvery song, till with straining ears we can just distinguish it on the very verge of silence, then it is heard no more.

Once or twice the sun looks out at us through the clouds, but only for a few seconds, and when we start anew after dinner, a fog is already setting in from sea. How beautiful it is, stealing silently along the crest of Green Mountain, torn into shreds on the tops of the pointed trees, but rolling down at last, still, white, and mysterious, to blot the mountains out. We watch it so earnestly, and scramble about so recklessly after bunch-berries (which the Mariner will persist in eating "because they are handsome and easy to pick," though he acknowledges them to be detestably insipid,) that we lose our way. We could reach the foot no doubt, without regard to the path, but we might emerge on a swamp, or miles from the road where our wagon is to meet us, and that would not be pleasant. While we are wandering about, the fog catches on the top of Newport, which thus far has been clear; it is coming down after us, and I inwardly resolve if it closes round us while yet out of the way, not to stir another step until it lifts, preferring to camp out all night in a fog or even a rain, rather than to fall over a precipice in the darkness. But we strike the path by going up the mountain again a good distance, and from this time forth treat the cairns with so much deference that we arrive without difficulty at the foot, where we sit down to "wait for the wagon," and amuse ourselves by studying natural history.

The Mariner drops a large flat stone on the top of one of the enormous ant-hills of which the road-side woods are full, then takes it off to watch the effect. The hill grows black in an instant with excited hordes, who do nothing at first but rush about wildly. Then they begin to carry off the white, round eggs, about as big as a pin's head. Those in a more advanced state of development give more trouble, as they are much larger than the ants themselves. Two or three of them get hold of one egg and pull valiantly in different directions, until all get tired of it but one, who then tugs it off to a lower apartment. Here is an egg with four ants pulling at the sides, and two standing on the top! Just the way people help at fires. Now that the excitement has subsided here, we try another hill with the same result, only that we find in this one several winged ants. One has been killed by the crash, and the wingless ants are carrying away the body. When we are tired of watching them we sit down under the trees, expecting to rest. But in vain, for this is a place where it is not necessary to "go to the ant," as commanded, because he saves us the trouble by coming to us with all his relations and is more assiduous in his attentions than we could wish.

One big fellow loaded with a dead bug three or four times his size, affords us much amusement. We admire his perseverance awhile, as he tries to engineer his burden across the road, sorely worried and hindered by blades of grass, pebbles, and deep holes. Then we plague him with a stick, from scientific motives, partly to see what kind of a bug he has, and partly what he will do when we touch him. Instead of dropping the bug and running away as we expected, he first fights the stick, and finding that useless, tries to get away with his prize. We annoy him all we can, tip him over, and head him off whichever way he turns, but he never drops his treasure nor stops an instant in despair. Respect for his character gets the better at last of our scientific enthusiasm, and we escort him safely across the road and up the bank on the other side, where as we suppose, we lose him forever in the grass. But to our amazement he reappears long after we have forgotten him,—fifteen minutes later at the very least. We know him by the bug, which he has brought back across the road again, and drags about until he finds what he must have been looking for all this while, a good place to hide it; this is right in the middle of the road, behind a small stone, where he descends into a hole with his troublesome wealth, is nearly lost to sight for a second while he stows it away, then comes out and starts off briskly on another expedition. Alexander, Napoleon, General Grant and P. S. Gilmore in one black ant. He must be first cousin to Bruce's spider.

Our chariot wheels approach while we are yet laughing over our microscopic hero; we leave this antic neighborhood, and hurry home to rest before supper. On the way, our driver tells us that the handsomest of the Porcupine, that one with the fine cliffs towards the sea, was bought by General Fremont two years ago, and that the large island beyond, "with a house on top on't," is Ironbound, not an agreeable customer for a vessel to fall in with in a fog or storm.

More arrivals for my wash-bowl, already nearly filled by treasure from Green Mountain. Newport contributes lovely club-moss and evergreens, and sprays of blossom-laden arbor-vitae, with cornus canadensis, gaultheria procumbens and empetrum nigrum,—far be it from me to call them bunchberries, checkerberries, and crow-berries! When I want to wash my face, all this shrubbery has to be deposited on the floor, (who blames them for having straw carpets!) which not only detracts from the neatness of the room, but is so much work that I have given up washing, for I am more anxious to keep my specimens fresh than my face clean, especially as it is so tanned and freckled and burned, in spite of my Coliseum of a hat, that for some time to come nobody will be able to tell whether it is clean or not.

It is so fallish tonight, that after tea we are glad to draw near the motherly warmth of a wood fire in the office, and I resign myself thankfully to the wide-spread arms of a rocking-chair that stands before it. Among the group gathered about the stove is a gentleman who wears his fine auburn hair in a wreath round a luminous bald spot, and speaks with a very gentle voice and a pleasant German accent. At table he sits near us, and has been studying the Mariner with interest these two days, unable to decide just what it is that is wrong about him. To-night he gives voice to his suspicions in the remark, "They tell me you have been out to-day with your sketch book!" The Mariner, who is used to being taken, or rather very much mis-taken for a clergyman, but has never before been accused of artistic proclivities, replies that no such heavy blow has fallen upon Mount Desert. Not having any reason for wishing to ruin its growing prospects as a place of summer resort, why should he go out to sketch it? But he looks and feels so much more ancient than ever before, in consequence of two day's mountaineering, that I really believe he would raise the standard of revolt and refuse to climb another, if there happened to be another about here. Fortunately for all concerned the other mountains are away off at Southwest Harbor, so that the rest of our journey can be made on comparatively level ground, where we shall go along faster,—for we are all getting tired, you, and the Mariner, and I.

AN ESSENTIAL OF LOVELINESS.—To be entirely beautiful the hair should be abundant and luxurous. This is absolutely essential to complete loveliness. The most regular features, the most brilliant complexion and pearliest teeth fail of their due effect if the hair be thin, dry, or harsh. On the contrary the plainest face, if it be but surmounted by luxuriant and silken tresses, is apt to impress the beholder with a sense of actual beauty. That crowning ornament of her sex is, happily, within the reach of lovely women and being as discriminating as she is lovely, she long ago discovered that Lyon's Kathairon was the sure means of securing it. No preparation for the Hair ever enjoyed a tithe of its popularity, and no wonder, since it produces such gratifying results. Applied to the waste and barren places of the scalp, it fructifies and enriches them with a new and ample growth. It is not, of course, pretended that it will do this if the capacity for reproduction is extinct, but so long as it remains that wonderful rehabilitant will assuredly propagate the germ of the hair into life and activity.

THE STOMACH AS AN AVENGER.—For every breach of the laws of health that we commit the stomach inflicts a penalty. Headache, billousness, nervous tremors, constipation, colic, heartburn, nausea, debility and mental depression are only a few of the punishments which an outraged stomach is capable of imposing upon us. To bring back this vengeful organ to its normal condition—to placate, invigorate and regulate it—there is nothing in the wide world so potent as a course of Hostetter's Stomach Bitters. Under the operation of this beneficent vegetable corrective and tonic the gastric juice becomes a pure and healthful solvent and resumes its natural flow. The effect is the same on the biliary secretion, and in fact on all the fluids of the body, and the final result is the removal of every painful or unpleasant symptom occasioned by the rebellious action of the digestive organ.

CASTORIA.—A substitute for Castor Oil—is a physic which does not distress or gripe, but is sure to operate when all other remedies have failed. You may confidently rely upon the Castoria in Stomach-ache, Constipation, Flatulency, Croup, Worms, Piles or deranged Liver. It contains neither Minerals, Morphine, Opium nor Alcohol, but is purely a vegetable preparation, perfectly harmless, and above all, pleasant to take. The Castoria soothes and quiets the system, and produces natural sleep. It is a wonderful thing to assimilate the food of children and prevent them from crying. A 35 cent bottle will do the work for a family and save many doctors' bills.

THE PEOPLE'S STAMP OF VALUE.—The Government endorsement, which legalizes the sale of Plantation Bitters, is not the only stamp affixed to that famous Vegetable Tonic. It bears, in addition to that official sanction, the still more valuable stamp, public approbation. This inestimable voucher of its rare properties as a tonic, Corrective and Alterative, is of much earlier date than the Government credential; for millions of sick persons had pronounced it the Grand Specific of the Age long before Congress thought of taxing proprietary medicines. It is unnecessary to repeat, in detail, the properties of the wonderful Vegetable Invigorant. The best reference that can be offered to those who desire the full particulars of its virtues, is the General Public. Ask those who have tried it as a remedy for dyspepsia, constipation, biliousness, intermittent fevers, nervous debility, rheumatism, sea sickness, low spirits, or loss of vital power, what Plantation Bitters has done for them, and be governed by the response they make to your inquiries.

THE THIEF who was arrested for robbing Parsons' store in this town, was found to have a quantity of Ayer's Hair Vigor in his possession. When asked why he wished to steal that article, he answered that he "wanted to restore his hair, for it was hard to be a thief and bald too." If that invention of the great chemist could restore a faded character as effectually as it does their natural beauty to bald and grey heads, it would surely be, as they say it now is, truly invaluable.—Lewiston (Me.,) Journal.

PILES.—The unceasing torture from internal bleeding, external and itching piles is fast wearing away the thousands of those who are afflicted and their hope and courage have long since given place to despair. Let those who see this cheer up, for a mild and sure cure may be had by using BRIGGS' PILE REMEDIES.

CORNS.—Since pride and fashion have had control of mankind, and shoemakers were compelled to make boots and shoes to fit fancy instead of the feet, the suffering from Corns, Bunions, Ingrowing Nails, Sore Insteps, Blistered Heels, Callosities on the bottom of the feet, &c., cannot be described. But Briggs' Corn and Bunion Remedies will cure all such torments, and proper fitting boots will prevent their reproduction. Sold by all druggists. al2

PUBLIC LIBRARY OF KENTUCKY

Second Grand Gift Concert.

DAY OF THE DRAWING FIXED.

No Postponement from Sept. 28.

To the Public:

The Trustees of the Public Library of Kentucky being satisfied from the large sale of tickets already made, and the daily increasing demand for them, that there will be no occasion for postponing the second drawing in the Gift Concert in aid of the Public Library of Kentucky, have instructed me, as their agent, and manager of the Gift Concert, to say to the public and ticket-holders that the drawing will positively take place on September 28th prox., and will not be postponed. An active demand for tickets comes from every State and Territory of the United States, and from the Canadas, giving assurance to the Trustees that no circumstances can prevent a drawing at the appointed time.

A sufficient clerical force is engaged to keep up with the orders for tickets, and in order that this office may be relieved of the immense pressure incident to the business for the week or two immediately preceding the drawing, agents especially, and those desirous of procuring tickets, are requested to send in their orders immediately, as none will have to be delayed for time to make the necessary preparations for the drawing. It is the wish of the management to fill every order for a ticket, as well as to sell all the tickets, but those who apply first must first be supplied; and, if those who put off buying until sales are closed, have their money returned, instead of the tickets ordered, as in the first Gift Concert in December last, when thousands of dollars that came too late were sent back, they will have none to blame but themselves.

LOCAL AFFAIRS.

Laconics.

Decidedly Fall-ish.

The schools recommenced Monday.

The New England Fair opens at Lowell, to-day. Hon. Frank Jones and Charles Hayes & Son of this city, will exhibit some of their fine stock cattle. Thursday is to be the best day of the Fair. Persons desiring to attend from this city may take the cars at the Concord depot at 8 o'clock, A. M., connecting with the Boston & Maine train for Lawrence and changing cars there for Lowell; or go to Boston at 6.15 A. M., and from thence direct to Lowell over the Boston & Lowell road. Trains leave Lowell in season to connect with the Concord train for this city at 3.30 P. M.; and at 5.30 for Boston, connecting with the train leaving Boston for Portsmouth at 8 o'clock.

Cider it is reported will be unusually plenty this year, the barrels costing more than their contents.

Company C of the Grant & Wilson Guards was organized on Saturday evening and is being rapidly recruited. The members and those desirous of joining are requested to meet at Republican Headquarters this (Tuesday) evening at 8 o'clock.

The Eliot stage met with an acciden which might easily have been serious, Monday morning. On arriving at Noble's Island bridge, the driver found a train of cars partially obstructing the roadway, but considered he had plenty of room to pass; the horses, however, thought differently, refused to go on, backed the stage up against the railing of the bridge, and by turning short around snapped the pole. No other damage was done beyond frightening the passengers.

The Portsmouth Music Society commence their Fall rehearsals at Mr. Tilton's rooms on Wednesday evening. See advertisement.

The Greeley enthusiasm hereabouts seems to be confined to the boys. The little Tumble-buggers were about town, Monday evening, with a fife, drum and two torches. Every one of them commanded each other and the only unanimity they displayed was in hissing the American flag on Pleasant Street.

Mr. and Mrs. Cotton W. Drake, of Rye, celebrated their goldon wedding on the 14th ult.

We Apologize.

Our local Greeley cotemporary, referring to the little notice (headed "Nothing Personal,") we gave him in Saturday's CHRONICLE, undertakes to read us a lesson on a subject concerning which he is totally ignorant—"decency in journalism"—in which he says we "cannot understand that the report of the acts and speeches of a citizen who takes a conspicuous part in a public flag raising is any the less a personality than the dragging of a man's private-family affairs into a political discussion." As usual, the "poodle" is mistaken; we are perfectly aware that our "dragging his private family affairs" before the public is more of a personality than any fair criticism of a man's political acts can be—we intended it to be "personal," and have no apologies to make, to Willie or anybody else, the provocation we received being qute sufficient to justify us to ourselves.

We are also aware that there is a vast difference between making a fair criticism of a man's public acts and the flinging at him of unmanly, cowardly, contemptible slurs concerning physical infirmities or misfortunes for which he is in no wise accountable,—a difference which Willie has yet to learn. And the Greeley editor, who has ever been so ready at trying to wound the feelings of other men by flinging his wretched and insulting newspaper sneers at physical defects for which they are not accountable, should be the very last person to whimper when sneers are flung back at him for a state of affairs which no honest and honorable man could allow to exist.

We have said we have no apologies to make, to Willie or anybody else; but we have. It is but just that we should apologize to Hon. Frank Jones for giving newspaper publicity to the term "Frank Jones' poodle" as the popular synonym for the Greeley editor, it being well known that Mr. Jones and many other leading Democrats—all of them, so far as we know—have always discountenanced Willie's petty and malignant but useless personal attacks upon individuals of the Republican party; and we also offer our apologies to the quadrepedal poodle for the degrading comparison implied in the Greeley editor's popular name.

The number of Grant and Wilson Democrats enrolled in Manchester has reached upwards of 100.

THE SURVIVORS OF THE METIS DISASTER tell heart-rending tales of the scene at the time the vessel sunk. Children became separated from their parents and ran shrieking about the boat. Many of the passengers provided themselves with several life-preservers, while a large number of ladies had none. The salvation of most of the passengers is due to the fact that the hurricane deck became disengaged from the hull and was driven ashore, six miles, by the wind and tide. Persons living near the shore describe the appearance of the wreck, covered with men, women and children, as floating on the water like a piece of paper, and as flexible, moving up and down on the waves, now one portion out of sight and now another, as one of the spectators said, like a flock of birds on a thin, wavering cake of ice, apparently ready to break in pieces at any moment, and with the surf beating over the whole.

The men on shore made preparations for the rescue. Two ropes were organized; to one was tied Capt. Josiah Clarke, and to the other Mr. Russell Bunce, while ten or fifteen men manned each. Hardly had these preparations been completed when a wave broke over the wreck near shore, washing off two or three persons. These were caught by the men on the lines and rushed through the surf to the shore, taken care of by the ladies and conveyed to the houses. Several were saved in in this way. When the wreck got to the breakers and went to pieces, about nine o'clock, men, women and children, pieces of the wreck of all shapes and sizes, were in one surging mass, drifted in and out by the surf, which seemed to enjoy the cruel sport, the men on the lines working bravely in trying to save the sufferers at risk of their own lives. It is thought that all but one or two on the raft were saved.

Near the wreck sat a man well wrapped in blankets, who was mourning the loss of his wife. She was with him till almost in shore on a cotton bale, when a wave sent her ten feet away and she was lost. He was saved unhurt, and there he sat watching each returning wave in hope and yet in fear of seeing her body washed ashore. He would not go away, but sat all day long, receiving sympathy and kind words of the hundreds, watching the waves in silent sorrow.

In the saloon of the Narragansett, sat a woman, neatly dressed, weeping silently near the spot where the dead body of her husband lay. She was asleep when the collision occurred, but was awakened by the shock, and told her husband to get up and see what was the matter. A moment later the steward rushed into the state-room, and told them to put on life-preservers, as the ship was sinking. This was a terrible shock, but they hastened to obey the order. The two children of the young couple lay asleep—one a baby of six weeks old, the other a boy of three years. The father took the eldest child in his arms, and the mother clung to her infant, and the two struggled to the deck. The saloon was knee deep in water by this time, and in less than five minutes the man and wife were in the water. The waves ran high, and soon the husband and wife were swept asunder. The former lost his strength, relaxed his hold on the child, and both were drowned. The mother held her babe above water until her strength, too, was exhausted, and then a wave longer than the rest dashed it from her arms, and she saw it sink slowly to the depths below. Just as she was exhausted, and after the life preserver had slipped from beneath her arms, the Moccasin came up, and she was recalled to life.

Many went down with the lower part of the steamer, whose names can never be known. One man who was married at Sharon Springs, N. Y., and was on his way to Providence on his wedding trip, sent word to the clergyman of a Methodist Episcopal for the funeral services of his wife in his church Sunday.

Mr. Alfred Nutting of Little Falls, N. Y., fastened his little daughter Maggie, only two years old, inside of the life preserver, which he fastened around his body. Almost the first wave threw it out, but the next brought it back. He did not see his wife after leaving the vessel. The same wave which landed him on shore again deprived him of the babe. He quickly recovered and soon found the bodies of his wife and child. One of the ladies at the hotel had rushed into the water to rescue the child and in company with two others was chafing its limbs and laboring to resuscitate it. Mr. Nutting was anxiously watching while a similar operation was performing on his wife. At last she opened her eyes and cried "Where's little Maggie," when the babe, as if in answer, gave a feeble cry, and both were saved.

One young man voluntarily surrendered a piece of debris to which he was clinging to a mother and her babe, and after relieving himself of his hold disappeared never to rise again.

A Narrow Escape.

The master of schooner Charles Malloy reports that during the gale of Friday last, he saw the course taken by the schooner Boston, and knowing that vessel most necessarily go ashore at Rye Beach, endeavored to put out to sea and weather the Shoals. He was driven off his course, however, passed inside the Shoals and soon afterwards discovered himself but a short distance from the rocks on the Maine shore. The safety of his vessel depended on his wearing ship successfully, which was finally accomplished with the loss of his foregaff. Coming to anchor he found himself between Boon Island light house and the ledge. The escape of the Malloy was next to miraculous. She was bound to South Newmarket with coal.

THE NATIONAL DEBT was reduced $10,736,635.85 in August.

The propeller Nevada, from Philadelphia for Hartford, was burned at New London on Sunday. No lives lost.

Two hundred Arrapahoe warriors attacked a government train of army supplies in Colorado, last week, massacred fifteen men and took an equal number prisoners. The most fiendish outrages were perpetrated on the victims. Indian depredations are also reported from Arizona.

Morning Chronicle.

BE CALM, MOSES.

What judicious feminine tact and ingenious resort may do to recall the wandering fancy of the commonplace wavering suitor, is most instructively exemplified by an admirable little story of the vicissitudes of modern courtship, appreciatively related in the Miner's Journal.

At Silver Creek, in Schuylkill county, Pa., a young man constitutionally undecided in his character, was for a time charmed into constancy by the attractions of a worthy young lady of the place, and paid his addresses accordingly, in a manner not to be misunderstood. As his one known deficiency, and uncertain acquaintance with his own mind, seemed overcome in this instance, the family of the lady favored the suit, and she herself did not refuse when he did plead for a definite engagement.

But, alas! When the weak-kneed knight found himself actually sure of his queen of love and beauty, there came upon him such a fit of craven doubting that he turned cold and moody in an hour; and without allowing himself time to reflect whether he was acting wisely or the contrary, suggested to the lady that they had better retract their mutual pledge. In reply she displayed neither anger nor despair, but with a playful tap upon his head from one of her crochet needles, told him he was excited, and he realized not what he was saying, and might better apply some cooling lotion to his enfevered brain.

"Be ca'm, Moses, be ca'm!" she counseled, "and don't go throwing away the happiness of your whole life because you've got dyspepsia. Just see how ca'm I am."

He saw that she was calm indeed, and the conviction taught him that he must argue the question with her more practically to produce the desired effect. They were members of different churches, and knowing her inflexible fidelity to her own denomination, he now advised her that his herculean sense of religious duty would not allow him to wed any person of another pastorate. If she would give up her church and join his they might be happy yet. Otherwise, they had better part.

Again her counsel was that he had better reconsider the whole matter and "be calm." Her words were:

"Let us do nothing hastily, Moses; but be perfectly ca'm. I can't give up my church, you know; but we might compromise by you giving up your'n and bringing a certificate to mine. Only let us be ca'm, and it'll all come out right at last."

Finding her conversational powers too much for him, the doubting swain retreated from her presence much discouraged, but came again on the following day to resume the argument. On this occasion a preceding night of sleepless anxiety had rendered his weak mind even more turgid than it had been before; and when in reply to his repeated futile protests, she strove to show him why his calm exchange of his church for her's was the one thing left him to do calmly, exhausted nature asserted her rights and he fell into a profound doze in his chair. Losing by degrees the steady hum of her calm voice, he dreamed that he was in a brilliant tropical forest, striving energetically to drive away some huge insect that strove to sting him. Despite his liveliest efforts, the creature came nearer and nearer to his face, and, at last, with savage dart, alighted upon his neck and inflicted a sharp bite. His whole throat seemed to swell in an instant with the injected venom, and gasping for breath, he awoke in a cold perspiration—awoke to find a soft feminine arm entwined firmly about his neck, and a sensation of quickly repeated stings following the jab-like motions of the other arm and hand just below the right ear.

"Here! I say, Maria, what are you about?" he exclaimed in great agitation, catching the gleam of a penknife in the air, and struggling frantically to escape from her firm clasp.

"Ah, be ca'm now, can't you?" she remonstrated, making another slight puncture. "Do be a little ca'm and tell me where to find the jugular vein. I'm going to kill myself as soon as I've killed you, if you'll only be ca'm for a minute."

Wrenching himself from her hold with the frenzy of despair, the amazed young man, who had never felt so much cut-up in his life before, ruefully rubbed the various little experimental wounds on his neck, and asked quaveringly what it all meant.

With a playful jab at him in the air with her pen-knife, the still perfectly calm maiden, assuming her own chair, told him that it meant the happiness of both of them. It would be a sin for her to leave her church; he would be unhappy for life if they separated, and, as he was best upon their parting if she would not sacrifice her denominational preference, she had concluded, in all calmness, that they had better die together.

"Now do try to be ca'm, Moses," she concluded, paring her nails with the penknife, "and you'll see that I am right."

And it struck him that she was, and that he had been making a great fool of himself. What better wife could he want than one who could be so entirely "ca'm" under such circumstances? Knowing his own mind at last he wrapped his bankerchief hastily about his smarting neck and said that he was ready to be wedded without further confusion.

They were married last week; the penknife, under a pretty glass shade, decorated their centre table; and good judges of human nature believe that their prospect of happiness is equal to the average. The ceremony was solemnized in the bride's church where the bridegroom has promised to attend, henceforth. And thus is realized the "compromise" which had been proposed by the singularly calm young woman before her appeal to sharper measures.

All women not being of such calm temperament, the penknife is not to be commended for all occasions of masculine infirmity of purpose; yet its effect in this instance proved what beneficent results may come to an undecided but not badly meaning man, from the feminine shrewdness and serenity too well poised to accept his resignation before he really meant it.

AYER'S PURGATIVE PILLS.

For all the purposes of a Family Physic,

CURING

Costiveness, Jaundice, Dyspepsia, Indigestion, Dysentery, Foul Stomach, Erysipelas, Headache, Piles, Rheumatism, Eruptions and Skin Diseases, Biliousness, Liver Complaint, Dropsy, Tetter, Tumors and Salt Rheum, Worms, Gout, Neuralgia, as a Dinner Pill, and Purifying the Blood.

Are the most congenial purgative yet perfected. Their effects abundantly show how much they excel all other Pills. They are safe and pleasant to take, but powerful to cure. They purge out the foul humors of the blood; they stimulate the sluggish or disordered organ into action, and they impart health and tone to the whole being. They cure not only the every day complaints of every body, but formidable and dangerous diseases. Most eminent clergymen, most skillful physicians, and our best citizens send certificates of cures performed, and of great benefits they have derived from these Pills. They are the safest and best physic for children, because mild as well as effectual. Being sugar coated, they are easy to take; and being purely vegetable, they are entirely harmless.

The Singer

SEWING MACHINE

STILL LEADS THE MARKET.

The Success of the Company is far beyond that of any other similar concern; the

Daily Manufacture

—OF—

400 OF THE SINGERS

Failing to Supply the Constant Demand.

All other machines call the public attention to some new loop or stitch or tension or finish, some advantage in running or needles or feed or prices—and many of these are as we have said very good points, and the agents selling them use them to divert entirely the would-be purchaser from fairly considering the facts in the case; but the

seems to unite the good qualities of all, and is never found wanting.

THE SINGER

IS THE

OLDEST

SEWING MACHINE

IN THE MARKET,

All others being copied from its first model. It does two-thirds the sewing done in this country and preserves its advantages over all others combined.

It is readily kept clean, and has THE BEST TENSION EVER INVENTED; it is higher speeded and requires but little power to run; it works equally well upon the finest and heaviest goods; it does all the varieties of work known to the art.

AYER'S

SARSAPARILLA

FOR PURIFYING THE BLOOD.

A medicine that cures is a real public blessing. AYER'S SARSAPARILLA makes positive cure of a series of complaints, which are always afflicting and too often fatal. It purifies the blood, purges put the lurking humors in the system, which undermine health and settle into troublesome disorders. Eruptions of the skin are the appearance on the surface of humors that should be expelled from the blood. Internal derangements are the determination of these same humors to some internal organ, or organs, whose action they derange, and whose substance they disease and destroy. AYER'S SARSAPARILLA expels these humors from the blood. When they are gone, the disorders they produce disappear, such as Ulcerations of the Liver, Stomach, Kidneys, Lungs, Eruptions and Fugitive Diseases of the skin, St. Anthony's Fire, Rose or Erysipelas, Pimples, Pustules, Blotches, Boils, Tumors, Tetter and Salt Rheum, Scald Head, Ringworm, Ulcers and Sores, Rheumatism, Neuralgia, Pain in the Bones, Side, and Head, Female Weakness, Sterility, Leucorrhœa arising from internal ulceration and uterine disease, Dropsy, Dyspepsia, Emaciation, and General Debility. With their appropriate health returns.

ESTABLISHED 1852. | MARSTON & FREEMAN, PROPRIETORS. | GEO. W. MARSTON, I. P. MILLER, EDITORS.

The Chronicle.

—England's extremity is our opportunity. A powerful body of English manufactures are forming a company for the purpose of importing into England American coal.

—A young Rochester man having been jilted by his sweetheart, took laudanum, but his life was promptly saved by an unromantic policeman with a tobacco emetic.

—Miss Buchanan does the personals on the Chicago Post, and has vindicated woman's ability to be as ridiculous as man by the following: "Mr. Miller is Joaquin around Newburyport, Mass."

—One of the amusements at a Chicago picnic was to place a silver dollar in a dish containing about an inch of molasses and let a squad of boys competed in trying to take out the piece with their teeth.

—Colonel Tennie C. Claflin says: "I have seen clairvoyantly within two years there will be inaugurated a war more bloody and cruel than the world has seen for centuries. I shall command my regiment and shall be killed." Hurry up that war.—Blade.

—The many friends of Dr. J. G. Holland and his wife will be pained to hear that Mrs. Holland has been obliged to have one of her eyes removed, on account of its diseased condition. The operation has been successfully performed, and her general health is good.

—Somebody says there should be a woman in every firm of architects, to look after the closets. When you build your house you may tell your contractor, until you are black in the face, "We will have a closet there." He will not put one there until he has first seen madam, and, ten to one, when he has seen her the closet will go elsewhere.

—A Kansas gentleman drove the rats from his barn by this device: A long plank with corn and meal on it was thrust under the barn. Sitting outside was the inventor of the device, armed with a double barrelled shot gun, the muzzles of which commanded the situation. The rats filled the board, and he fired. The fire department were dilatory, and his loss is $2,000. But the rats are gone.

NATURE'S REMEDY.
VEGETINE
The Great Blood Purifier.
A valuable Indian compound, for restoring the health, and for the permanent cure of all diseases arising from impurities of the blood, such as
Scrofula Scrofulous Humors, Cancers, Cancerous Humor Erysipelas, Canker, Salt Rheum, Pimples and Humors on the Face, Ulcers, Coughs, Catarrh, Bronchitis, Neuralgia, Pains in the Side, Rheumatism, Dyspepsia, Constipation Costiveness, Dizziness Piles, Headache, Nervousness, Faintness at the Stomach, Pains in the Back, Kidney Complaints
Female Weakness, and General Debility.
This preparation is scientifically and chemically combined, and so strongly concentrated from roots, herbs and barks, that its good effects are realized immediately after commencing to take it. There is no disease of the human system for which the VEGETINE cannot be used with PERFECT SAFETY, as it does not contain any metallic compound. For eradicating the system of all impurities of the blood, it has no equal. It has never failed to effect a cure, giving tone and strength to the system debilitated by disease. Its wonderful effects upon these complaints are surprising to all. Many have been cured by the VEGETINE that have tried many other remedies. It can well be called

AYER'S
CHERRYPECTORAL
For Diseases of the Throat and Lungs, such as Coughs, Colds, Whooping Cough, Bronchitis, Asthma and Consumption.
The few compositions, which have won the confidence of mankind and become household words among not only one but many nations, must have extraordinary virtues. Perhaps no one ever secured so wide a reputation or maintained it so long as AYER'S CHERRY PECTORAL. It has been known to the public about fifty years, by a long continued series of marvellous cures, which have won for it a confidence in its virtues, never equalled by any other medicines. It still makes the most effectual cures of Coughs, Colds, Consumption, that can be made by medical skill. Indeed the CHERRY PECTORAL has really robbed these dangerous diseases of their terrors, to a great extent, and given a feeling of immunity from their fatal effects, which is well founded, if the remedy be taken in season. Every family should have it in their closet for the ready and prompt relief of its members. Sickness, suffering, and even life is saved by this timely protection. The prudent should not neglect it, and the wise will not. Keep it by you for the protection it affords in sudden attacks, and by its timely use.

CLEAR YOUR THROAT!
Relieve Your Lungs.
For the terrible diseases engendered by the lung-trying climate of New England,
Pulmocine Cordial
Is a speedy and reliable Preventive and Remedy. EVERY FAMILY should have a bottle at hand to check the sudden growth of all Pulmonary Diseases. For the Asthma, Coughs, Croups, Laryngitis, or inflammation of the larynx, Diphtheria, and all kindred THROAT DISEASES at all times prevalent, it is the choice of PREVENTION Children attacked with Whooping Cough or Croup should be immediately cured for. These painful attacks come with scarcely a moment's warning, when a physician may be out of immediate reach. A dose of PULMOCINE CORDIAL gives speedy relief, and the little ones are spared hours of pain and agony. As "a stitch in time saves nine," so does the possession of this FAMILY MEDICINE prevent the spread of disease. Parents seeing their children gasping with pain, friends and relatives beholding each other in peril from suffocation by the choking pain in the throat, paralyzed with fear and not knowing the best course to pursue, are liable to apply the wrong remedial agents. There is no safety in delay, no time to waste in such cases. CONSUMPTION, that fearful scourge of the human race, lies at the door of all thus afflicted. BUCHMAN'S PULMOCINE CORDIAL arrests it (unless in its advanced stage at which time there is no local cure) relieves the pressing, suffocating feeling at the lungs, and the patient's danger is past.
Buchman's Pulmocine Cordial
BUCHMAN'S PULMOCINE CORDIAL is no new discovery. Twenty-three years ago it was used by one of New England's most famous physicians as the best PULMONARY CURATIVE he could prescribe, after a dozen years spent in experimenting with it before he was satisfied that the Materia Medica could add nothing in its favor.
Is the ultima thule of Medical Discovery.
Among its many ingredients are WILD CHERRY BARK, SQUILL ROOT, LIQUORICE ROOT, BLOOD ROOT, &c. It is a BLOOD PURIFIER, gently stimulating. It increases expectoration and is diuretic. It is endorific and alterative. It is a necessary family medicine. It is a Tonic, and a powerful aid to the digestive organs. It is a gentle sedative, and relieves nervousness. It is aromatic and agreeable to the taste.
For Coughs, Croup, Diphtheria, Asthma, &c.
USE BUCHMAN'S
PULMOCINE CORDIAL.
The Pulmocine Cordial is not a quack medicine, is not an experiment, is not composed of any ingredients "discovered" by "walking in pastures" in South America or anywhere else, nor by one who discovered a weed and thereby cured himself. Most of the ingredients are such as our best educated physicians daily use for the complaints specified, in some form or other. The recipe is that perfected by one of New England's most learned and famous physicians, who used it entirely in his daily practice until his death. It is offered to the profession and to the public, absolutely pure and unadulterated.

After an extensive practice of upwards of thirty years, continues to secure patents in the United States; also in Great Britain, France and other foreign countries. Caveats, Specifications, Assignments, and all papers for Patents, executed on reasonable terms with dispatch. Researches made to determine the validity and scope of Patents of Inventions, and legal and other advice rendered in all matters touching the same. Copies of the claims of any patent furnished by remitting one dollar. Assignments recorded in Washington.
No Agency in the United States possesses superior facilities for obtaining Patents or ascertaining the patentability of inventions.
All necessity of a journey to Washington to procure a Patent and the usual great delay there, are here saved inventors.
TESTIMONIALS.
"I regard Mr. Eddy as one of the most capable and successful practitioners with whom I have had official intercourse. CHARLES MASON, Commissioner of Patents."
"I have no hesitation in assuring inventors that they cannot employ a man more competent and trustworthy and more capable of putting their applications in a form to secure for them an early and favorable consideration at the Patent Office. EDMUND BURKE, Late Commissioner of Patents."
"MR. R. H. EDDY has made for me over THIRTY applications for Patents, having been successful in almost every case. Such unmistakable proof of great talent and ability on his part leads me to recommend ALL inventors to apply to him to procure their Patents, as they may be sure of having the most faithful attention bestowed on their cases, and at very reasonable charges. BRIGGS' ALLEVANTOR is composed of Ammonia, Chloroform, Spirits of Camphor, Tincture of Lupuline, Oil of Juniper, and Alcohol. This compound is unequalled in the annals of medicine for the cure of Nervous or Sick Headache, Neuralgia, Trembling or Twitching of the Nerves, and all Nervous Diseases. It will counteract all poisons, banish pimples, cure scaly eruptions, itching, humors, &c.; it equalizes the circulation, invigorates the system, increases the action of the heart, without exciting the brain, cures Heartburn, Palpitation and Fluttering of the Heart, Dyspepsia, &c. Briggs' Allevantor absolutely possesses more curative properties than any other preparation. Physicians, chemists, and others are requested to examine and test the remedy and $1000 will be paid if found different from representation.
COUCHS. Much has been said and written, and many remedies have been offered for the relief and cure of throat and lung diseases; but nothing has been so eminently successful, or obtained such a wide celebrity, as Briggs' Throat and Lung Healer.
CORNS! The excruciating pain produced by Corns, the unceasing twinging from bunions, the piercing, distressing pain from ingrowing Nails, cannot be described. Thousands suffer, not knowing there is a cure. Briggs' Corn and Bunion Remedies are no acid or potash compounds, but are reliable, soothing, and effectual, and just merit the success they have earned from an appreciative public. The "Briggs" is a healing ointment; immediate relief is obtained by its application, and it will positively cure the worst cases of Festered Corns, Inflamed Bunions, Ulcerated Bunions, the worst in fact, the largest and severest Blisters, the most extensive Callosities on the soles or heels of the feet, especially called in the cure of Chilblains or Frosted Feet. The Allevantor for ordinary corns and preventing their formation is absolutely unrivalled. The "Briggs" is alone ever known.
PILES have been a terror to mankind for centuries, and almost every attempt to cure them has been baffled. By unceasing study and experimenting, Dr. Briggs has discovered an absolutely cure for internal, bleeding, external, and itching piles. Briggs' Pile Remedies are safe and sure.
For sale by J. H. THURBER, WM. R. PRESTON, Portsmouth; JAMES O. TREFETHEN, Kittery; E. S. SAYWORD, Kittery Point; H. M. CURTIS, Newcastle, and dealers generally.
CORNS, Bunions, Bad Nails, and other diseases of the feet, Scrofulous and Cancerous Humors, Piles, etc., skillfully treated at the great central Chiropodical and Healing Institute, No. 765 Broadway, New York. DR. J. BRIGGS, President; DR. ALEXANDER WEBBER, Secretary. ap10

The Vermonters Heard From!

NO GREELEY IN THEIRS

A ROUSING VOTE

—AND A—

Republican Triumph!

"Sing it as we used to Sing it."

BURLINGTON, Vt., 10.30 P. M., 3d.

The vote cast to-day is the largest ever thrown. Montpelier shows a slight Democratic gain but returns from other towns show that the Republicans hold their own. Fifty three towns heard from up to 9 P. M., show large Republican gains. Bennington county elects its entire Republican ticket.

12.15 A. M., 4th.

Twenty towns return 19 Republicans and one Democrat to the legislature.

RUTLAND, 3d.

In this town, Converse, Republican, has 770 votes; Gordon 636.

BOSTON, 4th, 1 A. M.

Vermont will maintain her majority of 1870, which was over 21,000.

The Louisville Convention.

The convention was organized formally and then adjourned to Wednesday at 9 A. M. A long letter from Chas. O'Conor in which he opposed Greeley was read in the convention.

It is probable that the ticket will be O'Conor and J. Q. Adams, or Adams and Hancock. The delegates are bitterly opposed to Grant and Greeley.

News.

The stable of James Forrest, in Stoneham, Mass., was burned Monday night. A boy named Crowley and ten horses perished in the flames.

Kelley & Gardner, dealers in hardware, paints and oil, lost $10,000 by the destruction of their store, Monday evening; loss $2600.

Charles Sumner sailed for Europe on Tuesday.

The offical exposition of the reduction of the public debt shows a total decrease from March 1, 1869 to date, of $348,141,-239, and a decrease in the annual interest charge of $23,191,365.

It is now known that thirty-seven lives were lost by the Metis disaster. Twenty-five bodies have been recovered.

At Boston, Saturday, the Bostons defeated the Mutuals at base ball, by a score of four to two. It is a little singular that out of the six games played by these clubs this season, three of them have resulted in a score of 4 to 2, and in five of them the Mutuals have made a score of 2.

Athletics 5, Mutuals 4.

Helsen Davis, switchman on the Portland, Saco and Portsmouth railroad, while shackling cars at Portland, Monday, had his right leg and left heel run over, requiring amputation of the leg at the thigh, from which he died.

There was a fresh outbreak of lawlessness in Pope county, Arkansas, on Saturday evening. The county clerk, Mr. Hickox, the sheriff, and a deputy sheriff were engaged in removing the county records, when they were fired at and Mr. Hickox was killed. The others were unhurt. Later, Allen Brown, a justice of the peace who summoned a jury of inquest in the case of Hickox, was shot and mortally wounded by the perpetrator of the first murder. Martial law will probably be declared at once.

Mme. Rousaud, nee Nilsson, is passing the honeymoon amid the gayeties of Paris.

Political.

The New York Staats Zeitung, the leading Democratic German paper of the country, says: "Only those who are blind can fail to see that Greeley's chances are rapidly waning. The 'sober second thought' has opened the way to a return to reason."

The Greeleyites have been making a great outcry over the distribution by the Republican national committee of Blanton Duncan's call for a Democratic convention at Louisville; but the Republicans never grumbled at the Democratic national committee for their broadcast distribution of the speeches of Sumner and Schurz. The reason for this difference is that the crowwaters are frightened at the possible effect of Duncan's Democratic movement, while the Republicans are entirely unconcerned about the manifestoes of the two great Republican sorcheads.

Hon. William A. Galbraith, one of the ablest men in Pennsylvania, and a wealthy capitalist of Erie, refuses to be a candidate for Congress on the Greeley ticket. He was a life-long Democrat.

The Republican party is more firmly united in Missouri than it has been for twelve years. They expect to bury the Democrats beneath a majority of twenty thousand in the coming fight.

The old Horace Greeley, had he lived, would have attained his sixty-third year next February.

Hon. John J. McCalmont, of Franklin, Pennsylvania, who was the Democratic candidate for Congress in his district four years ago, has abandoned Greeley and joined the Republican ranks. His accession to the Republican party will, it it thought, insure the election of a Republican Congressman in the Twentieth district now represented by a Democrat.

Hon. Robert C. Winthrop refuses to "overturn the coach merely to get a new driver," and supports Grant.—St. Louis Globe.

That is good enough so far as it goes; but now, Globe (confidentially,) who the bloody chasm is "Hon. Robert C. Winthrop?"—Courier Journal.

An enterprising Kentucky publisher took a lesson from the New York Tribune, and succeeded in getting up a very creditable circulation in this way: "He had been starving to death as a Republican, with all that sort of subscribers to be had in that region. So he came out as a blatant Blanton Duncanite. The Duncanites rolled for him, and got up a pretty good subscription—which he added to the Republican list, then went over to Greeley. The Greeley committees took hold of the business and began to roll for him, and he added his Greeley subscribers to the two other lists. He is now waiting for some new party to turn up."

Secretary Fish, in conversation with a friend, stated that in his place, Phillipstown, N. Y., two hundred Democrats have declared for Grant and Wilson, and, further, that a leading Democrat there, named Kimball, has offered to bet $10,000 that the State of New York will give Grant a majority of 100,000.

Conundrum by the Kentucky Statesman: If a Democrat is nominated at Louisville, will Horace Greeley support Grant?

The Toledo Blade says: "Saulsbury, of Daleware, has pronounced for Greeley. He did not like it at first, but when he read of Gratz Brown's performance at New Haven, he could hold out no longer."

The Cincinnati Gazette says: We kept a chronological record of the changes in the successive announcements of the result of the North Carolina election, as made by the Democratic press. The table is compiled from the New York Tribune, and will be a valuable addition to Greeley's Almanac for 1873. It is as follows:

August 2. Glorious and overwhelming Democratic victory	20,000
August 3. Clean sweep; the Administration rebuked	10,000
August 5. The whole Democratic ticket triumphantly elected	8,000
August 6. Democratic victory sure	4,000
August 7. Democratic victory no doubt	3,000
August 8. Democratic victory	800
August 9. Democratic victory—returns all muddled	00
August 10. Radical majority	300
August 12. Radical majority	1,000
August 13. Fraud	2,000

It is very well "clasping hands across the bloody chasm" if you have not the best reason in the world to think that the fellow on the other side wants to get hold of your hand in order to drag you into it.

Rev. I. F. Waterbouse is vice president of the Grant and Wilson club in Clinton, Mass.

General Sherwood made a speech in Elmore, O., Saturday night. Only twenty-eight Democrats joined the Grant Club then organized. We are disappointed, says the Toledo Blade, in the number. From the way the more intelligent Democracy are rushing to the Grant standard, we expected more of Elmore.

The Houston, Tex., Telegraph thinks there will be 5000 candidates for mayor of that city.

The most completely dried-up stumper in this nation is Doolittle.

The St. Louis Republican says that when in practice Gratz Brown "stood high at the bar." Since he took to politics he has stood "high" at almost every bar in the country, says the Toledo Blade.

Men change. A single issue of the Tribune last week contained bitter articles against Richard H. Dana, Jr., Wm. Lloyd Garrison, Wendell Phillips, Fred. Douglass, Gen. Dix and President Grant.

Charles Sumner, Egotist, is to write another letter—this time to the voters of Maine. The Boston Globe calls the document the "forthcoming second epistle of the gospel of hate!"

The 36th Mass. Regiment had a reunion at Worcester on Monday. Some one proposed a test vote for President. Two were opposed to Grant, no one voted for Greeley, and Grant had 223 votes.

The Madison Bulletin, a Georgia Democratic paper, has pulled down the Greeley flag and run up the Louisville banner and the names of O'Conor and Knott of Kentucky for the Presidency and Vice-Presidency.

—The Chicago Inter-Ocean is of opinion that "Greeleyism is a fog which will blow over." Doesn't need to blow over. It's getting so thin everybody can see through it.—Utica Herald.

Kilpatrick had another set-back at St. Johnsbury, Vt. An unusual effort had been made to get up a great Greeley meeting; free trains had been run on the railroads from every direction, and a large audience gathered. Kilpatrick said his piece, and when he finished the audience, almost as a man, gave three rousing cheers for Grant and Wilson.

The Doolittle oratorical season is closed.—Cin. Chron.

At New Abany, Ind., Carl Schurz was "overwhelmed and discouraged," and, according to the Louisville Commercial, told some friends that there was no hope for Greeley.

North Carolina advices say that Judge Merrimon has decided not to contest Caldwell's election.

It is singular, to say the least, that of two steamboats recently sunk by collision with other vessels, between New York and eastern ports, the dangerous condition of neither should be discovered until long after the collision occurred. The Bristol, after sinking an iron-laden vessel and rescuing her crew, landed a portion of her own passengers and cargo at a wharf in Newport, then put to sea again and had run some distance towards her next port before her officers found out she was fast filling with water; and the Metis, after being in collision with a schooner, is reported to have signalled "all right" to a propeller, and then to have steamed away from the assistance which was so necessary to the preservation of her precious freight of human life, to sink in a short time after. There is evidently a screw loose somewhere.

State News.

The New Hampshire House and stables, not including the furniture, at Dover, were sold at auction last week for $7050, to Daniel C. and Charles W. Wiggin.

On Thursday evening, at Enfield Centre, a little son of Omah Roberts, about three years of age was riding in a dump cart driven by his father. He was leaning against the head-board, which came out and the boy fell to the ground and was run over and killed.

David Woolford of Manchester, who is supposed to have been poisoned by his wife about three months ago, died at the city almshouse on Monday.

The marriage of Miss Nellie, second daughter of Governor Straw, with Mr. Henry M. Thompson, agent of the Manchester Print Works, is to be consummated on Thursday the 12th instant, on which day Governor Straw has a reception of the bride's at his residence in Manchester.

At an agricultural meeting at Keene, four years ago, Hon. John Prentiss then over ninety years old, advocated the planting of peach trees in that vicinity, and told the meeting that he should yet live to eat peaches which he himself raised. The next year, accordingly, the old gentleman set out peach trees, and now he is ninety-five years old, his trees are bearing him a fine crop of fruit.

Alfred Moore of Amherst lost an arm, Monday night, by falling under the cars at Suncook.

—In the office of a Wisconsin journal there is a compositor who sets type so rapid that the friction of his movement fuses the leaden emblems of his stick, making them solid, like stereotype plate. The only way to prevent this is to have his case submerged in water; and the rapidity of his motion keeps the water boiling and bubbling so that eggs have frequently been boiled in the space box. Pipes lead from the bottom of his case to a boiler in the press room, and the steam generated by the fast compositor's movements runs the power press. In one day he set so much that it took all hands, from editor to devil, two weeks to read the proof, and it wasn't his good day for setting type, either.

AN ESSENTIAL OF LOVELINESS.—To be entirely beautiful the hair should be abundant and lustrous. This is absolutely essential to complete loveliness. The most regular features, the most brilliant complexion and pearliest teeth fail of their due effect if the hair be thin, dry, or harsh. On the contrary the plainest face, if it be but surmounted by luxuriant and silken tresses, is apt to impress the beholder with a sense of actual beauty. That crowning ornament of her sex is, happily, within the reach of lovely women and being as discriminating as she is lovely, she long ago discovered that Lyon's Kathairon was the sure means of securing it. No preparation for the Hair ever enjoyed a tithe of its popularity, and no wonder, since it produces such gratifying results. Applied to the waste and barren places of the scalp, it fructifies and enriches them with a new and simple growth. It is not, of course, pretended that it will do this if the capacity for reproduction is extinct, but so long as it remains that wonderful rehabilitant will assuredly propagate the germ of the hair into life and activity.

☞ If you feel dull, despondent, drowsy, debilitated, have frequent headache, mouth tastes badly, poor appetite, and tongue coated, you are suffering from torpid liver or 'Biliousness." Nothing will cure you so speedily and permanently as Dr. Pierce's Golden Medical Discovery. 606

THE STOMACH AS AN AVENGER.—For every breach of the laws of health that we commit the stomach inflicts a penalty. Headache, biliousness, nervous tremors, constipation, colic, heartburn, uneases, debility and mental depression are only a few of the punishments which an outraged stomach is capable of imposing upon us. To bring back this vengeful organ to its normal condition—to placate, invigorate and regulate it—there is nothing in the wide world so potent as a course of Hostetter's Stomach Bitters. Under the operation of this beneficent vegetable corrective and tonic the gastric juice becomes a pure and healthful solvent and resumes its natural flow. The effect is the same on the biliary secretion, and in fact on all the fluids of the body, and the final result is the removal of every painful or unpleasant symptom occasioned by the rebellious action of the digestive organ.

CASTORIA.—A substitute for Castor Oil—is a physic which does not distress or gripe, but is sure to operate when all other remedies have failed. You may confidently rely upon the Castoria in Stomach-ache, Constipation, Flatulency, Croup, Worms, Piles or deranged Liver. It contains neither Minerals, Morphine, Opium nor Alcohol, but is purely a vegetable preparation, perfectly harmless, and above all, pleasant to take. The Castoria soothe and quiet the system and produces natural sleep. It is a wonderful thing to assimilate the food of children and prevent them from crying. A 35 cent bottle will do the work for a family and save many doctors' bills.

THE PEOPLE'S STAMP OF VALUE.—The Government endorsement, which legalizes the sale of Plantation Bitters, is not the only stamp affixed to that famous Vegetable Tonic. It bears, in addition to that official sanction, the still more valuable stamp, public approbation. This inestimable voucher of its rare properties as a tonic, Corrective and Alterative, is of much earlier date than the Government credential; for millions of sick persons had pronounced it the Grand Specific of the Age long before Congress thought of taxing proprietary medicines. It is unnecessary to repeat, in detail, the properties of this wonderful Vegetable Invigorant. The best reference that can be offered to those who desire the full particulars of its virtues, is the General Public. Ask those who have tried it as a remedy for dyspepsia, constipation, biliousness, intermittent fevers, nervous debility, rheumatism, sea sickness, low spirits, or loss of vital power, what Plantation Bitters has done for them, and be governed by the response they make to your inquiries.

THE THIEF who was arrested for robbing Parsons' store in this town, was found to have a quantity of Ayer's Hair Vigor in his possession. When asked why he wished to steal that article, he answered that he "wanted to restore his hair, for it was hard to be a thief and bald too." If that invention of the great chemist could restore a fadeless hair as effectually as it does their natural beauty to bald and grey heads, it would surely be, as they say it now is, truly invaluable.—Lewiston (Me.,) Journal.

DECAY'S EFFACING FINGER.—Will never mar the teeth that are brushed daily with Odenteroos Sozodont. It lends a floral fragrance to the breath as well as protects the teeth from corrosion and decomposition.

PILES.—The unceasing torture from internal bleeding, external and itching piles is fast wearing away the thousands of those who are afflicted and their hope and courage have long since given place to despair. Let those who see this cheer up, for a mild and sure cure may be had by using BRIGGS' PILE REMEDIES.

CORNS.—Since pride and fashion have had control of mankind, and shoemakers were compelled to make boots and shoes to fit fancy instead of the feet, the suffering from Corns, Bunions, Ingrowing Nails, Sore Insteps, Blistered Heels, Callosities on the bottom of the feet, &c., cannot be described. But Briggs' Corn and Bunion Remedies will cure all such torments, and proper fitting boots will prevent their reproduction. Sold by all druggists. a12

JOB AND CARD PRINTING.—We have made great additions to our jobbing facilities—a magnificent Hand Press (the largest in Portsmouth,) new Display Type, Borders of various styles, &c.—and are prepared to execute with neatness and dispatch, all orders for FULL SHEET POSTERS, DATE SLIPS, PAMPHLETS, SERMONS, ADDRESSES, AUCTION BILLS, CONSTITUTIONS, BY LAWS, PROGRAMMES, HANDBILLS, CIRCULARS, ORDERS DANCES, BLANKS, BILL HEADS, RECEIPTS, TICKETS, BUSINESS, MARRIAGE, ADDRESS AND VISITING CARDS, LABELS, TAGS, and in fact PRINTING OF ANY DESCRIPTION, AT SATISFACTORY PRICES. Orders received by mail, express, or at the CHRONICLE OFFICE will be promptly filled.

VEGETINE.—No medicine has attained such a great reputation as this justly celebrated compound.

VEGETINE has never failed to effect a cure, giving tone and strength to the system debilitated by disease.

LIKE 'QUAKER'S GUNS" Artificial teeth are of little use and easily detected. Take care of the real ones. All you need is fragrant SOZODONT; use it daily and your teeth will be the last of nature's gifts to fail you.

Special Notices.

PUBLIC LIBRARY OF KENTUCKY

Second Grand Gift Concert.

DAY OF THE DRAWING FIXED.

No Postponement from Sept. 28.

To the Public:

The Trustees of the Public Library of Kentucky being satisfied from the large sale of tickets already made, and the daily increasing demand for them, that there will be no occasion for postponing the second drawing in the Gift Concert in aid of the Public Library of Kentucky, have instructed me, as their agent and manager of the Gift Concert, to say to the public and ticket-holders that the drawing will positively take place on September 28th prox., and will not be postponed. An active demand for tickets comes from every State and Territory of the United States, and from the Canadas, giving assurance to the Trustees that no circumstances can prevent a drawing at the appointed time.

A sufficient clerical force is engaged to keep up with the orders for tickets, and in order that this office may be relieved of the immense pressure incident to the business for the week or two immediately preceding the drawing, agents especially, and those desirous of procuring tickets, are requested to send in their orders immediately, as sales will have to be closed in time to make the necessary preparations for the drawing. It is the wish of the management to fill every order for a ticket, as well as to sell all the tickets, but those who apply first must first be supplied; and, if those who put off buying until sales are closed, have their money returned, instead of the tickets ordered, as in the first Gift Concert in December last, when thousands of dollars that came too late were sent back, they will have none to blame but themselves. THOS. E. BRAMLETTE,

Agent Public Library Kentucky.

Death of J. M. Edmonds, Esq.

A dispatch received in this city Tuesday evening, announces the sudden death of Joseph M. Edmonds, Esq., Deputy Collector at this port. Mr. Edmonds with his wife had gone to Littleton for his health. The sad news of his death will be received with great surprise by our citizens, by whom he had been known and honored for forty years or more. He died of heart disease.

Laconics.

Strauss' newest waltz, the Manhattan, is received from O. Ditson & Co. It has a life-like portrait of the famous composer. For sale by E. A. Joy.

Mr. Nathaniel Wiggin of Greenland has four Durham grade steers that he thinks cannot be equaled in New England. They are three years old, and all girt over seven feet, and are straight and handsome. One yoke girts seven feet three and seven feet four inches.

They boast at Rye beach of a New York lady who has been several weeks a resident there, and who has never worn the same dress twice. Better to be her dressmaker than her husband.

The Newcastle Dolly Vardens had a flag raising, Monday evening. Albert R. Hatch delivered himself of a portion of that shop worn speech and floundered terribly in getting on new ground. He thought that Greeley and Brown didn't represent all the Democracy could wish. Capt. J. Albert Sanborn made the best speech of the occasion, so all say who heard him.

There will be a meeting of the Grant and Wilson Guards this (Wednesday) evening at 7 1-2 o'clock.

At a meeting of the (Junior) Grant and Wilson Guards, Tuesday evening, it was voted to procure Caps, Capes and Torches the same as the seniors. The following officers were elected: Chas. A. Hazlett, Capt.; John D. Randall, 1st Lieut.; Arthur Walker, 2d Lieut.; A. F. Pfeiffer, 1st Sergeant.

A Grant and Wilson campaign flag will be raised by the young lads and misses, near the corner of Penhallow and State Streets, this evening, at 6.15, if pleasant. Music by Harlow's Marine Band.

Joseph Jefferson.

The great comedian, Joseph Jefferson, who appears in this city at the Temple on Friday evening next, was born in Philadelphia, Feb. 20th, 1829. He is the son of Joseph Jefferson—who was born an artist and eccentric comedian of great reputation—and Mrs. Burke the celebrated vocalist, and appeared when only six years old at the Park Theatre, New York. His first appearance, when manhood was attained, was at the National Theatre, New York, as Hans Morris in the farce of "Somebody Else." Since that time he has enjoyed the most gratifying success in starring tours thoroughout England, Austria and the United States. On Sept. 4th, 1865, he opened at the Adelphi Theatre, London, in a new version of "Rip Van Winkle" written expressly for him by Dion Boucicault. His success in this character is historical, and so famous has he made his impersonation of Irving's sketch that, although his range of characters is very large and unites the most refined comedy with the broadest farce, the public will accept only Rip Van Winkle at his hands.

The New York Tribune in an editorial on this subject about year ago said, "Rip Van Winkle as Mr. Jefferson delineates him has a kind, gentle, and guileless nature, full of goodness and love; deliciously cheerful, quaint and droll; and he passes through a thrilling and touching experience, and takes human sympathy with him all the way. And a more interesting human being it would be very hard to find in the whole range of the drama. There are certain days in this delicious Autumn weather that soothe the tired spirit like a loving benediction. The dreamy sunshine, the almost leafless woodland and the fading grass, the floating vails of mist—blue on the far-off hills or russet in the sun—the lulling voice of the brook, and the cool caress of the wind, are all messengers of peace. They give us rest without sadness, and happy languor without one touch of pain. The influence of the time is blessed and it blossoms in blessing. From Mr. Jefferson's personation of Rip Van Winkle a kindred influence steals in upon our thoughts and makes them serene, cheerful and kind; and that is why, after more than one hundred consecutive performances it still attracts and delights the New York public."

The schooner Brutus, Captain Little field, of and from Wells, Me., was run into and sunk off Liverpool wharf, Boston, Monday night, by the steamer Leopard, for Philadelphia. The schooner was cut into and sunk immediately the captain and crew barely escaping with their lives, having lost everything except what they stood in. The Brutus was forty-two tons, new measurement, and was loaded with sand. She was owned by C. H. and S. H. Littlefield, and others in Wells, Me., No insurance.

☞ The Funeral services of the late CHAS. E. LORD will take place from No. 3 Howard Street, this (Wednesday) afternoon at 3 o'clock. Friends and relatives are invited to attend.

Morning Chronicle.

GOING HOME WITH SALLY.—One bright moonlight winter's night in the days of "long syne," when school-houses, cheap schoolmasters and blue beech rods were the only instrumentalities used for teaching the "young idea how to shoot," we chanced to attend a "spelling school" in a certain rural district, the geographical location of which it is not now necessary to mention. 'Twas there, however, where our eyes first fell on a "fairy form" that immediately set our susceptible heart in a blaze. She was sixteen or thereabout, with bright eyes, red cheeks and cherry lips, while the auburn ringlets clustered in a wealth of profusion around her beautiful head, and her person to our ravished imagination, was more perfect in form and outline than the most faultless statue ever chiseled by the sculptor's art. As we gazed, our feelings, never before girlward (we were scarcely eighteen), were fully aroused, and we determined to go home with her that night or perish in the attempt. As soon therefore as school was dismissed, and our "lady love" suitably bonneted and cloaked, we approached to offer our services as contemplated, and we then learned an important lesson, viz.; the difference between resolving and doing. As we neared her to put our resolution into execution, we seemed to be stricken with a sudden blindness; then red, green and yellow lights flashed upon our vision, and appeared and disappeared, like witches in a phantasmagoria. Our knees smote together like Belshazzar's and our heart thumped with apparently as much force as if it were driving tenpenny nails into our ribs! We, in the meantime, having reached Sally's side, managed to tumble over something which is, perhaps, known to the Recording Angel, but surely is not to us, at the same time poking out our elbow as nearly at right angles with our breast as our physical contortion could possibly permit.

The first feelings over, what was our delight to find the object of our love clinging to our arm with all the tenacity a drowning man is said to clutch a straw. Talk of elysian, or sliding down greased rainbows, or feeding on German flutes, what are such "pheelings" in comparison with those mighty ones that swelled our bosom nigh unto bursting off our waistcoat buttons! Our happiness was simply ecstatic, and every young lady or gentleman who has ever felt the mighty throbbings of a newly pledged love, will completely understand that common word.

Well, we walked on pleasantly toward Sally's home, conversing very cosily and sweetly as we passed along, until so courageous did we become that we actually proposed "to go in and sit awhile," to which our dulcinea very graciously assented. Alas for us! how soon were we to be reminded that the "course of true love never did run smooth."

Sally has a brother of some ten summers who accompanied us along the way, and who was in wonderful high spirits at the idea of his sister's having a beau, and he would circle around us, every now and then giggling in the height of his glee, and examining us as closely as if Sally and ourself were the world-renowned Siamese twins, and he was taking his first look. Bill, by the way, was a stubbed, chuckle-headed boy, whose habitiments would have made the fortune of an ordinary dealer in mop-rags.

At length we arrived at the bars, and while we were letting them down, Bill shot past us, and tore for the house, as if pursued by a thousand bulls of Bashan. He flung open the door and shouted at the top of his voice:

"Mother! mother! Jim Clark is comin' hum with Sal!"

"Is he?" screamed the woman in reply. "Wal, I declare! I didn't think the saphead knew enough."

Reader, we didn't go in.

THE OSGOODITES.—This is no doubt the most peculiar religious sect in the State of New Hampshire. Jacob Osgood was the founder of the so called body; a man probably of poor education, but one who seems to have clung to the faith which he embraced with a firmness which might put to shame many of our religious professors of to-day.

Their meetings are never holden more than twice each year, one before and one after haying. Their exercises take place in a school house in Canterbury. These people do not seem fond of dress, but on the contrary are attired in plain clothing somewhat after the style of the Shakers. They do not believe it right to make war upon their fellow men, and some of their number have in days that are past been thrown into prison for refusing to do military duty. While they are attending to the duties of the sanctuary they do not wish their auditors to be like the Pharisee of old, but like signs of mirth in the audience. One of them once remarked to an individual that he guessed that he liked, as he laughed well. Often the mirth which is created is such that she would hardly think that he were in the same house of God, but rather in a place provided for the amusement of those who come to look on. At one time during prayer a temporary seat was pushed over, which as a matter of course, produced some excitement, but it did not seem to disturb any one who was taking part in the ceremonies, for he prayed thus: "O Lord, hold the seats up."

At times even the women are vulgar in their remarks, speaking in a manner that would cause the blush to mantle the cheek of refined people.

They are Democrats in a political point of view, which is easy to be determined from their preaching. Among this class politics do not seem to be excluded from the pulpit. In conversation with a member but a short time since, he expressed himself in favor of Horace Greeley, that he would do better than Grant. We congratulate the Democratic party on having the support of such a large and influential religious body.—There are, perhaps, three or four male members.

We will give one or two extracts from their hymn book:

"If in the dark you hug and kiss,
The road to heaven you will miss.
Chorus—This little fox will spoil the vine."

"We'll shake old madam Wanton,
We'll shake her out of bed;
We'll shake her again,
And see if we can't shake her dead.
Chorus—And unto glory we will go."

Their numbers do not increase very fast and probably the sect will die out before many years.

AYER'S PURGATIVE PILLS.

For all the purposes of a Family Physic,

CURING

Costiveness, Jaundice, Dyspepsia, Indigestion, Dysentery, Foul Stomach, Erysipelas, Headache, Piles, Rheumatism, Eruptions and Skin Diseases, Biliousness, Liver Complaint, Dropsy, Tetter, Tumors and Salt Rheum, Worms, Gout, Neuralgia, as a Dinner Pill, and Purifying the Blood,

Are the most congenial purgative yet perfected. Their effects abundantly show how much they excel all other Pills. They are safe and pleasant to take, but powerful to cure. They purge out the foul humors of the blood; they stimulate the sluggish or disordered organ into action, and they impart health and tone to the whole being. They cure not only the every day complaints of every body, but formidable and dangerous diseases. Most eminent clergymen, most skillful physicians, and our best citizens send certificates of cures performed, and of great benefits they have derived from these Pills. They are the safest and best physic for children, because mild as well as effectual. Being sugar coated, they are easy to take; and being purely vegetable, they are entirely harmless.

SEWING MACHINE

STILL LEADS THE MARKET.

The Success of the Company is far beyond that of any other similar concern; the

Daily Manufacture

—OF—

400 OF THE SINGERS

Failing to Supply the Constant Demand.

All other machines call the public attention to some new loop or stitch or tension or finish, some advantage in running or needles or tool or price—and many of these are so we have said very good points, and the agents selling them use them to divert entirely the would-be purchaser from fairly considering the facts in the case; but the

seems to unite the good qualities of all, and is never found wanting.

THE SINGER

IS THE

SEWING MACHINE

IN THE MARKET,

All others being copied from its first model. It does the thrifting the sewing done in this country and preserves its advantages over all others combined.

It is readily kept clean, and has THE BEST TENSION EVER INVENTED; it is higher speeded and requires but little power to run; it works equally well upon the finest and heaviest goods; it does all the varieties of work known to the art.

AYER'S

SARSAPARILLA

FOR PURIFYING THE BLOOD.

A medicine that cures is a real public blessing. AYER'S SARSAPARILLA makes positive cure of a series of complaints, which are always afflicting and too often fatal. It purifies the blood, purges out the lurking humors in the system, which undermine health and settle into troublesome disorders. Eruptions of the skin are the appearance on the surface of humors that should be expelled from the blood. Internal derangements are the determination of these same humors to some internal organ, or organs, whose action they derange, and whose substance they disease and destroy. AYER'S SARSAPARILLA expels these humors from the blood. When they are gone, the disorders they produce disappear, such as Ulcerations of the Liver, Stomach, Kidneys, Lungs, Tumors and Eruptive Diseases of the skin, St. Anthony's Fire, Rose or Erysipelas, Pimples, Pustules, Blotches, Boils, Tumors, Tetter and Salt Rheum, Scald Head, Ringworm, Ulcers and Sores, Rheumatism, Neuralgia, Pain in the Bones, Side, and Head, Female Weakness, Sterility, Leucorrhea arising from internal ulceration and uterine disease, Dropsy, Dyspepsia, Emaciation, and General Debility. With their departure health returns.

BOTS IN HORSES.—The Practical Farmer contains the following remedy for bots; "Fill an ordinary junk bottle half full of molasses; then fill with sweet milk; shake the contents and drench; follow the above in about an hour with a bottle of strong sage tea, made of ordinary garden sage; next day give that horse a feed of rough rice, and the dead bots will be ejected with the rice. My theory is that the milk and molasses being sweeter than blood, the bots will turn loose to eat it. The sage tea will kill them, and it is the only thing I ever heard of that will do it without injury to the horse. The rice will dislodge the dead bots better than salts; in fact, if you will give horses a feed of rough rice every two weeks, I do not think there is the least danger from bots; at least such is my experience. As a proof of what I have written, get two sage leaves, dip them in hot water, lay one down and put a lively bot on it; then cover him with the other, and he will die instantly. Sage tea I have also found very beneficial in colic; it is perfectly harmless if it does no good."

VARNISH FOR HARNESSES.—Pulverize and put in a jug or bottle half a pound to a pound of gum-shellac, cover with good alcohol, and cork tightly. Put the mixture in a warm place. In about two days, if shaken frequently, the gum will be dissolved and ready for use. If the liquid appears as thick as thin molasses add more alcohol. To one quart of the varnish add one ounce of good lamp-black, and an ounce of gum camphor. An occasional coat of this is also good for rendering boots water-proof.—Rural New Yorker.

—Neckties made of leather with gilt buckles, are said to have been proposed as the fashionable novelty for gentlemen's wear the comiog winter.

VEGETINE

The Great Blood Purifier.

A valuable Indian compound, for restoring the health, and for the permanent cure of all diseases arising from impurities of the blood, such as

Scrofula, Scrofulous Humors, Cancers, Cancerous Humor, Erysipelas, Canker, Salt Rheum, Pimples and Humors on the Face, Ulcers, Coughs, Catarrh, Bronchitis, Neuralgia, Pains in the Side, Rheumatism, Dyspepsia, Constipation, Costiveness, Dizziness, Piles, Headache, Nervousness, Faintness at the Stomach, Pains in the Back, Kidney Complaints, Female Weakness, and General Debility.

This preparation is scientifically and chemically combined, and so strongly concentrated from roots, herbs and barks, that its good effects are realized immediately after commencing to take it. There is no disease of the human system for which the VEGETINE cannot be used with PERFECT SAFETY, as it does not contain any metallic compound. For eradicating the system of all impurities of the blood, it has no equal. It has never failed to effect a cure, giving tone and strength to the system debilitated by disease. Its wonderful effects upon these complaints are surprising to all. Many have been cured by the VEGETINE that have tried many other remedies. It can well be called

AYER'S

CHERRY PECTORAL

For Diseases of the Throat and Lungs, such as Coughs, Colds, Whooping Cough, Bronchitis, Asthma and Consumption.

The few compositions, which have won the confidence of mankind and become household words among not only one but many nations, must have extraordinary virtues. Perhaps no one ever secured so wide a reputation or maintained it so long as AYER'S CHERRY PECTORAL. It has been known to the public about forty years, by a long continued series of marvellous cures, which have won for it a confidence in its virtues, never equaled by any other medicines. It still makes the most effectual cures of Coughs, Colds, Consumption, that can be made by medical skill. Indeed the CHERRY PECTORAL has really robbed these dangerous diseases of their terrors, to a great extent, and given a feeling of immunity from their fatal effects, which is well founded, if the remedy be taken in season. Every family should have it in their closet for the ready and prompt relief of its members. Sickness, suffering, and even life is saved by this timely protection. The prudent should not neglect it, and the wise will not. Keep it by you for the protection it affords in sudden attacks, and by its timely use.

CLEAR YOUR THROAT!

Relieve Your Lungs.

For the terrible diseases engendered by the lung-trying climate of New England,

Pulmocine Cordial

Is a speedy and reliable Preventive and Remedy. EVERY FAMILY should have a bottle at hand to check the sudden growth of all Pulmonary Diseases. For the Asthma, Coughs, Croups, Laryngitis, or Inflammation of the larynx, Diphtheria, and all kindred THROAT DISEASES at all times prevalent, it is the ounce of PREVENTION. Children attacked with Whooping Cough or Croup should be immediately cared for. These painful attacks come with scarcely a moment's warning when a physician may be out of immediate reach. A dose of PULMOCINE CORDIAL gives speedy relief, and the little ones are spared hours of pain and agony. As "a stitch in time saves nine," so does the possession of this FAMILY MEDICINE prevent the spread of disease. Parents seeing their children gasping with pain, friends and relatives beholding each other in peril from suffocation by the choking pain in the throat, paralyzed with fear and not knowing the best course to pursue, are liable to apply the wrong remedial agents. There is no safety in delay, no time to waste in such cases. CONSUMPTION, that fearful scourge of the human race, lies at the door of all thus afflicted. BUCHMAN'S PULMOCINE CORDIAL arrests it (unless in its advanced stage at which time there is no local cure) relieves the pressing, suffocating feeling at the lungs, and the patient's danger is past.

Buchman's Pulmocine Cordial

BUCHMAN'S PULMOCINE CORDIAL is no new discovery. Twenty-three years ago it was used by one of New England's most famous physicians as the best PULMONARY CURATIVE he could prescribe, after a dozen years spent in experimenting with it before he was satisfied that the Materia Medica could add nothing in its favor.

Is the ultima thule of Medical Discovery.

Among its many ingredients are WILD CHERRY BARK, SQUILL ROOT, LIQUORICE ROOT, BLOOD ROOT, &c. It is a BLOOD PURIFIER, gently stimulating. It increases expectoration and is diuretic. It is sudorific and alterative. It is a necessary family medicine. It is a Tonic, and a powerful aid to the digestive organs. It is a gentle sedative, and relieves nervousness. It is aromatic and agreeable to the taste.

For Coughs, Croup, Asthma, &c.

USE BUCHMAN'S

PULMOCINE CORDIAL.

The Pulmocine Cordial is not a quack medicine, is not an experiment, is not composed of any ingredients "discovered" by "walking in pastures" in South America or anywhere else, nor by one who discovered a weed and thereby cured himself. Most of the ingredients are such as our best educated physicians daily use for the complaints specified in some form or other. The recipe is that perfected by one of New England's most learned and famous physicians, who used it entirely in his daily practice until his death. It is offered to the profession and to the public, absolutely pure and unadulterated.

AMERICAN & FOREIGN PATENTS.

R. H. EDDY,
SOLICITOR OF PATENTS,
For Inventions, Trade Marks or Designs,
No. 76 STATE ST., OPPOSITE KILBY ST., BOSTON,

After an extensive practice of upwards of thirty years, continues to secure patents in the United States; also in Great Britain, France and other Foreign countries. Caveats, Specifications, Assignments, and all papers for Patents, executed on reasonable terms with dispatch. Researches made to determine the validity and utility of Patents of inventions, and legal and other advice rendered in all matters touching the same. Copies of the claims of any patent furnished, by remitting one dollar. Assignments recorded in Washington.

No Agency in the United States possesses superior facilities for obtaining Patents or ascertaining the patentability of inventions.

All necessity of a journey to Washington to procure a Patent and the usual great delay there, are here saved inventors.

TESTIMONIALS.

"I regard Mr. Eddy as one of the most capable and successful practitioners with whom I have had official intercourse. CHARLES MASON, Commissioner of Patents."

"I have no hesitation in assuring inventors that they cannot employ a man more competent and trustworthy and more capable of putting their applications in a form to secure for them an early and favorable consideration at the Patent Office. EDMUND BURKE, Late Commissioner of Patents."

"MR. R. H. EDDY has made for me over THIRTY applications for Patents, having been successful in almost every case. Such unmistakable proof of great talent and ability on his part leads me to recommend ALL inventors to apply to him to procure their Patents, as they may be sure of having the most faithful attention bestowed on their cases, and at very reasonable charges. JOHN TAGGART."

BRIGGS' ALLEVANTOR is composed of Ammonia, Chloroform, Spirits of Camphor, Tincture of Lupuline, Oil of Juniper, and Alcohol. This compound is unequalled in the annals of medicine for the cure of Nervous or Sick Headache, Neuralgia, Trembling or Twitching of the Nerves, and all Nervous Diseases. It will counteract all poisons, banish pimples, cure scaly eruptions, itching, humors, &c.; it equalizes the circulation, invigorates the system, increases the action of the heart, without exciting the brain, cures Heartburn, Palpitation and Fluttering of the Heart, Dyspepsia, &c. Briggs' Allevantor absolutely possesses more curative properties than any other preparation. Physicians, chemists, and others are requested to examine and test the remedy, and $1000 will be paid if found different from representation.

COUGHS, and Much has been said and written, and many remedies have been offered for the relief and cure of throat and lung diseases; but nothing has been so eminently successful, or obtained such a wide celebrity, as Briggs' Throat and Lung Healer.

CORNS! The excruciating pain and uneasiness produced by Corns, the unceasing twinging from Bunions, the piercing, distressing pain from Ingrowing Nails, cannot be described. Thousands suffer, but know there is a cure. Briggs' Corn and Bunion Remedies are no acid or potash compounds, but are reliable, soothing, and effectual. Just match a hard case they have earned from an appreciative public. The Curative is a healing ointment; immediate relief is obtained by its application, and it will positively cure the worst cases of Festered Corns, Inflamed and Ulcerated Bunions, the sorest instep, the largest and severest Blisters, the most extensive Callosities on the soles or heels of the feet, unequalled in the cure of Chilblains or Frosted Feet. The Allevantor for ordinary corns and preventing their formation is absolutely unexcelled by anything ever known.

PILES have been a terror to mankind for centuries, and almost every attempt to cure them has been baffled. By unceasing study and experimenting, Dr. Briggs has discovered an absolutely cure for internal, bleeding, external, and itching piles. Briggs' Pile Remedies are mild, safe and sure.

For sale by J. H. THACHER, WM. R. PRESTON, Portsmouth; JAMES O. TREFETHEN, Kittery; E. S. SAFFORD, Kittery Point; H. M. CURTIS, Newcastle, and dealers generally.

Vermont Election.

The senate will be unanimously Republican. Franklin county, a boasted Greeley stronghold, increases the majority of two years ago 358. We append as samples the vote of several towns in 1870 (the last election) and this year. They show that though the Vermont Republicans have taken the New York Tribune for a guide hitherto, they do not follow it into the enemy's camp.

FOR GOVERNOR, 1870.
Stewart, Republican	33,367
Heaton, Democrat	12,058
Total vote	45,425
Republican majority	21,305
FOR PRESIDENT, 1868.
Grant, Republican	44,167
Seymour, Democrat	12,045
Total vote	56,212
Republican majority	32,122
FOR GOVERNOR, 1868.
Edward's Democrat	15,289
Total vote	57,904
Redublican majority	27,324

The New York Tribune had predicted that the Republican majority in Vermont would not be over 5000! At the Liberal headquarters in New York yesterday the Republicans would have less than 15,000 majority. It is hard for those men to comprehend the times in which they live.

The returns, so far as heard from, indicate the election of the Republican county tickets in every county in the State. The Republicans elect at least ninety out of the one hundred Representatives heard from—the combined Democrats and Greeley Republicans being in a smaller minority than were the Democrats alone two years ago. The Republican majority will be 25,000, a gain of 4000.

POLITICAL BASE BALL.—The Missouri Democrat has the following on the Political Base Ball contest for the championship:—

The great base ball match for the championship of America, now proceeding between the Gratz Brown Stockings, of Cincinnati, and the Republic nine, present champions, creates much comment in sporting circles. Betting is heavily in favor of the Republic team, although the most desperate endeavors are being made by the Gratz Brown Stockings to secure the game. As pitcher they have Ho. Greeley, formerly of the Chappaqua Shorthorns; he possesses much vigor, but is unreliable in speed and direction, and as he is playing with a team which he has always played against, during a long career as a ball-tosser, his ability is much impaired. As a catcher they have Brown, formerly captain of the Missouri Soreheads, who can catch anything, especially the cholera morbus. He hurt his hands severely in the Yale College match, but hopes to be himself again ere long, when the regulation dead rotten apple is used. Schurz, who plays first base with a baseness rarely seen, has been engaged from the old Republic nine at a heavy expense—$200 a night. His play has not been satisfactory, and he will probably be ruled out by the Champion Committee for revolving. The other basemen are Trumbull and Sumner. Banks of the Red River Commissaries, plays at short, while the out-fielders are Fenton, Horace White and Palmer; Treasurer, Boss Tweed; Manager, Frank Blair. The game, so far as it is played, is a very one-sided affair, and the Gratz Brown Stockings are likely to be Chicagoed. The following is the score at the end of the 7th inning:

	Ho.	Colum.	Ind.	Chicago	Mass.	Cal.	N. Y.
Republic	1	1	1	1	1	1	1-7
G. B. Stockings	0	0	0	0	0	0	0-0

O'Conor vs. Greeley.

The straight-out Democrats assembled at Louisville received great aid in the letter which O'Conor sent to the convention. He referred to the Tammany frauds and Greeley's candidacy as follows:—

The enormous growth of official malversation in this city and State which was brought to light during the last year invited good men to action. The discoveries made afforded an opportunity of stirring the general mind to a persistent effort for reform. The opportunity was improved and, except so far as disturbed by the inopportune recurrence of a Presidential canvass, the current of popular sentiment has ever since moved steadily in the right direction. A desire has been extensively entertained that this movement, originating in the nation's metropolis, should be permitted to run its natural course, draw into harmony with itself the honest masses throughout our country, and thereby lead to the establishment of efficient, self-sustaining and permanent barriers against prevalent evils.

Facts, however, warrant an apprehension that the pending conflict for control of the federal power has broken in upon the tendency to reform, and may completely reverse it. Governmental intermeddling with those concerns of society which, under judicious laws, might beneficially be left to individual action, is the only real evil actually developed in our system. This eminence is assigned to it because it is the fruitful parent of all others existing, and because the measures required to correct it are precisely those which would extirpate the unrestrainable powers now so mischievously exercised by our officials. If, instead of prohibiting or diminishing the vicious practice, our people should impart to it new sanctions and greater vitality, reform must become impossible.

Now of this practice, above all other living Americans, Mr. Greeley is the recognized champion, and no body of organized opponents to it has ever existed in the country, except the Democratic party. Yet by the decree of a convention assuming to represent that party Mr. Greeley has been gazetted as its standard-bearer. Opposition to that proceeding has in my mind a far deeper source than mere attachment to party. That I at least am not entirely influenced by that sentiment may appear by the measures adopted in the case of the recently detected municipal malefactors. In organizing the forces employed equal opportunities for purging itself from complicity were conceded to each of the great political parties and to every class. Thus innocence has been shielded from the discredit of associations inadvertently formed. Official criminals stands literally defenceless, and all honest men in this great city and State are united as a brotherhood for common defence.

Aside then from party sentiment, my views of the public interest and of existing public necessities compel me to repudiate the Baltimore nomination of Mr. Greeley. Whenever speaking or writing on the subject I have uniformly condemned it and declared my readiness to support a Democratic candidate. This circumstance has led to a supposal in some quarters that I had aspirations to office, and it has been suggested that my name might be offered to your acceptance as a candidate. The object of this letter is to avoid misapprehension on these points. If compelled to decide between General Grant and Horace Greeley as candidates for the presidency, the Democratic elector must rely very much upon mere conjecture. Those inclining to the latter, as a choice of evils, suggest that a mitigation of oppressions at the South would result from his success. There may, however, be equal ground to hope for that good result in either issue of this rivalry. Once his second term shall have been secured, General Grant's only motive for inflicting misery on that portion of his countrymen will cease. An effort to secure a third term or to establish a dictatorship cannot reasonably be apprehended, and consequently a comparison of probabilities offer us merely a blank olympiad on one hand or four years of undeniable activity on the other.

The wise people, whose usages we have generally followed, had occasion to pass through a transitional period, somewhat similar to that now affecting southern interests. In their action at that time we could find safe precedents for a course of policy which would promptly reinstate southern prosperity. But if there be one among the master spirits of the age who, even if inclined, could not adopt that policy, it is Mr. Greeley. The success of General Grant might involve no important consequences but, that of Mr. Greeley would consecrate the practices referred to, which in my opinion are resolutely incompatible with the permanency of republican institutions.

He closed the letter with reference to the nominee of the convention for President by saying:—

My deep aversion to all these things has induced me to encourage the movement which you represent, and doubtless my name will be presented for your consideration as a nominee. In that case I beg leave, respectfully, to withdraw it. The strength and emphasis which have marked the language employed by some gentlemen in addressing me on this subject, must be my excuse for saying what follows. Success should of course be an object. In the present condition of affairs other leadership will afford a better prospect of attaining it. A choice can be made from many equally reliable as reformers, probably more capable of public office and yet less likely to combine formidable elements of opposition. I could not consent to subscribe to a platform containing either a profession of faith or a recantation of errors and a promise of amendment. The existing practice requires this, and that practice may not be abruptly set aside. Love of that absolute independence which can hardly be maintained in public office, a desire to promote your success instead of impeding it, and a belief that I can thus best perform the individual citizen's quota of public service, have created in my mind an unalterable resolve to remain in private station.

A dispatch to the Advertiser from New York city says that Charles O'Conor's letter is considered a heavy blow to the Greeley party and causes much disgust among Greeley's adherents. Prominent democrats say it will cause much dissatisfaction among the Democracy of New York, and predict the loss of at least 10,000 on Greeley's vote. Several betting men who had put up money on the vote of the State are hedging, and say another blow like this will carry the State for the Republicans by a handsome majority. Many Democrats announce their intention not to vote at the Presidential election, and others have changed from Greeley to Grant. Some of Greeley's supporters denounce O'Conor as a supporter in disguise of Grant, and say his advocacy is the result of a bargain by which O'Conor is to receive an important office under Grant if reelected. No single occurrence since the beginning of the campaign has caused the Greeley men in New York more consternation than this, as O'Conor's influence among Democrats is very great. Several ward politicians have announced their intention of disbanding some of their Greeley and Brown clubs and allowing their followers to do just as they please.

The Louisville Convention

Organized by choosing for President Judge James Lyons, of Virginia. There was great interest to learn the contents of the communication from Charles O'Conor. The letter was opened and read before any other business was transacted.

On reassembling, Wednesday, Charles O'Conor of New York was nominated for a candidate for President, receiving 600 votes to four for Gen. H. Pendleton. The Convention adopted O'Conor's letter as a part of its platform of principles.

The News.

Senator Garrett Davis of Kentucky is dangerously ill, and his recovery is pronounced impossible.

Pacific mail steamship America was burned Aug. 24th, at Yokohama, Japan. No lives lost.

From a perusal of Senator Sumner's last letter, we come to the conclusion that the Sumner of to-day is not the Sumner of 1860, and that the Senator's oft recurring illness may have really affected his mind to that extent that he deserves the pity rather than the censure of his former political associates.

—Even in Switzerland they have been suffering from terrible heat. When we remember that the comet hoax originated in that country, and that they have mountains on which they could freeze to death in a few hours if they desired it, we have no heart to sympathize with them.

—The Troy Press says:—"In a store at North Adams, two alligators and a turtle have been confined in the tank. The turtle has attacked his comrades several times. On Thursday he seized the leg of one of the alligators and then retired to his shell. It was necessary to cut off the turtle's head before the alligator could be released."

—There is a Russian at Old Orchard Beach whose fondness for the sea and everything connected with it is eccentric to the verge of mania. He drinks two or three gallons—it is said—of sea water daily, eats seaweed by the handful and bathes four or five times a day. He is very healthy and robust, fat as a seal, and has a round, red, jocund face.

—A five-year-old at Ithaca had a little house built for his cat which was placed on the porch, when a little shower came up. The young man was discovered soon after with the cat by the nape of the neck, looking up into the clouds, and giving vent to his outraged feelings. Says he: "Look here, Dod! don't you know what yo're doing, raining all over my tat! You'll dit her all rusty!"

—A Westerner recently invented the neatest, simplest, and most effective method of suicide, ever heard of. He placed himself in the most comfortable posture attainable, and took in his mouth a piece of India rubber tubing, the other end of which was connected with the gas burner. He then turned on the gas and proceeded to inhale, going off to the happy hunting grounds as easily as though he were only taking a dose of laughing gas in a dentist's chair.

—The authorities of the Sandwich islands have enacted what is known as the Ohio liquor law, which has met the approval of the king. It makes liquor dealers responsible for damages on account of injuries to whom liquor is sold.

Says he, "To hide a hoe."
Says I, "What are you going to hide a hoe for?"
Says he, "I did'nt say hide a hoe, I said hide a hoe."
Says I, "Spell it."
Says he, "I-d-a-h-o."
"Oh!" says I, "Idaho."
"Yes," says he, "Hide a hoe."

AN ESSENTIAL OF LOVELINESS.—To be entirely beautiful the hair should be abundant and lustrous. This is absolutely essential to complete loveliness. The most regular features, the most brilliant complexion and pearliest teeth fail of their due effect if the hair be thin, dry, or harsh. On the contrary the plainest face, if it be but surmounted by luxuriant and silken tresses, is apt to impress the beholder with a sense of actual beauty. That crowning ornament of her sex is happily, within the reach of lovely women and being as discriminating as she is lovely, she long ago discovered that Lyon's Kathairon was the sure means of securing it. No preparation for the Hair ever enjoyed a tithe of its popularity, and no wonder, since it produces such gratifying results. Applied to the waste and barren places of the scalp, it fructifies and enriches them with a new and ample growth. It is not, of course, pretended that it will do this if the capacity for reproduction is extinct, but so long as it remains that wonderful rehabilitant will assuredly propagate the germ of the hair into life and activity.

THE STOMACH AS AN AVENGER.—For every breach of the laws of health that we commit the stomach inflicts a penalty. Headache, billousness, nervous tremors, constipation, colic, heartburn, nausea, debility and mental depression are only a few of the punishments which an outraged stomach is capable of imposing upon us. To bring back this vengeful organ to its normal condition—to placate, invigorate and regulate it—there is nothing in the wide world so potent as a course of Hostetter's Stomach Bitters. Under the operation of this beneficent vegetable corrective and tonic the gastric juice becomes a pure and healthful solvent and resumes its natural flow. The effect is the same on the biliary secretion, and in fact on all the fluids of the body, and the final result is the removal of every painful or unpleasant symptom occasioned by the rebellious action of the digestive organ.

CASTORIA.—A substitute for Castor Oil—is a physic which does not distress or gripe, but is sure to operate when all other remedies fail. Castoria is a cure for Colic, Constipation, Flatulency, Croup, Worms, Piles or deranged Liver. It contains neither Minerals, Morphine, Opium nor Alcohol, but is purely a vegetable preparation, perfectly harmless, and above all, pleasant to take. The Castoria soothes and quiets the system, and produces natural sleep. It is a wonderful thing to assimilate the food of children and prevent them from crying. A 35 cent bottle will do the work for a family and save many doctors' bills.

DECAY'S EFFACING FINGER.—Will never mar the teeth that are brushed daily with Odenferous SOZODONT. It lends a floral fragrance to the breath as well as protects the teeth from corrosion and decomposition.

THE PEOPLE'S STAMP OF VALUE.—The Government endorsement, which legalizes the sale of Plantation Bitters, is not the only stamp affixed to that famous Vegetable Tonic. It bears, in addition to that official sanction, the still more valuable stamp, public approbation. This inestimable voucher of its rare properties as a tonic, Corrective and Alterative, is of much earlier date than the Government endorsement; for millions of sick persons had pronounced it the Grand Specific of the Age long before Congress thought of taxing proprietary medicines. It is unnecessary to repeat, in detail, the properties of this wonderful Vegetable Invigorant. The best reference that can be offered to those who desire the full particulars of its virtues, is the General Public. Ask those who have tried it as a remedy for dyspepsia, constipation, billousness, intermittent fevers, nervous debility, rheumatism, sea sickness, low spirits, or loss of vital power, what Plantation Bitters has done for them, and be governed by the response they make to your inquiries.

THE THIEF who was arrested for robbing Parsons' store in this town, was found to have a quantity of Ayer's Hair Vigor in his possession. When asked why he wished to steal that article, he answered that he "wanted to restore his hair, for it was hard to be a thief and bald too." If that invention of the great chemist could restore a faded character as effectually as it does their natural beauty to bald and grey heads, it would surely be, as they say it now is, truly invaluable.—Lewiston (Me.) Journal.

PILES.—The unceasing torture from internal bleeding, external and itching piles is fast wearing away the thousands of those who are afflicted and their hope and courage have long since given place to despair. Let those who see this cheer up, for a mild and sure cure may be had by using BRIGGS' PILE REMEDIES.

CORNS.—Since pride and fashion have had control of mankind, and shoemakers were compelled to make boots and shoes to fit fancy instead of the feet,—the suffering from Corns, Bunions, Ingrowing Nails, Sore Instepps, Blistered Heels, Callosities on the bottom of the feet, &c., cannot be described. But Briggs' Corn and Bunion Remedies will cure all such torments, and proper fitting boots will prevent their reproduction. Sold by all druggists. al2

PUBLIC LIBRARY OF KENTUCKY

Second Grand Gift Concert.

DAY OF THE DRAWING FIXED.

No Postponement from Sept. 28.

To the Public:

The Trustees of the Public Library of Kentucky being satisfied from the large sale of tickets already made, and the daily increasing demand for them, that there will be no occasion for postponing the second drawing in the Gift Concert in aid of the Public Library of Kentucky, have instructed me, as their agent and manager of the Gift Concert, to say to the public and ticket-holders that the drawing will positively take place on September 28th prox., and will not be postponed. An active demand for tickets comes from every State and Territory of the United States, and from the Canadas, giving assurance to the Trustees that no circumstances can prevent a drawing at the appointed time.

A sufficient clerical force is engaged to keep up with the orders for tickets, and in order that this office may be relieved of the immense pressure incident to the business for the week or two immediately preceding the drawing, agents especially, and those desirous of procuring tickets, are requested to send in their orders immediately, as sales will have to be closed in time to make the necessary preparations for the drawing. It is the wish of the management to fill every order for a ticket, as well as to sell all the tickets, but those who apply first must first be supplied; and, if those who procrastinate until sales are closed, have their money returned, instead of the tickets ordered, as in the first Gift Concert in December last, when thousands of dollars that came too late were sent back, they will have none to blame but themselves. Laconics.

With sadness we announce the death of Miss ARABELLA RICE, at her residence in this city. Miss Rice was possessed of a large fortune, being the wealthiest lady in Portsmouth. She was foremost in good deeds, and from her liberal purse relieved the wants of many in need. Her most recent donation was the sum of $1000 to the Howard Benevolent Society. Miss Rice is described as a most estimable lady, possessing a sweetness of disposition which endeared her to all with whom she became acquainted. By her death, the poor will lose a valued friend and her associates a loved companion.

Three miles of the double track of the Eastern Railroad between Greenland and Portsmouth have been completed and put in operation.

Mr. Havilla Deering, who has for ten years past suffered with elephantiasis in one leg, had the limb successfully amputated at the knee joint by Dr. N. L. Folsom, on the 3d.

At a caucus of the Republicans of Kittery, on the evening of the 3d, Warrington Paul, Esq., was renominated for Representative in the State legislature. Messrs. John Wentworth, Warrington Paul, C. L. Hayes, Robert Briard, M. A. Safford, D. M. Shapleigh and M. V. B. Stimson were appointed Town Committee.

The alacrity with which the Liberal Republicans of Vermont uprose is positively alarming!

Attorney-General Reed will address the Republicans at the court house, York, on Friday evening.

The frequent reappearance of our rooster irritates the Dolly Vardens, whose opportunities in that line are few. Our handsome fowl will reappear next Tuesday.

The young lads and misses who raised the flag, Wednesday evening, at the residences of Messrs. Tucker and Harlow, on State Street, made quite a success of it. They marched through Daniel, Pleasant and State Streets, headed by Harlow's Band, each little one bearing a stasty bouquet. The novel procession attracted several hundred Republicans who greeted the flag with lusty cheers. Gen. Simon G. Griffin, of Keene, who was the guest of James P. Bartlett, Esq., was called out and made a brief but eloquent speech in behalf of Grant and Wilson.

The Republicans of Ward One will meet at their Ward Room on Elm Street, at half-past 7 o'clock, Friday evening, Sept. 6, to choose delegates to the Electorial Convention to be held at Exeter Sept. 10th.

Portsmouth and Dover.

These two cities have voted to grant the aid to construct a railroad from Portsmouth to Dover. If it be their object to give the inhabitants of Dover and vicinity another route to Boston the road will be of little service to either city; but if the object be to grant facilities to the two cities for the transaction of manufacturing and commercial business it may be of some service, provided their capital be used in encouraging and sustaining business. Before the Eastern railroad was built to Portsmouth, we advocated building railroads from Portsmouth into the interior of New Hampshire, and wrote one or more articles upon the subject which were published in the Portsmouth Journal, and we met before a committee of the legislature at Concord the late Mr. Jenness and other gentlemen, but we could not convince them that their true policy was to build roads into the interior of New Hampshire and thereby bring trade and business to Portsmouth, but they must have a road to Boston, and to Boston they went, and instead of encouraging all kinds of manufacturing and commercial business in Portsmouth, banking in Boston gave more immediate gains, and Portsmouth became merely tributary to the growth of Boston, and subsequently when Messrs. James W. Emery and others undertook to build a road to Concord they found little aid from the capitalists of Portsmouth; consequently Portsmouth is a small city, not by any means living up to its advantages. It has the best harbor on the coast, never freezing over in the coldest winters, and it ought to have received a large part of the trade and business of the country.

A few years ago Portsmouth had several thousand more inhabitants than, and nearly five times the capital of, Haverhill, this city. Now Haverhill has probably 5000 more inhabitants than Portsmouth and nearly as much capital. It is very apparent what has made the difference. Haverhill has been enterprising, active, industrious, diligent and encouraged manufacturing, while Portsmouth has run up to Boston and has by no means improved her natural advantages. Had Haverhill the facilities for doing business which Portsmouth possesses, but has neglected, we should now have been a city of 50,000 inhabitants and of immense wealth. Portsmouth could afford to sell merchandise cheaper than it could be sold in Boston, had she improved her advantages as Boston has. Railroads should have been built into the interior, and all heavy goods for the interior have been sold in Portsmouth and delivered in Manchester, Concord and other places cheaper than they be obtained from Boston. But the capital of Portsmouth has been used to build up Boston. The railroad to Dover will be of little or no advantage to Portsmouth unless there is the enterprise and energy to make it available.

If Portsmouth will use her capital, as other cities do, in promoting the prosperity of the city by introducing and sustaining manufacturing and commercial business, she may yet be of some account in the world. The oldest inhabitants probably remember when Portsmouth had more inhabitants and capital than Newark, New Jersey. In another column may be found a synopsis of some of the business done in Newark to which we invite the special attention of the good people of Portsmouth. It is evident what has made the difference in the two cities. It is of no benefit to a place to have railroads and a harbor if every business man must take the early train for Boston, or if business be not done in the place to sustain both the place and the railroad. If the same policy prevails in Portsmouth which had prevailed there for the past thirty years the railroad will be poor property, but if with the railroad Portsmouth improves her natural facilities for the transaction of business, she may yet be even a large city of much wealth and influence.—Haverhill Gazette.

—Seventy-four hogs and one cow were thrown off a single train at Indianapolis one day last week, having perished from extreme heat.

—A toothpick factory in Canton, Me., has laid in 100 cords of popular wood the present season; each machine in the factory makes 5000 toothpicks a minute.

—It is stated that the evidence at Marshal Bazaine's trial, now progressing at Paris, show that a traitorous correspondence existed between Bazaine and the Germans prior to the surrender of Metz.

—A dark colored individual insists that if whites and blacks go to heaven together, the former will find some menial service for the latter, set them to to pushing the clouds along or something else.

—A Detroit boy fell the other day through a hatchway a distance of three stories; but instead of being killed, as he naturally ought to have been, he was able to get up and walk off. He is only ten years old now, and his father thinks that in a couple of years he will be able to fall off a four-story house with ease, while he cherishes a hope that before he attains his majority he can tumble down a shot-tower or out of a balloon. So life seems to open up bright and beautiful to that boy.

—"Why did the Creator make all other living things before he made man?" inquired a Sabbath school teacher of little Jonathan. Jonathan hesitated, and failed to answer at first, so the question was given to the entire class; but the class could not answer. At last Jonathan, who had considered the question, remarked with emphasis, "I know, Miss Maria, why God created all other living things before he created man." "Well, Jonathan, state the reason." "'Cause he didn't want a man hanging around while he was making t'other things."

—Long-wristed kid-gloves will continue in vogue this year. Those ladies who have heretofore worn one button, will henceforth wear two, and those who have worn two will henceworth wear three. As to color, tints of brown and gray will be most popular for day wear; lavender, pearl, buff, and white will be used for dress occasions.

—While walking in the streets of Newburg, N. Y., a woman suddenly discovered that her clothes were in flames. She screamed and then ran into a millinery store, where her clothing was torn from her person, but not until she had been severely burned about the hips and body. Her dress, sacque and other apparel were burned from her body. It is supposed the fire was caused by a lighted cigar or a match thrown upon her while passing along the street.

Morning Chronicle.

THE EVERGLADES OF FLORIDA.—The Everglades are just a submerged prairie, and they exhibit the manner in which the great Western prairies were formed. Drain the Everglades (it could be done), and the present islands would be hills. Submerge a prairie, and its hills would become islands. No tree is found on the Everglades, because they are constantly covered with water; no trees are found on the prairies, because they were long covered with water. Time will come when this vast plain will be clear of water, and then we shall have a large surface, like the prairies, clear of trees and fitted for cultivation by man.

In these little Everglade islands the palm flourishes, and also the orange, and every other tree of Florida. The castor-oil plant grows up to be a big tree of several years' life. The arrow root and sweet potato patches merely require that stirring of the ground necessary in moving the full grown roots to cause the younger ones to grow up and keep on growing. It is really not necessary to plant more than once. It is a lazy man's Paradise. No wonder the Indians were unwilling to move to the West. It was not the graves of their fathers they were unwilling to leave; it was their potato and pumpkin patches. Their pumpkin is small, round, sweet; they cut it open, put it open, put it in a raccoon or opossum, cover it with ashes, and bake it in the fire. The hunters think it a superb dish. Another plan is to take a fish just off the hook, and without scaling or cleaning, wrap it up in green leaves and bake it in the same way. Some use a wet newspaper.

—Where a Louisvillian elevates his feet, New Albany thinks there's an eclipse.—St. Louis Globe.

—Some idea of the extent of the fruit business in southern Illinois, this season, may be gained from the fact that the Illinois Central Railroad runs a train expressly for fruit of from 15 to 25 cars on the Chicago branch, every day.

AYER'S PURGATIVE PILLS.

For all the purposes of a Family Physic,

CURING

Costiveness, Jaundice, Dyspepsia, Indigestion, Dysentery, Foul Stomach, Erysipelas, Headache, Piles, Rheumatism, Eruptions and Skin Diseases, Biliousness, Liver Complaint, Dropsy, Tetter, Tumors and Salt Rheum, Worms, Gout, Neuralgia, as a Dinner Pill, and Purifying the Blood,

Are the most congenial purgative yet perfected. Their effects abundantly show how much they excel all other Pills. They are safe and pleasant to take, but powerful to cure. They purge out the foul humors of the blood; they stimulate the sluggish or disordered organ into action, and they impart health and tone to the whole being. They cure not only the every day complaints of every body, but formidable and dangerous diseases. Most eminent clergymen, most skillful physicians, and our best citizens send certificates of cures performed, and of great benefits they have derived from these Pills. They are the safest and best physic for children, because mild as well as effectual. Being sugar coated, they are easy to take; and being purely vegetable, they are entirely harmless.

The Singer

SEWING MACHINE

STILL LEADS THE MARKET.

The Success of the Company is far beyond that of any other similar concern; the

Daily Manufacture

— OF —

400 OF THE SINGERS

Failing to Supply the Constant Demand.

All other machines call the public attention to some new loop or stitch or tension or finish, some advantage in running or needles or feed or prices —and many of these are as we have said very good points, and the agents selling them use them to divert entirely the would-be purchaser from fairly considering the facts in the case; but the

seems to unite the good qualities of all, and is never found wanting.

THE SINGER

IS THE

OLDEST

SEWING MACHINE

IN THE MARKET,

All others being copied from its first model. It does two-thirds the sewing done in this country and preserves its advantages over all others combined.

It is readily kept clean, and has THE BEST TENSION and LEAST NOISE; is higher speeded than requires but little power to run; it works equally well upon the finest and heaviest goods; it does all the varieties of work known to the art.

N. B. Those purchasing for cash, before the 1 of January next, will have a consideration allowed them.

AYER'S

SARSAPARILLA

FOR PURIFYING THE BLOOD.

A medicine that cures is a real public blessing. AYER'S SARSAPARILLA makes positive cure of a series of complaints, which are always afflicting and too often fatal. It purifies the blood, purges out the lurking humors in the system, which undermine health and settle into troublesome disorders. Eruptions of the skin are the appearance on the surface of humors that should be expelled from the blood. Internal derangements are the determination of these same humors to some internal organ, or organs, whose action they derange, and whose substance they disease and destroy. AYER'S SARSAPARILLA expels these humors from the blood. When they are gone, the disorders they produce disappear, such as Ulcerations of the Liver, Stomach, Kidneys, Lungs, Eruptions and Eruptive Diseases of the skin, St. Anthony's Fire, Rose or Erysipelas, Pimples, Pustules, Blotches, Boils, Tumors, Tetter and Salt Rheum, Scald Head, Ringworm, Ulcers and Sores, Rheumatism, Neuralgia, Pain in the Bones, Side, and Head, Female Weakness, Sterility, Leucorrhœa arising from internal ulceration and uterine disease, Dropsy, Dyspepsia, Emaciation, and General Debility. With their departure health returns.

CUTTING BUSHES.—An old rule, and one which has been pretty generally observed, is to cut bushes towards the close of the month of August. Some observing people have cut them at different times, and carefully noted the effect. Cases are reported where the cutting late in August had more influence in destroying them than at any other period.

The reason for this, it seems to us, is, that the plant at this time is usually in its full vigor; it is too late to begin a new growth, and the sudden check is too great for the plant to recover from. N. E. Farmer.

—The wreck of the steamer New England has arrived at Portland.

—Several families in Portland have organized a cooperative boarding house.

—John Frederick, the Courier Journal's diminutive tattler, trims his corns with a buzz saw.—St. Louis Globe.

—Oliver Twist, a stone-mason at Rochester, has played the Dickens with his anatomy by tumbling from a scaffold.

—Tilton has recovered from his Woodhull fascination, and does not believe that Demosthenes visits her on the roof.

—A Danbury man would have been late for the train had he not stepped on a peach pit at the head of the stairs in the railway station.

The Great Blood Purifier.

A valuable Indian compound, for restoring the health, and for the permanent cure of all diseases arising from impurities of the blood, such as

Scrofula Scrofulous Humors, Cancers, Cancerous Humor, Erysipelas, Canker, Salt Rheum, Pimples and Humors on the Face, Ulcers, Coughs, Catarrh, Bronchitis, Neuralgia, Pains in the Side, Rheumatism, Dyspepsia, Constipation Costiveness, Dizziness, Piles, Headache, Nervousness, Faintness at the Stomach, Pains in the Back, Kidney Complaints, Female Weakness, and General Debility.

This preparation is scientifically and chemically combined, and so strongly concentrated from roots, herbs and barks, that its good effects are realized immediately after commencing to take it. There is no disease of the human system for which the VEGETINE cannot be used with PERFECT SAFETY, as it does not contain any metallic compound. For eradicating the system of all impurities of the blood, it has no equal. It has never failed to effect a cure, giving tone and strength to the system debilitated by disease. Its wonderful effects upon these complaints are surprising to all. Many have been cured by the VEGETINE that have tried many other remedies. It can well be called

AYER'S

CHERRY PECTORAL

For Diseases of the Throat and Lungs, such as Coughs, Colds, Whooping Cough, Bronchitis, Asthma and Consumption.

The few compositions, which have won the confidence of mankind and become household words among not only one but many nations, must have extraordinary virtues. Perhaps no one ever secured so wide a reputation or maintained it so long as AYER'S CHERRY PECTORAL. It has been known to the public about forty years, by a long continued series of marvellous cures, which have won for it a confidence in its virtues, never equalled by any other medicines. It still makes the most effectual cures of Coughs, Colds, Consumption, that can be made by medical skill. Indeed the CHERRY PECTORAL has really robbed these dangerous diseases of their terrors, to a great extent, and given a feeling of immunity from their fatal effects, which is well founded, if the remedy be taken in season. Every family should have it in their closet for the ready and prompt relief of its members. Sickness, suffering, and even life is saved by this timely protection. The present should not neglect it, and the wise will not. Keep it by you for the protection it affords in sudden attacks, and by its timely use.

CLEAR YOUR THROAT!

Relieve Your Lungs.

For the terrible diseases engendered by the lung-trying climate of New England,

Pulmocine Cordial

Is a speedy and reliable Preventive and Remedy. EVERY FAMILY should have a bottle at hand to check the sudden growth of all Pulmonary Diseases. For the Asthma, Coughs, Croup, Bronchitis, or inflammation of the larynx, Diphtheria, and all kindred THROAT DISEASES at all times prevalent, it is the choice of PREVENTION. Children attacked with Whooping Cough or Croup should be immediately cared for. These painful attacks come with scarcely a moment's warning when a physician may be out of immediate reach. A dose of PULMOCINE CORDIAL gives speedy relief, and the little ones are spared hours of pain and agony. As "a stitch in time saves nine," so does the possession of this FAMILY MEDICINE prevent the spread of disease. Parents seeing their children gasping with pain, friends and relatives beholding each other in peril from suffocation by the choking pain in the throat, paralyzed with fear and not knowing the best course to pursue, are liable to apply the wrong remedial agents. There is no safety in delay, no time to waste in such cases. CONSUMPTION, that fearful scourge of the human race, lies at the door of all thus afflicted. BUCHMAN'S PULMOCINE CORDIAL arrests it (unless in its advanced stage at which time there is no local cure) relieves the pressing, suffocating feeling at the lungs, and the patient's danger is past.

Buchman's Pulmocine Cordial

BUCHMAN'S PULMOCINE CORDIAL

is no new discovery. Twenty-three years ago it was used by one of New England's most famous physicians as the best PULMONARY CURATIVE he could prescribe, after a dozen years spent in experimenting with it before he was satisfied that the Materia Medica could add nothing in its favor.

Is the ultima thule of Medical Discovery.

Among its many ingredients are WILD CHERRY BARK, SQUILL ROOT, LIQUORICE ROOT, BLOOD ROOT, &c. It is a BLOOD PURIFIER, gently stimulating. It increases expectoration and is diuretic. It is sudorific and alterative. It is a necessary family medicine. It is a Tonic, and a powerful aid to the digestive organs. It is a gentle sedative, and relieves nervousness. It is aromatic and agreeable to the taste.

For Coughs, Croup, Diphtheria, Asthma, &c.

USE BUCHMAN'S

PULMOCINE CORDIAL.

The Pulmocine Cordial is not a quack medicine, is not an experiment, is not composed of any ingredients "discovered" by "walking in pastures" in South America or anywhere else, nor by one who discovered a weed and thereby cured himself. Most of the ingredients are such as our best educated physicians daily use for the complaints specified, in some form or other. The recipe is that perfected by one of New England's most learned and famous physicians, who used it entirely in his daily practice until his death. It is offered to the profession and to the public, absolutely pure and unadulterated.

Caveats, Specifications, Assignments, and all papers for Patents, executed on reasonable terms with dispatch. Researches made to determine the validity and utility of Patents of inventions, and to give such advice rendered in all matters touching the same. Copies of the claims of any patent furnished, by remitting one dollar. Assignments recorded in Washington.

No Agency in the United States possesses superior facilities for obtaining Patents or ascertaining the patentability of inventions.

All necessity of a journey to Washington to procure a Patent and the usual great delay there, are here saved inventors.

TESTIMONIALS.

"I regard Mr. Eddy as one of the most capable and successful practitioners with whom I have had official intercourse. CHARLES MASON, Commissioner of Patents."

"I have no hesitation in assuring inventors that they cannot employ a man more competent and trustworthy and more capable of putting their applications in a form to secure for them an early and favorable consideration at the Patent Office. EDMUND BURKE, Late Commissioner of Patents."

"MR. R. H. EDDY has made for me over THIRTY applications for Patents, having been successful in almost every case. Such unmistakable proof of great talent and ability on his part leads me to recommend ALL inventors to apply to him to procure their Patents, as they may be sure of having the most faithful attention bestowed on their cases, and at very reasonable charges.

BRIGGS' ALLEVANTOR is composed of Ammonia, Chloroform, Spirits of Camphor, Tincture of Lupuline, Oil of Juniper, and Alcohol. This compound is unequalled in the annals of medicine for the cure of Nervous or Sick Headache, Neuralgia, Trembling or Twitching of the Nerves, and all Nervous Diseases. It will counteract all poisons, banish pimples, cure scaly eruptions, itching, humors, &c.; it equalizes the circulation, invigorates the system, increases the action of the heart, without exciting the brain, cures Heartburn, Palpitation and Fluttering of the Heart, Dyspepsia, &c. Briggs' Allevantor absolutely possesses more curative properties than any other preparation. Physicians, chemists, and others are requested to examine and test the remedy; and $1000 will be paid if found different from representation.

COUGHS, Much has been said and written, and many remedies have been offered for the relief and cure of throat and lung diseases; but nothing has been so eminently successful, or obtained such a wide celebrity, as Briggs' Throat and Lung Healer.

CORNS! The excruciating pain attending Corns, the procuring of Corns, the unceasing twinging from Bunions, the piercing, distressing pain from Ingrowing Nails, cannot be allayed by thousands suffering, not knowing there is a cure. Briggs' Corn and Bunion Remedies are no acid or potash compounds, but are reliable, soothing, and effectual, and just merit the success they have earned from an appreciative public. The curative is a healing ointment; immediate relief is obtained by its application, and it will positively cure the worst cases of Festered Corns, Inflamed and Ulcerated Bunions, the sorest instep, the largest and severest Blisters, the most extensive Callosities on the soles or heels of the feet, unequalled in the cure of Chilblains or Frosted Feet. The Allevantor for ordinary corns and preventing their formation is absolutely unexcelled by anything ever known.

PILES have been a terror to mankind for centuries, and almost every attempt to cure them has been baffled. By unceasing study and experimenting, Dr. Briggs has discovered an absolutely cure for internal, bleeding, external, and itching piles. Briggs' Pile Remedies are mild, safe and sure.

For sale by J. H. THACHER, WM. R. PRESTON, Portsmouth; JAMES O. TREFETHEN, Kittery; E. S. SAFFORD, Kittery Point; H. M. CURTIS, Newcastle, and dealers generally.

CORNS, Bunions, Bad Nails, and other diseases of the feet, Scrofulous and Cancerous Humors, Piles, etc., skillfully treated at the great central Chiropodial and Healing Institute, No. 730 Broadway, New York. DR. J. BRIGGS, President; DR. ALEXANDER WEBBER, Secretary. sp9

The Louisville Convention.

The convention evidently had a hard time of it. After nominating O'Conor there was a contest for the second place on the ticket, John Quincy Adams being finally nominated by a vote of 598, to 6 for L. P. Edgerton. The nomination of Mr. O'Conor was made upon the basis of his letter, and but little doubt of his acceptance was felt. A platform indorsing the full sentiment of the letter and denouncing the betrayal of the Democratic party at Baltimore was adopted. This accomplished, the work of the convention seemed to be about completed, and nearly half of the delegates started for their homes; but at the afternoon session there came a despatch from Mr. O'Conor positively declining the nomination and saying, "anything but that." This despatch completely upset what there was left of the convention and threw it into a state of thorough demoralization. The chairman, Hon. James Lyon of Virginia, was wildly nominated for President, but he told the delegates that the nomination was made out of order, thanked them, and counseled coolness, and finally an adjournment until Thursday morning was carried. During the proceedings of the day one delegate gave another the lie, and George Francis Train undertook to speak a piece, but was squelched.

On Wednesday the Louisiana delegation withdrew from the convention, assigning as a reason the hopelessness of the cause of Democratic principles in consequence of the decided declination of Mr. O'Conor. The Convention adjourned without nominating any one in O'Conor's stead.

Vermont Election.

Additional returns from Vermont show about the same ratio of gains as those previously received. It is evident that the Greeley Republican strength in that State has been greatly overrated, or is neutralized by the Grant Democratic vote. The Greeley mathematicians are now engaged in figuring out a Republican defeat on the basis of 25,000 Republican majority. They are adepts at that kind of arithmetic, having had large practice at it.

ROUGH ON THEODORE.—The Calais (Me.) Times gives the following amusing account of an incident of one of Tilton's meetings in that city, and presents a most cheering report of the Republican prospects in the 5th District. Says the Times:—

Towards the close of Mr. Tilton's speech, when speaking of the material assistance which the Democratic party had afforded in the achievment of Republican victories, he disturbed a little earthquake. "In 1868," said he "when we elected General Grant, one-half of the Democratic party came over to us, and Grant carried every State but three,"—here he was interrupted by a spontaneous burst of applause, which continued long, and subsided reluctantly. "Will you please repeat that applause for General Grant," said Mr. Tilton, as soon as he had regained his composure, "as it is the last opportunity you will ever have." It is needless to say that it was repeated with a will, and by a large majority of the audience. It was the only enthusiastic applause which Mr. Tilton received during the evening, and it was noticed that he with difficulty recovered from its startling effect. He expressed great disappointment next morning at the political sentiment in Calais.

—A small darkey with an armful of eight-day-old pups accosted a gentleman a few days ago with the query, "Want any pups dis marnin?" "What are they, Greeley or Grant pups?" At a venture the young fancier responded, "Greeley." "Don't want 'em." A day or two later the boy made another attempt, and was asked the same question, so he replied "Grant pups." "Why, you little rascal, didn't you offer the same pups to me a few days ago as Greeley pups?" "Das so, but they done got their eyes open since."

—The New York Commercial Advertiser is unkind. In speaking of the fact that Waltham has raised $200,000 for supplying the town with water, it says: "All the inhabitants are wondering how the derned thing will taste."

—One ought every day, says Goethe, at least to hear a little song, read a good poem, see a fine picture, and, if it be possible, to speak a few reasonable words.

—They sent a street grape dealer packing out of Salem last week, probably for fear fermentation might set in.

—A new version of an old verse—Loathe the poor Indian.

Political.

Schurz and Brown and all the rest
Have named the battle-cry.
Democracy yells out with zest,
"No Irish need apply!"

The Republicans of Tennessee have nominated O. A. Freeman for governor and Horace Maynard for Congressman at large.

Herschel V. Johnson is straight out for Grant, and will probably receive the nomination for Governor of Georgia, in which event the Republicans will support him.

Mr. Boutwell said in a speech at a flag-raising, a few days since that the vacillations of Horace Greeley were not the effect of dishonesty, but that the record of his life showed him to be so constituted that he is incapable of forming an opinion to which he can adhere.

An admirer of Alexander H. Stephens thinks if the "straights" should nominate him for the Presidency, his letter of acceptance would be about forty-one miles long.

The story that Senator Schurz's price for villifying Grant is $200 per night does the Senator injustice. His price is $250 per night; $200 is what he used to charge for talking on the Republican side. The extra $50 now asked is for wear and tear of conscience.

It was only last year that Theodore Tilton declared that "Mr. Greeley had spent a lifetime in advocating the fortunes of politicians well known by him to be personally unchaste."

The Springfield Republican, anti-Grant, is disgusted with everything. It has suggested Greeley's resignation, has demanded Brown's retirement from the ticket, and now it want's Doolittle to stop lying.—Hartford Courant.

Buell goes for Greeley. He may be remembered by those who are familiar with public affairs as an unlucky General in the late war. Greeley declared, in 1862, that "Buell ought to be court-martialed and shot."

Ex-Judge Albert Hagan, of Santa Cruz, Cal., has notified the Democratic Central Committee of that State that he cannot longer remain on the electoral ticket, because he cannot support Greeley for the Presidency. Mr. Hagan has been a staunch Democrat.

The election in Wilmington, Del., shows heavy Democratic gains. Joshua L. Lims was elected mayor by over 100 majority. Sims is the first Democratic mayor since 1860. We rejoice at being able to give one instance of Democratic success—the first advantage won by that party since it bought a Republican for a Presidential candidate. We had begun to fear the coalition would disband without waiting for its November thrashing.

The Buffalo Courier, a Greeley paper, telling of a procession in honor of its candidate, gives it the following backhanded compliment: "The procession passed the Courier editorial room, debauching down Seneca street," etc. Probably that was a Brown procession.

The Greeley Sun says:—"Is there a reaction against Greeley and in favor of Grant? If there is, who is responsible for it? Augustus Schell and the national Democratic committee." When the reaction has become so apparent that even the Sun is forced to admit it, the respectable Greeley papers might as well give up the fight.

Why Gen. Garfield is for Gen. Grant. At the last election his district gave 9740 republican majority. This is too big for even him to overturn.—Springfield Republican.

Can't anybody join the Greeley party unless he expects to get an office thereby?—Hartford Courant.

A man by the name of Crowfoot is stumping Michigan for Greeley. How natural.

Greeley papers, "going under new management," and coming out for Grant and Wilson, is one of the notable features of the campaign.

Captain W. H. Kell, a well known Warren county, Ohio, Democrat, repudiated Greeley Saturday, and declared for Grant. He was on the Warren county Democratic central committee.

In his speech at Suffield on Friday night General Hawley said:—"Some people and some papers were forever talking about bull pups till one would think the President lived in a dog-kennel, whereas he hates dogs, and never owned one in his life. Still we hear more about bull pups in the Democratic organs than we do of emancipation or universal suffrage."

Trustworthy information collected at Jacksonville shows that more than 1,000 Democrats of the Twelfth Illinois district will either support Grant or the Louisville convention candidate. They go for anything to beat Greeley.

General John B. Gordon of the late Confederate army, and Democratic candidate for governor of Georgia in 1868, is out in a letter to the effect that he has assurances from Greeley himself that in case of his election to the presidency he will recognize the claims of southern Democrats in making his Cabinet and other appointments. Under this assurance, given through General Gordon, the Warrenton Clipper, General Toombs' organ, has gone over to Greeley and Brown.

The New York World feels called upon to say that there is a notable lack of enthusiasm for Greeley in the ranks of the Democracy. True, unquestionably; but what has brought the World to confess it? Is that paper preparing to make another somersault, from Greeley to O'Conor?

The News.

The New England Fair, at Lowell, Mass., was visited by 25,000 persons on Wednesday, the second day of the Fair.

The lady who married Pere Hyacinthe was an American widow, the daughter of Amory Butterfield.

Judge Lewis Dent was tried in the Washington police court for assault upon Mr. Reed, editor of the Capital, and was fined $500.

The loss by the burning of the Pacific Mail Company's steamship America is estimated at $1,000,000.

Capt. Edward McBride, Jr., of Biddeford, who was recently brought home from West Africa, dangerously ill with the African fever, died on Sunday, leaving a wife and two children.

It is now reported that 19 lives were lost by the burning of the steamship America at Yokohama.

State News.

Harrisville has voted a five per cent. gratuity to the Manchester and Keene Railroad, by a vote of 130 to 12.

At Seabrook a large amount of shoes are now made for Lynn manufacturers, the proceeds of labor yielding annually from $250,000 to $300,000. Four machine shops are in operation, turning out daily about 2000 pairs of women's serge and kid boots. Upward of one thousand men and women are engaged upon this branch of business alone.

The Governor and Council on Tuesday made the following appointments: Enoch G. Rogers of Columbia, sheriff of Coos county, in place of Mr. Legro, who was removed by advice of the legislature; John D. Lyman of Exeter, Moses R. Emerson of Claremont, Noel C. Carter of Wolfeborough, bank commissioners; Oliver Pillsbury of Concord, insurance commissioner; General George Stark of Nashua, trustee of the library; David C. Church of Lyme, member of board of agriculture, in place of J. D. Weeks, declined; Rev. Kings Hall of Laconia, trustee of normal school, in place of A. B. Meserve, declined; George M. Eastman of Farmington, associate-justice of the police court of that town; Martin H. Cochran of Pembrook, associate-justice of the police court of Pembrook; Lewis L. Mower of Concord, janitor of the State house.

A COFFINED JUDGE.—Last Saturday a well known ex judge entered the Park Hospital in a state of partial intoxication. He spoke incoherently, and laughed when warned of the danger of imbibing too freely during the hot weather. On leaving the hospital the genial Warden Brown advised him to seek some shady retreat, else he would be certain to return on a stretcher. The judge strolled over to Delmonico's and there invested a few dollars in S. O. P. brandy. He was found soon afterward by one of the Broadway squad at Broadway and Reade street, unconscious.

To summon the ambulance from Park Hospital was the work of a few minutes. "Another case of sunstroke," said the anxious patrolman. The suprise of Dr. Vandewater and Warden Brown may be imagined when they found their patient to be the ex-judge. The usual restoratives were applied, and the case pronounced simple alcoholism.

The ex-judge slept. His breathing indicated a drunken stupor. His snoring alarmed the other patients, but still he slept on. At length as the hour of midnight approached, Warden Brown, who was an ardent temperance man, conceived the idea of curing the judge of his only infirmity. He sent for a coffin, packed it with ice, and then laid the judge on the ice. The lights were turned down, and only the pale gleams of the moon entered the room. A white cloth was thrown over the coffin, and one solitary attendant watched the corpse. The ice began to melt, and the judge began to revive. A few muscular movements indicated returning consciousness. As the influence of the ice became more powerful, the contortions increased, and were soon followed by a violent torrent of oaths. They fell fast and thick, but still the semiconscious occupant of the coffin failed to realized his position. At last he opened his eyes, looked and felt about him, experienced strange sensations, and at last took in the situation. "Great God!" he exclaimed, "they think I'm dead, and are going to bury me."

To cry out for help was his first impulse. He yelled like a Comanche Indian. Warden Brown, the doctor, the orderlies, and all the patients who could, rushed to the coffin. The corpse insisted that it was not dead, but it required a very careful examination and a serious consultation before Dr. Vandewater would express an opinion. He directed the judge to leave the coffin and get into bed. "No sir," exclaimed the thoroughly frightened man: "If I go to sleep you'll bury me, dead or alive. I'm going home." And he did go home, vowing never to drink any more. So far he has kept his word.—N. Y. Paper.

AN ESSENTIAL OF LOVELINESS.—To be entirely beautiful the hair should be abundant and lustrous. This is absolutely essential to complete loveliness. The most regular features, the most brilliant complexion and pearliest teeth fail of their due effect if the hair be thin, dry, or harsh. On the contrary the plainest face, if it be but surrounded by luxuriant and silken tresses, is apt to impress the beholder with a sense of actual beauty. That crowning ornament of her sex is, happily, within the reach of lovely women and being as discriminating as she is lovely, she long ago discovered that Lyon's Kathairon was the sure means of securing it. No preparation for the Hair ever enjoyed a tithe of its popularity, and no wonder, since it produces such gratifying results. Applied to the waste and barren places of the scalp, it fructifies and enriches them with a new and simple growth. It is not, of course, pretended that it will do this if the capacity for reproduction is extinct, but so long as it remains that wonderful rehabilitant will assuredly propagate the germ of the hair into life and activity.

THE STOMACH AS AN AVENGER.—For every breach of the laws of health that we commit the stomach inflicts a penalty. Headache, biliousness, nervous tremor, constipation, colic, heartburn, nausea, debility and mental depression are only a few of the punishments which an outraged stomach is capable of imposing upon us. To bring back this vengeful organ to its normal condition—to placate, invigorate and regulate it—there is nothing in the wide world so potent as a course of Hostetter's Stomach Bitters. Under the operation of this beneficent vegetable corrective and tonic the gastric juice becomes a pure and healthful solvent and resumes its natural flow. The effect is the same on the biliary secretion, and in fact on all the fluids of the body, and the final result is the removal of every painful or unpleasant symptom occasioned by the rebellious action of the digestive organ.

CASTORIA.—A substitute for Castor Oil—is a physic which does not distress or gripe, but is sure to operate when all other remedies have failed. You may confidently rely upon the Castoria in Stomach-ache, Constipation, Flatulency, Croup, Worms, Piles or deranged Liver. It contains neither Minerals, Morphine, Opium nor Alcohol, but is purely a vegetable preparation, perfectly harmless, and above all, pleasant to take. The Castoria soothes and quiets the system, and produces natural sleep. It is a wonderful thing to assimilate the food of children and prevent them from crying. A 35 cent bottle will do the work for a family and save many doctors' bills.

DECAY'S EFFACING FINGER.—Will never mar the teeth that are brushed daily with Odenferous SOZODONT. It leads a floral fragrance to the breath as well as protects the teeth from corrosion and decomposition.

THE THIEF who was arrested for robbing Parsons' store in this town, was found to have a quantity of Ayer's Hair Vigor in his possession. When asked why he wished to steal that article, he answered that he "wanted to restore his hair, for it was hard to be a thief and bald too." If that invention of the great chemist could restore a faded character as effectually as it does their natural beauty to bald and grey heads, it would surely be, as they say it now is, truly invaluable.—Lewiston (Me.) Journal.

PILES.—The necessing torture from internal bleeding, external and itching piles is fast wearing away the thousands of those who are afflicted and their hope and courage have long since given place to despair. Let those who see this cheer up, for a mild and sure cure may be had by using BRIGGS' PILE REMEDIES.

CORNS.—Since pride and fashion have had control of mankind, and shoemakers were compelled to make boots and shoes to fit tortury instead of the feet, the suffering from Corns, Bunions, Ingrowing Nails, Sore Insteps, Blistered Heels, Callosities on the bottom of the feet, &c., cannot be described. But Briggs' Corn and Bunion Remedies will cure all such torments, and proper fitting boots will prevent their reproduction. Sold by all druggists. a12

Rip Van Winkle

As presented by the world famous Joe Jefferson will without doubt draw together a delighted audience, this evening, at the Temple. The sale of seats has been large and we advise all who contemplate witnessing the great actor to obtain reserved seats immediately at Preston's drug store. Those who have seen Jefferson once need no urging to see him again.

How They Come!

An old campaigner said to us recently, "I never knew a better time to make Republican votes than now—never in my life." And he is right. While the Dolly Vardens hereabouts have been filling themselves with wind and bragging, the Republicans have quietly by personal effort been gaining recruits from disgusted Democrats. As an indication of the setting of the tide, a Democrat has just informed us that he met a friend who had always voted the Democratic ticket, and each tried the pumping operation, the following conversation ensuing:—"Well, Frank, what do you think of the Louisville convention?

D. Haven't thought much about it.

G. That isn't what I want to know. What do you think of it?

D. Me? Oh, anything to beat Greeley, I say.

G. (Extending his hand.) That's my fix! I've voted the Democratic ticket, heretofore, but my next vote goes for Grant. They can't sell me to Greeley.

The above is a bona fide conversation which occurred in this city on Wednesday between two men who have voted the Democratic ticket for the past twelve years.

The Greeley Greybacks.

Notwithstanding the sending of untold millions of the people's greenbacks to this city by a corrupt and nepotic administration, to buy a fictitious "enthusiasm" for Grant in order that the rapidly failing hopes of the many thousand Radical office-holders here may not go out in utter darkness and the discomfited hordes fly the field entirely, leaving the Greeleymocrats nothing to fight with and overcome,—notwithstanding the brag and bluster of the Grant organs, to the effect that their diminutive and diminishing party is united and not at all demoralized by the defection of innumerable liberal soreheads—notwithstanding all these things in the Radicals' favor, only one hundred and thirteen men enrolled themselves in the Grant and Wilson Guards at the first meeting, and but two more companies have since organized; and only ninety-three uniformed torch-bearers appeared on the occasion of the first public parade of the two pioneer companies, almost a week after the first meeting for organization.

Compared with this sickly, mournful exhibition of feigned earnestness and confidence by the office-holders' myrmidons, the wild and hilarious enthusiasm shown by the noble army of office-seekers and their pets is exhilarating to the last degree, and pretends something terrible to the Radical party in November. Even the tremendous Greeley reception didn't use up all the office-seekers' enthusiasm; there was enough of it left to get up an abortive attempt at filling the bloody chasm by knocking the Grant and Wilson Guards into it with brick-bats on their first parade,—to send a procession of Irish boys through the streets on a later evening with two torches, drum-and-fife "music" and several flags, and to make the said boys cheer every Union banner bearing the names of Greeley and Brown and hiss vigorously at the stars and stripes if "Grant and Wilson" was inscribed thereon.

Even all that is not enough to keep the Greeleymocratic enthusiasm down to the boiling point, so lest it should "bust" the conglomeration which they call a party the managers have decided to get up an army of Greybacks as a sort of safety-valve. Our information on this subject comes from a host of those "prominent Republicans" who have wasted so much time during the past two years in writing letters to the Lyre "denouncing the CHRONICLE," so of course it is correct. The number of "liberals" and crow-eaters who have uprisen and joined the organization is beyond belief—so we won't give it. The uniform is to be grey, in humble imitation of the "men in grey" who made things lively in the South not long ago, and as an indication of the willingness of the Greeleymocrats to go over to the rebel side of the bloody chasm to hand-clasp, if the ex-rebels won't come on the Union side for that purpose. But it is in banners and transparencies that the Greybacks will come out the strongest; having a variety of tastes to suit, these will be quite numerous.

In this State, where the only hope of success for the Greeley Democracy is in a large accession of "Liberals" to their side, the Dolly Varden fuglers recognize the necessity of patting their new recruits on the back; in the heavily Democratic States it may do well enough to contemptuously ignore them, but that won't work here. So particular attention has been paid to getting up appropriate banners and transparencies for the "Liberals" to carry in the Greyback processions--when they occur. For Democrats who recently acted with the temperance party, a banner has been prepared having on it in letters of gold the following legends:—

The Democratic managers and oracles almost uniformly hate and revile the temperance reform, even when personally temperate. They know that its triumph is their damage, and probable defeat. There is no State in the Union whereof the Democratic prrty is not conspicuously hostile to whatever legislation tends to diminish the number or the power of its grog shops. Horace Greeley.

To smoke is a Democratic virtue; to chew is that virtue intensified; to drink—Well, Greeley, what do you think of the Louisville convention?

D. Haven't thought much about it.

G. That isn't what I want to know. What do you think of it?

D. Me? Oh, anything to beat Greeley, I say.

G. (Extending his hand.) That's my fix! I've voted the Democratic ticket, heretofore, but my next vote goes for Grant. They can't sell me to Greeley.

INCREASE OF RAIN.—It is a curious fact that as the settlements spread beyond the Mississippi, rains increase both in frequency and amount of water. Many beds of streams, which were uniformly dry in summer only ten years ago, are now full through the year. Travellers aye the Laramie plains were once destitute of vegetation; now they have a luxuriant growth, and will raise large crops of wheat. Denver was built on the banks of an extinct creek, perfectly dry. Now it is full of water, and needs to be crossed by bridges. Salt Lake is seven feet higher than ten years ago, and it is steadily rising. The vast plains which engineers once pronounced uninhabitable and fit only for droves of buffalo, because destitute of streams and springs, may yet become great States, the home of a crowded population.

—A Western editor has come to the conclusion that the young ladies in his village are not at all like St. Paul, because they pay so much attention to "things which are behind."

—There are several Japanese studying the art of dressmaking in this country. They will make a bustle when they return to Japan.

Morning Chronicle.

FALL PLOUGHING.—I often notice articles recommending fall ploughing for heavy soils, and occasionally complaints of it having been tried with poor success. I always find fall ploughing beneficial when done early enough in the season to rot the sod; but never turn a sod late in the fall intending to plough again in the spring; in fact, for most crops a good cultivating in the spring is better than ploughing, if well ploughed and subsoiled in the fall. I prefer to turn a sod early in August, after mowing or pasturing; harrow and cultivate often, keeping the surface loosed and not allowing the sod below to dry; it will then rot perfectly by November, when I cross-plough and subsoil, leaving the surface rough. In the spring put on a good two-horse cultivator and work as deep as possible, and plant or sow at once.—Cor. Germantown Telegraph.

—You are "getting into years." Yes, but the years are getting into you; the ripe, mellow years. One by one the qualities of your youth are falling off from you; the vanity, the egotism, the bewilderment, the uncertainty. Every wrong road into which you have wandered, has brought you, by the knowledge of the mistake, nearer to the truth. Nearer and nearer you are approaching yourself.—Gail Hamilton.

—The Danbury News having untruthfully said Boston proposed to get up a stupendous gift enterprise, with Rhode Island for the principle prize, the Providence Herald says that the lowest prizes are to be the busts of the prodigile Connecticut editors, the heads done in wood, after the model of the never-to-be-forgotten wooden nutmegs, which have made the reputation of the State in foreign countries.

—The Golden Age "does up" Rev. T. DeWitt Talmage as follows: Mr. Talmage opposes summer vacations on the part of ministers, because iniquity does not cease in summer time. Sin never takes a vacation. The devil never leaves town. But Mr. Talmage has taken a vacation. Therefore he is not sin. He has gone out of town; in fact he has gone to Europe. Therefore he is not the devil.

—Some one who owned a valuable coach pup drove into Norwich recently, with the dog chained beneath the wagon, and hitched the team on Liberty street. The dog fell asleep, and while thus enjoying himself the team took fright and ran. When stopped the dog was found to be wide awake, and appeared to understand what had happened.

AYER'S PURGATIVE PILLS.

For all the purposes of a Family Physic,

CURING

Costiveness, Jaundice, Dyspepsia, Indigestion, Dysentery, Foul Stomach, Erysipelas, Headache, Piles, Rheumatism, Eruptions and Skin Diseases, Biliousness, Liver Complaint, Dropsy, Tetter, Tumors and Salt Rheum, Worms, Gout, Neuralgia, as a Dinner Pill, and Purifying the Blood.

Are the most congenial purgative yet perfected. Their effects abundantly show how much they excel all other Pills. They are safe and pleasant to take, but powerful to cure. They purge out the foul humors of the blood; they stimulate the sluggish or disordered organ into action, and they impart health and tone to the whole being. They cure not only the every day complaints of every body, but formidable and dangerous diseases. Most eminent clergymen, most skillful physicians, and our best citizens send certificates of cures performed, and of great benefits they have derived from these Pills. They are the safest and best physic for children, because mild as well as effectual. Being sugar coated, they are easy to take; and being purely vegetable, they are entirely harmless.

The Singer

SEWING MACHINE

STILL LEADS THE MARKET.

The Success of the Company is far beyond that of any other similar concern; the

Daily Manufacture

—OF—

400 OF THE SINGERS

Failing to Supply the Constant Demand.

All other machines call the public attention to some new loop or stitch or tension or finish, some advantage in running or needles or feed or prices—and many of these are as we have said very good points, and the agents selling them use them to divert entirely the would-be purchaser from fairly considering the facts in the case; but the

seems to unite the good qualities of all, and is never found wanting.

THE SINGER

IS THE

OLDEST

SEWING MACHINE

IN THE MARKET,

All others being copied from its first model. It does two-thirds the sewing done in this country and preserves its advantages over all others combined.

It is readily kept clean, and has THE BEST TENSION EVER INVENTED; it is higher speeded and requires but little power to run; it works equally well upon the finest and heaviest goods; it does all the varieties of work known to the art.

N. B. Those purchasing for cash, before the 1 of January next, will have a consideration allowed them.

AYER'S

SARSAPARILLA

FOR PURIFYING THE BLOOD.

A medicine that cures is a real public blessing. AYER'S SARSAPARILLA makes positive cures of a series of complaints, which are always afflicting and too often fatal. It purifies the blood, purges out the lurking humors in the system, which undermine health and settle into troublesome disorders. Eruptions of the skin are the appearance on the surface of humors that should be expelled from the blood. Internal derangements are the determination of these same humors to some internal organ, or organs, whose action they derange, and whose substance they disease and destroy. AYER'S SARSAPARILLA expels these humors from the blood. When they are gone, the disorders they produce disappear, such as Dyspepsia of the Liver, Stomach, Kidneys, Lungs, Eruptions and Eruptive Diseases of the skin, St. Anthony's Fire, Rose or Erysipelas, Pimples, Pustules, Blotches, Boils, Tumors, Tetter and Salt Rheum, Scald Head, Ringworm, Ulcers and Sores, Rheumatism, Neuralgia, Pain in the bones, Side, and Head, Female Weakness, Sterility, Leucorrhœa arising from internal ulceration and uterine disease, Dropsy, Dyspepsia, Emaciation, and General Debility. With their departure health returns.

—An Iowa editor took home his fishing tackle, and laying them down, proceeded about other matters. After a while he saw the pole gyrating through the grass, and following it up, found that with the bait left on the hook he had "caught a cat," very black and very heavy. The beast actually sat still until he cut the hook out of its lip, and then "scatted" upon the double-quick, and never more has been seen or heard.

—A new phase in bill-posting was observed the other day by the Broadway pedestrians. A horse had succumbed to the heat on the previous evening, and his remains had not yet been removed. The day was cloudy, and the umbrella people were out with their posters. One of them, the "Star" umbrella man, at once seized his opportunity, and commencing at the neck, he plastered the unfortunate animal from end to end with his announcements. With a smile at his triumph over all competitors, he then left for other fields of victory.

VEGETINE

The Great Blood Purifier.

A valuable Indian compound for restoring the health, and for the permanent cure of all diseases arising from impurities of the blood, such as

Scrofula Scrofulous Humors, Cancers, Cancerous Humor Erysipelas, Canker, Salt Rheum, Pimples and Humors on the Face, Ulcers, Coughs, Catarrh, Bronchitis, Neuralgia, Pains in the Side, Rheumatism, Dyspepsia, Constipation Costiveness, Dizziness Piles, Headache, Nervousness, Faintness at the Stomach, Pains in the Back, Kidney Complaints

Female Weakness, and General Debility.

This preparation is scientifically and chemically prepared, and so strongly concentrated from roots, herbs and barks, that its good effects are realized immediately after commencing to take it. There is no disease of the human system for which the VEGETINE cannot be used with PERFECT SAFETY, as it does not contain any metallic compound. For eradicating the system of all impurities of the blood, it has no equal. It has never failed to effect a cure, giving tone and strength to the system debilitated by disease. Its wonderful effects upon these complaints are surprising to all. Many have been cured by the VEGETINE that have tried many other remedies. It can well be called

AYER'S

CHERRYPECTORAL

For Diseases of the Throat and Lungs, such as Coughs, Colds, Whooping Cough, Bronchitis, Asthma and Consumption.

The few compositions, which have won the confidence of mankind and become household words among not only one but many nations, must have extraordinary virtues. Perhaps no one ever secured so wide a reputation or maintained it so long as AYER'S CHERRY PECTORAL. It has been known to the public about forty years, by a long continued series of marvellous cures which have won for it a confidence in its virtues, never equalled by any other medicines. It still makes the most effectual cures of Coughs, Colds, Consumption, that can be made by medical skill. Indeed the CHERRY PECTORAL has really robbed these dangerous diseases of their terrors, to a great extent, and given a feeling of immunity from their fatal effects, which is well founded, if the remedy be taken in season. Every family should have it in their closet for the ready and prompt relief of its members. Sickness, suffering, and even life is saved by this timely protection. The prudent should not neglect it, and the wise will not. Keep it by you for the protection it affords in sudden attacks, and by its timely use.

CLEAR YOUR THROAT!

Relieve Your Lungs.

For the terrible diseases engendered by the lung-trying climate of New England,

Pulmocine Cordial

Is a speedy and reliable Preventive and Remedy. EVERY FAMILY should have a bottle at hand to check the sudden growth of all Pulmonary Diseases. For the Asthma, Coughs, Croup, Laryngitis, or inflammation of the larynx, Diphtheria, and all kindred THROAT DISEASES at all times prevalent, it is the choice of PREVENTION. Children attacked with Whooping Cough or Croup should be immediately cared for. These painful attacks come with scarcely a moment's warning when a physician may be out of immediate reach. A dose of PULMOCINE CORDIAL give' speedy relief, and the little ones are spared hours of pain and agony. As "a stitch in time saves nine," so does the possession of this FAMILY MEDICINE prevent the spread of disease. Parents seeing their children gasping with pain, friends and relatives beholding each other in peril from suffocation by the choking pain in the throat, paralyzed with fear and not knowing the best course to pursue, are liable to apply the wrong remedial agents. There is no safety in delay, no time to waste in such cases. CONSUMPTION, that fearful scourge of the human race, lies at the door of all thus afflicted. BUCHMAN'S PULMOCINE CORDIAL arrests it (unless in its advanced stage at which time there is no local cure) relieves the pressing, suffocating feeling at the lungs, and the patient's danger is past.

Buchman's Pulmocine Cordial

BUCHMAN'S PULMOCINE CORDIAL

is no new discovery. Twenty-three years ago it was used by one of New England's most famous physicians as the best PULMONARY CURATIVE he could prescribe, after a dozen years spent in experimenting with it before he was satisfied that the Materia Medica could add nothing in its favor.

Is the ultima thule of Medical Discovery.

Among its many ingredients are WILD CHERRY BARK, SQUILL ROOT, LIQUORICE ROOT, BLOOD ROOT, &c. It is a BLOOD PURIFIER, gently stimulating. It increases expectoration and is diuretic. It is sudorific and alterative. It is a necessary family medicine. It is a Tonic, and a powerful aid to the digestive organs. It is a gentle sedative, and relieves nervousness. It is aromatic and agreeable to the taste.

For Coughs, Croup, Diphtheria, Asthma, &c.

USE BUCHMAN'S PULMOCINE CORDIAL.

The Pulmocine Cordial is not a quack medicine, is not an experiment, is not composed of any ingredients "discovered" by "walking in pastures" in South America or anywhere else, nor by one who discovered a weed and thereby cured himself. Most of the ingredients are such as our best educated physicians daily use for the complaints specified in some form or other. The recipe is that perfected by one of New England's most learned and famous physicians, who used it entirely in his daily practice until his death. It is offered to the profession and to the public, absolutely pure and unadulterated.

Caveats, Specifications, Assignments, and all papers for Patents, executed on reasonable terms with dispatch. Researches made to determine the validity and utility of Patents of inventions, and legal and other advice rendered in all matters touching the same. Copies of the claims of any patent furnished, by remitting one dollar. Assignments recorded in Washington.

No Agency in the United States possesses superior facilities for obtaining Patents or ascertaining the patentability of inventions.

All necessity of a journey to Washington to procure a Patent and the usual delay there, are here saved inventors.

TESTIMONIALS.

"I regard Mr. Eddy as one of the most capable and successful practitioners with whom I have had official intercourse. CHARLES MASON, Commissioner of Patents."

"I have no hesitation in assuring inventors that they cannot employ a man more competent and trustworthy and more capable of putting their applications in a form to secure for them an early and favorable consideration at the Patent Office. EDMUND BURKE, Late Commissioner of Patents."

"MR. R. H. EDDY has made for me over THIRTY applications for Patents, having been successful in almost every case. Such unmistakable proof of great talent and ability on his part leads me to recommend ALL inventors to apply to him to procure their Patents, as they may be sure of having the most faithful attention bestowed on their cases, and at very reasonable charges. BRIGGS' ALLEVANTOR is composed of Ammonia, Chloroform, Spirits of Camphor, Tincture of Lupuline, Oil of Juniper, and Alcohol. This compound is unequalled in the annals of medicine for the cure of Nervous or Sick Headache, Neuralgia, Trembling or Twitching of the Nerves, and all Nervous Diseases. It will counteract all poisons, bunch pimples, cure scaly eruptions, itching, humors, &c.; it equalizes the circulation, invigorates the system, increases the action of the heart, without exciting the brain, cures Heartburn, Palpitation and Fluttering of the Heart, Dyspepsia, &c. Briggs' Allevantor absolutely possesses more curative properties than any other preparation. Physicians, clergymen, and others are requested to examine and test the remedy, and $1000 will be paid if found different from representation.

COUGHS, Much has been said and written, and many remedies have been offered for the relief and cure of throat and lung diseases; but nothing has been so eminently successful, or obtained such a wide celebrity, as Briggs' Throat and Lung Healer.

CORNS! The excruciating pain produced by Corns, the incessant twinging from Bunions, the piercing, distressing pain from Ingrowing Nails, cannot be described. Thousands suffer, not knowing there is a cure. Briggs' Corn and Bunion Remedies are no acid or potash compounds, but are reliable, soothing, and effectual, and just merit the success they have earned from an appreciative public. The curative is a healing ointment; immediate relief is obtained by its application, and it will positively cure the worst cases of Festered Corns, Inflamed and Ulcerated Bunions, the sorest instep, the largest and severest Blisters, the most extensive Callouses on the soles or heels of the feet, unequalled in the cure of Chilblains or Frosted Feet. The Allevantor for ordinary corns and preventing their formation is absolutely unexcelled by anything ever known.

PILES have been a terror to mankind for centuries, and almost every attempt to cure them has been baffled. By unceasing study and experimenting, Dr Briggs has discovered an absolutely cure for internal, bleeding, external, and itching piles. Briggs' Pile Remedies are mild, safe and sure.

For sale by J. H. THACHER, WM. R. PRESTON, Portsmouth; JAMES O. TREFETHEN, Kittery; E. S. SAFFORD, Kittery Point; H. M. CURTIS, Newcastle, and dealers generally.

Schooner Emily Gorham has been wrecked at Prince Edwards Island, and nine lives lost.

The loss by the fire in Erie, Penn., on Wednesday night, was about $300,000.

The Bostons defeated the Athletics of Philadelphia, 16 to 4; the Mutuals defeated the Eckfords, 9 to 6; Baltimores 10, Atlantics 2.

A little child of Mr. Herrick, of Portladd, three months old, was killed by a cat sucking its breath away, while lying in bed, Friday morning.

About 60,000 people attended the New England Fair at Lowell on Thursday.

Nineteen lives were lost by the burning of Steamship America.

The number of vessels belonging to, or from ports in the United States, reported totally lost or missing during the month of August, is 20, of which 12 were wrecked, 1 abandoned, 2 burned, 3 sunk by collision, 1 capsized, and 1 is missing. They are classed as follows: 2 steamers, 2 ships, 1 barque, 3 brigs, and 12 schooners, and their total value, exclusive of cargoes, is estimated at $519,000.

State News.

Miss Ruth Sawyer of Dover, living in the family of Hon. Thos. E. Sawyer, fell while attempting to get out of a chair, and broke her hip. She is 84 years of age, and quite infirm.

Seventy-two young men have already been admitted to the freshman class at Dartmouth College, and the number will doubtless be increased to 80. Over 30 applications to enter the agricultural college have been made. The number of students at the medical school is between 50 and 60.

A post-mortem examination has disclosed the fact that Daniel Woodford of Manchester, thought to have been been poisoned, died of lung disease.

Six inches of snow fell on Mount Washington on the 2d.

—Big boy comes up and holds out his hand, sullen and savage. Noble little boy comes manfully forward and says: "I'm the boy that whistled, sir," at the same time extending his hand. Teacher simmers down, and lets them off. Mem—Noble boy thought teacher wouldn't thrash him if he told the truth, but he knew big boy would if he didn't.

—In Mobile there are twin sisters who cannot be punished for any offense, because neither can be identified. Recently one of these young ladies put to flight two dog catchers and a policeman. In court she proved to be her sister. A policeman accompanied her home to arrest the other, but on arriving could not tell which he had brought and which had already been there, and went away sorrowing without either.

Political.

We hear the name of Asa McFarland, Esq., suggested as one of the Grant and Wilson electors for the second district. Mr. McFarland, while editing the Concord Statesman, was the first editor in New England, if not in the country, to suggest the nomination of Gen. Grant for President, put the name at the head of his paper and ably advocated the nomination through its columns. On this account and remembering his long service to the Republican party, his friends propose placing him on the electoral ticket. Our friends in the second district can make no wiser nomination.

The Kansas republican State convention nominated T. O. Osborn of Leavenworth for governor.

The Louisville convention is over, and its ticket, if it has any, is O'Conor and Adams. At its session Tuesday morning, after the Louisville delegation had withdrawn because it considered their cause hopeless, a resolution was introduced declaring the convention unwilling to make other nominations in place of O'Conor and Adams, and pledging the party to give them, in any event, its individual support. This met with considerable opposition, but when a despatch was received from Mr. Adams, saying that he would serve as Vice-President with O'Conor, but would accept nothing else, the resolution was adopted with only thirty negative votes. A committee to formally notify Messrs. O'Conor and Adams of their nomination was appointed, and the New York delegation profess to be confident that the former will accept.

The Republicans of the fourth Councillor district have nominated Hon. B. J. Whidden of Lancaster for elector.

Ten thousand people united in the reception given to Senator Morton at New Albany, Ind., Monday evening. The city was illuminated for miles with lanterns, fireworks and torchlight processions.

The Missouri Republicans have unanimously nominated Hon. John B. Henderson for Governor.

Governor Noyes, who is good authority, says Grant's majority in Ohio this year will be 40,000.

General Dix has written a letter accepting the nomination for Governor of New York.

AYER'S HAIR VIGOR

FOR RESTORING GRAY HAIR

TO ITS NATURAL VITALITY AND COLOR.

Advancing years, sickness, care, disappointment, and hereditary predisposition, all turn the hair gray; either of them disposes to fall off prematurely, and either effect is unsightly and unpleasant to behold. DR. AYER's consummate skill has produced an antidote for these deformities, which has won gratitude for him from multitudes of men and women. His HAIR VIGOR sometimes reproduces lost hair; and always restores to faded and gray hair its natural color, with the gloss and freshness of youth. The comparatively few bald and gray heads, that we now see, are those who have not yet discovered the virtues of AYER'S HAIR VIGOR for renewing the hair. The fresh and youthful hair we see on older heads is often the product of his art. If you are disfigured, or made old, austere and ugly, by gray hair, restore its youthful color, and with your features to their original softness and agreeable expression.

As an elegant dressing for beautifying the Hair, it has no superior.

THE CULPABILITY OF GRATZ BROWN. In this city, day before yesterday, two men, Wm. Nevens and Humphrey Gaines, were examined before Commissioner Clarke, charged with having been concerned in the whipping of Thomas W. Lawson, and in the abuse of his father, Colonel William Lawson, in Carter county. They were discharged on the ground that the United States authorities could take no cognizance of such cases. There was evidence amply sufficient to prove the identity of the prisoners and their participation in the outrage.

Yesterday, Colonel Lawson met Governor Brown at the depot of the Iron Mountain road, in this city, and gave him a plain statement of the outrages perpetrated by the Ku-Klux in Carter county. He also stated his fears about returning home, as there are men ready either to kill or maltreat him there. The Governor heard the old man's story, and then replied that there is no danger. He said that he had made inquiries of various delegates to the Democratic and Liberal Conventions in Jefferson city, and had been informed by them that there was perfect safety for Colonel Lawson. The Colonel replied that he was unwilling to experiment, for young Weeks had tried it and his life had paid the penalty.

To all of Colonel Lawson's appeals for protection, the Governor turned a deaf ear, reiterating his first remark that there is no danger. The old man left him heart-broken, discouraged, and doubtful as to his future course. He dares not return to his home. His farm is neglected. He is obliged to trepass upon the generosity of his friends, and in his old age, out of health, weak and trembling, he is a wandering refugee.

Colonel Lawson's case is one in many, proving the utter demoralization in Southeast Missouri. We have repeatedly called attention to the mob rule there; and now, when the appeal direct is made to the Governor, he has nothing but dignified contempt to offer. With a heart of stone he exhibits himself as devoid of all sympathy. With a moral blindness, he refuses to see the real condition of society in a portion of Missouri. An officer sworn to execute the laws, he refuses to bring to justice offenders. A Governor whose duty it is to protect in the enjoyment of his rights the humblest citizen, he permits hangmen and assassins to terrorize, and for what? Is such a man the right kind of a Governor? Is he not pre-eminently guilty of "high crimes and misdemeanors" in permitting crime to flourish?

Once again we demand of Governor Brown such administration of the affairs of the State as that every citizen in the commonwealth shall be protected in the exercise of his rights as a taxpayer and a voter.—St. Louis Globe.

APPRECIATION OF ONE'S OWN PAPER. A good story is told of a Chicago dry goods salesman who has the reputation of being somewhat a wag. He recently sold a bill of goods to a country customer, who was expected to commit justifiable insolvency as soon as he had disposed of his stock. As it was the customer's intention to pay a small part of his account with notes which might prove worthless, the salesman—so the story goes—added here a little and there a little to the price of the goods, so that when the purchase of some two thousand dollars worth had been made, of which all but two or three hundred dollars were paid in cash, there was no possibility of the firm losing anything even should the notes go to protest. The transaction concluded, the customer besought the salesman to give him a present of some sort, and the salesman accordingly presented him with a valuable red silk handkerchief. "That won't do," said the customer; "give me a nice silk dress for my wife, or something of that sort." "Can't do it," responded the salesman; "but I'll tell you what I'll do—I'll give you back your notes." "No," replied the customer, "hold on; I'll take the handkerchief."

FRENCH VS. ENGLISH GALLANTRY.—In comparison with the rude covering with which the Briton clothes his acts, the pliant grace and kindly solicitude of the Gaul in presence of his fellowmen compel admiration. Yet if one could read the heart of this Briton, it would perhaps be found that his sentiments of humanity are deeper than those of his neighbor. The rudest husk sometimes covers the sweetest kernel. When the Gaul performs a gallant act, he extracts all the honey that is to be gotten out of it. If he gives up his seat to a woman—which, by the way, he does not often do—he takes off his hat and points to the vacant place as if he were surrendering an empire and inviting a queen to enthrone herself thereon. If he hoists her umbrella, it is as if he were spreading out the canopy of heaven over her head. If he picks up a fallen glove, he offers it to the owner as if he were placing his sword and honor at her disposal for the rest of his life. If he quits her at the foot of a stairway, he looks after her as a chamberlain of the court might do when her majesty mounts the throne. And in each instance the woman meets him half way in grace and affability. All this makes him happy. The consciousness of having conducted himself as a chevalier without reproach, the probability of having produced an impression on the heart of her whom he has thus encountered, and the recollection of her enticing manner, bring ripples of pleasure across his mind whenever the scene recurs to him.—Galaxy for September.

—Twenty-four cases of sunstroke reported in St. Louis on Monday. This is bad, and when we reflect that St. Louis has to endure beside the lying of the 'Globe,' the new radical paper, we sympathize with her people as wemuch as did with Chicago, when she cucumbed to the fire fiend.—Cairo Bulletin.

Hic! Drunk again.—St. Louis Globe.

PURGATIVE PILLS have become a settled necessity with the American people. Indeed cathartics always have been and always may be used, in some form, by all mankind. In this country the pillular form of administration has been growing in favor since pills were first made of Aloes and Rhubarb, rolled into a ball. Their high position in the public confidence has finally been secured and fastened into permanency by Ayer's Cathartic Pills, the most skillful combination of medicine for the diseases that are intended to cure, that science can devise or art produce. Those who need pills, no longer hesitate what pills to take if they can get Ayer's Pill.—Wheeling (Va.) Press.

☞ $1000 Reward will be paid by the proprietor of Dr Pierce's Golden Medical Discovery for a medicine that will equal it in curing severe and lingering Coughs, Bronchitis and all diseases of the lungs. 606

AN ESSENTIAL OF LOVELINESS.—To be entirely beautiful the hair should be abundant and lustrous. This is absolutely essential to complete loveliness. The most regular features, the most brilliant complexion and pearliest teeth fail of their due effect if the hair be thin, dry, or harsh. On the contrary the plainest face, if it be but surrounded by luxuriant and silken tresses, is apt to impress the beholder with a sense of actual beauty. That crowning ornament of her sex is, happily, within the reach of lovely women and being as discriminating as she is lovely, she long ago discovered that Lyon's Kathairon was the sure means of securing it. No preparation for the Hair ever enjoyed a tithe of its popularity, and no wonder, since it produces such gratifying results. Applied to the waste and barren places of the scalp, it fructifies and enriches them with a new and ample growth. It is not, of course, pretended that it will do this if the capacity for reproduction is extinct, but so long as it remains that wonderful rehabilitant will assuredly propagate the germ of the hair into life and activity.

—HOLLOWAY'S OINTMENT.—Before using this balsamic remedy open the pores by warm fomentations. Then rub in the salve, and wherever the sore, swelling, wound, bruise, or eruption may be located, it will speedily disappear. Sold 78 Maiden Lane, N. Y. Price 25 cents per pot. Ask for new style; the old is counterfeited. 14

THE STOMACH AS AN AVENGER.—For every breach of the laws of health that we commit the stomach inflicts a penalty. Headache, biliousness, nervous tremors, constipation, colic, heartburn, nausea, debility and mental depression are only a few of the punishments which an outraged stomach is capable of imposing upon us. To bring back this vengeful organ to its normal condition—to placate, invigorate and regulate it—there is nothing in the wide world so potent as a course of Hostetter's Stomach Bitters. Under the operation of this beneficent vegetable corrective and tonic the gastric juice becomes a pure and healthful solvent and resumes its natural flow. The effect is the same on the biliary secretion, and in fact on all the fluids of the body, and the final result is the removal of every painful or unpleasant symptom occasioned by the rebellious action of the digestive organ.

CASTORIA.—A substitute for Castor Oil—is a physic which does not distress or gripe, but is sure to operate when all other remedies have failed. You may confidently rely upon the Castoria in Stomach-ache, Constipation, Flatulency, Croup, Worms, Piles or deranged Liver. It contains neither Minerals, Morphine, Opium nor Alcohol, but is purely a vegetable preparation, perfectly harmless, and above all, pleasant to take. The Castoria soothes and quiets the system, and produces natural sleep. It is a wonderful thing to assimilate the food of children and prevent their dying. A 25 cent bottle will do the work for a family and save many doctors' bills.

DECAY'S EFFACING FINGER.—Will never mar the teeth that are brushed daily with Odenferous SOZODONT. It lends a floral fragrance to the breath as well as protects the teeth from corrosion and decomposition.

USE BUCHMAN'S PULMOCINE CORDIAL for all throat diseases. For sale at the Union Store.

THE THIEF who was arrested for robbing Parsons' store in this town, was found to have a quantity of Ayer's Hair Vigor in his possession. When asked why he wished to steal that article, he answered that he "wanted to restore his hair, for it was hard to be a thief and bald too." If that invention of the great chemist could restore a faded character as effectually as it does their natural beauty to bald and grey heads, it would surely be, as they say it now is, truly invaluable.—Lewiston (Me.) Journal.

PILES.—The unceasing torture from internal bleeding, external and itching piles is fast wearing away the thousands of those who are afflicted and their hope and courage have long since given place to despair. Let those who see this cheer up, for a mild and sure cure may be had by using BRIGGS' PILE REMEDIES.

CORNS.—Since pride and fashion have had control of mankind, and shoemakers were compelled to make boots and shoes to fit larger instead of the feet, the suffering from Corns, Bunions, Ingrowing Nails, Sore Insteps, Blistered Heels, Callosities on the bottom of the feet, &c., cannot be described. But Briggs' Corn and Bunion Remedies will cure all such torments, and proper fitting boots will prevent their reproduction. Sold by all druggists. a12

PUBLIC LIBRARY OF KENTUCKY

Second Grand Gift Concert.

DAY OF THE DRAWING FIXED.

No Postponement from Sept. 28.

To the Public:

The Trustees of the Public Library of Kentucky being satisfied from the large sale of tickets already made, and the daily increasing demand for them, that there will be no occasion for postponing the second drawing in the Gift Concert in aid of the Public Library of Kentucky, have instructed me, as their agent and manager of the Gift Concert, to say to the public and ticket-holders that the drawing will positively take place on September 28th prox., and will not be postponed. An active demand for tickets comes from every State and Territory of the United States, and from the Canadas, giving assurance to the Trustees that no circumstances can prevent a drawing at the appointed time.

A sufficient clerical force is engaged to keep up with the orders for tickets, and in order that this office may be relieved of the immense pressure incident to the business for the week or two immediately preceding the drawing, agents especially, and those desirous of procuring tickets, are requested to send in their orders immediately, as sales will have to be closed in time to make the necessary preparations for the drawing. It is the wish of the management to fill every order for a ticket, as well as to sell all the tickets, but those who apply first must be first supplied; and, if those who put off buying until sales are closed, have their money returned, instead of the tickets ordered, as in the first Gift Concert in December last, when thousands of dollars that came too late were sent back, they will have none to blame but themselves. Agent Public Library Kentucky.

AFTER deciding what kind of Sewing Machine to buy, the next thing to be duly considered is where to buy it. E. A. Joy who sells all kinds of Sewing Machines and Findings, is permanently located here, and has sold more Machines during the past six years than all the others together, including the nineteen who have quit the business because they could not pay expenses. He has sold nearly five hundred of one kind during the past year (the names of the purchasers will be given if desired) and has twenty other kinds to choose from. Mr Joy seems destined to be the only Sewing Machine dealer in this vicinity, for people have learned to their sorrow that the warfare of an itinerant agent or pedlar amounts to nothing. You can select from a stock of nearly one hundred machines of different kinds at

LOCAL AFFAIRS.

Laconics.

On account of the inability to secure speakers, the Republican mass meeting which was to be held at Exeter on Tuesday next, is postponed.

The powder magazine, on Islington road, is to be repaired.

Our citizens who were desirous of seeing Joe Jefferson were greatly disappointed by his non-appearance. It is said he would have had a $600 "house" had he come, but after performing at Biddeford, his agent telegraphed that Mr. Jefferson was suffering from another attack of disease of the eyes, and would be unable to fulfil his engagement.

On Friday evening, the Republicans chose the following delegates to the electoral convention:—Ward One, Hon. W. H. Y. Hackett, Geo. W. Pendexter, G. H. Rheutan, Henry C. Walker, James A. Waterhouse, Robert O. Dennett, William W. Palfrey, Charles A. Shannon; Ward Two, Wm. H. Sise, Joseph P. Morse, Robert C. Sides, E. G. Peirce, Jr., Frank W. Miller, Wm. O. Sides, Aaron Young, Wm. H. Hackett. Ward Three delegates will be chosen this evening.

The Universalist Ladies Aid Society will give a young folk's supper, Tuesday evening next. An excellent bill of fare, (roast pig, baked beans, &c.,) and a good time generally are expected. All are cordially invited.

The "oldest inhabitant" predicts a long, warm autumn, after the first frost.

The funeral services of the late Joseph M. Edmonds were attended by the Masons and Odd Fellows. The services were conducted by Rev. James DeNormandie and were impressive. Many of our citizens who have for years been associated in business matters and thereby formed strong friendships with the deceased, were present to pay the last tribute of respect to one who was faithful to his trusts and did all things in the best manner possible, leaving a sorrowful circle of friends and relatives with the consolation that a well spent life is the best of memories to bequeath.

John E. Butler, Esq., editor of the Biddeford Journal, made an able speech, at Spruce Creek, Kittery, Friday evening.

Portsmouth Savings Bank.

At the meeting of the Trustees of the Portsmouth Savings Bank held Sept. 5th, a letter was read from Mr. Ichabod Rollins, resigning his position as one of the Investment Committee: whereupon Hon. Wm. H. Y. Hackett addressed the Trustees as follows:—

Mr. President; Mr. Ichabod Rollins, at his own request, is to be excused from any further services as one of the Committee on Investments. Mr. Rollins has been identified with this Institution almost from the beginning. He has held the position of Trustee longer, I believe, than any other person. He has, for many years, faithfully and acceptably performed the duties of this important and responsible position from which he now retires. It seems to me that such an incident should not be allowed to pass without some token of our respect for his character and services.

The Portsmouth Savings Bank, which has been, and I trust is to be, a great blessing to this community, is indebted in no small degree to the integrity and ability of Mr. Rollins, for the public confidence it has always inspired and the gratifying success which has wonderfully attended it.

For more than forty years, and most of the time in association with him, I have been connected with some of the Institutions of the city, and I have had some experience in those trusts which reveal and test character, and I can truly say that, in all these various positions, I never acted with a truer man or a more faithful Trustee than Ichabod Rollins. He was always more anxious to be right than to be thought so, and like his friends and associates here, Mr. William Stavers, Mr. Samuel Lord and Mr. Wm. M. Shackford, whom he very much resembled in that respect, he was content to be useful without wishing to be conspicuous. Associated as I have been for the best part of my life time in various trusts, with these four remarkable men, I have seen, as they grew older in years, that they were growing in the confidence and respect of the community—and have often thought—and the thought comes freshly to me to-day—that personal purity tended to prolong those lives which it had made honorable and happy.

When such a man in the decline of life terminates a trust so long held and so faithfully performed, we are but yielding to the spontaneous impulses of our hearts when we say to him and to each other, that we appreciate such services and venerate such a character.

Mr. Hackett offered the following Resolutions, which were unanimously adopted:

Resolved, that the Trustees of the Portsmouth Savings Bank, for themselves and on behalf of their depositors, tender their grateful thanks to Mr. Ichabod Rollins for his long, able and successful services as a member of the Committee of Investment.

Resolved, that the Clerk be directed to communicate a copy of the foregoing Resolution to Mr. Rollins, together with our cordial wishes for his health and happiness.

—Mr. Johnson, the civil engineer who is surveying the Portsmouth and Dover Railroad, arrived here on Friday last, having made a general survey of the Point, and finds the route easy and feasible. He is to return by the way of the old Piscataqua bridge route, and will report in due season. We understand he is surprised, as many others before him have been surprised, that this short and important piece of road has not before been built. He surveyed two different ways of entering the city, one by tapping the Boston and Maine near the Cocheco Park, and the other by crossing Silver Street, crossing the river back of Rev. Mr. Stewart's residence. The latter survey shortens the route about half a mile, and will probably be adopted.—Dover Enquirer.

—By the laws of Maine a railroad is, on request, to draw over its road the cars of any other railroad connecting with it at reasonable times, and for a toll not exceeding its ordinary rates; when it neglects, the connecting road may run cars with its own engine over the road. It was under this law that the Boston and Maine Railroad had the Portland, Saco and Portsmouth Railroad enjoined last year, and the latter road will doubtless run its cars over the Boston and Maine extension under this provision, giving the passengers over the Eastern Railroad equal facilities for reaching Old Orchard beach with those to be enjoyed by passengers over the Boston and Maine road.—Newburyport Herald.

The Republicans of York made a most excellent nomination for a candidate for Representative to the legislature, Thursday evening, G. W. S. Putnam, Esq., receiving 109 of the 111 votes thrown. Mr. Putnam was nominated for the same position two years ago, but declined in favor of another candidate. He accepted this nomination, however, in a speech urging all Republicans to work for such a majority in old York that they may be proud to refer to hereafter, and help convince Horace that his prediction that Gen. Grant never will be beaten was true. At the close of Mr. Putnam's remarks the following town committee were chosen, viz:—Edward A. Bragdon, Joseph Bragdon, Jr., Lemuel Michell, Edward C. Moody, G. W. S. Putnam, Benjamin F. Rodgers, Joseph Weare.

From the Portsmouth Journal.

—Amoskeag Steam Fire Engine Co., of Manchester, proposes to make an excursion to the Shoals about the 20th of the present month.

—Capt. Robert Shillaber was on Wednesday appointed Messenger of the courts and keeper of the same, for the city of Portsmouth.

—Mr. M. R. Dustin of Derry, a graduate of the last class at Dartmouth College, has become Principal of the Kittery High School at a salary of $1000.

—Attention is invited to the advertisement of Messrs Woodbury Gerrish & Co. undertakers. We cannot say that we wish them a large buisness in Portsmouth; but when the sad necessity comes, we are sure they will give good heed to their calling.

—Dearborn S. F. Engine Co., No 1, will receive S. B. Breed Hook & Ladder Company, of Lynn, Mass., Thursday next, the 19th. They will arrive on the 10 o'clock train, and after a short march will take the steamer for an excursion down river accompanied by some of our city officials. The Company will remain here over night.

—We notice by the Petersburgh, Va., Index that in the examination of Anderson Seminary in that city, the names of Misses Fayetta and Alberta Laighton, daughters of the late Octave Laighton formerly of this city, are mentioned as "particularly distinguished." Of two prizes given in the school of fifty-six scholars the former received the first or highest.

—Gentlemen from Boston and New York have been trying for some weeks to purchase a tract of land lying on the Ocean Road from Rye to Hampton, owned by Rye parties, for the erection of a mammoth hotel, equal to anything at Saratoga, Long Branch, or Lake George. It is hoped the bargain will be concluded. Said parties offer nearly $4000 for the land alone.

MAINE ELECTION.—The Greeley organs, foreseeing an overwhelming defeat in this State next Monday, are now casting about for theories on which to explain it away or metamorphose it into a victory. When they were more sanguine of success, they based all their calculations on the vote of last year and predicted a reduction of Perham's majority. As soon as the voice of the masses was heard, repudiating this Greeley "reform," they commenced to retreat and have been doing so the last month. They prefer now to base all their calculations on the vote of 1868, and contend that Perham's majority of that year will be reduced. The morning after election they will probably compare the result with Chamberlain's majority of 27,000 in 1866, and prove to their own satisfaction that the presence of their Philosopher in this State made sad inroads into the Republican ranks. These organs, which however are not organs, have suddenly discovered that Hale's friends are buying up all of Pike's voters. This story will answer we suppose as an explanation of Pike's defeat, but it is sad to contemplate the readiness of the supporters of this great popular reform to sell out their principles for greenbacks.—Portland Advertiser, 5th.

The Grand Gift Concert

A FIXED FACT.

September 28th the Day.

Your Tickets Now or Never!

THE vast sale of tickets already made, and the increasing demand for them from all quarters having determined the Trustees that the GRAND GIFT CONCERT for the benefit of the PUBLIC LIBRARY OF KENTUCKY, advertised for SATURDAY, SEPT. 28, 1872, shall positively come off on that day without postponement, the management now notifies all who expect to participate in the drawing that they should buy their tickets at once. Delay for a few days caused many who wanted tickets at the concert in December last to go without them. Some living in Louisville waited until sales were closed, expecting, no doubt, a postponement, and then offered fifteen, twenty, and even twenty-five dollars for tickets which the day before were offered to purchasers at the regular price. Others living at a distance sent thousands of dollars by mail and express, which got here after sales were closed, and had to be sent back. These disappointments need not occur again, if the warning now given in due season is heeded.

The drawing will begin precisely at 6 o'clock Saturday morning, September 28, 1872, in the great hall of the Public Library building, and continue until the one thousand gifts are all drawn.

The Concert itself will be the most brilliant orchestral display that ever occurred in the West. One hundred performers, gathered from all parts of this country and from Europe, under the direction of Prof. Hast, will contribute to this grand musical carnival. And to afford ample room for every ticket-holder to enjoy such an unusual musical festival, the Concert will be given in Central Park, where arrangements have been made to accommodate all who may come.

Persons holding whole, half or quarter tickets, will be admitted to both the Concert and Drawing, and none without such tickets will be admitted to either.

PRICE OF TICKETS.

Whole Tickets $10; halves, $5; quarters, $2 50; 11 Whole tickets for $100; 28 for $255; 56 for $500; 113 for $1,000; 285 for $2,500; 575 for $5000. No discount on less than $100 worth of tickets at a time.

In accordance with numerous solicitations arrangements have been made with all the railroad and steamboat lines leading into this city for the sale of round-trip tickets, good for six days to all persons who may wish to attend the Concert or drawing. Such tickets will be furnished by the Louisville & Nashville Railroad; the Louisville, Cincinnati and Lexington Railroad; the Louisville, Indianapolis and Madison Railroad; the Ohio and Mississippi Railroad; the Louisville and Cincinnati Mail Boat Line, and the Louisville, Owensboro and Henderson Mail Line Packets.

All agents are required to close sales and make their returns in full time to reach this office by Thursday, September 25. To do this successfully, those located at great distances must close some days before the 25th.

All tickets to which gifts are awarded, will be paid without discount, by the Farmers' and Drovers' Bank, either in currency, or by sight-draft upon the Fourth National Bank of New York, at option of the holder. The ticket must first be presented at this office, Room No. 4, Public Library Building, before they will be paid by the Bank.

The drawing will be published in the Louisville Papers and New York Herald, and official copies sent to purchasers to whom tickets have been sent by letter.

Morning Chronicle.

CHARGE OF THE RAM.—"G'lang there, you dog-goned sheep!" bawled a dusty, Pike-county-looking fellow this afternoon on Walnut street, as he whirled a long whip around his head with a vicious crack.

The Pike was a rusty fellow, all covered with dust and consumed with anxiety to safely conducting his flock of thirty sheep through the city. Two little blue-jeaned boys, tow-headed and dirty, danced on ahead to look out for corners.

In front of the flock lightly walked a trim-looking ram, whose head looked as if built for business, and his countenance betrayed a look of injured dignity, as if he were spoiling for a fight. He looked carefully to the right and left, as if he were seeking out some one to give him the faintest show for a quarrel.

The Pike county man watched the leader with concern. He said, "I reckon that yer dog-goned ram is going to raise Ned ef he only gets a chance. Shoo. G'lang there. Look out, yer boys, around them yer corners."

The procession of sheep went along all right until they reached the front of Milo G. Dodd & Co.'s big safe institution, and here the ram caught sight of his reflection in the large plate glass window of the store. The ram now saw his victim; he described a circle in the sidewalk on the opposite side, jumped up, then lowered his head, and charged.

"Oh, that dog-goned ram, he will raise Ned now!" moaned the Pike, who was too far away to stop the charge.

The ram went like a flash to the sidewalk, and then bounded up some eight feet in the air, and went crash through the plate glass, shivering the window into a thousand pieces. After him came every one of the flock.

The inmates of the elegant store suddenly found their quarters turned into a stock yard. A belligerent ram, followed by thirty sheep, to come bolting through a plate glass window is not, at least, an ordinary incident.

After the surprise was over the sheep were driven out and given over to the possession of the Pike county man. If he sells all the sheep, possibly he may be able to pay for the window.

The Pike county man says: "I'll be dog-goned if I believed the blamed beast could get a chance to raise Ned, but he did. Dog-gone him, any way."

BEANS FOR ONE.—A short time ago a couple of Boston runners entered a restaurant in Portland and ordered dinner. One was pleased to order a plate of baked beans. When he came to settle, he asked the price, and was informed that forty cents would be satisfactory. The runner was astounded, and exclaimed, "Isn't that a devil of a price for beans?" The man of grub got mad and said that was the price and that it must be paid. The runner re-entered the saloon pious exclamation of astonishment several times and paid the scot. On going out of the door he turned and yelled it again, but the man was silent. The next day the restaurant-keeper received a dispatch and paid the telegraph boy forty cents. Judge of his utter disgust when upon opening it he read, "Isn't that a devil of a price for beans?"

AYER'S PURGATIVE PILLS.

For all the purposes of a Family Physic,

CURING

Costiveness, Jaundice, Dyspepsia, Indigestion, Dysentery, Foul Stomach, Erysipelas, Headache, Piles, Rheumatism, Eruptions and Skin Diseases, Dullness, Liver Complaint, Dropsy, Tetter, Tumors and Salt Rheum, Worms, Gout, Neuralgia, as a Dinner Pill, and Purifying the Blood.

Are the most congenial purgative yet perfected. Their effects abundantly show how much they excel all other Pills. They are safe and pleasant to take, but powerful to cure. They purge out the foul humors of the blood; they stimulate the sluggish or disordered organ into action, and they impart health and tone to the whole being. They cure not only the every day complaints of every body, but formidable and dangerous diseases. Most eminent clergymen, most skillful physicians, and our best citizens send certificates of cures performed, and of great benefits they have derived from these Pills. They are the safest and best physic for children, because mild as well as effectual. Being sugar coated, they are easy to take; and being purely vegetable, they are entirely harmless.

The Singer

SEWING MACHINE

STILL LEADS THE MARKET.

The Success of the Company is far beyond that of any other similar concern; the

Daily Manufacture

— OF —

400 OF THE SINGERS

Failing to Supply the Constant Demand.

All other machines call the public attention to some new loop or stitch or tension or finish, some advantage in running or needles or feed or prices—and many of these are as we have said very good points, and the agents selling them use them to divert entirely the would-be purchaser from fairly considering the facts in the case; but the

seems to unite the good qualities of all, and is never found wanting.

THE SINGER

IS THE

OLDEST

SEWING MACHINE

IN THE MARKET,

All others being copied from its first model. It does two-thirds the sewing done in this country and preserves its advantages over all others combined.

It is readily kept clean, and has THE BEST TENSION EVER INVENTED; it is higher speeded and requires but little power to run; it works equally well upon the finest and heaviest goods; it does all the varieties of work known to the art.

AYER'S

SARSAPARILLA

FOR PURIFYING THE BLOOD.

A medicine that cures is a real public blessing. AYER'S SARSAPARILLA makes positive cures of a series of complaints, which are always afflicting and too often fatal. It purifies the blood, purges out the lurking humors in the system, which undermine health and settle into troublesome disorders. Eruptions of the skin are the appearance on the surface of humors that should be expelled from the blood. Internal derangements are the determination of these same humors to some internal organ, or organs, whose action they derange, and whose substance they disease and destroy. AYER'S SARSAPARILLA expels these humors from the blood. When they are gone the disorders they produce disappear, such as Ulcerations of the Liver, Stomach, Kidneys, Lungs, Eruptions and Eruptive Diseases of the skin, St. Anthony's Fire, Rose or Erysipelas, Pimples, Pustules, Blotches, Boils, Tumors, Tetter and Salt Rheum, Scald Head, Ringworm, Ulcers and Sores, Rheumatism, Neuralgia, Pain in the bones, Side, and Head, Female Weakness, Sterility, Leucorrhœa arising from internal ulceration and uterine disease, Dropsy, Dyspepsia, Emaciation, and General Debility. With their departure health returns.

The Three Crows.

There were three crows up in a tree,
Charles S., Carl Schurz and Horace G.
(Sing)

These crows that sat up in this tree
Were black as any crows could be.
(Sing.)

Says Charles, unto each other mates,
"What shall we do for grub to eat?"
(Sing.)

"Try Grant," says Carl. "I know he could Provide us with some wholesome food."
(Sing.)

"He has refused," says Horace G.,
"And that's why we are in this tree."
(Sing.)

Then all exclaimed in solemn tone,
"We'll pick his eyes out one by one."
(Sing.)

Then Carl S. smiled on Horace G.,
And Horace wagged his B. Grats B.
(Sing.)

Says one of these old cunning crows,
"What I know about Grant, I'll now disclose."
(Sing.)

"Should any one doubt that my words are true, He's a villain, traitor, and scoundrel too."
(Sing.)

Says Charles to Carl, "We'll join the dance
With the old 'flint locks' he sold to France."
(Sing.)

"And if that's not enough to win the day,
"We'll carry the war into Africa."
(Sing.)

So to accomplish all these ends,
Charles writes unto his sable friends.
(Sing.)

He gave them all his views quite freely,
Denouncing Grant, and lauding Greeley.
(Sing.)

Now from the sequel you may know
That Pompey was no friend to crow.
(Sing.)

"Glong Charley, honey, git away,
What I kere fur Chapperquay?"
(Sing.)

"Greeley with his little hatchet
Could never cut the slavery latchet."
(Sing.)

"Away down here in Norf Carliny

PILLS AND OINTMENT.

Every Man His Own Physician.

CAUTION.

THE immense demand for HOLLOWAY'S PILLS and OINTMENT, has tempted unprincipled parties to counterfeit these valuable medicines.

In order to protect the public and ourselves, we have issued a new "Trade Mark," consisting of an Egyptian circle of a serpent, with the letter H in the centre. Every box of genuine HOLLOWAY'S PILLS and OINTMENT will have this trade mark on it; none are genuine without it.

NATURE'S REMEDY.

VEGETINE

The Great Blood Purifier.

A valuable Indian compound for restoring the health, and for the permanent cure of all diseases arising from impurities of the blood, such as

Scrofula Scrofulous Humors, Cancers, Cancerous Humor Erysipelas, Canker, Salt Rheum, Pimples and Humors on the Face, Ulcers, Coughs, Catarrh, Bronchitis, Neuralgia, Pains in the Side, Rheumatism, Dyspepsia, Constipation Costiveness, Dizziness Piles, Headache, Nervousness, Faintness at the Stomach, Pains in the Back, Kidney Complaints
Female Weakness, and General Debility.

This preparation is scientifically and chemically combined, and so strongly concentrated from roots, herbs and barks, that its good effects are realized immediately after commencing to take it. There is no disease of the human system for which the VEGETINE cannot be used with PERFECT SAFETY, as it does not contain any metallic compound. For eradicating the system of all impurities of the blood, it has no equal. It has never failed to effect a cure, giving tone and strength to the system debilitated by disease. Its wonderful effects upon these complaints are surprising to all. Many have been cured by the VEGETINE that have tried many other remedies. It can well be called

AYER'S

CHERRY PECTORAL

For Diseases of the Throat and Lungs, such as Coughs, Colds, Whooping Cough, Bronchitis, Asthma and Consumption.

The few compositions, which have won the confidence of mankind, and become household words among not only one but many nations, must have extraordinary virtues. Perhaps no one ever secured so wide a reputation or maintained it so long as AYER'S CHERRY PECTORAL. It has been known to the public about forty years, by a long continued series of marvellous cures which have won for it a confidence in its virtues, never equalled by any other medicines. It still makes the most effectual cures of Coughs, Colds, Consumption, that can be made by medical skill. Indeed the CHERRY PECTORAL has really robbed these dangerous diseases of their terrors, to a great extent, and given a feeling of immunity from their fatal effects, which is well founded, if the remedy be taken in season. Every family should have it in their closet for the ready and prompt relief of its members. Sickness, suffering, and even life is saved by this timely protection. The prudent should not neglect it, and the wise will not. Keep it by you for the protection it affords in sudden attacks, and by its timely use.

AMERICAN & FOREIGN PATENTS.
R. H. EDDY,
SOLICITOR OF PATENTS,
For Inventions, Trade Marks or Designs,
No. 76 STATE ST., OPPOSITE KILBY ST., BOSTON,

After an extensive practice of upwards of thirty years, continues to secure patents in the United States; also in Great Britain, France and other foreign countries. Caveats, Specifications, Assignments, and all papers for Patents, executed on reasonable terms with dispatch. Research made to determine the validity and utility of Patents of inventions, and legal and other advice rendered in all matters touching the same. Copies of the claims of any patent furnished, by remitting one dollar. Assignments recorded in Washington.

No Agency in the United States possesses superior facilities, for obtaining Patents or ascertaining the patentability of inventions.

All necessity of a journey to Washington to procure a Patent and the usual great delay there, are here saved inventors.

TESTIMONIALS.

"I regard Mr. Eddy as one of the most capable and successful practitioners with whom I have had official intercourse. CHARLES MASON, Commissioner of Patents."

"I have no hesitation in assuring inventors that they cannot employ a man more competent and trustworthy and more capable of putting their applications in a form to secure for them an early and favorable consideration at the Patent Office. EDMUND BURKE, Late Commissioner of Patents."

"Mr. R. H. Eddy has made for me over THIRTY applications for Patents, having been successful in almost every case. Such unmistakable proof of great talent and ability on his part leads me to recommend ALL inventors to apply to him to procure their Patents, as they may be sure of having the most faithful attention bestowed on their cases, and at very reasonable charges.
JOHN TAGGART."

CLEAR YOUR THROAT!
Relieve Your Lungs.

For the terrible diseases engendered by the lung-trying climate of New England,

Pulmocine Cordial

Is a speedy and reliable Preventive and Remedy. EVERY FAMILY should have a bottle at hand to check the sudden growth of all Pulmonary Diseases. For the Asthma, Coughs, Croups, Larynx and all KINDRED THROAT DISEASES at all times prevalent, it is the choice of PREVENTION. Children attacked with Whooping Cough or Croup should be immediately cared for. These painful attacks come with scarcely a moment's warning, when a physician is not at hand to render immediate reach. A dose of PULMOCINE CORDIAL gives speedy relief, and the little ones are spared hours of pain and agony. As "a stitch in time saves nine," so does the possession of this FAMILY MEDICINE prevent the spread of disease. Parents seeing their children gasping with pain, friends and relatives beholding each other in peril from suffocation by the choking pain in the throat, paralyzed with fear and not knowing the best course to pursue, are liable to apply the wrong remedial agents. There is no safety in delay, no time to waste in such cases. CONSUMPTION, that fearful scourge of the human race, lies at the door of all this afflicted. BUCHMAN'S PULMOCINE CORDIAL arrests it (unless in its advanced stage at which time there is no local cure) relieves the pressing, suffocating feeling at the lungs, and the patient's danger is past.

Buchman's Pulmocine Cordial

BUCHMAN'S PULMOCINE CORDIAL is no new discovery. Twenty-three years ago it was used by one of New England's most famous physicians as the best PULMONARY CURATIVE he could prescribe, after a dozen years spent in experimenting with it before he was satisfied that the Materia Medica could add nothing in its favor.

Is the ultima thule of Medical Discovery.

Among its many ingredients are WILD CHERRY BARK, SQUILL ROOT, BLOODROOT, BLOOD ROOT, &c. It is a BLOOD PURIFIER, gently stimulating. It increases expectoration and is diuretic. It is sudorific and alterative. It is a necessary family medicine. It is a Tonic, and a powerful aid to the digestive organs. It is a gentle sedative, and relieves nervousness. It is aromatic and agreeable to the taste.

For Coughs, Croup, Diphtheria, Asthma, &c.

USE BUCHMAN'S PULMOCINE CORDIAL.

The Pulmocine Cordial is not a quack medicine, is not an experiment, is not composed of any ingredients "discovered" by "walking in pastures" in South America or anywhere else, nor by one who discovered a weed and thereby cured himself. Most of the ingredients are such as our best educated physicians daily use for the complaints specified, in some form or other. The recipe is that perfected by one of New England's most learned and famous physicians, who used it entirely in his daily practice until his death. It is offered to the profession and to the public, absolutely pure and unadulterated.

BRIGGS' ALLEVANTOR is composed of Ammonia, Chloroform, Spirits of Camphor, Tincture of Lupulina, Oil of Juniper, and Alcohol. This compound is unequalled in the annals of medicine for the cure of Nervous or Sick Headache, Neuralgia, Trembling or Twitching of the Nerves, and all Nervous Diseases. It will counteract all poisons, banish pimples, cure scaly eruptions, itching, hunors, &c.; it equalizes the circulation, invigorates the system, increases the action of the heart, without exciting the brain, cures Heartburn, Palpitation and Fluttering of the Heart, Dyspepsia, &c. Briggs' Allevantor absolutely possesses more curative properties than any other preparation. Physicians, chemists, and others are requested to examine and test the remedy, and $1000 will be paid if found different from representation.

COUGHS, and Much has been said written, and many remedies have been offered for the relief and cure of throat and lung diseases; but nothing has been so eminently successful, or obtained such a wide celebrity, as Briggs' Throat and Lung Healer.

CORNS! The excruciating pain produced by Corns, the unceasing twinging from Bunions, the piercing, distressing pain from Ingrowing Nails, cannot be described. Thousands suffer, not knowing there is a cure. Briggs' Corn and Bunion Remedies are no acid or potash compounds, but are reliable, soothing, and effectual, and just merit the success they have earned from an appreciative public. The Curative is a healing ointment; immediate relief is obtained by its application, and it will positively cure the worst cases of Festered Corns, Inflamed and Ulcerated Bunions, the soreest instep, the largest and severest Blisters, the most extensive Callosities on the soles or heels of the feet, unequalled in the cure of Chilblains or Frosted Feet. The Allevantor for ordinary corns and preventing their formation is absolutely unexcelled by anything ever known.

PILES have been a terror to mankind for centuries, and almost every attempt to cure them has been baffled. By unceasing study and experimenting, Dr. Briggs has discovered an absolutely cure for internal, bleeding, external, and itching piles. Briggs' Pile Remedies are mild, safe and sure.

For sale by J. H. THACHER, WM. R. PRESTON, Portsmouth; JAMES O. TREFETHEN, Kittery; E. S. SAFFORD, Kittery Point; H. M. CURTIS, Newcastle, and dealers generally.

CORNS, Bunions, Bad Nails, and other diseases of the feet, Scrofulous and Cancerous Humors, Piles, etc., skillfully treated at the great central Chiropodical and Healing Institute, No. 765 Broadway, New York. DR. J. BRIGGS, President; DR. ALEXANDER WEBBER, Secretary. ap9

The Last Greeley Victory.

The Greeley "tidal wave" has hit Vermont, but if anything has been damaged it is not Grant's prospects of a reelection. The Greeley movement probably possessed as much vitality and as many probable elements of success in that State as in any one of the thirty-seven; the overwhelming majority of one party, maintained for many years, had naturally given rise to local disagreements and personal dissatisfaction among ambitious politicians; the Dolly Varden candidate for governor was a "Liberal Republican," and the "Liberals" were graciously allowed by the Democrats to manage the campaign; and reports of "prominent Republicans" declaring for Greeley, and of immense defections of the rank and file of the Republican party to the "reform" coalition, have been as numerous and positive in the Democratic papers, regarding Vermont, as they have been concerning Maine.

The Greeley organs boasted, previous to the election, that the Republican majority would be largely reduced, the Tribune estimating the reduction at 10,000! We were told, in the bifaltin style so much affected—in lieu of argument—by the Greeley editors, that "the people" would "set the seal of their contempt and condemnation upon the corrupt party" supporting Grant, and "render a verdict which would cause every rogue to tremble." [Substituting "Greeley" for "Grant," these predictions have been wonderfully verified.] That sound Dolly Varden authority, Foster's Dover Democrat, said: "The Grantites are badly demoralized, but will rally in sufficient force to carry the State by a reduced majority."

Vermont has set the seal of contempt and condemnation on the corrupt party and now the Dolly Varden arithmeticians are uguring out a victory! Vermont's Republican majority is less than it was four years ago; therefore, the coalition has won a great advantage! The facts that the Republicans have made a gain in the State Senate, that the combined Democrats and Liberals have elected fewer Representatives than the Democrats alone did at the previous election and that the Republican majority is from 4000 to 5000 more than it was at that election, do not at all interfere with the Greeley figurers in their victory-manufacturing. We are not surprised at this; we only wonder that the Democrats omitted to figure out a victory for their party in New Hampshire last spring, in the same way. New Hampshire gave Grant about 7000 majority in 1868; last March the Republican majority was but 1000,—so, figuring on the coalition-victory-in-Vermont plan, the Democratic gain at the last New Hampshire election was just about 6000!

To-day Maine votes, and the coalitionists will probably have another chance to win by their ingenious figuring the victory they will not gain at the polls. Well, if it pleases them we have no objections to their keeping it up; but it will take a great many newspaper victories to seat the Tammany candidate in the Presidential chair, over the decided majority against him which will be thrown in November,—as foreshadowed by Vermont last week and (we hope) by Maine to-day.

Political.

The Greeley papers in New York city have forgotten all about the election, and are engaged in a hot controversy about the genuineness of Stanley's Livingstone letters.

Frank Blair secured Greeley's nomination at Cincinnati. Was it revenge on him for having said, about a year ago, in the Tribune: "Whenever a stupendous political blunder is possible, we can depend upon Frank Blair to make it?"

The New York World feels called upon to say that there is a notable lack of enthusiasm for Greeley in the ranks of the Democracy.

How astonishing it would have been a year ago to have read in a Democratic paper that Charles O'Conor was a "tool of the Administration," because he was advising his fellow Democrats not to vote for Horace Greeley.

It appears that the dispatch from Wilmington, Del., was at fault in saying that the Democrats made heavy gains at the local election there. They elected the Mayor, it is true; but the Republicans elected a majority in the other offices. In fact, the Republicans feel so much encouraged that they promise the State for Grant and Wilson in November.

Judge Dent, who assaulted Henry Reed at Washington on Monday, is the same who ran as the Democratic candidate for Governor of Mississippi against Alcorn, the Republican candidate.

General Oglesby predicts that the Greeley vote in northern Illinois will not be as large as was Seymour's vote in 1868.

Ex-Senator Rice, of Minnesota, comes out for Grant. Cause: Distrust of Greeley as a financier.

It is reported that the New York Tribune has lost over 40,000 subscribers since it became the organ of the Democratic party.

The Springfield Republican claims as a recruit to the Greeley ranks Hon. T. A. D. Fessenden of Maine, who died Sept 28, 1868.

The New York Times thinks Kernan's nomination for Governor by the Democracy, is like to give Gen. Dix a majority in New York city.

The Greeleyites who abandoned Gen. Grant and thought Horace's chances were the best, now say they do not anticipate his election but only expect to help start a "movement for reform!" Kind souls!

Charles Flagg, conductor of a freight train on the Grand Junction Railroad, was run over and killed instantly at the East Cambridge crossing, Friday, the head being almost severed from the body. He was about 30 years old and had been employed on the road only ten days. The accident was caused by his foot catching in the frog while coupling cars.

The Troy Whig being unable to print Sumner's farewell speech in full on the first day, gives the entire text on the second day thus:

I I I I I I I I
I I I I I I I I

The straight Democrats of Indiana, through their delegates at Louisville, have decided to call a State convention at Indianapolis to meet Thursday, Sept. 19, to nominate a ticket and perfect the organization of the party.

The Schenectady Union has an article on "General Banks in the field." We strongly suspect that since the Vermont election Banks begins to realize he is, "in the field" a good deal as Nebuchadnezzar was.—N. Y. Commercial Adv.

Church Howe, Marshal of Wyoming Territory, telegraphs as follows: "We have elected Colonel Steele to Congress by three hundred majority."

The West Virginia Democrats are greatly disgusted. The constitution is ratified, and Jacob, having been elected Governor under it, will hold his office four years.

It is rumored that O'Conor, the Louisville convention having failed, will declare for Grant, whom he prefers above Greeley.

The New York Democratic and liberal Republican conventions, after two days' work, have effected a coalition. Francis Kernan was nominated for governor, and Chauncy M. Depew for lieutenant-governor—the former being a Democrat and the latter a liberal Republican. S. S. Cox was nominated for congressman at large.

Edmund Burke said: "Because some grasshoppers under the fern make a field ring with their importunate clink while the great cattle reposing under the oak chew the cud and are silent, we are not to suppose that the noisy insects are the only inhabitants of the field." This illustration is apposite at the present time. The vociferous hoppers represent the Liberal Republican party; they are far more noisy than important.

General W. B. Franklin, superintendent of the Colt Company of Hartford, who was a delegate from Connecticut to the Baltimore convention, has come out openly against the Greeley movement; as between Grant and Greeley he is decidedly in favor of the former. With him there are hundreds of Democrats in Hartford alone, who are waiting for an opportunity to show that they are not backsliders from old-fashioned Democracy. In New Haven Hon. T. Doolittle and other leading Democrats are opposed to the new departure. Hon. Thomas H. Bond and Hon. Charles Atwater—the latter the Democratic candidate for lieutenant-governor last spring—openly defined their position some weeks ago. Contrasting the demoralization existing in the Democratic ranks with the situation in the Republican party, one cannot fail to see that the success of the Grant national ticket in Connecticut is a foregone conclusion. Not a single leading Republican, whose position in the party has been a help to it, has, up to this date, declared for Greeley, and it is very safe to say that none will be found hereafter to link their fortunes to a sinking cause.

While the Mail has heartily endorsed the suggestion of Honorable Wilbur F. Storey as the Democratic nominee for the Vice Presidency, it cannot but think that even this honor would be less than the deserts of our distinguished townsman. On further reflection it has decided to hoist the following ticket:

For President—Hon. Wilbur F. Storey.
For Vice President — Hon. Lydia Thompson.

Such a ticket would embody in the most striking manner the principle of shaking hands over bloody chasms, and could but call out the enthusiastic support of the country.—Chicago Mail.

We knew it was coming. Mr. Chas. O'Conor, having allowed his name to be mentioned as a candidate of the Straight-Out Democracy without getting mad at it and writing a letter in support of Greeley, has turned out to be a very improper person. The correspondent of the Chicago Tribune calls him a miser, the New York Sun will soon denounce him as a third-rate pettifogger, and, if he shall accept the Louisville nomination, Greeley's organ will brand him as a liar and horse-thief.—Missouri Democrat.

DELAWARE.—The Associated Press telegram sent from Wilmington gives a false coloring to the report of the city election. There are no large Democratic gains, on the contrary the total Democratic vote is nearly 100 less than last year. The Republican vote was light, and Simons, Democratic candidate for mayor, was elected by scratched tickets, and has but seventy-two majority. On the vote for Inspectors, which is the true party test, the Republicans have 212 majority. Wilmington is sure of 500 to 800 in November, and Delaware will certainly go for Grant and Wilson.

The political situation in Delaware is briefly presented by the Wilmington Commercial, as follows: "The Republican party in this State is united, harmonious and in high spirits. Its opponents are torn by every sort of factional difference, demoralized on Greeley, and burdened with a weak candidate for Congress. If they are not beaten thoroughly, it will not be their fault, but chargable to Republican bad management." There are six Democratic papers in Delaware. Of four of them the Commercial thus speaks: "The Seaford Record, the first Democratic newspaper in this State which pronounced for Greeley, is offered for sale. The Delawarean, the leading Democratic paper, does not put up the names of Greeley and Brown at all. The Middletown Transcript, an influential paper, has opposed Greeley outright from the start, and will no doubt support O'Conor. The Gazette, of this city, pretends to be for Greeley, but does not work for him. These are four out of the six Democratic newspapers in Delaware. How much enthusiasm for Greeley is there in that party here, do you suppose?"

USE BUCHMAN'S PULMOCINE CORDIAL for all throat diseases. For sale at the Union Store.

—HOLLOWAY'S OINTMENT.—Before using this balsamic remedy open the pores by warm fomentations. Then rub in the salve, and wherever the sore, swelling, wound, bruise, or eruption may be located, it will speedily disappear. Sold 78 Maiden Lane, N. Y. Price 25 cents per pot. Ask for new style; the old is counterfeited. 14

TAKE COURAGE, INVALIDS.—Pain and weakness produce despondency, and the invalid who is laboring under bodily torture, debility and mental depression, at the same time is indeed in a pitable condition. But let all who are thus situated take heart. A balm is provided both for their physical and mental infirmities in Hostetter's Stomach Bitters. Among the commonest sources of pain, uneasiness and melancholy are the diseases which affect the stomach, the liver, the alimentary canal, the nerves and the muscles, such as dyspepsia, bilious disorders, constipation, headache, hysteria, and rheumatism, all of which yield readily to the regulating, invigorating and purifying influence of this peerless vegetable tonic, stimulant and restorative. Take courage, sorrowful invalids; you will find the help you need in Hostetter's Bitters.

IN EVERY QUARTER OF THE GLOBE where it is known, and there are few indeed where it is not, the Mexican Mustang Liniment takes precedence of all similar preparations. Its transcendant merits have obtained for it a popularity seldom reached by any proprietary medicine. In its infancy the fiat of its success was pronounced in the wide-spread endorsement which it received from physicians, veterinary surgeons, horsemen and the public generally. No one now thinks of questioning its claim to be considered the Standard Liniment of America.

CASTORIA.—A substitute for Castor Oil—is a physic which does not distress or gripe, but is sure to operate when all other remedies have failed. You may confidently rely upon the Castoria in Stomach-ache, Constipation, Flatulency, Croup, Worms, Piles or deranged Liver. It contains neither Minerals, Morphine, Opium nor Alcohol, but is purely a vegetable preparation, perfectly harmless, and above all, pleasant to take. The Castoria soothes and quiets the system, and produces natural sleep. It is a wonderful thing to assimilate the food of children and prevent them from crying. A 35 cent bottle will do the work for a family and save many doctors' bills.

THE THIEF who was arrested for robbing Parsons' store in this town, was found to have a quantity of Ayer's Hair Vigor in his possession. When asked why he wished to steal that article, he answered that he "wanted to restore his hair, for it was hard to be a thief and bald too." If that invention of the great chemist could restore a faded character as effectually as it does their natural beauty to bald and grey heads, it would surely be, as they say it now is, truly invaluable.—Lewiston (Me.) Journal.

PILES.—The unceasing torture from internal bleeding, external and itching piles is fast wearing away the thousands of those who are afflicted and their hope and courage have long since given place to despair. Let those who see this cheer up, for a mild and sure cure may be had by using BRIGGS' PILE REMEDIES.

DECAY'S EFFACING FINGER.—Will never mar the teeth that are brushed daily with Odenferous SOZODONT. It lends a floral fragrance to the breath as well as protects the teeth from corrosion and decomposition.

CORNS.—Since pride and fashion have had control of mankind, and shoemakers were compelled to make boots and shoes to fit fancy instead of the feet, the suffering from Corns, Bunions, Ingrowing Nails, Sore Insteps, Blistered Heels, Callosities on the bottom of the feet, &c., cannot be described. But Briggs' Corn and Bunion Remedies will cure all such torments, and proper fitting boots will prevent their reproduction. Sold by all druggists. a12

AYER'S HAIR VIGOR

FOR RESTORING GRAY HAIR
TO ITS NATURAL VITALITY AND COLOR.

Advancing years, sickness, care, disappointment, and hereditary predispositions, all turn the hair gray; either of them disposes to fall off prematurely, and either effect is unsightly and unpleasant to be hold. DR. AYER'S consummate skill has produced an antidote for these deformities, which has won gratitude for him from multitudes of men and women. His HAIR VIGOR restores lost hair; and always restores to faded and gray hair its natural color, with the glose and freshness of youth. The comparatively few bald and gray heads, that we now see, are those who have not yet discovered the virtues of AYER'S HAIR VIGOR for renewing the hair. The fresh and youthful hair we see on older heads is often the product of his art. If you are disfigured, or made old, austere and ugly, by gray hair, restore its youthful color, and with your features to their original softness and agreeable expression.

As an elegant dressing for beautifying the Hair, it has no superior.

The cool weather of last week sent 400 visitors home from the Shoals.

Maine election to-day. The Republicans expect 12,000 majority.

A base ball match between the Scott club of Peabody, Mass., and a picked nine of this city, will come off to-morrow (Tuesday) afternoon at the Plains, if the weather holds good and nothing else splits.

The latest "charge" against Speaker Blaine is that he has recently put a large number of men at work in the Navy Yard at Kittery, so as to have them in his district to vote for him. Now, as Kittery is in the First Maine District and Mr. Blaine's district is the Third, and no part of it within fifty miles of the Kittery Navy Yard, the Greeley men have, no doubt, published a new atlas of Maine. Suppose they explain it?—New York Post.

State News.

The Keene Sentinel has recently passed into the hands of a joint stock organization, to be known as the "Sentinel Printing Company." The new firm is composed of practical men who have long been connected with the office.

Mr. Walter B. Cory of Holderness was suddenly seized with insanity recently, caused by sunstroke. He is one of the selectmen and overseer of the poor, and has always been prominent in town affairs.

Mrs. Leorane Woodford of Manchester, for attempting to poison her husband, was sent to the State Prison for a term of five years, and Annie E. Theirer, her accomplice, to three years in the same institution. Mr. Woodford died a few days ago, but not from the effects of the poison.

The dead body of an unknown man about 65 years old and over six feet high was found in the woods near Wentworth on the 7th. He had evidently been dead for many months. There was found upon his person a gingham pocket handkerchief, a pair of spectacles in case, pair of scissors, four-blade pocket knife and 14 cents in change. About three feet from the body was found a half-pint flask, corked tight, in which was twenty-six dollars in bills and ninety cents in scrip.

All Soldiers and Sailors of New Hampshire who intend to be present at the National Convention of veterans at Pittsburg, Pa., Sept. 17th and 18th, are requested to join the Massachusetts delegation at the Boston, Hartford & Erie Railroad, foot of Summer Street, Boston, on Saturday, Sept. 14th, at 6 o'clock P. M. The delegation will be accompanied by Brown's Brigade Band. This will no doubt be the largest gathering of veterans that has taken place since the close of the rebellion, as the armies of the Tennessee, Cumberland, Potomac and the Gulf will be largely represented. It is expected and hoped by all that Illinois' gallant son, Gen. John A. Logan, will be made President of the convention.

The News.

Hon. Julius L. Strong, member of Congress from Connecticut, died very suddenly of cerebro spinal meningitis, Sept. 7.

John Stackman of New York on Thursday night beat his wife terribly, concluding by smashing a kerosene lamp on her head, burning her fatally.

A man named Shenauer committed a fearful murder and suicide in New Haven on Thursday. He had assaulted his wife, and as he had done it before, she made arrangements to leave him. When he found this out he took an ax and brained his infant child, then struck his wife with it, fracturing her skull, and, going into the cellar, cut his throat and wrists with the ax and a carving knife. None of the parties are dead yet, but the physician says they cannot live. Shenauer attempted to shoot his wife last winter, but was dissuaded. He was a heavy drinker, and to this, and perhaps domestic jealousy, the trouble is traceable.

Close of the Maine Campaign.

The closing meetings of the Maine campaign at Portland, Saturday night, was largely attended. The Republicans had a great rally at City Hall, adjourning shortly after 10 o'clock. The Democrats had an out-of-door meeting near the Preble House, which was addressed by J. M. Ashley, Gen. Sam. Anderson, Chas. Levi Woodbury, and E. O. Perrin. The meeting was kept up until near midnight. The torchlight procession of the Democracy was a failure compared with that of the Republicans the week before. We counted just 230 torches in the procession. Gilmore's Band furnished music. We observed more drunkenness on the streets, during the march of the procession, than we saw in Portsmouth at the Firemen's muster last year. How about the prohibitory law, which the Democratic speakers alluded to as such an arbitrary affair?

One of the incidents of the close of the campaign in Maine was the failure of Gen. Schouler, Senator Schurz and the Metropolitan Band, who passed through Portsmouth, Saturday afternoon, to reach Auburn, where they were engaged. Taking the wrong cars at Portland, they were carried sixty miles away from Auburn and were unable to reach that place.

The Democratic meeting at Kittery, on Friday evening, was attended by just 110 men, women and children, by actual count, of whom fully 25 per cent. were Republicans. The Lyre says the Methodist church, in which the meeting was held, was full!

They saw one of the juicy birds upon a tree, and in attempting to get an easy shot at it, Morton was shot through the thigh by his comrade, while the crow laughed and lit out.

—Two Boston youngsters who attempted to steal a ride on the Old Colony Railroad as far as Savin Hill, the other day, had an experience that will deter them from trying it again. Supposing that the Plymouth train would stop they got on at South Boston, seating themselves on the brake beam of one of the trucks. The train was, however, run express to Quincy at high speed, and they had not gone far before their position on the brake became, to say the least, uncomfortable, and soon positively unbearable. The noise of the wheels as they passed over the rails deafened them almost to unconsciousness, and the fine dust choked them nearly to suffocation. When the train reached Quincy they were so far gone that they had lost all power to move, and but for their discovery by one of the train hands would have been carried still farther. They were taken from the truck more dead than alive, and it was some time before they could be made to realize their situation. Had the road-bed been dry they would have been suffocated in going a single mile.—Advertiser.

The Grand Gift Concert
A FIXED FACT.
September 28th the Day.
Your Tickets Now or Never!
THE vast sale of tickets already made, and the increasing demand for them from all quarters having determined the Trustees that the GRAND GIFT CONCERT for the benefit of the PUBLIC LIBRARY OF KENTUCKY, advertised for SATURDAY, SEPT. 28, 1872, shall positively come off on that day without postponement, the management now notifies all who expect to participate in the drawing that they should buy their tickets at once. Delay for a few days caused many who wanted tickets at the concert in December last to go without them. Some living in Louisville waited until sales were closed, expecting, no doubt, a postponement, and then offered fifteen, twenty, and even twenty-five dollars for tickets which the day before were offered to purchasers at the regular price. Others living at a distance sent thousands of dollars by mail and express, which got here after sales were closed, and had to be sent back. These disappointments need not occur again, if the warning now given in due season is heeded.
The drawing will begin precisely at 6 o'clock Saturday morning, September 28, 1872, in the great hall of the Public Library building, and continue until the one thousand gifts are all drawn.

The Concert itself will be the most brilliant orchestral display that ever occurred in the West. One hundred performers, gathered from all parts of this country and from Europe, under the direction of Prof. Hast, will contribute to this grand musical carnival. And to afford ample room for every ticket-holder to enjoy such an unusual musical festival, the Concert will be given in Central Park, where arrangements have been made to accommodate all who may come.
Persons holding whole, half or quarter tickets, will be admitted to both the Concert and Drawing, and none without such tickets will be admitted to either.
PRICE OF TICKETS.
Whole Tickets $10; halves, $5; quarters, $2 50; 11 Whole tickets for $100; 28 for $255; 56 for $500; 113 for $1,000; 285 for $2,500; 575 for $5000. No discount on less than $100 worth of tickets at a time.
In accordance with numerous solicitations arrangements have been made with all the railroad and steamboat lines in this region of country for the sale of round-trip tickets, good for six days to all persons who may wish to attend the Concert or drawing. Tickets will be furnished by the Louisville & Nashville Railroad; the Louisville, Cincinnati and Lexington Railroad; the Louisville, Indianapolis and Madison Railroad; the Ohio and Mississippi Railroad; the Louisville and Cincinnati Mail Boat Line, and the Louisville, Owensboro and Henderson Mail Line Packets.
All agents are required to close sales and make their returns in full time to reach this office by Thursday, September 25. To do this successfully, those located at great distances must close some days before the 25th.
All tickets to which gifts are awarded, will be paid without discount, by the Farmers' and Drovers' Bank, either in currency, or by sight-draft upon the Fourth National Bank of New York, at option of the holder. The ticket must first be presented at this office, Room No. 4, Public Library Building, before they will be paid by the Bank.
The drawing will be published in the Louisville Papers and New York Herald, and official copies sent to purchasers to whom tickets have been sent by letter.

DARING OUTRAGE IN BOSTON.—A crime characteristic of New York, rather than Boston, occurred on Washington street, at the upper corner of Franklin, just before nine o'clock, last Wednesday evening, while the street was crowded with pedestrians and vehicles. There is much that is mysterious about the affair, but from those who witnessed it the following facts are gathered:—

At twenty minutes before nine o clock two men were seen standing just on the edge of the walk, at the point previously indicated, one of whom was large and stout, dressed in a suit of light clothes, while the other was much smaller and seemed to be intoxicated. Between the two a momentary struggle ensued, during which the larger man seemed to be robbing his companion. At this moment Mr. Schullins, a Brighton cattle dealer, drove near enough to see the larger man strike his victim a furious blow with his fist, which prostrated the latter directly in front of the wheels of a Red Line stage, which was running close to the edge of the walk—the wheels almost touching the granite curb. It was directly across this horrible shear that the unfortunate man's neck was placed so suddenly that the driver had no time to stop his horses before the forward wheel had passed over his neck and chest, and then dragged the body around in such a manner as to present its lower portions to that in the rear, which crushed the legs in a shocking manner. In the meantime the would-be-murderer started on a keen run for Broomfield street with a large crowd, led by Mr. Schullins in hot pursuit. Fortune, however, favored the villian, for by dodging almost under the feet of the horses attached to a passing car, he was enabled to get such a start that he eluded his pursuers in Province street or court and has not since been seen. The victim died next day.

AYER'S PURGATIVE PILLS.

For all the purposes of a Family Physic,

CURING

Costiveness, Jaundice, Dyspepsia, Indigestion, Dysentery, Foul Stomach, Erysipelas, Headache, Piles, Rheumatism, Eruptions and Skin Diseases, Biliousness, Liver Complaint, Dropsy, Tetter, Tumors and Salt Rheum, Worms, Gout, Neuralgia, as a Dinner Pill, and Purifying the Blood,

Are the most congenial purgative yet perfected. Their effects abundantly show how much they excel all other Pills. They are safe and pleasant to take, but powerful to cure. They purge out the foul humors of the blood; they stimulate the sluggish or disordered organ into action, and they impart health and tone to the whole being. They cure not only the every day complaints of every body, but formidable and dangerous diseases. Most eminent clergymen, most skillful physicians, and our best citizens send certificates of cures performed, and of great benefits they have derived from these Pills. They are the safest and best physic for children, because mild as well as effectual. Being sugar coated, they are easy to take; and being purely vegetable, they are entirely harmless.

The Singer

SEWING MACHINE

STILL LEADS THE MARKET.

The Success of the Company is far beyond that of any other similar concern; the

Daily Manufacture

—OF—

400 OF THE SINGERS

Failing to Supply the Constant Demand.

All other machines call the public attention to some new loop or stitch or tension or finish, some advantage in running or needles or feed or prices—and many of these are as we have said very good points, and the agents selling them use them to divert entirely the would-be purchaser from fairly considering the facts in the case; but the

seems to unite the good qualities of all, and is never found wanting.

THE SINGER

IS THE

OLDEST

SEWING MACHINE

IN THE MARKET,

All others being copied from its first model. It does two-thirds the sewing done in this country and preserves its advantages over all others combined.

It is readily kept clean, and HAS THE BEST TENSION EVER INVENTED; it is higher speeded and requires but little power to run; it works equally well upon the finest and heaviest goods; it does all the varieties of work known to the art.

N. B. Those purchasing for cash, before the 1 of January next, will have a consideration allowed them.

AYER'S

SARSAPARILLA

FOR PURIFYING THE BLOOD.

A medicine that cures is a real public blessing. AYER'S SARSAPARILLA makes positive cure of a series of complaints, which are always afflicting and too often fatal. It purifies the blood, purges out the lurking humors in the system, which undermine health and settle into troublesome disorders. Eruptions of the skin are the appearance on the surface of humors that should be expelled from the blood. Internal derangements are the determination of these same humors to some internal organ, or organs, whose action they derange, and whose substance they disease and destroy. AYER'S SARSAPARILLA expels these humors from the blood. When they are gone, the disorders they produce disappear, such as Ulcerations of the Liver, Stomach, Kidneys, Lungs, Eruptions and Eruptive Diseases of the skin, St. Anthony's Fire, Rose or Erysipelas, Pimples, Pustules, Blotches, Boils, Tumors, Tetter and Salt Rheum, Scald Head, Ringworm, Ulcers and Sores, Rheumatism, Neuralgia, Pain in the bones, Side, and Head, Female Weakness, Sterility, Leucorrhœa arising from internal ulceration and uterine disease, Dropsy, Dyspepsia, Emaciation, and General Debility. With their departure health returns.

LIABLE TO BE MISUNDERSTOOD.—Max Adeler is responsible for this Celestial story: There is a Mrs. Smith over in New Jersey who has engaged a Coolie to do her housework for her. Like all Chinamen he uses exaggerated and preposterous terms when addressing a superior: And so, a few weeks ago, when he wished to know if he should bring the washtubs up out of the cellar, he approached Mrs. Smith and used the following formula, which he had studied up with great care: "Would the beauteous dove who broods like an angel of peace over this fair haven of domestic felicity, cooing soft notes to her affectionate mate, desire me to conduct the wooden vessels from the sublime subterranean apartments where they are excluded from the glances of her soft eyes?" Perhaps it was his broken English, or it may have been his warmth of manner, but Mrs. Smith imagined that the wretched Mongolian outcast was making love to her, so she floored him with a broom-handle, rolled him down two pairs of stairs, and then sat on him and thumped him up a lot, while Mr. Smith held him by the legs. The Coolie conceived an idea that this ceremony must be invariably incident to the removal of tubs from American cellars; that it was some kind of religious rite which had to be performed always on washing-days; and now every Monday morning he stuffs newspapers under his clothes, in order to get through with the performance with as much comfort as possible.

FARRAGUT'S MONUMENT.—Among the interesting features that fix the attention of the many visitors to Woodlawn Cemetery is the fine symbolical monument to Admiral Farragut, erected by his widow and son. The design is exquisitely wrought in white Italian marble. It consists of a broken mast partially draped with the Admiral's flag and planted on a suitable pedestal, with naval symbols grouped around its base, and the memorable engagements of which Farragut was the hero at New Orleans and Mobile sculptured in bas-relief below. About the foot of the mast are arranged in such a manner as to fill up the angle and impart symmetry to the whole, the anchor, capstan, cable, rope and blocks, compass, quadrant, speaking trumpet, sword, &c. The inscription is simple and brief—the arms of the United States with these words:

Erected by His wife and son to the memory of
DAVID GLASGOW FARRAGUT,
First Admiral in the U. S. Navy.
Born July 5, 1801.
Died August 15, 1870.

AYER'S
CHERRY PECTORAL
For Diseases of the Throat and Lungs, such as Coughs, Colds, Whooping Cough, Bronchitis, Asthma and Consumption.
The few compositions, which have won the confidence of mankind and become household words among not only one but many nations, must have extraordinary virtues. Perhaps no one ever secured so wide a reputation or maintained it so long as AYER'S CHERRY PECTORAL. It has been known to the public about forty years, by a long continued series of marvellous cures which have won for it a confidence in its virtues, never equalled by any other medicines. It still makes the most effectual cures of Coughs, Colds, Consumption, that can be made by medical skill. Indeed the CHERRY PECTORAL has really robbed these dangerous diseases of their terrors, to a great extent, and given a feeling of immunity from their fatal effects, which is well founded, if the remedy be taken in season. Every family should have it in their closet for the ready and prompt relief of its members. Sickness, suffering, and even life is saved by this timely protection. The prudent should not neglect it, and the wise will not. Keep it by you for the protection it affords in sudden attacks, and by its timely use.

AMERICAN & FOREIGN PATENTS.
R. H. EDDY,
SOLICITOR OF PATENTS,
For Inventions, Trade Marks or Designs,
No. 76 STATE ST., OPPOSITE KILBY ST., BOSTON,
After an extensive practice of upwards of thirty years, continues to secure patents in the United States; also in Great Britain, France and other foreign countries. Caveats, Specifications, Assignments, and all papers for Patents, executed on reasonable terms with dispatch. Research made to determine the validity and utility of Patents of Inventions, and legal and other advice rendered in all matters touching the same. Copies of the claims of any patent furnished, by remitting one dollar. Assignments recorded in Washington.
No Agency in the United States possesses superior facilities for obtaining Patents or ascertaining the patentability of inventions.
All necessity of a journey to Washington to procure a Patent and the usual great delay there, are here saved inventors.
TESTIMONIALS.
"I regard Mr. Eddy as one of the most capable and successful practitioners with whom I have had official intercourse. CHARLES MASON, Commissioner of Patents."
"I have no hesitation in assuring inventors that they cannot employ a man more competent and trustworthy and more capable of putting their applications in a form to secure for them an early and favorable consideration at the Patent Office.
EDMUND BURKE,
Late Commissioner of Patents."
"MR. R. H. EDDY has made for me over THIRTY applications for Patents, having been successful in almost every case. Such unmistakable proof of great talent and ability on his part leads me to recommend ALL inventors to apply to him to procure their Patents, as they may be sure of having the most faithful attention bestowed on their cases, and at very reasonable charges.
JOHN TAGGART."

CLEAR YOUR THROAT!
Relieve Your Lungs.
For the terrible diseases engendered by the lung-trying climate of New England,
Pulmocine Cordial
Is a speedy and reliable Preventive and Remedy. EVERY FAMILY should have a bottle at hand to check the sudden growth of all Pulmonary Diseases. For the Asthma, Coughs, Croups, Laryngitis, or inflammation of the larynx, Diphtheria, and all kindred THROAT DISEASES at all times prevalent, it is the choice of PREVENTION. Children attacked with Croup should be immediately dosed with it. These painful attacks come with scarcely a moment's warning, when a physician may be out of immediate reach. A dose of PULMOCINE CORDIAL gives speedy relief, and the little ones are spared hours of pain and agony. As the stitch in time saves nine, so does the possession of this FAMILY MEDICINE prevent the spread of disease. Parents seeing their children gasping with pale friends and relatives beholding each other in peril from suffocation by the choking pain in the throat, paralyzed with fear and not knowing the best course to pursue, are liable to apply the wrong remedial agents. There is no safety in delay, no time to waste in such cases. CONSUMPTION, that fearful scourge of the human races, lies at the door of all thus afflicted. BUCHMAN'S PULMOCINE CORDIAL arrests it (unless in its advanced stage at which time there is no local cure) relieves the pressing, suffocating feeling at the lungs, and the patient's danger is past.
Buchman's Pulmocine Cordial
BUCHMAN'S PULMOCINE CORDIAL
is no new discovery. Twenty-three years ago it was used by one of New England's most famous physicians as the best PULMONARY CURATIVE he could prescribe, after a dozen years spent in experimenting with it before he was satisfied that the Materia Medica could add nothing to its favor.
Is the ultima thule of Medical Discovery.
Among its many ingredients are WILD CHERRY BARK, SQUILL ROOT, LIQUORICE ROOT, BLOOD ROOT, &c. It is a BLOOD PURIFIER, gently stimulating. It increases expectoration and is diuretic. It is sudorific and alterative. It is a necessary family medicine. It is a Tonic, and a powerful aid to the digestive organs. It is a gentle sedative, and relieves nervousness. It is aromatic and agreeable to the taste.
For Coughs,
Croup,
Diphtheria,
Asthma, &c.
USE BUCHMAN'S
PULMOCINE CORDIAL.
The Pulmocine Cordial is not a quack medicine, is not an experiment, is not composed of any ingredients "discovered" by "walking in pastures" in South America or anywhere else, nor by one who discovered a weed and thereby cured himself. Most of its ingredients are such as our best educated physicians daily use for the complaints specified, in some form or other. The recipe is that perfected by one of New England's most learned and famous physicians, who used it entirely in his daily practice until his death. It is offered to the profession and to the public, absolutely pure and unadulterated.

BRIGGS' ALLEVANTOR is composed of Ammonia, Chloroform, Spirits of Camphor, Tincture of Lapulina, Oil of Juniper, and Alcohol. This compound is unequalled in the annals of medicine for the cure of Nervous or Sick Headache, Neuralgia, Trembling or Twitching of the Nerves, and all Nervous Diseases. It will counteract all poisons, banish pimples, cure scaly eruptions, itching, humors, &c.; it equalizes the circulation, invigorates the system, increases the action of the heart, without exciting the brain, cures Heartburn, Palpitation and Fluttering of the Heart, Dyspepsia, &c. Briggs' Allevantor absolutely possesses more curative properties than any other preparation. Physicians, chemists, and others are requested to examine and test the remedy, and $1000 will be paid if found different from representation.
COUGHS. Much has been said and written, and many remedies have been offered for the relief and cure of throat and lung diseases; but nothing has been so eminently successful, or obtained such a wide celebrity, as Briggs' Throat and Lung Healer.
CORNS! The excruciating pain produced by Corns, the unceasing twinging from Bunions, the piercing, distressing pain from Ingrowing Nails, cannot be described. Thousands suffer, not knowing there is a cure. Briggs' Corn and Bunion Remedies are be sold or potash compounds, but are reliable, soothing, and effectual, and just merit the success they have received from an appreciative public. The Curative is a healing ointment; immediate relief is obtained by its application, and it will positively cure the worst cases of Festered Corns, Inflamed and Ulcerated Bunions, the sorest instep, the largest and severest Blisters, the most extensive Chilblains on the soles or heels of the feet, unequalled in the cure of Chilblains or Frosted Feet. The Allevantor for ordinary corns and preventing their formation is absolutely unexcelled by anything ever known.
PILES have been a terror to mankind for centuries, and almost every attempt to cure them has been baffled. By unceasing study and experimenting, Dr Briggs has discovered an absolutely cure for internal, bleeding, external, and itching piles. Briggs' Pile Remedies are mild, safe and sure.
For sale by J. H. THACHER, WM. R. PRESTON, Portsmouth; JAMES O. TREPETHEN, Kittery; E. S. SAFFORD, Kittery Point; H. M. CURTIS, Newcastle, and dealers generally.

CORNS, Bunions, Bad Nails, and other diseases of the feet, Scrofulous and Cancerous Humors, Piles, etc., skillfully treated at the great central Chiropodical and Healing Institute, No. 765 Broadway, New York. DR. J. BRIGGS, President; DR. ALEXANDER WEBBER, Secretary. ap9

MAINE ELECTION

Carry the News to Horace.

"Dar's a heap o' Trouble on de Old Man's mind."

REPUBLICAN MAJORITY 16,000!

6000 GAIN!

"The Woods are Full o' 'Em."

Hon. John E. Butler Elected Senator in York County.

New England Solid for Grant!

The eighth State election of the present year came off in Maine on Monday, and we present the returns as received by telegraph up to the time of going to press. They show that the Republicans have gained a glorious victory, reelecting Governor Perham by a larger majority than last year, making a clean sweep by choosing every Republican candidate for Congress, a Republican Senate and a Republican House of Representatives. All honor to the sturdy Republicans of Maine, who never falter when duty calls!

BIDDEFORD, 9:15 P. M.

Returns from all but seven towns assure the election of the whole county ticket in York by 1000 to 1200 majority. Burleigh's majority for Congress will be upwards of 1500, sure. All Republican Congressmen elected. Perham will have 16,000 maj. for Governor.

JOHN E. BUTLER.

AUGUSTA, 9.20.

The Republicans carry every town in Kennebec county, for the first time in the history of the party.

Waldo county elects the whole Republican ticket.

PRESS OFFICE, PORTLAND, 11:30.

170 towns give Perham 41,842; Kimball, 30,649; net gain from last year, 3591. Same ratio in rest of State will give Perham 16,000 majority. Every Republican Congressman elected.

S. T. PULLEN, Ed. Press.

PORTLAND, 10 h, 12.15 A. M.

In the 1st District Burleigh, Republican, is elected to Congress by 2000 majority. Frye, Republican, in the 2d District will have nearly 4000. Blaine in 3d has about 3000. In the 4th, the indications are that Hersey, Republican, will have 3500, and Hale, Republican; beats F. A. Pike in the 5th District by 1500. Perham's majority for Governor will be nearly or quite 16,000 if the remainder of the State continues to send returns like those already received—the hardest portions of the State now already heard from. Knox county which last year was Democratic is now Republican by 200. Lincoln increases its Republican majority. The Senate will be unanimously Republican. As far as heard from the Republicans have gained eight Representatives to the Legislature.

PORTLAND, 1 A. M., 10th.

210 towns and cities give Perham 48,387, Kimball 36,328; Republican majority, 12,059. Last year in these towns Perham had 39,948, Kimball 31,546; Republican majority, 8409. Republican gain, 3657.

AUGUSTA, 10th, 1 A. M.

To President Grant:—We have carried the State for Gov. Perham by more than 15,000 majority, a net gain of 5000 on last year's vote. We have carried all the Congressional Districts, the closest by well nigh 2000 majority. We have carried every county in the State, something we never achieved but once before,—have elected every Senator and chosen more than four-fifths of the House of Representatives. Our victory is complete, overwhelming, at all points. This insures you more than 25,000 majority in November.

JAMES G. BLAINE.

The estimated Republican majorities in the various counties are as follows:

Androscoggin	1700
Aroostook	400
Cumberland	800
Franklin	600
Hancock	600
Kennebec	3250
Knox	200
Lincoln	200
Oxford	700
Penobscot	3000
Piscataquis	600
Sagadahoc	900
Somerset	600
Waldo	700
Washington	400
York	1000

These estimates are exceedingly low.

Oxford county elects a clean Republican ticket by about 600 maj. Woodstock, Perham's town, gains thirty-two.

In the first Congressional district Burleigh leads Perham 500 votes. The temperance question largely affected Perham's vote thoroughout the State. Fifteen towns in York county give Perham 4757, Kinball 3888. Republican gain 825.

A dispatch to the New York World says the Liberal Republicans of Portland stood well up to the work but are disappointed at the majority against them. Hundreds of trading Democrats struck hands with the dispensers of money among the Republican Congressmen!

Androscoggin county is estimated to have gone Republican by 1700 majority—a gain of 500 over last year.

SKETCHES IN MAINE.

[By our Special Artist.]

This is a synopsis of the strongest argument used by the Democrats of Maine in the recent campaign. Gratz Brown uses it, too.

This is the piano on which Hon. Carl Schurz played "The heart bowed down," Saturday evening, after blundering into the wrong train and getting sixty miles from Auburn, thereby failing to win his little $250 by arousing a tremendous "Greeley enthusiasm" in that town. It was indeed touching.

This is a rare and beautiful plant, raised in abundance at Chappaqua; every farmer in the United States who votes for Greeley, will be presented with a package of the seed of this plant on the day the Philosopher takes his seat in the Presidential chair. It is particularly valuable as an antidote to the poison of the buttered variety of watermelon.

We are not certain what this represents, as our artist omitted to label his sketch; we believe, however, that it is a fraudulently-stuffed ballot box from a Democratic town. It is a misshapen concern, anyway, whatever it is.

This is a soft-shell crab. This crustacean was first discovered at New Haven, Conn., but is said to abound in Salt River; and a fishing party has been organized from the odds and ends of other parties, to go to the latter place on the 5th of November next, under the lead of H. G. and B. G. B.

This sketch represents the White House, and the way Mr. Greeley is driving to take possession of it; if any person can figure out exactly how long it will take him to get there on his present course and at his present rate of progression, (he has already passed through North Carolina, Vermont and Maine,) we promise to owe him two dollars.

This picture represents clam-shells from Rye Beach. Carry them to Horace, as a pleasant souvenir of his recent swing around the circle to visit the playmates of his childhood,—much pleasanter than the political results of that journey, in Maine.

—The grasshoppers of the Connecticut Valley have taken to chewing tobacco in the fields, but the habit is said to be proving fatal to them, as they are found dead in great numbers at the foot of the plants on which they have feasted. The loss of the grasshoppers is not greatly to be deplored, but they will soon learn not to swallow the juice, and then probably the habit will be less injurious.

—The World says: "In spite of the nervous anxiety portrayed in the average New Yorker's manner, an examination of the criminal record will show that on the whole our people take life easily."

YE BOB-TAIL CHICK.

HE CROWETH FOR GREELEY.

A bobtail chicken flew on the fence,
Chap-chap-chap, Chappaqua!
He cheered for GREELEY—he had no sense—
Chap-chap-chap, Chappaqua!

HE DEFYETH THE UNION ROOSTER.

A bigger chicken flew on the fence,
Chap-chap-chap, Chappaqua!
And went for the chicken that had no sense,
Chap-chap-chap, Chappaqua!

HE IS PERSECUTED FOR HIS OPINION'S SAKE.

The bobtail chicken got whipped so quick,
Chap-chap-chap, Chappaqua!
He fell from the fence as dead as a stick,
Chap-chap-chap, Chappaqua!

HE SUFFERETH MARTYRDOM.

No more will he cheer for the Old White Hat,
Ch p-chap-chap, Chappaqua!
His bones are munched by the Thomas-cat,
Chap-chap-chap, Chappaqua!

END OF YE BOB-TAIL CHICK.

VERMONT MAJORITIES.—As the Greeleyites claim a gain of 8000 at the recent election, we reprint the Republican majorities for the past twelve years, from Greeley's Almanac:—

1860 for governor	20,230
1860 for president (Lincoln)	22,972
1861 for governor	24,243
1862 for governor	26,308
1863 for governor	17,651
1864 for governor	18,977
1864 for president (Lincoln)	29,068
1865 for governor	16,792
1866 for governor	22,822
1867 for governor	20,162
1868 for governor	27,326
1868 for president (Grant)	32,122
1869 for governor	20,370
1870 for governor	21,309
1872 for governor (about)	25,000

There was no election in 1871. The average majority for Governor in the Presidential years 1860, 1864 and 1868 was 22,177. It is 4000 larger this year.

INDIANA.—The Dolly Vardens are alarmed at the action of the straight-out Democrats in Indiana. It appears that a number of Democratic managers in various parts of the country who charge Mr. Hendricks with betraying Pendleton in 1868, have combined for the purpose of defeating him now. These men have just started agents into the State for the purpose of using certain information placed in their possession among Democrats who supported Pendleton.

—It is a noticeable coincidence that the superintendents of four important New England railroads have resigned their offices to date from October 1.

—A writer in the Newark Advertiser discusses the feasibility of bridging the Atlantic ocean. He has studied the subject from boyhood, and believes he has mastered the scheme, and is now willing to stake his reputation and other people's fortunes upon the undertaking.

—A Jerseyman from one of the mosquito districts is said to have applied for a patent for cast-iron counterpanes, the metal being hardened by a new process so as to be almost insect proof.

—A deacon in Davenport, Ia., denounces the street-sprinkler as an ungodly and sacrilegious device, and says if it is too dusty the citizens ought to combine and pray for rain.

AYER'S HAIR VIGOR.

FOR RESTORING GRAY HAIR TO ITS NATURAL VITALITY AND COLOR.

Advancing years, sickness, care, disappointment, and hereditary predisposition, all turn the hair gray; either of them disposes to fall off prematurely, and either effect is unsightly and so pleasant to behold. DR. AYER'S consummate skill has produced an antidote for these deformities, which has won gratitude for him from multitudes of men and women. His HAIR VIGOR sometimes reproduces lost hair; it always restores to faded and gray hair its natural color, with the glossy freshness of youth. The comparatively few bald and gray heads, that we now see, are those who have not yet discovered the virtues of AYER'S HAIR VIGOR for renewing the hair. The fresh and youthful hair we see on older heads is often the product of Hair Vigor. If you are disfigured, or made old, austere and ugly, by gray hair, restore its youthful color, and with your features to their original softness and agreeable expression.

As an elegant dressing for beautifying the Hair, it has no superior.

LOCAL AFFAIRS.

Laconics.

The base ball match has been postponed until Saturday.

Two Portsmouth Democrats wagered $100 each on the Maine election, Monday, one betting that the Republicans would have 15,000 majority and the other betting against it.

The Portsmouth Music Society commenced their regular weekly rehearsals last Wednesday evening. See advertisement for invitations to members and others.

Tug Clara Bateman will take the Knights of Pythias to Wood Island, Thursday.

The Grant and Wilson Guards, whose numbers have been largely augmented, and the Junior Tanners will join in a torch-light street parade to-morrow (Wednesday) evening, in honor of the great Republican victories in Vermont and Maine. There will be a general illumination along their line of march, which we shall publish to-morrow morning.

Wonder when the Greeley and Brownies will organize that company for street parade.

Billiard matches at the Rockingham House are very popular. A three-ball game is to be played to-morrow evening by two experts.

The Democratic selectmen of Eliot were so sleepy on Monday that they allowed the ballot box to fall to the floor twice, spilling the votes on the floor. The Republicans redeemed the town, Perham receiving 223 votes to 204 for Kimball. Last year, Perham had 190 votes, Kimball 191.

More Mathematics.

The office seekers' organ says of the Vermont election:

The Liberal vote will be nearly 17,000. This proves that there are over 5000 Greeley Republicans in Vermont.

The Democratic vote for Governor in 1868 was 15,289. If only 17,000 votes were cast last week for the "Liberal" ticket, according to Willie only 12,000 of them must have been Democrats. What became of the remaining 3289 Democratic voters of 1878?

State News.

Twenty-one Democrats of Loudon have signed a paper declaring that they will not vote for Greeley.

The Republican electoral convention for this district will meet at Exeter today.

The News.

The Bostons lost their third game of base ball by a score of 11 to 5, Saturday. The Mutuals were the winners.

A destructive fire occurred in Memphis, Tenn., Sunday. The loss is nearly a quarter of a million dollars.

President Grant and family leave Long Branch to resume their residence at the White House, Washington, on the 18th instant. The President will then begin the preparation of his annual message.

During the passage of three hundred Chinamen to Havana a mutiny occurred and the captain of the ship killed several of them. Sixty-five died on the passage and the survivors were in a terrible condition when they arrived.

Joseph Merrill of Auburn, a mason by trade, was run over by a coal train, about one mile east of Massabesic station, and instantly killed. He was sitting on a rail, apparently counting money, when discovered, and paid no attention to the whistle to get off the track. He owns a farm near by, and leaves a wife and family.

Billy Forrester, who is suspected of the murder of Nathan, the New York banker, about two years ago, has at last been arrested by detectives. He was found in Washington.

Dr. Schoeppe has been acquitted of the charge of poisoning Miss Stennecke of Baltimore. Dr. S. has been incarcerated for three years, twice tried for his life, once sentenced to be hanged, and but for the timely action of the Pennsylvania legislature would have been sent into eternity some months ago.

Two women in Mexico, jealous of each other, fought a duel and were attended by women as seconds. One was armed with a bone and the other with an ordinary dagger. The one with the bone-dagger killed her antagonist.

Political.

Congressman Julius S. Strong, Republican, of Connecticut, is dead. Gen. Hawley is the coming man to fill the vacancy—he who should have been chosen U. S. Senator last Spring.

Semi-official returns from all but four small towns in Vermont give Converse 44,222 votes, and Gardiner 16,604—Converse's majority 25,618. The remaining towns gave in 1870, 110 Republican majority. The senate is unanimously Republican and the house of representatives stands as follows: Republicans, 206; Democrats 21. In 1870 the Democrats had 2 senators and 29 representatives.

Of the committee of Seventy in New York City, sixty-nine are for General Dix for Governor.

The increase of shipbuilding in Maine deprived Democratic orators of one of their strongest cards against the Republican administration.

One of the evidences of the strength of the Greeleyites in Vermont is seen in the Bennington districts where two Republican Senators are elected by about one thousand majority each, where Democratic Senators were chosen at the last election, and the Boston Post said before the election that the liberals in Vermont had a capital organization.

On Friday night General Butler spoke at Rockland, got up early the next morning, took a steam yacht, sailed gayly up the Penobscot to Bucksport, sixty miles, spoke there two long hours in the afternoon to a great crowd, again boarded his yacht, brought up before supper at Bangor and spoke there with all his accustomdd vigor and dash until late in the evening. Harlan moved as rapidly doing the last days and hours of the week, and did as famously.

JOB AND CARD PRINTING.—We have made great additions to our jobbing facilities—a mammoth Hand Press (the largest in Portsmouth,) new Display Type, Borders of various styles, &c. —and are prepared to execute with neatness and dispatch, all orders for FULL SHEET POSTERS, DATE SLIPS, PAMPHLETS, SERMONS, ADDRESSES, AUCTION BILLS, CONSTITUTIONS, BY LAWS, PROGRAMMES, HANDBILLS, CIRCULARS, ORDERS DANCES, BLANKS, BILL HEADS, RECEIPTS, TICKETS, BUSINESS, MARRIAGE, ADDRESS AND VISITING CARDS, LABELS, TAGS, and in fact PRINTING OF ANY DESCRIPTION, at SATISFACTORY PRICES. Orders received by mail, express, or at the CHRONICLE OFFICE will be promptly filled.

Business Notices.

USE BUCHMAN'S PULMOCINE CORDIAL for all throat diseases. For sale at the Union Store.

—HOLLOWAY'S OINTMENT.—Before using this balsamic remedy open the pores by warm fomentations. Then rub in the salve, and wherever the sore, swelling, wound, bruise, or eruption may be located, it will speedily disappear. Sold 78 Maiden Lane, N. Y. Price 25 cents per pot. Ask for new style; the old is counterfeited. 14

TAKE COURAGE, INVALIDS.—Pain and weakness produce despondency, and the invalid who is laboring under bodily torture, debility and mental depression, at the same time is indeed in a pitiable condition. But let all who are thus situated take heart. A balm is provided both for their physical and mental infirmities in Hostetter's Stomach Bitters. Among the commonest sources of pain, uneasiness and melancholy are the diseases which affect the stomach, the liver, the alimentary canal, the nerves and the muscles, such as dyspepsia, bilious disorders, constipation, headache, hysteria, and rheumatism, all of which yield readily to the regulating, invigorating and purifying influence of this peerless vegetable tonic, stimulant and restorative. Take courage, sorrowful invalids; you will find the help you need in Hostetter's Bitters.

IN EVERY QUARTER OF THE GLOBE where it is known, and there are few indeed where it is not, the Mexican Mustang Liniment takes precedence of all similar preparations. Its transcendant merits have obtained for it a popularity seldom reached by any proprietary medicine. In its infancy the fiat of its success was pronounced in the wide-spread endorsement which it received from physicians, veterinary surgeons, horsemen and the public generally. No one now thinks of questioning its claim to be considered the Standard Libiment of America.

CASTORIA.—A substitute for Castor Oil—is a physic which does not distress or gripe, but is sure to operate when all other remedies have failed. You may confidently rely upon the Castoria in Stomach-ache, Constipation, Flatulency, Croup, Worms, Piles or deranged Liver. It contains neither Minerals, Morphine, Opium nor Alcohol, but is purely a vegetable preparation, perfectly harmless, and above all, pleasant to take. The Castoria soothes and quiets the system and produces natural sleep. It is a wonderful thing to assimilate the food of children and prevent them from crying. A 35 cent bottle will do the work for a family and save many doctors' bills.

THE THIEF who was arrested for robbing Parsons' store in this town, was found to have a quantity of Ayer's Hair Vigor in his possession. When asked why he wished to steal that article, he answered that he "wanted to restore his hair, for it was hard to be a thief and bald too." If that invention of the great chemist could restore a faded character as effectually as it does their natural beauty to bald and grey heads, it would surely be, as they say it now is, truly invaluable.—Lewiston (Me.) Journal.

USE BUCHMAN'S PULMOCINE CORDIAL for all throat diseases. For sale at the Union Store.

PILES.—The unceasing torture from internal bleeding, external and itching piles is fast wearing away the thousands of those who are afflicted and their hope and courage have long since given place to despair. Let those who see this cheer up, for a mild and sure cure may be had by using BRIGGS' PILE REMEDIES.

DECAY'S EFFACING FINGER.—Will never mar the teeth that are brushed daily with Odenferous Sozodont. It leads a floral fragrance to the breath as well as protects the teeth from corrosion and decomposition.

CORNS.—Since pride and fashion have had control of mankind, and shoemakers were compelled to make boots and shoes to fit Society instead of the feet, the suffering from Corns, Bunions, Ingrowing Nails, Sore Insteps, Blistered Heels, Callosities on the bottom of the feet, &c., cannot be described. But Briggs' Corn and Bunion Remedies will cure all such torments, and proper fitting boots will prevent their reproduction. Sold by all druggists. a12

The Grand Gift Concert

A FIXED FACT.

September 28th the Day.

Your Tickets Now or Never!

THE vast sale of tickets already made, and the increasing demand for them from all quarters having determined the Trustees that the GRAND GIFT CONCERT for the benefit of the PUBLIC LIBRARY OF KENTUCKY, advertised for SATURDAY, SEPT. 28, 1872, shall positively come off on that day, without postponement, the management now notifies all who expect to participate in the drawing that they should buy their tickets at once. Delay for a few days caused many who wanted tickets at the concert in December last to go without them. Some living in Louisville waited until sales were closed, expecting, no doubt, a postponement, and then offered fifteen, twenty, and even twenty-five dollars for tickets which the day before were offered to purchasers at the regular price. Others living at a distance sent thousands of dollars by mail and express, which got here after sales were closed, and had to be sent back. These disappointments need not occur again, if the warning now given in due season is heeded.

The drawing will begin precisely at 6 o'clock Saturday morning, September 28, 1872, in the great hall of the Public Library building, and continue until the one thousand gifts are all drawn.

The Concert itself will be the most brilliant orchestral display that ever occurred in the West. One hundred performers, gathered from all parts of this country and from Europe, under the direction of Prof. Hast, will contribute to this grand musical carnival. And to afford ample room for every ticket-holder to enjoy such an unusual musical festival, the Concert will be given in Central Park, where arrangements have been made to accommodate all who may come.

Persons holding whole, half or quarter tickets, will be admitted to both the Concert and Drawing, and none without such tickets will be admitted to either.

PRICE OF TICKETS.

Whole Tickets $10; halves, $5; quarters, $2 50; 11 Whole tickets for $100; 28 for $250; 56 for $500; 113 for $1,000; 285 for $2,500; 575 for $5000. No discount on less than $100 worth of tickets at a time.

In accordance with numerous solicitations arrangements have been made with all the railroad and steamboat lines leading into the city for the sale of round-trip tickets, good for six days to all persons who may wish to attend the Concert or Drawing. Such tickets will be furnished by the Louisville & Nashville Railroad; the Louisville, Cincinnati and Lexington Railroad; the Louisville, Indianapolis and Madison Railroad; the Ohio and Mississippi Railroad; the Louisville and Cincinnati Mail Boat Line, and the Louisville, Owensboro and Henderson Mail Line Packets.

All agents are required to close sales and make their returns in full time to reach this office by Thursday, September 25. To do this successfully, those located at great distances must close some days before the 25th.

All tickets to which gifts are awarded, will be paid without discount, by the Farmers' and Drovers' Bank, either in currency, or by sight-draft upon the Fourth National Bank of New York, at option of the holder. The ticket must first be presented at this office, Room No. 4, Public Library Building, before they will be paid by the Bank.

The drawing will be published in the Louisville Papers and New York Herald, and official copies sent to purchasers to which tickets have been sent by letter.

—Since the unlucky moment when we introduce that shabby Litchfield Sentinel chap as a distant relative of ours, he has been a perfect thorn in our flesh. We mentioned the fact merely to encourage the fellow, thinking it might be of some use to him without any great harm to us. But, shades of the three brothers that came over from England! It was one of the most ill-advised kindnesses we ever did in our life. He sticks to us like "those molasses" to the head of an Ethiopian infant. He is as inexorable as the itch. He trots out his remote consanguinity at the most unreasonable times and in the most humiliating manner possible. We are mortified almost to death by him. When people from the city are present —when the Court is in session—when we are dignifiedly discoursing with a refined and fastidious public,—no matter what the occasion, or the company, this outlandish patch is sure to come after us, bawling, "Cousin Vaill! Cousin Vaill!" It's enough to make a man expunge Adam and Eve from his family record.—Winsted Herald.

THOUGHT HE WAS DRUNK.—A dinner party was in progress during the brilliant display of northern lights, and a gentleman stepping out to cool his burning brow, was startled by the display about the frosty pole. He stood perfectly amazed, then turning to the window he saw within the wife of his bosom sitting with the ladies waiting for their liege lords to end their champagne and cigars. Pushing aside the lace curtain he beckoned Mrs. Agnes to come out. She replied, when he said to her solemnly: "Wagnes, d'er see anything extronory now?" "Yes, Dolly, I see that you have been drinking too much wine." "No, nor that, Wagnes; I mean extronory phornomonums in amosphere." "Why—where, Dolly?" "Upper yonder, Wagnes." "Why, dear me, yes; I do indeed—the most brilliant aurora I ever saw." "Wagnes, are things a shootin'?" "Yes dear." "And a-flash', Wagnes?" "Yes, Dolly." "An' a sorter spreadin' an' dancin'—eh, Wagnes?" "All that, my dear." "Ho! ho!" laughed the husband, much relieved. "Do you know, Wagnes—I mean Hagnes—when'r I come out an saw the celestial phonomonum a glowin' upper yonder,——me effer I didn't think I was drunk."

—So extensively is the adulteration of tea now carried on in China, that Mr. Medhurst, the British Consul at Shanghae, recently wrote that 53,000 pounds of willow leaves were in course of manipulation at one port alone, to be mixed with tea for shipment, at the ratio of from 10 to 20 per cent.

AYER'S PURGATIVE PILLS.

For all the purposes of a Family Physic,

CURING

Costiveness, Jaundice, Dyspepsia, Indigestion, Dysentery, Foul Stomach, Erysipelas, Headache, Piles, Rheumatism, Eruptions and Skin Diseases, Biliousness, Liver Complaint, Dropsy, Tetter, Tumors and Salt Rheum, Worms, Gout, Neuralgia, as a Dinner Pill, and Purifying the Blood.

Are the most congenial purgative yet perfected. Their effects abundantly show how much they excel all other Pills. They are safe and pleasant to take, but powerful to cure. They purge out the foul humors of the blood; they stimulate the sluggish or disordered organ into action, and they impart health and tone to the whole being. They cure not only the every day complaints of every body, but formidable and dangerous diseases. Most eminent clergymen, most skillful physicians, and our best citizens send certificates of cures performed, and of great benefits they have derived from these Pills. They are the safest and best physic for children, because mild as well as effectual. Being sugar coated, they are easy to take; and being purely vegetable, they are entirely harmless.

The Singer

SEWING MACHINE

STILL LEADS THE MARKET.

The Success of the Company is far beyond that of any other similar concern; the

Daily Manufacture

—OF—

400 OF THE SINGERS

Falling to Supply the Constant Demand.

All other machines claim the public attention to some new loop or stitch or tension or finish, some advantage in running or needles or feed or prices—and many of these are as we have said very good points, and the agents selling them use them to divert entirely the would-be purchaser from fairly considering the facts in the case; but the

seems to unite the good qualities of all, and is never found wanting.

THE SINGER

IS THE

OLDEST

SEWING MACHINE

IN THE MARKET,

All others being copied from its first model. It does two-thirds the sewing done in this country and preserves its advantages over all others combined.

It is readily kept clean, and has THE BEST TENSION EVER INVENTED; it is higher speeded and requires but little power to run; it works equally well upon the finest and heaviest goods; it does all the varieties of work known to the art.

N. B. Those purchasing for cash, before the 1 of January next, will have a consideration allowed them.

AYER'S

SARSAPARILLA

FOR PURIFYING THE BLOOD.

A medicine that cures is a real public blessing. AYER'S SARSAPARILLA makes positive cure of a series of complaints, which are always afflicting and too often fatal. It purifies the blood, purges out the lurking humors in the system, which undermine health and settle into troublesome disorders. Eruptions of the skin are the appearance on the surface of humors that should be expelled from the blood. Internal derangements are the determination of these same humors to some internal organ, or organs, whose action they derange, and whose substance they disease and destroy. AYER'S SARSAPARILLA expels these humors from the blood. When they are gone, the disorders they produce disappear, such as Obstructions of the Liver, Stomach, Kidneys, Lungs, Scrofulous and Erysipelas Diseases of the skin, St. Anthony's Fire, Rose or Erysipelas, Pimples, Pustules, Blotches, Boils, Tumors, Tetter and Salt Rheum, Scald Head, Ringworm, Ulcers and Sores, Rheumatism, Neuralgia, Pain in the bones, Side, and Head, Female Weakness, Sterility, Leucorrhœa arising from internal ulceration and uterine disease, Dropsy, Dyspepsia, Emaciation, and General Debility. With their departure health returns.

Campaign Song.

AIR—"Tramp, tramp, tramp, the boys are marching."

For the man who led our armies through the blood and toil of war,
Who in triumph and in mercy sheathed the sword,
All the Union-loving people will be sure to vote again!

CHORUS.

Grant, Grant, Grant! the boys are calling;
He's the man the people want again,
And they all will vote to place him in the Presidential chair,
And we will live in peace and plenty then.

Though the Copperheads and Soreheads may unite to put him down,
Yet our General has the people at his back;
All the wheezy, spavined party hacks had better clear the way,
For the Union horse is bound to sweep the track.

Grant, Grant, Grant, the boys are calling, etc.

Only four short years ago, we were overwhelmed with debt,
And it did not seem that we could ever pay;
But the daylight has been breaking, and the dawn has come at last,
And we soon will see the glory of the day.

Grant, Grant, Grant! the boys are calling, etc.

Now the country is at peace, and all the land is full of joy,
And a blessed, bounteous harvest crowns the year,
While our debts are growing smaller, and the taxes are reduced,
For the future we may never have a fear.

Grant, Grant, Grant! the boys are calling, etc.

We must rally 'round the party that has saved the nation's life,
That in perilous times was ever true and firm,
We must give it time to finish all the work it has to do,
And must give our trusted Grant another term.

Grant, Grant, Grant! the boys are calling, etc.

Carl Brent.

Unless measures are taken to prevent it there will soon be no Democratic party in Philadelphia. You can't have a party without leaders. And if affairs don't change soon in the city of "Brotherly Love" the gang—led by Alderman M'Mullin—will be in glory. M'Mullin is shot through the body by Mara, a bravo of the gang, long ago employed by the Whisky Ring to assassinate Detective Brooks. Mara is tried and convicted. M'Mullin secures his pardon. Then Mara, fired at some wrong or other, shoots the "squire" through the midriff. The gang at once went to work to lynch Mara, and that eminent Democrat defended by an illustrious Greeleyite named Dougherty. In good time the distinguished Doughherty is set upon in the street and emboweled by fellow supporters of the great cabbage-raiser of Chappaqua. And so the work of "beating Greeley" goes on! When is this thing to stop? There must be some limit fixed to this declimation. For when all the cutthroats and thieves are killed who will see to the majorities in the lower wards? Where will M'Clure's supporters be? Seeing that M'Mullin has a bullet through his body, is commander-in-chief of the Democracy of the State, stakeholder for Mace and O'Baldwin, and a Greeley elector at large, isn't he rather—technically speaking—overmatched?—Harrisburg, Pa., Telegraph.

Not only WHAT! But also WHERE!

AFTER deciding what kind of Sewing Machine to buy, the next thing to be duly considered is where to buy it. E. A. Joy who sells all kinds of Sewing Machines and Findings, is permanently located here, and has sold more Machines during the past six years than all the others together, including the nineteen who have quit the business because they could not pay expenses. He has sold nearly five hundred of one kind during the past year (the names of the purchasers will be given if desired) and has twenty other kinds to choose from. Mr. Joy seems destined to be the only Sewing Machine dealer in this vicinity, for people have learned to their sorrow that the warrant of an itinerant agent or pedlar amounts to nothing. You can select from a stock of nearly one hundred machines of different kinds at

CAUTION.

THE immense demand for HOLLOWAY'S PILLS and OINTMENT, has tempted unprincipled parties to counterfeit these valuable medicines.

In order to protect the public and ourselves, we have issued a new "Trade Mark," consisting of an Egyptian circle of a serpent, with the letter H in the centre. Every box of genuine HOLLOWAY'S PILLS and OINTMENT will have this trade mark on it; none are genuine without it.

NATURE'S REMEDY.

VEGETINE

The Great Blood Purifier.

A valuable Indian compound, for restoring the health, and for the permanent cure of all diseases arising from impurities of the blood, such as

Scrofula Scrofulous Humors, Cancers, Cancerous Humor Erysipelas, Canker, Salt Rheum, Pimples and Humors on the Face, Ulcers, Coughs, Catarrh, Bronchitis, Neuralgia, Pains in the Side, Rheumatism, Dyspepsia, Constipation Costiveness, Dizziness Piles, Headache, Nervousness, Faintness at the Stomach, Pains in the Back, Kidney Complaints

Female Weakness, and General Debility.

This preparation is scientifically and chemically combined, and so strongly concentrated from roots, herbs and barks, that its good effects are realized immediately after commencing to take it. There is no disease of the human system for which the VEGETINE cannot be used with PERFECT SAFETY, as it does not contain any metallic compound. For eradicating the system of all impurities of the blood, it has no equal. It has never failed to effect a cure, giving tone and strength to the system debilitated by disease. Its wonderful effects upon these complaints are surprising to all. Many have been cured by the VEGETINE that have tried many other remedies. It can well be called

AYER'S

CHERRY PECTORAL

For Diseases of the Throat and Lungs, such as Coughs, Colds, Whooping Cough, Bronchitis, Asthma and Consumption.

The few compositions, which have won the confidence of mankind and become household words among not only one but many nations, must have extraordinary virtues. Perhaps no one ever secured so wide a reputation or maintained it so long as AYER'S CHERRY PECTORAL. It has been known to the public about forty years, by a long continued series of marvellous cures which have won for it a confidence in its virtues, never equalled by any other medicines. It still makes the most effectual cures of Coughs, Colds, Consumption, that can be made by medical skill. Indeed the CHERRY PECTORAL has really robbed these dangerous diseases of their terrors, to a great extent, and given a feeling of immunity from their fatal effects, which is well founded, it the remedy be taken in season. Every family should have it in their closet for the ready and prompt relief of its members. Sickness, suffering, and even life is saved by this timely protection. The prudent should not neglect it, and the wise will not. Keep it by you for the protection it affords in sudden attacks, and by its timely use.

AMERICAN & FOREIGN PATENTS.

R. S. EDDY,

SOLICITOR OF PATENTS,

For Inventions, Trade Marks or Designs,

NO. 76 STATE ST., OPPOSITE KILBY ST., BOSTON,

After an extensive practice of upwards of thirty years, continues to secure patents in the United States; also in Great Britain, France and other foreign countries. Caveats, Specifications, Assignments, and all papers for Patents, executed on reasonable terms with dispatch. Research made to determine the validity and utility of Patents and inventions, and legal and other advice rendered in all matters touching the same. Copies of the claims of any patent furnished, by remitting one dollar. Assignments recorded in Washington.

No Agency in the United States possesses superior facilities for obtaining Patents or ascertaining the patentability of inventions.

All inventors of a journey to Washington to procure a Patent and the usual great delay there, are here saved inventors.

TESTIMONIALS.

"I regard Mr. Eddy as one of the most capable and successful practitioners with whom I have had official intercourse. CHARLES MASON, Commissioner of Patents."

"I have no hesitation in assuring inventors that they cannot employ a man more competent and faithfully and more capable of putting their applications in a form to secure for them an early and favorable consideration at the Patent Office. EDMUND BURKE, Late Commissioner of Patents."

"MR. R. H. EDDY has made for me over THIRTY applications for Patents, having been successful in almost every case. Such unanimous proof of great talent and ability on his part leads me to recommend ALL inventors to apply to him to procure their Patents, as they may be sure of having the most faithful attention bestowed on their cases, and at very reasonable charges.

JOHN TAGGART."

CLEAR YOUR THROAT!

Relieve Your Lungs.

For the terrible diseases engendered by the lung-trying climate of New England,

Pulmocine Cordial

Is a speedy and reliable Preventive and Remedy. EVERY FAMILY should have a bottle at hand to check the sudden growth of all Pulmonary Diseases. For the Asthma, Coughs, Croups, Laryngitis, or inflammation of the larynx, Diphtheria, and all kindred THROAT DISEASES at all times prevalent, it is the ounce of PREVENTION. Children attacked with Whooping Cough or Croup, should be immediately cured for. These painful attacks come with scarcely a moment's warning, when a physician may be out of immediate reach. A dose of PULMOCINE CORDIAL gives speedy relief, and the little ones are spared hours of pain and agony. As "a stitch in time saves nine," so does the possession of this FAMILY MEDICINE prevent the spread of disease. Parents rearing their children gasping with pain, friends and relatives beholding each other in peril from suffocation by the choking pain in the throat, paralyzed with fear and not knowing the best course to pursue, are liable to apply the wrong remedial agents. There is no safety in delay, no time to waste in such cases. CONSUMPTION, that fearful scourge of the human race, lies at the door of all thus afflicted. BUCHMAN'S PULMOCINE CORDIAL arrests it (unless in its advanced stage at which time there is no local cure) relieves the pressing, suffocating feeling at the lungs, and the patient's danger is past.

Buchman's Pulmocine Cordial

BUCHMAN'S PULMOCINE CORDIAL is no new discovery. Twenty-three years ago it was used by one of New England's most famous physicians as the best PULMONARY CURATIVE he could prescribe, after a dozen years spent in experimenting with it before he was satisfied that the Materia Medica could add nothing in its favor.

Is the ultima thule of Medical Discovery.

Among its many ingredients are WILD CHERRY BARK, SQUILL ROOT, LIQUORICE ROOT, BLOOD ROOT, &c. It is a BLOOD PURIFIER, gently stimulating. It increases expectoration and is diuretic. It is sudorific and alterative. It is a necessary family medicine. It is a Tonic and a powerful aid to the digestive organs. It is a gentle sedative, and relieves nervousness. It is aromatic and agreeable to the taste.

For Coughs, Croup, Diphtheria, Asthma, &c.

USE BUCHMAN'S

PULMOCINE CORDIAL.

The Pulmocine Cordial is not a quack medicine, is not an experiment, is not composed of any ingredients "discovered" by "Indian Herbs" in "South America or anywhere else, nor by one who discovered a weed and thereby cured himself. Most of the ingredients are such as our best educated physicians daily use for the complaints specified, in some form or other. The recipe is that perfected by one of New England's most learned and famous physicians, who used it entirely in his daily practice until his death. It is offered to the profession and to the public, absolutely pure and unadulterated.

BRIGGS' ALLEVANTOR is composed of Ammonia, Chloroform, Spirits of Camphor, Tincture of Lapulina, Oil of Juniper, and Alcohol. This compound is unequalled in the annals of medicine for the cure of Nervous or Sick Headache, Neuralgia, Trembling or Twitching of the Nerves, and all Nervous Diseases. It will counteract all poisons, banish pimples, cure venty eruptions, itching, humors, &c.; it equalizes the circulation, invigorates the system, increases the action of the heart, without exciting the brain, cures Heartburn, Palpitation and Fluttering of the Heart, Dyspepsia, &c. Briggs' Allevantor absolutely possesses more curative properties than any other preparation. Physicians, chemists, and others are requested to examine and test the remedy and $1000 will be paid if found different from representation.

COUGHS, and Much has been said and many remedies have been offered for the relief and cure of throat and lung diseases; but nothing has been so eminently successful, or obtained such a wide celebrity, as Briggs' Throat and Lung Healer.

CORNS! The excruciating pain produced by Corns, the unceasing twinging from Bunions, the piercing, distressing pain from Ingrowing Nails, cannot be described. Thousands suffer, not knowing there is a cure. Briggs' Corn and Bunion Remedies are no acid or potash compounds, but are reliable, soothing, and effectual, and just merit the success they have earned from an appreciative public. The Curative is a healing ointment; immediate relief is obtained by its application, and it will positively cure the worst cases of Festered Corns, Inflamed and Ulcerated Bunions, the sorest instep, the largest and severest Blisters, the most extensive Callosities on the soles or heels of the feet, unequalled in the cure of Chilblains or Frosted Feet. The Allevantor for ordinary corns and preventing their formation is absolutely unexcelled by anything ever known.

PILES have been a terror to mankind for centuries, and almost every attempt to cure them has been baffled. By unceasing study and experimenting, Dr. Briggs has discovered an absolutely cure for internal, bleeding, external, and itching piles. Briggs' Pile Remedies are mild, safe and sure.

For sale by J. H. THACHER, WM. R. PRESTON, Portsmouth; JAMES O. TREFETHEN, Kittery; E. S. SAFFORD, Kittery Point; H. M. CURTIS, Newcastle, and dealers generally.

CORNS, Bunions, Bad Nails, and other diseases of the feet, Scrofulous and Cancerous Humors, Piles, etc., skillfully treated at the great central Chiropodical and Healing Institute, No. 765 Broadway, New York. DR. J. BRIGGS, President; DR. ALEXANDER WEBBER, Secretary. a19

Political.

There are more than a score of Grant clubs in the city of New York composed exclusively of Democrats. Intelligent politicians believe that Gen. Grant will receive more than ten thousand Democratic votes in the metropolis.

We are likely to be beaten unless we do more than we are doing now.—N. Y. Tribune.

Horace Greeley delights in saying that he was a "poor boy." And it is the firm conviction of a large majority of the American people that he would make an uncommonly poor President too.

Even the dogs take to politics. A well known Newfoundland in Portland wags his tail when asked if he is a Grant dog, but barks vociferously and shakes his head when he is asked if he goes for Greeley.

The United States sub-Treasury in this city moved into new quarters yesterday. Several bushels of greenbacks and four express wagons full of gold were transferred. On balancing the books a deficiency of eight cents was discovered. Mr. Schurz will move for a committee of investigation when Congress meets.—Missouri Democrat.

The New York Tribune, which is not an organ, has got down to the point of attempting to belittle Gen. Grant's military achievements. There is no earthly reason why the Tribune and Sun should not be consolidated. — Toledo Blade.

The Quitman, Ga., Banner may "clasp hands across the bloody chasm," but it don't talk like one willing to "forget the past." It says: "The atrocities of the Northern soldiers are still too fresh in our memory; the scars on our hearts are not yet erased; the names of Chickamauga and Elmira still suffuse the eyes with tears and the heart with terrible thoughts of vegeance." The Banner, of course, supports Greeley and hopes to realize its "thoughts of vengeance" through that channel.

The Chicago Times, the leading Democratic paper of the West, in the course of an article criticising Mr. Greeley's late speech in Connecticut where he animadverts on the straight movement at Louisville, says:

"Proceeding from Mr. Horace Greeley, it plainly shows that he is the same style of person who not long ago characterized in the language of a venomous ruffian all Democrats as graduates of the grog-shop, the gambling hell, and worse dens of infamy, and renders it pretty certain that Democrats have only to withhold from this ferocious office-seeker their votes in order to bring upon them a new shower of his characteristic villification."

Col. E. M. Yerger, the murderer of Col. Crane, of Dayton, announces himself as a candidate for Congress in the Third District of Maryland. He is clasping hands across the bloody chasm with his Confederate friends. He was recently entertained at Chappaqua by Mr. Greeley.

The New York Tribune calls upon citizens to vote for Kernan, Democratic candidate for Governor of that State, because "he is an earnest Roman Catholic."

The Providence Journal might use softer words, but it could hardly tell more truth than when it says: "The campaign on the part of the Greeley organs seems to be one great lie, sustained by innumerable smaller lies."

H. G. will need a new and improved set of blasphemies if these fall elections do no quit running in favor of the Republican party.

In answer to a correspondent we have to say that since the West Virginia election, we don't know what State it is the Greeleyites are betting on.—Cleveland Leader.

One hundred and fourteen Southern Democratic papers refuse to support Greeley under any circumstances. They decline to eat crow either for the mutinual starter, the mid-day supporter, or the vespasian finisher. They don't like it.

The Massachusetts Democracy have made General Banks a present of a pair of fine horses and an elegant coach as a reward for his eating "biled crow." If Banks deserves such a recognition from the Democrats for merely eating crow, what testimonial ought to be due him from them on the score of his Red river expedition?—Cleveland Leader.

The temporary chairman of the Georgia Republican State convention was Mr. John M. Quarles, a colored man of considerable public experience. A correspondent says: Mr. Quarles' old master, who raised him and who owned him up to the time of emancipation, was present, and although heretofore "Democratic" in his party affiliations, could not suppress his demonstrations of approval and his pride in "my boy," as he sat in the outskirts of the assembly and noted the readiness, accuracy and modest decorum with which the temporary chairman presided.

PENNSYLVANIA.—The straight Democrats of Pennsylvania will not attempt to nominate a State ticket, but intend to have a full electoral ticket in the field for the November election. They propose to obtain from Buckalew, Democratic candidate for Governor, a declaration of his position towards the O'Conor and Adams ticket. If he favors it, they will vote for him; if not, they will vote against him. Great preparations are making to render the soldiers and sailors' convention in Pittsburg on the 17th instant a grand success. Over two thousand delegates will leave Jersey City in a special train on Sunday night. A large delegation from Boston, under the command of General Horace Binney Sargent will accompany them, and they will be met in Philadelphia by the veteran societies of that city.

The News.

Two men named Herrick and James Haich were drowned in Portland harbor on Sunday, their boat being upset in a squall.

George Lorrenz, a boy 9 years old, while stealing a ride on a horse car in New York on Sunday evening, fell off and had his head nearly severed from his body.

Shipbuilding is to be resumed in Saco.

Aiken, the burglar policeman of New York, was sentenced to twenty years in the State prison.

Bostons 5, Athletics 5.

The Boston and Maine contractor's trains have reached the Portland, Saco and Portsmouth railroad crossing on the Saco road.

State News.

The cars on the railway up Mount Washington were delayed last week by snow and ice on the track.

A rich copper mine has been discovered at Hanover.

The dwelling house owned by John Wingate at North Strafford, was burned on Saturday. Insured for $600.

The skeleton of a man from sixty-five to seventy years of age was found about one mile from Wentworth Village on Friday, by some men who were out gunning. The selectmen went to the place that morning for the purpose of making an examination, and in attempting to remove the skeleton it fell to pieces, showing that many months must have elapsed since death ensued. The body was evidently that of a person of about six feet and one inch in height, and of large proportions. His teeth were mostly gone, only three or four remaining. He was evidently dressed in a gray-ribbed coat and vest, checked woolen shirt, while his pants were probably Sanborneton tweed, and around his neck was a gingham handkerchief; on his feet thick boots and woollen stockings. There was found upon his person a gingham pocket handkerchief, a pair of spectacles in case, pair of scissors, four-blade pocket knife and fourteen cents in change. About three feet from the body was found a half-pint flask, corked tight, in which were twenty-six dollars in bills and ninety cents in scrip. About six feet from the body was found a cotton umbrella, and about twelve feet was a double trimmed high crowned palm-leaf hat, and upon the hat were different colored paints, while by the side of the hat was a broken porter bottle. Several spruce boughs were under his head, having evidently been cut and placed there for a pillow. The place where the body was found was a very retired spot, being nearly a half mile from any habitation. The matter remains a mystery.

NEW PAPERS.—The New London Advocate is the title of a neatly printed little monthly paper published by F. W. Cheney. It is devoted to the educational interests of the place and is deservedly well patronized in its advertising department.

The Nashua Daily Gazette is the title of a nice looking sheet from the office of the weekly paper of that name. If it is not too unkind to criticise a new enterprise of this kind, we would suggest that the appearance of Gratz Brown's visage at the head of the leading column seems to indicate that mortification had already "set in" on the junior member of the firm of Cabbages and Crabs.

THE DOWNFALL OF PUGILISM.—Precisely how many times Mr. James Mace, the chief pugilist of America, has gone forth to fight, and has returned without exchanging blows with his pretended antagonist is not a matter of consequence. The result of his numerous failures has, however, brought pugilism into universal contempt, and the public has accustomed itself to believe that the average bruiser is a coward, as well as a brute. This comfortable belief in the downfall of the ring has been rudely disturbed by those pleasing persons, Messes. William Edwards and Arthur Chambers, who, on Wednesday last, actually fought a battle in which blows were given and bruises received. It must not be supposed that these men fought merely for the paltry money staked on the result. They had a loftier purpose than this, and aimed at nothing less than the rehabilitation of prize-fighting. They mauled each other in pursuance of a mission, and split reciprocal gore for the glory of the ring. During the early part of the battle it really seemed as though it were to be a fair as well as a fierce fight, but fortunately the final termination of the struggle proved that the system of swindling, under which Mr. Mace carries on his bloodless battles, is too dear to the pugilistic heart to be lain aside, even in the presence of two such sanguinary bruisers as Edwards and Chambers.

When it was apparent that the latter fighter was in a fair way to be defeated, his second threw a blanket over him, under which he contrived for a moment to envelope his own head. In this situation he gently bit Mr. Chambers on the shoulder, and then exhibiting the wound as the work of Mr. Edwards, claimed the stakes on the plea of foul play. This plea was immediately accepted by the referee, and the battle declared to be over. Whereupon the pugilists and their friends returned to this City in a state of excitement and gin, which rendered them extremely undesirable traveling companions. The adherents of Edwards insist that their champion was deliberately cheated. Mr. William Varley, better known as Reddy the Blacksmith, announces this opinion through the congenial columns of the Sun, and, moreover charges Mr. Barney Aaron with being the chief manager of the plot. Mr. Aaron, like Gen. Kilpatrick, will, doubtless, resent this insinuation against his integrity, and it is not impossible that the result of the quarrel will be a series of assassinations on the part of Varley, Aaron, and their fellow-villains, which will materially reduce the strength of the prize-fighting element of the metropolis.

With this state of things orderly persons will feel unalloyed satisfaction. If the cowardly cheating practiced by Mace brought prize-fighting into contempt, the more open swindling which characterized the fight on Wednesday must convince every one that the modern pugilist is the meanest type of the sneak-thief. Moreover, the betting men, for whose benefit pugilism exists, will hereafter decline to risk their money upon a game in which cheating is the invariable rule. It is thus probable that the ring will suffer even more from the fight of Edwards and Chambers than it has already suffered from the cowardice of Mace and O'Baldwin.—N. Y. Times.

ON THE PORCH AT PUT-IN-BAY.—But to return to the long front porch, as a great many do in a real life after the hops or the regular evening dance, that is just as pleasant and don't cost anything. A great amount of flirting is done here. If a man never had predisposition to be "spoony," he certainly would have a bad attack after a short sojourn in this atmosphere. Although the man who keeps the fancy store says this is "a bad season for engagements," still there are and have been many a desperate case here this year. As I have watched I have thought how well the lines of Praed fill the picture:

"Our love was like most other loves—
A little glow, a little shiver,
A rhyme, and a pair of gloves,
And 'Fly not yet' upon the river;
Some jealousy of some one's heir,
Some hopes of being broken hearted,
A miniature, a lock of hair,
The usual vows—and then we parted."

An amusing case of this kind happened not long ago. A lawyer who has his office in the Masonic Temple of your city, had a room on the ground floor, with a window on the porch. Soon after retiring, chairs were moved on the porch outside his window, and directly he heard voices—low, but earnest, voices—principally a man's voice; and as he warmed to his subject it grew so loud that our friend not only was kept awake, but could not avoid hearing what was said.

The young man was pouring forth the tale of his admiration—his ardent love, as steadfast as the polar star, as fixed as adamant. She seemed to like it very well, but didn't say yes nor nay. So the adorer went on in the same strain—he happy that she would listen, she happy he did speak. This continued from twelve till two in the wee hours, when the fair one made a move. The wretched spoon begged that she would tell him his fate then and there, but she would not. At last she said, "I will tell you in the morning."

Imagine their horror and surprise as a wild cry came from the sleepless lawyer's room.

"For God's sake, don't come back before ten! Come back at ten, and I will be here to hear the rest."

—This is the way in which the Providence papers announce that a letter is in the New Bedford post-office waiting for a stamp; There's a painful sense of something lacking on the northeast corner of a letter addressed to B. A. Whitcomb & Co., of Providence, which lies at New Bedford awaiting repairs.

—A wife wrote to her husband, absent in California, that the longer he stayed away the better she liked him. Rather equivocal, that.

TAKE COURAGE, INVALIDS. — Pain and weakness produce despondency, and the invalid who is laboring under bodily torture, debility and mental depression, at the same time is indeed in a pitable condition. But let all who are thus situated take heart. A balm is provided both for their physical and mental infirmities in Hostetter's Stomach Bitters. Among the commonest sources of pain, uneasiness and melancholy are the diseases which affect the stomach, the liver, the alimentary canal, the nerves and the muscles, such as dyspepsia, bilious disorders, constipation, headache, hysteria, and rheumatism, all of which yield readily to the regulating, invigorating and purifying influence of this peerless vegetable tonic, stimulant and restorative. Take courage, sorrowful invalids; you will find the help you need in Hostetter's Bitters.

LIKE "QUAKER'S GUNS."—Artificial teeth are of little use and easily detected. Take care of the real ones. All you need is fragrant Sozodont; use it daily and your teeth will be the last of nature's gifts to fail you.

IN EVERY QUARTER OF THE GLOBE where it is known, and there are few indeed where it is not, the Mexican Mustang Liniment takes precedence of all similar preparations. Its transcendant merits have obtained for it a popularity seldom reached by any proprietary medicine. In its infancy the fact of its success was pronounced in the wide-spread endorsement which it received from physicians, veterinary surgeons, horsemen and the public generally. No one now thinks of questioning its claim to be considered the Standard Liniment of America.

CASTORIA.—A substitute for Castor Oil—is a physic which does not distress or gripe, but is sure to operate when all other remedies have failed. You may confidently rely upon the Castoria in Stomach-ache, Constipation, Flatulency, Croup, Worms, Piles or deranged Liver. It contains neither Minerals, Morphine, Opium nor Alcohol, but is purely a vegetable preparation, perfectly inocuous, and very pleasant to take. The Castoria soothe and quiets the system and produces natural sleep. It is a wonderful thing to assimilate the food of children and prevent them from crying. A 35 cent bottle will do the work for a family and save many doctors' bills.

THE THIEF who was arrested for robbing Parsons' store in this town, was found to have a quantity of Ayer's Hair Vigor in his possession. When asked why he wished to steal that article, he answered that he "wanted to restore his hair, for it was hard to be a thief and bald too." If that invention of the great chemist could restore a faded character as effectually as it does their natural beauty to bald and gray heads, it would surely be, as they say it now is, truly invaluable.—Lewiston (Me.) Journal.

AYER'S HAIR VIGOR

FOR RESTORING GRAY HAIR

TO ITS NATURAL VITALITY AND COLOR.

Advancing years, sickness, care, disappointment, and hereditary predisposition, all turn the hair gray; either of them disposes to fall off prematurely, and either effect is unsightly and unpleasant to behold. DR. AYER'S consummate skill has produced an antidote for these deformities, which has won gratitude for him from multitudes of men and women. His HAIR VIGOR sometimes reproduces lost hair; and always restores to faded and gray hair its natural color, with the gloss and freshness of youth. The comparatively few bald and gray heads, that we now see, are those who have not yet discovered the virtues of AYER'S HAIR VIGOR for renewing the hair. The fresh and youthful hair we see on older heads is often the product of his art. If you are disfigured, or made old, austere and ugly, by gray hair, restore its youthful color, and with it your features to their original softness and agreeable expression.

As an elegant dressing for beautifying the Hair, it has no superior.

LOCAL AFFAIRS.

Jubilate!

The Republican headquarters were crowded, Monday evening, by jubilant Republicans eager to hear the glorious news from Maine. Every one seemed willing "to clasp hands across the bloody chasm" and the first round of cheers was given with a will for "our lonesome Greeley friends in the adjoining building." The telegraph office was filled with men of both parties and the sidewalks adjacent to the various headquarters were thronged. As usual, the Democracy were in a wretchedly impecunious state and were obliged to obtain their news from Republican sources. Some of them looked in on the jolly crowd at Republican headquarters and appeared as if they yearned for a little sympathy. Soon after the reception of the first news from Maine, the Greeley headquarters were closed.

The Republicans at their headquarters seemed to have gone wild with delight. They cheered indiscriminately for every thing and everybody. Early in the evening it was announced that a telegram had been received from Hon. John E. Butler, just elected Senator in York county, whereupon some one broke in with "John E. Butler's a good boy—let's give him three cheers," and at it they went without waiting for the good news. They then cheered the first sentence of the message, treated the second in a similar manner and when it closed with the announcement that Burleigh had 1500 majority, old York had elected the Republican county ticket by 1000 to 1200 and Perham's majority would reach 16,000, the applause was deafening. After that, they cheered the returns from all the towns, regardless of gains or losses, treating Democratic and Republican towns alike.

A happy company of Democrats and Republicans made quite an extended call at the CHRONICLE office and found no chasm over which they could not clasp hands. We hope our Greeley friends who came to see us and stayed all night enjoyed themselves as much as we did—and that they will call again on the night of the 8th of October and enjoy another chasmatic shake.

The Torchlight Parade

Of the Grant and Wilson Guards and Junior Tarners has been postponed until to-morrow (Thursday) evening. The procession will form on Market Square, the right resting on Republican headquarters, and march through Congress, Bridge and Deer Streets, Railroad Avenue and Elm Street to Christian Shore, countermarch to Vaughan and pass through Vaughan, Congress, Islington, Cabot, Middle, State, Pleasant, Water, State and Pleasant Streets to Market Square. Republicans residing on the route of the procession are requested to illuminate. Fireworks and bon-fires will also be in order. It is hoped that a large delegation from Kittery will join in the festivities.

Members of the above organizations are requested to be at headquarters, this evening at half past 7 o'clock, to receive their uniforms.

THE FOLLOWING RESOLUTIONS were passed at a recent meeting of the Court Street Christian Society:—

Whereas, In the providence of Almighty God, He has seen fit to suddenly remove from among us, a worthy member of the church, and a valuable officer for many years; and

Whereas, In the death of our late brother Joseph M. Edmonds the hand of the Lord has been laid heavily upon us, the church and society suffer a severe loss, and the community loses a worthy citizen and esteemed friend; therefore

Resolved, That as a Christian body it becomes us to yield submisively to the divine will of Him "who doth all things well" and to pray that the spirit of Christ, who shrank not from the bitter cup of affliction and sorrow, may enable us to be resigned to every burden of life.

Resolved, That this church extend to the bereaved family that Christian sympathy which we so earnesly feel in this hour of sadness, and implore the divine grace of God to enable them to bear this heavy stroke of His providence.

Resolved, That a copy of these resolutions be forwarded to the widow of our late beloved brother.

The election in Maine demonstrates that those who have all along declared that many of the strictest old line democrats would bolt the nominations of the amalgamation and vote the clean republican ticket, were right. There were many such cases in all the principal places. At Kittery, among the number was Chas. G Bellamy, Esq., a staunch Democratic leader, who thought if his former associates could "swallow Greeley" he could "swallow Grant," and voted the straight Republican ticket, greatly to the astonishment of both parties.

A Kittery Democrat who waited on this side of the river for the election news, Monday night, tells a good joke on himself. On landing at Kittery at four o'clock in the morning, he was met by a rooster. The rooster crowed four times and was kicked at, but only jumped aside, held up his head, looked the man in the eye, flapped his wings and crowed again.

Now is the time to attend the camp-meeting at Alton Bay.

At the Republican Convention of the First Councillor District, held at Exeter, Monday, Lyman D. Stevens of Concord was unanimously nominated as Presidential elector from this District on the first ballot.

September 28th the Day.

Your Tickets Now or Never!

THE vast sale of tickets already made, and the increasing demand for them from all quarters having determined the Trustees that the GRAND GIFT CONCERT for the benefit of the PUBLIC LIBRARY OF KENTUCKY, advertised for SATURDAY, SEPT. 28, 1872, shall positively come off on that day without postponement, the management now notifies all who expect to participate in the drawing that they should buy their tickets at once. Delay for a few days caused many who wanted tickets at the concert in December last to go without them. Some living in Louisville waited until sales were closed, expecting, no doubt, a postponement, and then offered fifteen, twenty, and even twenty-five dollars for tickets which the day before were offered to purchasers at the regular price. Others living at a distance sent thousands of dollars by mail and express, which got there after sales were closed, and had to be sent back. These disappointments need not occur again, if the warning now given in due season is heeded.

The drawing will begin precisely at 6 o'clock Saturday morning, September 28, 1872, in the great hall of the Public Library building, and continue until the one thousand gifts are all drawn.

The Concert itself will be the most brilliant orchestral display that ever occurred in the West. One hundred performers, gathered from all parts of this country and from Europe, under the direction of Prof. Hast, will contribute to this grand musical carnival. And to afford ample room for every ticket-holder to enjoy such an unusual musical festival, the Concert will be given in Central Park, where arrangements have been made to accommodate all who may come.

Persons holding whole, half or quarter tickets, will be admitted to both the Concert and Drawing, and none without such tickets will be admitted to either.

PRICE OF TICKETS.

Whole Tickets $10; halves, $5; quarters, $2 50; 11 Whole tickets for $100; 28 for $255; 56 for $500; 113 for $1,000; 285 for $2,500; 573 for $5000. No discount on less than $100 worth of tickets at a time.

In accordance with numerous solicitations arrangements have been made with all the railroad and steamboat lines leading into the city for the sale of round-trip tickets, good for six days to all persons who may wish to attend the Concert or drawing. Such tickets will be furnished by the Louisville & Nashville Railroad; the Louisville, Cincinnati and Lexington Railroad; the Louisville, Evansville and Mattoon Railroad; the Ohio and Mississippi Railroad; the Louisville and Cincinnati Mail Boat Line, and the Louisville, Owensboro and Henderson Mail Line Packets.

All agents are required to close sales and make their returns in full time to reach this office by Thursday, September 26, 1872. To those successfully, those located at great distances must close some days before the 25th.

All tickets in which gifts are awarded, will be paid without discount, by the Farmers' and Drovers' Bank, either in currency, or by eight-draft upon the Fourth National Bank of New York, at option of the holder. The ticket must first be presented at this office, Room No. 4, Public Library Building, before they will be paid by the Bank.

The drawing will be published in the Louisville Papers and New York Herald, and official copies sent to purchasers to whom tickets have been sent by letter.

TRIPLE-HEADED MONSTERS. — The New York correspondent of the Cincinnati Commercial, writes:—"It will be many a year before New York ceases to wonder over the rise and ruin of there corrupt rings which owned the city a twelvemonth ago—the Tammany ring, the Erie ring, and the Judicial ring. Never before was a city in the hands of such a set of scoundrels. The Tammany ring was triple-headed—Tweed, Sweeny and Connolly. The Judicial ring was triple-headed—Barnard, Cardozo and McCunn. The Erie ring was triple-headed—Fisk, Gould and Lane. Look at the fate of these rings now at last consummated. First, the Tammany ring: Tweed's power crushed, and he himself awaiting on a million dollars bail, the trial (it could not come off till the ring judges were demolished) which will certainly result in his conviction. Sweeny gone to pot, Connolly a fugitive in Europe, but held on a million dollars bail. Second, the Judicial ring: Barnard degraded from the bench; Cardozo resigned to escape a similar fate; McCunn, dead of a broken heart, after his impeachment and conviction. Third, the Erie ring: Jim Fisk murdered; Gould driven from the Erie directory and waiting in disgrace. Did you ever hear of anything like it? Such a fate for such a crew is surely without precedent. All these three Rings were connected within a year; all of them have fallen. The Tammany Ring directed the election of the Judicial Ring, which, in turn, backed up the plunderers of the city; and when the Erie Ring perpetrated its robberies, the Tammany and Judicial Rings upheld them by political and legal authority. Tweed, Fisk and Barnard, Sweeney, Gould and Cordozo, Connolly, McCunn and Lane—these are the names of the most extraordinary gang of unmitigated scoundrels known in modern times."

—Hon. Roger Averill of Danbury is a man about 5 feet 9 inches high, but he walks into his garden and looks up 9 feet and 3 inches to see the tassels on his corn, which makes 15 feet from the corns on his feet to the tassels on his corn.—Hartford Post.

—A man broke his big toe while bathing at Boontown, N. J., but said nothing about it and in a few days mortification set in and killed him.

—Rockets should be fired in a trough, made of narrow, planed boards, about twice the length of the rocket; set the trough nearly upright.

—An Ohio girl filled a kerosene lamp while burning, and saved her life by leaping into a swill barrel.

AYER'S PURGATIVE PILLS.

For all the purposes of a Family Physic,

CURING

Costiveness, Jaundice, Dyspepsia, Indigestion, Dysentery, Foul Stomach, Erysipelas, Headache, Piles, Rheumatism, Eruptions and Skin Diseases, Biliousness, Liver Complaint, Dropsy, Tetter, Tumors and Salt Rheum, Worms, Gout, Neuralgia, as a Dinner Pill, and Purifying the Blood.

Are the most congenial purgative yet perfected. Their effects abundantly show how much they excel all other Pills. They are rate and pleasant to take, but powerful to cure. They purge out the foul humors of the blood; they stimulate the sluggish or disordered organ into action, and they impart health and tone to the whole being. They cure not only the every day complaints of every body, but formidable and dangerous diseases. Most eminent clergymen, most skillful physicians, and our best citizens send certificates of cures performed, and of great benefits they have derived from these Pills. They are the safest and best physic for children, because mild as well as effectual. Being sugar coated, they are easy to take; and being purely vegetable, they are entirely harmless.

The Singer

SEWING MACHINE

STILL LEADS THE MARKET.

The Success of the Company is far beyond that of any other similar concern; the

Daily Manufacture

—OF—

400 OF THE SINGERS

Failing to Supply the Constant Demand.

All other machines call the public attention to some new loop or stitch or fashion or finish, some advantage in running or needles or feed or prices—and many of these are so we have said very good points, and the agents selling them use them to divert entirely the would-be purchaser from fairly considering the facts in the case; but the

seems to unite the good qualities of all, and is never found wanting.

THE SINGER

IS THE

OLDEST

SEWING MACHINE

IN THE MARKET,

All others being copied from its first model. It does two-thirds the sewing done in this country and preserves its advantages over all others combined.

It is readily kept clean, and has THE BEST TENSION EVER INVENTED; it is lighter speeded and requires but little power to run; it works equally well upon the finest and heaviest goods; it does all the varieties of work known to the art.

N. B. Those purchasing for cash, before the 1 of January next, will have a consideration allowed them.

AYER'S

SARSAPARILLA

FOR PURIFYING THE BLOOD.

A medicine that cures is a real public blessing. AYER'S SARSAPARILLA makes positive cure of a series of complaints, which are always afflicting and too often fatal. It purifies the blood, purges out the lurking humors in the system, which undermine health and settle into troublesome disorders. Eruptions of the skin are the appearance on the surface of humors that should be expelled from the blood. Internal derangements are the determination of these same humors to some internal organ, or organs, whose action they derange, and whose substance they disease and destroy. AYER'S SARSAPARILLA expels these humors from the blood. When they are gone, the disorders they produce disappear, such as Ulcerations of the Liver, Stomach, Kidneys, Lungs, Eruptions and Eruptive Diseases of the skin, St. Anthony's Fire, Rose or Erysipelas, Pimples, Pustules, Blotches, Boils, Tumors, Tetter and Salt Rheum, Scald Head, Ringworm, Ulcers and Sores, Rheumatism, Neuralgia, Pain in the Bones, Side, and Head, Female Weakness, Sterility, Leucorrhœa arising from internal ulceration and uterine disease, Dropsy, Dyspepsia, Emaciation, and General Debility. With their departure health returns.

HOW TO UNITE THE ENDS OF LEAD PIPE.—Whatever the size of the pipe may be, procure a block of hard wood, say four or five inches long, and four inches in diameter; bore a hole straight through the centre, so nearly the size of the pipe that the block can be driven on the end of the pipe with a light hammer. If one has a set of auger bits, it will not be difficult to select a bit of the proper size to make a water-tight fit. Let the block be driven clear on the pipe, so that the end of the pipe will be flush with the end of the block. Now place the two ends of the pipe together, and drive the block off one pipe on the other, until the joint will be at the middle of the block. If the hole in the block is made of the proper size, the block will fit so closely that the joint will be water-tight; and, if the ends of the pipe are dressed off true and square, the joint will be so strong that it will sustain the pressure of a head or column of water one hundred feet high. Iron pipe may be united in the same manner. Should the joint leak a trifle, let shingle nails be driven into the wood around the pipe so as to press the timber firmly all around the pipe. This mode of jointing pipe will be found very convenient.—Industrial Monthly.

A HEROIC SWITCHMAN.—On Thursday last John Brewer, seventeen years of age, a switchman in West Kansas City freightyards, by his wonderful presence of mind, saved the life of a little child. As the switch-engine was approaching the intersection of Santa Fe and Ninth streets, a little child ran out from a house near by, and stood upon the track with its back to the approaching engine. Brewer, who was standing upon the pilot of the engine, cried out to the child, but not in time to make it understand the danger. The engine, in another moment, was upon the child, and would have borne it to the track and mangled it to death, had not Brewer, with great presence of mind, leaned forward, with extended hand, and caught the child by the dress, and dragged it upon the pilot; but in his efforts to save the child, he lost his balance and fell forward, but fortunately, outwardly from the locomotive, and with the child, sustained some severe bruises by falling upon the ends of the rail road ties. Such presence of mind is worthy of reward, for had Brewer not acted as he did, the poor little innocent must have been cut in two, and killed beneath the wheels.—Kansas City Journal.

VEGETINE

The Great Blood Purifier.

A valuable Indian compound, for restoring the health, and for the permanent cure of all diseases arising from impurities of the blood, such as

Scrofula, Scrofulous Humors, Cancers, Cancerous Humor, Erysipelas, Canker, Salt Rheum, Pimples and Humors on the Face, Ulcers, Coughs, Catarrh, Bronchitis, Neuralgia, Pains in the Side, Rheumatism, Dyspepsia, Constipation, Costiveness, Dizziness, Piles, Headache, Nervousness, Faintness at the Stomach, Pains in the Back, Kidney Complaints, Female Weakness, and General Debility.

This preparation is scientifically and chemically combined, and so strongly concentrated from roots, herbs and barks, that its good effects are realized immediately after commencing to take it. There is no disease of the human system for which the VEGETINE cannot be used with PERFECT SAFETY, as it does not contain any metallic compound. For eradicating the system of all impurities of the blood, it has no equal. It has never failed to effect a cure, giving tone and strength to the system debilitated by disease. Its wonderful effects upon these complaints are surprising to all. Many have been cured by the VEGETINE that have tried many other remedies. It can well be called

AYER'S

CHERRY PECTORAL

For Diseases of the Throat and Lungs, such as Coughs, Colds, Whooping Cough, Bronchitis, Asthma and Consumption.

The few compositions, which have won the confidence of mankind and become household words among not only one but many nations, must have extraordinary virtues. Perhaps no one over secured so wide a reputation or maintained it so long as AYER'S CHERRY PECTORAL. It has been known to the public about forty years, by a long continued series of marvellous cures, which have won for it a confidence in its virtues, never equalled by any other medicine. It still makes the most effectual cures of Coughs, Colds, Consumption, that can be made by medical skill. Indeed the CHERRY PECTORAL has really robbed these dangerous diseases of their terrors, to a great extent, and given a feeling of immunity from their fatal effects, which is well founded, if the remedy be taken in season. Every family should have it in their closet for the ready and prompt relief of its members. Sickness, suffering, and even life is saved by this timely protection. The prudent should not neglect it, and the wise will not. Keep it by you for the protection it affords in sudden attacks, and by its timely use.

R. H. EDDY, SOLICITOR OF PATENTS, For Inventions, Trade Marks or Designs, No. 76 STATE ST., OPPOSITE KILBY ST., BOSTON, After an extensive practice of upwards of thirty years, continues to secure patents in the United States; also in Great Britain, France and other foreign countries. Caveats, Specifications, Assignments, and all papers for Patents, executed on reasonable terms with dispatch. Research made to determine the validity and utility of Patents of Inventions, and legal and other advice rendered in all matters touching the same. Copies of the claims of any patent furnished, by remitting one dollar. Assignments recorded in Washington.

No Agency in the United States possesses superior facilities for obtaining Patents or ascertaining the patentability of inventions.

All necessity of a journey to Washington to procure a Patent, and the usual great delay there, are here saved inventors.

TESTIMONIALS.

"I regard Mr. Eddy as one of the most capable and successful practitioners with whom I have had official intercourse. CHARLES MASON, Commissioner of Patents."

"I have no hesitation in assuring inventors that they cannot employ a man more competent and trustworthy and more capable of putting their applications in a form to secure for them an early and favorable consideration at the Patent Office. EDMUND BURKE, Late Commissioner of Patents."

"MR. R. H. EDDY has made for me over THIRTY applications for Patents, having been successful in almost every case. Such unmistakable proof of great talent and ability on his part leads me to recommend ALL inventors to apply to him to procure their Patents, as they may be sure of having the most faithful attention bestowed on their cases, and at very reasonable charges. JOHN TAGGART."

CLEAR YOUR THROAT!

Relieve Your Lungs.

For the terrible diseases engendered by the lung-trying climate of New England,

Pulmocine Cordial

Is a speedy and reliable Preventive and Remedy. EVERY FAMILY should have a bottle at hand to check the sudden growth of all Pulmonary Diseases. For the Asthma, Coughs, Croups, Laryngitis, or inflammation of the larynx, Diphtheria, and all kindred THROAT DISEASES at all times prevalent, it is the quintessence of PREVENTION. Children attacked with Whooping Cough or Croup should be immediately cared for. These painful attacks come with scarcely a moment's warning, when a physician may be out of immediate reach. A dose of PULMOCINE CORDIAL gives speedy relief, and the little ones are spared hours of pain and agony. As "a stitch in time saves nine," so does the possession of the FAMILY MEDICINE prevent the spread of disease. Parents seeing their children gasping with pain, friends and relatives beholding each other in peril from suffocation by the choking pain in the throat, paralyzed with fear and not knowing the best course to pursue, are liable to apply the wrong remedial agents. There is no safety in delay, no time to waste in such cases. CONSUMPTION, that fearful scourge of the human race, lies at the door of all those afflicted. BUCHMAN'S PULMOCINE CORDIAL arrests it (unless in its advanced stage at which time there is no local cure) relieves the pressing, suffocating feeling at the lungs, and the patient's danger is past.

Buchman's Pulmocine Cordial

BUCHMAN'S PULMOCINE CORDIAL is no new discovery. Twenty-three years ago it was used by one of New England's most famous physicians as the best PULMONARY CURATIVE he could prescribe, after a dozen years spent in experimenting with it before he was satisfied that the Materia Medica could add nothing in its favor.

Is the ultima thule of Medical Discovery.

Among its many ingredients are WILD CHERRY BARK, SQUILL ROOT, LIQUORICE ROOT, BLOOD ROOT, &c. It is a BLOOD PURIFIER, gently stimulating. It increases expectoration and is diuretic. It is sudorific and alterative. It is a necessary family medicine. It is a Tonic, and a powerful aid to the digestive organs. It is a gentle sedative, and relieves nervousness. It is aromatic and agreeable to the taste.

For Coughs, Croup, Diphtheria, Asthma, &c.

USE BUCHMAN'S PULMOCINE CORDIAL.

The Pulmocine Cordial is not a quack medicine, is not an experiment, is not composed of any ingredients "discovered" by "walking in pastures" in South America or anywhere else, nor by one who discovered a weed and thereby cured thousands. Most of the ingredients are such as our best educated physicians daily use for the complaints specified, in some form or other. The recipe is that perfected by one of New England's most learned and famous physicians, who used it entirely in his daily practice until his death. It is offered to the profession and to the public, absolutely pure and unadulterated.

BRIGGS' ALLEVANTOR is composed of Ammonia, Chloroform, Spirits of Camphor, Tincture of Lupulinc, Oil of Juniper, and Alcohol. This compound is unequalled in the annals of medicine for the cure of Nervous or Sick Headache, Neuralgia, Trembling or Twitching of the Nerves, and all Nervous Diseases. It will counteract all poisons, banish pimples, cure scaly eruptions, itching, humors, &c.; it quickens the circulation, invigorates the system, increases the action of the heart, without exciting the brain, cures Heartburn, Palpitation and Fluttering of the Heart, Dyspepsia, &c. Briggs' Allevantor absolutely possesses more curative properties than any other preparation. Physicians, chemists, and others are requested to examine and test the remedy, and $1000 will be paid if found different from representation.

COUCHS. Much has been said and written, and many remedies have been offered for the relief and cure of throat and lung diseases; but nothing has been so eminently successful, or obtained such a wide celebrity, as Briggs' Throat and Lung Healer.

CORNS! The excruciating pain produced by Corns, the unceasing twinging from Bunions, the piercing, distressing pain from Ingrowing Nails, cannot be described. Thousands suffer, not knowing there is a cure. Briggs' Corn and Bunion Remedies are no acid or potash compounds, but are reliable, soothing, and effectual, and just merit the success they have earned from an appreciative public. The Curative is a healing ointment; immediate relief is obtained by its application, and it will positively cure the worst cases of Festered Corns, Inflamed and Ulcerated Bunions, the sorest instep, the largest and severest Blisters, the most extensive Collections on the soles or heels of the feet, unequalled in the cure of Chilblains or Frosted Feet. The Allevantor for ordinary corns and preventing their formation is absolutely unexcelled by anything ever known.

PILES have been a terror to mankind for centuries, and almost every attempt to cure them has been baffled. By unceasing study and experimenting, Dr. Briggs has discovered an absolutely cure for internal, bleeding, external, and itching piles. Briggs' Pile Remedies are mild, safe and sure.

For sale by J. H. THACHER, WM. R. PRESTON, Portsmouth; JAMES O. TREFETHEN, Kittery; E. S. SAFFORD, Kittery Point; H. M. CURTIS, Newcastle, and dealers generally.

CORNS, Bunions, Bad Nails, and other diseases of the feet, Scrofulous and Cancerous Humors, Piles, etc., skillfully treated at the great central Chiropedical and Healing Institute, No. 705 Broadway, New York. DR. J. BRIGGS, President; DR. ALEXANDER WEBBER, Secretary. ap9

Maine Election.

The Lewiston Journal reports that 293 towns give Petham 59,949, Kimball 44,321. Republican majority, 15,628. The majority in the State will be about 16,300.

The News.

A little boy, five year old, named James Smith, fell from a freight train at Portland on Monday, cutting off one of his hands at the wrist, injuring the other so that three fingers were amputated, and cutting a bad gash in his forehead. An elder brother who attempted to rescue him, was struck by a car, which crushed several of his ribs.

Daniel Gleason of North Adams, Mass., who murdered his wife last winter and pleaded guilty at the last session of the court, was brought before the supreme court at Pittsfield, Sept. 10, and sentenced to be hung.

Louis Bagger, manager of the Washington Patriot, has challenged Alexander R. Sheppard, president of the board of public works, to fight a duel.

The house of L. Cass, in Concord, was burned Tuesday night. Loss $1200; insured.

FUNDS WANTED.—The business men of the country, we are told by the Greeley papers and orators, are for the coalition candidates; but the following paragraphs from the Washington correspondence of the Boston Post (Greeleyeratic,) shows that the property holders are not so strongly for Greeley as to be willing to part with much of their property to secure his election:

A fact which is to be regretted is that which is made apparent through numerous letters received at the Democratic and Liberal Republican headquarters, as well as from reports coming through private sources, namely, that there is an almost alarming scarcity of funds in the hands of the Democratic and Liberal Committees who are directing the campaigns in several States where the ensuing contest is to be closest and most exciting. Especially does this state of affairs exist in Indiana, where it is represented that there is not sufficient at the disposal of the managers of the campaign to defray the legitimate expenses of carrying on the canvass in a manner that is calculated to ensure success.

What a shame that Tammany's back was broken by the New York Times, just when it was. If the Tammany quartet only had charge of the New York State treasury now, the above piteous wail of want of funds would not be heard.

EIGHT CHILDREN AT A BIRTH.—On the 21st of August, Mrs. Timothy Bradlee, of Trumbull county, Ohio, gave birth to eight children—three boys and five girls. They are all living, and are healthy, but quite small. Mr. Bradlee was married six years ago to Eunice Mowery, who weighed 273 pounds on the day of her marriage. She has given birth to two pairs of twins, and now eight more, making twelve children in six years. Mrs. Bradlee was a triplet, her mother and father both being twins, and her grandmother the mother of five pair of twins.—Cincinnati Lancet.

GONE ABROAD.—Two of the most prolific talkers in America have sailed for Europe within a short time of each other. Charles Sumner and George Francis Train have shaken the dust of an ungrateful country from their feet. Though these orators have but little in common, they are alike in one thing; they are never tired of speaking of themselves. Mr. Sumner has gone for his health, and to study art. It is to be hoped that, among the arts to which he may devote himself, the art of consistency may occupy his most earnest attention. They have both been very much abroad for some time past. One thing is certain, however; we shall have much less talking than we have had for some time past, and the personal pronoun I will be able to have a little desired repose.—Globe.

—At Niagara Falls, one evening last week, a small boy was employed by a wholesale liquor establishment to parade the streets with a transparency advertising the superior brands of the firm. Immediately behind him was another boy with another transparency on which was neatly inscribed, "Cursed is he that putteth the cup to his brother's lips." The public enjoyed the spectacle hugely. The moral effect was equal to seventeen temperance lectures.

—French and English physicians almost universally prescribe a free use of lemon juice to effect a cure for the rheumatism.

—It is a singular fact which we have never seen commented upon before, but an exchange says men stammer, women never do.

Political.

The New York Times styles Gen. "Kil," "the gallant and Joseph-like Kilpatrick!"

The Washington correspondent of the Boston Advertiser says: "The leaders of parties in this city agree that the result in Maine is a decisive indication of that to come in November, and some of the prominent friends of Greeley go so far as to say that his withdrawal is the only resource left to escape total defeat. The falling off in the straight Democratic vote in Maine from that of 1868 is noted as particularly significant, and as proving the weakness of the new and unnatural alliance."

The Chicago Times, the leading Democratic journal of the Northwest, declares for O'Conor and Adams, the straight Democratic candidates for President and Vice President.

The Springfield Republican, in view of the Maine election, admits that it is evident that the tide of public feeling is now setting against the Liberal candidates, and that their chances of success will depend upon the introduction of some new element into the campaign, or upon some turn of affairs which shall do as much for them as the last five weeks have done for their opponents.

A Missouri Liberal organ, in an article of a column, makes out Gratz Brown to be the most distinguished of the Liberal leaders. True; he's the noblest Rum'un of them all.—Chicago Post.

The New Bedford Mercury thinks "H. G. is suffering very much from an attack of chill-Blaines."

Carl Schurz is opposed to nepotism, says the Toledo Blade, but nevertheless, he managed to so conceal his disgust at it as to have at one time in the Chicago collector's office, two brothers-in-law, and two sisters-in-law.

Comparing the vote in Maine with that cast in 1812-14 the liberals have made important gains.

The breeching of the Greeley harness is badly broke in New England. The Liberal movement will have to come West, and grow up with the country.—Missouri Democrat.

Greeley says: "Show me a Democratic district and I will show you a district where there are ten gallons of whisky for every spelling book in it."

A boasting Greeleyite closed a talk at the Bay State House in Worcester, Saturday, by offering to bet $1000 to $600 that his candidate would be elected. A stranger, said to be from Buffalo, took the bet, handing out $50 as forfeit till he could get a check from home; he then offered to bet $5000 even that Grant would win, and closed his offer with a proposition to stake $500 that Buffalo Co., N. Y., which gave Seymour 2000 majority, will this year give Grant 25000. The Greeleyman backed out from his own offer, and declined to take any of the others.

Greeley is a falsifier, or he is going to vote for Grant. He said if a Democratic candidate was nominated for the Presidency he would vote for that Republican candidate who had the best chance of success. How refreshing it will be to have Uncle Horace back in the Tribune office writing Grant editorials.

—The "Small Talk" man of the Louisville Courier-Journal wears ladies' hose. The top margins reach as high as the ankle.—St. Louis Globe.

The Madison (Ga.) Bulletin, which has had the names of Greeley and Brown at its head, hauls them down and puts up Charles O'Conor.

The Iowa girls turn out in torchlight processions and make as much noise as their brothers.

—A tearful wife implored the pardon of the mayor of Chicago for her husband, whom his honor had imprisoned, in default of his fine, for beating her. The mayor utterly abhors wife beating, and was inexorable in his resolve that the brute should receive his full punishment. His tender heart was so touched, however, by the wife's piteous appeals, that he gave her $25 to support her until his time should expire, for which she thanked him, and walking into the office, paid with it her husband's fine, and procured his release—to the great discomfiture of the benevolent official. He confesses that he doesn't know the sex yet.

—We are informed that a sportsman in the neighborhood of Woodbury, N. J., fired, the other day, at what he believed to be a bald eagle, and brought down a mammoth mosquito. It weighed over four pounds, and, upon examination, there was found cut upon his back the inscription: G. W., 1778. The remains will be taken to the Smithsonian Institution and stuffed.

—A gentleman named Drew died in San Francisco, recently, from a cancer, caused by a friend pinching him on his arm about eighteen months ago. He had submitted to three amputations, but without benefit.

—A Japanese scholar in one of the New Haven schools, having been insulted by a schoolmate recently, sent a note to one of the instructors, requesting permission to kill the offender.

A KENTUCKY EDITOR.—I had the pleasure of assisting at the birth of the Louisville Ledger. It was a powerful cast. I don't remember the exact number of editors employed on the paper, but it was immense. There was an editor-in-chief, with two or three assistants, a news editor, a heavy corps of reporters and city editors, a foreign editor, an amusement editor, a fine art editor, a nautical editor, a legal editor, a financial editor, and a number of miscellaneous and unclassified editors. There were so many editors in fact that the building was uncomfortably crowded, and they were in each other's way. There was always a scramble for the lounge and the Cincinnati papers. Many of these editors were amateurs, with rather crude ideas of journalism—gentlemen of a leisurely literary turn of mind, who thought it would be a good thing to stroll into the office once or twice a day, draw off a kid glove, dash off a profound editorial on national politics, and then stroll jauntily out again, twirling a delicate rattan cane with a horse's hoof or a feminine leg in ivory for a handle. Colonel M. W. Cluskey, formerly of Memphis, was commander-in-chief of this rabble of courageous but undisciplined inkslingers. Colonel Cluskey is an Irishman, reared in Alabama, where he acquired a most delicious Southern brogue. Personally he is one of the highest-toned, kindest-hearted and most chivalrous of men, and in his time he has been recognized as one of the most vigorous writers of the South. A little work on parliamentary law, of which he is the author, is still quoted in Southern legislative bodies. But at the time Colonel Cluskey took hold of the Ledger, ill-health had greatly impaired his usefulness. He was a gallant soldier in behalf of the Lost Cause, and was literally shot to pieces. The only wonder was that he managed to live. Colonel Cluskey made frantic efforts to discipline his rabble, and at the same time endeavored to cultivate agreeable social relations. It was one of his theories that a man employed on the Ledger must necessarily be a gentleman, and that a man good enough to associate with him in the office was entitled to be received at his house. About once a week the entire force was invited to his elegant mansion to discuss oysters, venision, champagne and other creature comforts.

The earlier numbers of the Ledger were curiosities in their way. I remember one night, when the foreign editor, intensely Prussian in his sympathies, had written an article on the Franco-German war, and Brecknirridge, who strongly sympathized with the French, had written one on the same subject. Of course they conflicted, and each was stubborn in insisting on committing the paper to his own views. Colonel Cluskey was appealed to. "Gentlemen," said he oracularly, "by Jove! you must make your articles consist. It won't do to have an article in one paht of the papah taking one view of a subject, and an article in anothah column taking anothah view. They must consist. Now, I don't care a coppah about the frog etahs or the ——Dutch, but the papah must be one thing or the othah. It can't be both." After some further squabbles, the foreign man and the Doctor being unable to come to an understanding, Colonel Mike called out, "Heah! Give 'em to me. I'll fix it up myself." Taking the two articles he cut the head off the Breckinridge editorial, sliced a sentence out of Price's and pasted it on. Then he scooped out an inch or two of Breckinridge and pasted it on to Price. And so he continued, taking alternate paragraphs from Breckinridge and Price until he had patched up the most remarkable foreign article ever published in the United States, the whole thing ending with a semicolon.

Colonel Cluskey was disposed to assert his rights, and took umbrage at the frequent consultations of stockholders. "There's too —— much buzzin' about heah to suit me," he would say. "If there's any buzzin' to be done, I'll buzz myself. By Jove! I've been elected managin' editah of this papah, an' by Jove! I'm goin' to manage it. If these gentlemen ain't satisfied with my management, my resignation's at their service; but I don't want any buzzin' around me. Come, Henry, boy, less go an' get a cawktail."

Colonel Cluskey had none of the absurd prejudice against personal journalism which some of the sedate and stupid newspapers of the day affect. "Boys," he would say, "to-mo'ah we must open on 'em along the whole line. I'll go for 'em on the second page, and I want Undahwood to go for 'em in the local, and Smith can go for 'em in the telegraph, and Henderson in the commercial, and among us we'll make it hot. It's about my time o' day for takin' a cawktail, and I want the whole fo'ce to go out with me."

Colonel Mike came from a country where the code was in force, and he had an idea that nothing helped a newspaper so much as for some one connected with it to shoot some one, or get shot himself. "The papah's gone," he would say; "ought to have fought a month ago."

When it became necessary to reorganize the Ledger force and somewhat condense it, the difficulties of the situation began to manifest themselves. Ordinarily when a proprietor or managing editor desires to dispense with the services of an employe, it is a very simple matter to drop him a note, politely informing him that his services are no longer required. The discharged employe bites his lip, pockets the note, draws his salary, causes a paragraph to be inserted in one or the other city papers stating that he has "resigned," or "severed his connection," and then he proceeds to get systematically and thoroughly drunk. But in Kentucky it is a more serious matter. Kentucky talent takes it as a mortal affront that any proprietor should fail to appreciate it, and it is disposed to hold somebody to personal responsibility, or at least to demand explanation. A half dozen affairs of honor only failed on account of the difficulty of fixing the responsibility. Matthews was the Jorkins of the firm, and owing to his divided duties, on each side of the river, it was hard to find Matthews. One employe, whose services were dispensed with, spent a fortnight and half of his last week's salary, in travelling between Louisville and New Albany for the purpose of putting a head on Matthews. Fortunately, however, they never met until the force of the indignation was spent.

—The Fairbault Republican, Minnesota, states that a gentleman in that neighborhood cleared his potato-patch of bugs by means of starving his hens from one to two days, when they began to consume the bugs, afterwards continuing to follow them up.

—A four year old Iowa boy went to bed well as usual, but on waking was found to be cross-eyed in both eyes. The phenomenon puzzles the doctors, but the minister thinks that the little boy forgot to say his prayers.

TAKE COURAGE, INVALIDS. — Pain and weakness produce despondency, and the invalid who is laboring under bodily torture, debility and mental depression, at the same time is indeed in a pitiable condition. But let all who are thus situated take heart. A balm is provided both for their physical and mental infirmities in Hostetter's Stomach Bitters. Among the commonest sources of pain, uneasiness and melancholy are the diseases which affect the stomach, the liver, the alimentary canal, the nerves and the muscles, such as dyspepsia, bilious disorders, constipation, headache, hysteria, and rheumatism, all of which yield readily to the regulating, invigorating and purifying influence of this peerless vegetable tonic, stimulant and restorative. Take courage, sorrowful invalids; you will find the help you need in Hostetter's Bitters.

LIKE "QUAKER'S GUNS."—Artificial teeth are of little use and easily detected. Take care of the real ones. All you need is fragrant Sozodont; use it daily and your teeth will be the last of nature's gifts to fail you.

USE BUCHMAN'S PULMOCINE CORDIAL for all throat diseases. For sale at the Union Store.

IN EVERY QUARTER OF THE GLOBE where it is known, and there are few indeed where it is not, the Mexican Mustang Liniment takes precedence of all similar preparations. Its transcendant merits have obtained for it a popularity seldom reached by any proprietary medicine. In its infancy the fiat of its success was pronounced in the wide-spread endorsement which it received from physicians, veterinary surgeons, horsemen and the public generally. No one now thinks of questioning its claim to be considered the Standard Liniment of America.

CASTORIA.—A substitute for Castor Oil—is a physic which does not distress or gripe, but is sure to operate when all other remedies have failed. You may confidently rely upon the Castoria in Stomach-ache, Constipation, Flatulency, Croup, Worms, Piles or deranged Liver. It contains neither Minerals, Morphine, Opium nor Alcohol, but is purely a vegetable preparation, perfectly harmless, and above all, pleasant to take. The Castoria sooths and quiets the system, and produces natural sleep. It is a wonderful thing to assimilate the food of children and prevent them from crying. A 35 cent bottle will do the work for a family and save many doctors' bills.

THE THIEF who was arrested for robbing Parsons' store in this town, was found to have a quantity of Ayer's Hair Vigor in his possession. When asked why he wished to steal the article, he answered that he "wanted to restore his hair, for it was hard to be a thief and bald too." If that invention of the great chemist could restore a faded character as effectually as it does their natural beauty to bald and grey heads, it would surely be, as they say it now is, truly invaluable.—Lewiston[Me.] Journal.

PILES.—The unceasing torture from internal bleeding, external and itching piles is fast wearing away the thousands of those who are afflicted and their hope and courage have long since given place to despair. Let those who see this cheer up, for a mild and sure cure may be had by using BRIGGS' PILE REMEDIES.

DEGAY'S EFFACING FINGER.—Will never mar the teeth that are brushed daily with Odenferous Sozodont. It lends a floral fragrance to the breath as well as protects the teeth from corrosion and decomposition.

CORNS.—Since pride and fashion have had control of mankind, and shoemakers were compelled to make boots and shoes to fit fancy instead of the feet, the suffering from Corns, Bunions, Ingrowing Nails, Sore Insteps, Blistered Heels, Callosities on the bottom of the feet, &c., cannot be described. But Briggs' Corn and Bunion Remedies will cure all such torments, and proper fitting boots will prevent their reproduction. Sold by all druggists. a12

AYER'S HAIR VIGOR

FOR RESTORING GRAY HAIR

TO ITS NATURAL VITALITY AND COLOR.

Advancing years, sickness, care, disappointment, and hereditary predisposition, all turn the hair gray; either of them disposes to fall off prematurely, and either effect is unsightly and unpleasant to behold. DR. AYER'S consummate skill has produced an antidote for these deformities, which has won gratitude for him from multitudes of men and women. His HAIR VIGOR sometimes reproduces lost hair; and always restores to faded and gray hair its natural color, with the gloss and freshness of youth. The comparatively few bald and gray heads, that we now see, are those who have not yet discovered the virtues of AYER'S HAIR VIGOR for renewing the hair. The fresh and youthful hair we see on older heads is often the product of his art. If you are disfigured, or made old, austere and ugly, by gray hair, restore its youthful color, and with your features to their original softness and agreeable expression.

As an elegant dressing for beautifying the Hair, it has no superior.

LOCAL AFFAIRS.

Brag Didn't Work Well.

The local organ of the Dolly Varden conglomeration of disheartened Democrats and disappointed Republicans, at the close of one of its crushing attacks upon the Navy Yard management, (made since the Maine election by way of explaining the astounding enigma of how the Republicans made out to almost double their majority of last year, in spite of coalition brag and bluster,) says "there is no civil service reform under Grant." We agree with our cotemporary that there will be no "reforming" of the civil service by turning out Republicans and putting Democrats and "Liberals" in their places, under Grant; and the promise made at Portland by that great and good civil service reformer, Horace Greeley, to the effect that he should divide the offices fairly between the two classes of his supporters, won't amount to much for four years more, at least. [By the way, it has been suggested that a prominent "Liberal" of this city might as well remove his tool-chest from the navy yard right away, as Grant won't give him a job there and Greeley will never be able to.]

The Greeley editor closes his diatribe by saying that "it would seem that all but a few thousand of the Republican party of Maine are ready to endorse the swindle"—a snarling way of saying that the Republican party of Maine utterly refuse to "endorse the swindle" got up at Cincinnati and Baltimore. Our Greeley neighbor is undoubtedly right in intimating that the "Liberal" faction in Maine is of mightily little account; but we cannot tell what has become of the crowds of "prominent Republicans" whom it used to tell us so much about as having eaten the unclean bird before the election, nor where the "hundreds of Republican voters in every district, who announce their intention of severing their connection with their old party," have got to. The Portland Argus says "the woods are full of 'em, but they didn't come out;" probably they are hunting the convivial crow, and will come out of the woods in a few days and have a private little State election on their own hook.

That the Greeley editor's present estimate of the weakness of the "Liberal" movement in Maine is more nearly correct than his former exaggerated statements of its great strength, the following dispatch, which was sent from Portland on the morning after the election, goes to prove:

The Democracy are cursing Greeley, the Liberals and the whole pack, and saying it would have been better to have kept to the straight course and run a good square Democratic ticket even for President. The Democracy are greatly disappointed, especially at the smallness of the Liberal Republican strength, which they claim is not over 2500 in the whole State. The Democracy all over Maine polled almost their full vote of September, 1868, which was 56,207, and while it will be seen that they have nearly approached it the figures show that the Liberals are few and far between. In this city it is claimed by a prominent Democrat that the Liberals did not throw over 75 votes. The Liberals feel cheap enough.

The Torchlight Parade

Of the Grant and Wilson Guards and Junior Tanners will take place this evening, if pleasant. The procession will form on Market Square, the right resting on Republican headquarters, and march through Congress, Bridge and Deer Streets, Railroad Avenue and Elm Street to Christian Shore, countermarch to Vaughan and pass through Vaughan, Congress, Islington, Cabot, Middle, State, Pleasant, Water, State and Pleasant Streets to Market Square.

Laconics.

A stranger was overheard talking with an Irishman at the Eastern depot, Tuesday, finally touching on politics, as follows:—

Stranger. "Well, sir. You are all Grant men here, I suppose."

Pat. "No, sir. I'm for Greeley."

Stranger. "But what's the use. Greeley has gone up."

Pat. "They may crow over the Maine election but it's different in other States."

Stranger. "No! It's all one way. We took a vote on the train from Boston just now, and 'twas two to one for Grant."

Pat. "Ah, go away with your fine talk. Just wait till the gravel train comes in!"

The official enthusiasm-manufacturer of the Greeleymocracy of this vicinity, in his paper of the day following the Maine election says: "The Granites have succeeded in holding the State by majorities fully as large as last year, but with heavy losses compared with the majorities of 1868." While he is engaged in that favorite occupation of the Democracy, going back, he might as well keep on to 1862, when the Democrats carried Maine by 1680 majority, and not a Republican vote was cast in the State. But we must thank him for allowing that "a majority of nearly 15,000" is "fully as large" as one of 10,600; if he improves with age, we may hope yet to hear him acknowledge that 15,000 majority is even larger than 10,000.

Greeley while at Rye Beach imparted to Mr. G. H. Jenness, his host, some valuable information in regard to raising dried apples. His plan is to plant early in the Spring, in drills about nine rods apart. When the vines begin to run, and evince a tendency to "Go West," cover with wire screens to protect them from the bumblebees. Prune liberally, and dig before the frost comes.

As the Portsmouth contribution of Democrats and "Liberals" to the double-barrelled loave-feast at Concord was on its way to the depot, Wednesday morning, one crow-eating Democrat in the "crowd" was hailed by an old Democrat who is not enthusiastic over Greeley or the elections in North Carolina, Vermont and Maine, as follows; "Say, ——, where are you fellows going? Going to camp meeting?" "No," was the answer. "Well, where are you going? To that funeral at Concord?" The badgered and indignant mourner passed on in silence, to join in the obsequies of his party in this State.

The Ocean House at Rye Beach is to be greatly enlarged for the coming season.

S. B. Breed Hook & Ladder Company of Lynn will arrive here at 10 o'clock this forenoon and be received by Dearborn S. F. E. Co. No. 1. They go to the Shoals, returning at six o'clock.

Rev. Geo. M. Adams, who has recently returned from Europe, was in town on Wednesday.

A Concord dispatch says only about 1000 persons attended the Democratic and Liberal State mass conventions, on the 12th. The only redeeming feature of the affair was the splendid music furnished by the Portsmouth Marine Band, the Manchester Cornet Band and the Franklin Cornet Band. Messrs. Frank Jones, Joseph A. Dodge, William P. Wheeler, Waterman Smith and Mason W. Tappan were nominated as candidates for electors.

The Veteran Cadets of Salem, accompanied by the Germania Band of Boston, arrived at Hampton Beach on Wednesday and will remain there until Friday evening as the guests of Dumas at Boar's Head Hotel.

McEvoy's Hibernian Combination will open at the Temple, Saturday evening.

Two liberal Republicans marched from the Concord depot to the Democratic headquarters on their return from Concord, Wednesday evening. Where were the others; were they ashamed of the company they had been in?

The Republicans of Kittery will fire one hundred guns this evening.

—A family in Columbus, Ohio, who didn't know any better, lately made a hearty meal on certain poisonous toad stool plants, under the impression that they were feasting on the epicurean delicacy, mushrooms, and of course the consequences were unpleasant. Thereupon a Columbus paper gets frightened, and advises a "total abstinence from spontaneous umbrella vegetation."

—A lady who dropped a silk parasol in the salt water at Saco a day or two since, and supposed it was spoiled, was gratified on recovering it to find quite to the contrary; in fact, it freshened the color and made it look as good as new. Here's a hint. Bring out old sunshades and make young parasols of them.

—It is rumored that Miss Nellie Grant is engaged to a somewhat distinguished Frenchman, M. Duvergier de Hauranne. O for an hour of Sumner! After the Philippics of that orator on the sale of Remington arms to the French by the President, what would he say of the gift of female arms to a Frenchman?—Chicago Mail.

—An amateur sportsman, of Baltimore, recently fired into what he supposed to be a gray squirrel, but which was a hornet's nest. The inmates in turn fired into him, and after beating a retreat to his lodgings, it was three weeks before he could get his countenance through the doorway.

—Harper's Bazar says: Ladies who are renovating the black dresses of last season, whether of silk, cashmere or alpaca, are advised that they can clean them beautifully with borax and tepid water. The proposition are a tea-spoonful of borax to a quart of water.

—At Sea Cliff camp-meeting, one looks from the inscriptions on the flag floating from the Tabernacle staff, to the conspicuous notices of the real estate speculators, "The earth is the Lord's," "Lots forty by sixty feet, for sale at $250."

—The New York Evening Post advocates a sweeping change in the railway system of the United States, proposing a general system of consolidation and the establishment of a uniform rate for both passengers and freight for all distances.

CASE'S POLITICAL CHART, is an answer to over ten thousand questions, and will be of great use and interest to all who wish to make a study of the political history of this country. It is sold for $1.50. Agents wanted by O. D. Case & Co., Hartford.

The Grand Gift Concert

A FIXED FACT.

September 28th the Day.

Your Tickets Now or Never!

THE vast sale of tickets already made, and the increasing demand for them from all quarters having determined the Trustees that the GRAND GIFT CONCERT for the benefit of the PUBLIC LIBRARY OF KENTUCKY, advertised for to SATURDAY, Sept. 28, 1872, shall positively come off on that day without postponement, the management now notifies all who expect to participate in this drawing that they should buy their tickets at once. Delay for a few days caused many who wanted tickets at the concert in December last to go without them. Some living in Louisville waited until sales were closed, expecting, no doubt, a postponement, and then offered fifteen, twenty, and even twenty-five dollars for tickets which the day before were offered to purchasers at the regular price. Others living at a distance sent thousands of dollars by mail and express, which got here after sales were closed, and had to be sent back. These disappointments need not occur again, if the warning now given in due season is heeded.

The drawing will begin precisely at 6 o'clock Saturday morning, September 28, 1872, in the great hall of the Public Library building, and continue until the one thousand gifts are all drawn.

Total, 1,000 Gifts, all cash,	$500,000

The Concert itself will be the most brilliant orchestral display that ever occurred in the West. One hundred performers, gathered from all parts of this country and from Europe, under the direction of Prof. Hoch, will contribute to this grand musical carnival. And to afford ample room for every ticket-holder to enjoy such an unusual musical festival, the Concert will be given in Central Park, where arrangements have been made to accommodate all who may come.

Persons holding whole, half or quarter tickets, will be admitted to both the Concert and Drawing, and none without such tickets will be admitted to either.

PRICE OF TICKETS.

Whole Tickets $10; halves, $5; quarters, $2 50; 11 Whole tickets for $100; 28 for $255; 56 for $500; 113 for $1,000; 285 for $2,500; 575 for $5000. No discount on less than $100 worth of tickets at a time.

In accordance with numerous solicitations arrangements have been made with all the railroad and steamboat lines throughout the country for the sale of round-trip tickets, good for six days to all persons who may wish to attend the Concert or drawing. Such tickets will be furnished by the Louisville & Nashville Railroad; the Louisville, Cincinnati and Lexington Railroad; the Louisville, Indianapolis and Missouri Railroad; the Ohio and Mississippi Railroad; the Louisville and Cincinnati Mail Boat Line, and the Louisville, Evansboro and Henderson Mail Line Packets.

All agents are required to close sales and make their returns in full time to reach this office by Thursday, September 25. To do this successfully, those located at great distances must close some days before the 25th.

All tickets to which gifts are awarded, will be paid without discount, by the Farmers' and Drovers' Bank, either in currency, or by sight-draft upon the Fourth National Bank, of New York, at option of the holder. The ticket must first be presented at this office, Room No. 4, Public Library Building, before they will be paid by the Bank.

The drawing will be published in the Louisville Papers and New York Herald, and official copies sent to purchasers for whom tickets have been sent by letter.

Morning Chronicle.

—General Pleasanton has a new theory in regard to the curative properties of the blue rays of sunlight, which have been successfully used in the recovery of an invalid from chronic diseases. The case was that of the wife of a physician who had for some time been suffering from a complication of disorders which had baffled the skill of her physician, and who, on the suggestion of General Pleasanton, tried the following plan: Every other pane of glass in one of the windows of the patient's room was removed and blue glass substituted; the patient was required to expose her back and spine to the action of the combined blue and white lights for thirty minutes each day, at the same hour. At the beginning of the treatment she was unable to eat or sleep, was in a miserable condition and wasting rapidly. At the end of ten days the pains in her back were less, her hair had begun growing thickly, and there was a marked improvement in her condition. In three weeks she was almost entirely well.

—A wife of Detroit, seeing a paragraph in the papers to the effect that matrimonial couples in Illinois "get divorced just in order to have the pleasure of fresh courting and a new honeymoon," induced her husband, after much persuasion to consent to a divorce "just for the fun of the thing." When the divorce was obtained, the ex-husband was astonished to find that the "courting" and "honey-mooning" of his wife were to be done with another fellow. He doesn't think divorcing for fun very funny, after all. His wife sees where the laugh comes in, but he never did have an appreciation of humor.

—An odd incident recently happened on a night train on the Air Line railroad. The train was moving at its usual speed, when the engineer heard a sudden crashing of glass, and instant darkness in the headlight of the engine. The cause proved to be that an owl had dashed into the headlight and lay there astonished at his success. It was not an "owl-train" either.

—Fairfield county, Connecticut, is a handy place for a cheap spree on cider. The beverage, fresh made, is selling for five cents a gallon, and apples are so plenty that they are rejected at the cider-mills, and can scarcely be given away.

AYER'S PURGATIVE PILLS.

For all the purposes of a Family Physic,

CURING

Costiveness, Jaundice, Dyspepsia, Indigestion, Dysentery, Foul Stomach, Erysipelas, Headache, Piles, Rheumatism, Eruptions and Skin Diseases, Biliousness, Liver Complaint, Dropsy, Tetter, Tumors and Salt Rheum, Worms, Gout, Neuralgia, as a Dinner Pill, and Purifying the Blood,

Are the most congenial purgative yet perfected. Their effects abundantly show how much they excel all other Pills. They are safe and pleasant to take, but powerful to cure. They purge out the foul humors of the blood; they stimulate the sluggish or disordered organ into action, and they impart health and tone to the whole being. They cure not only the every day complaints of every body, but formidable and dangerous diseases. Most eminent clergymen, most skillful physicians, and our best citizens send certificates of cures performed, and of great benefits they have derived from these Pills. They are the safest and best physic for children, because mild as well as effectual. Being sugar coated, they are easy to take; and being purely vegetable, they are entirely harmless.

The Singer

SEWING MACHINE

STILL LEADS THE MARKET.

The Success of the Company is far beyond that of any other similar concern; the

Daily Manufacture

—OF—

400 OF THE SINGERS

Failing to Supply the Constant Demand.

All other machines call the public attention to some new loop or stitch or tension or finish, some advantage in running or needles or feed or price—and many of these are so we have said very good points, and the agents selling them use them to divert entirely the would-be purchaser from fairly considering the facts in the case; but the

seems to unite the good qualities of all, and is never found wanting.

THE SINGER

IS THE

OLDEST

SEWING MACHINE

IN THE MARKET,

All others being copied from its first model. It does two-thirds the sewing done in this country and preserves its advantages over all others combined.

It is readily kept clean, and has THE BEST TENSION EVER INVENTED; it is higher speeded and requires but little power to run; it works equally well upon the finest and heaviest goods; it does all the varieties of work known to the art.

N. B. Those purchasing for cash, before the 1 of January next, will have a consideration allowed them.

AYER'S

SARSAPARILLA

FOR PURIFYING THE BLOOD.

A medicine that cures is a real public blessing. AYER'S SARSAPARILLA makes positive cure of a series of complaints, which are always afflicting and too often fatal. It purifies the blood, purges out the lurking humors in the system, which undermine health and settle into troublesome disorders. Eruptions of the skin are the appearance on the surface of humors that should be expelled from the blood. Internal derangements are the determination of these same humors to some internal organ, or organs, whose action they derange, and whose substance they disease and destroy. AYER'S SARSAPARILLA expels these humors from the blood. When they are gone, the disorders they produce disappear, such as Ulcerations of the Liver, Stomach, Kidneys, Lungs, Eruptions and Eruptive Diseases of the skin, St. Anthony's Fire, Rose or Erysipelas, Pimples, Pustules, Blotches, Boils, Tumors, Tetter and Salt Rheum, Scald Head, Ringworm, Ulcers and Sores, Rheumatism, Neuralgia, Pain in the Bones, Side, and Head, Female Weakness, Sterility, Leucorrhœa arising from internal ulceration and uterine disease, Dropsy, Dyspepsia, Emaciation, and General Debility. With their departure health returns.

The Chronicle.

—The announcement that Mr. Sumner has gone to Europe to place himself under the care of Dr. Brown Sequard, is closely followed by the statement, gleaned from foreign mails, that the eminent physician is about to leave Paris for a permanent residence in New York. It would be rather funny if the two should pass on mid ocean.

—Kissing in the dark is not a safe practice, especially if the object practiced upon is a widow. A man was engaged in that kind of practice in Nebraska lately, when an impertinent flash of lightning revealed the performance to a select party of spectators, and the man was obliged to marry the widow to get out of a scrape.

—A "woman of business" in Arkansas has just tarred and feathered her husband. If a fellow is to be "Ku-Kluxed" how much nicer it must be to have it done by the wife of his bosom, than by the cold, rough hand of a hooded stranger!

—The widow of Jefferson White, hanged by a mob at Olney, Ill., a few days ago, for the murder of Henry Holtz, has become insane in consequence of the terrible circumstances surrounding her husband's death.

—The Norwich Bulletin says that a steam-drill boring ninety feet is almost as bad as a book agent. Those book agents are nothing to our mosquitoes, then: they often bore more than ninety feet in a few hours of the night.

—A noble and ingenious colored man in Memphis successfully signaled danger ahead to an approaching train, with his wife's red flannel petticoat, the estimable lady standing behind the door during the operation.

VEGETINE

The Great Blood Purifier.

A valuable Indian compound, for restoring the health, and for the permanent cure of all diseases arising from impurities of the blood, such as

Scrofula Scrofulous Humors, Cancers, Cancerous Humor Erysipelas, Canker, Salt Rheum, Pimples and Humors on the Face, Ulcers Coughs, Catarrh, Bronchitis, Neuralgia, Pains in the Side, Rheumatism, Dyspepsia, Constipation Costiveness, Dizziness Piles, Headache, Nervousness, Faintness at the Stomach, Pains in the Back, Kidney Complaints Female Weakness, and General Debility.

This preparation is scientifically and chemically combined, and so strongly concentrated from roots, herbs and barks, that its good effects are realized immediately after commencing to take it. There is no disease of the human system for which the VEGETINE cannot be used with PERFECT SAFETY, as it does not contain any metallic compound. For eradicating the system of all impurities of the blood, it has no equal. It has never failed to effect a cure, giving tone and strength to the system debilitated by disease. Its wonderful effects upon these complaints are surprising to all. Many have been cured by the VEGETINE that have tried many other remedies. It can well be called

AYER'S

CHERRY PECTORAL

For Diseases of the Throat and Lungs, such as Coughs, Colds, Whooping Cough, Bronchitis, Asthma and Consumption.

The few compositions, which have won the confidence of mankind and become household words among not only one but many nations, must have extraordinary virtues. Perhaps no one ever acquired so wide a reputation or maintained it so long as AYER'S CHERRY PECTORAL. It has been known to the public about forty years, by a long continued series of marvellous cures, which have won for it a confidence in its virtues, never equalled by any other medicines. It still makes the most effectual cures of Coughs, Colds, Consumption, that can be made by medical skill. Indeed the CHERRY PECTORAL has really robbed these dangerous diseases of their terrors, to a great extent; and given a feeling of immunity from their fatal effects, which is well founded, if the remedy be taken in season. Every family should have it in their closet for the ready and prompt relief of its members. Sickness, suffering, and even life is saved by this timely protection. The prudent should not neglect it, and the wise will not. Keep it by you for the protection it affords in sudden attacks, and by its timely use.

NO. 168 STATE ST., OPPOSITE KILBY ST., BOSTON,

After an extensive practice of upwards of thirty years, continues to secure patents in the United States; also in Great Britain, France and other foreign countries. Caveats, Specifications, Assignments, and all papers for Patents, executed on reasonable terms with dispatch. Research made to determine the validity and utility of Patents of inventions, and legal and other advice rendered in all matters touching the same. Copies of the claims of any patent furnished, by remitting one dollar. Assignments recorded in Washington.

No Agency in the United States possesses superior facilities for obtaining Patents or ascertaining the patentability of inventions.

All necessity of a journey to Washington to procure a Patent and the usual great delay there, are here saved inventors.

TESTIMONIALS.

"I regard Mr. Eddy as one of the most capable and successful practitioners with whom I have had official intercourse. CHARLES MASON, Commissioner of Patents."

"I have no hesitation in assuring inventors that they cannot employ a man more competent and trustworthy and more capable of putting their applications in a form to secure for them an early and favorable consideration at the Patent Office. EDMUND BURKE, Late Commissioner of Patents."

"Mr. R. H. Eddy has made for me over THIRTY applications for Patents, having been successful in almost every case. Such unmistakable proof of great talent and ability on his part leads me to recommend ALL inventors to apply to him to procure their Patents, as they may be sure of having the most faithful attention bestowed on their cases, and at very reasonable charges.

CLEAR YOUR THROAT!

Relieve Your Lungs.

For the terrible diseases engendered by the lung-trying climate of New England,

Pulmocine Cordial

Is a speedy and reliable Preventive and Remedy. EVERY FAMILY should have a bottle at hand to check the sudden growth of all Pulmonary Diseases. For the Asthma, Coughs, Croups, Laryngitis, or inflammation of the larynx, Diphtheria, and all kindred throat DISEASES at all times prevalent, it is the JUICE OF PREVENTION. Children attacked with Whooping Cough or Croup should be immediately cared for. These painful attacks come with scarcely a moment's warning, when a physician may be out of immediate reach, and one of PULMOCINE CORDIAL gives speedy relief and agony. "A stitch in time saves nine," so does the possession of the FAMILY Medicine prevent the spread of disease. Parents seeing their children gasping with the friends and relatives beholding their [illegible] in peril from suffocation by the choking pain in the throat, paralyzed with fear and not knowing the best course to pursue, are liable to apply the wrong remedial agents. [illegible] lay no time to waste in [illegible] CONSUMPTION, that fearful scourge of the human race, lies at the door of all the afflicted. BRIGGS' ALLEVANTOR is composed of Ammonia, Chloroform, Spirits of Camphor, Tincture of Lupulina, Oil of Juniper, and Alcohol. This compound is unequalled in the annals of medicine for the cure of Nervous or Sick Headache, Neuralgia, Trembling or Twitching of the Nerves, and all Nervous Diseases. It will counteract all poisons, banish pimples, cure rosy eruptions, boils, tumors, &c. It equalizes the circulation, invigorates the system, increases the action of the heart, without exciting the brain. Cures Heartburn, Palpitation and Fluttering of the Heart, Dyspepsia, &c. Briggs' Allevantor absolutely possesses more curative properties than any other preparation. Physicians, chemists, and others are requested to examine and test the remedy, and $1000 will be paid if found different from representation.

COUGHS, and Much has been said and written, and many remedies have been offered for the relief and cure of throat and lung diseases; but nothing has been so universally successful, or obtained such a wide celebrity, as Briggs' Throat and Lung Healer.

CORNS! The excruciating pain produced by Corns, the unceasing twinging from Bunions, the piercing, thrown up pain from Ingrowing Nails, cannot be described. Thousands suffer, not knowing there is a cure. Briggs' Corn and Bunion Remedies are no idle or pretend compounds, but are reliable, soothing and effectual, and just merit the success they have earned from an appreciative public. The Corn Cure is a healing ointment; immediate relief is obtained by its application, and it will positively cure the worst cases of Festered Corns, Bruised and Ulcerated Bunions, the sorest, most tender Callosities on the soles or heels of the feet, unequalled in the cure of Chilblains or Frosted Feet. The Allevantor for ordinary corns and preventing their formation is absolutely unexcelled by anything ever known.

PILES have been a terror to mankind for centuries, and almost every ailment to cure them has been baffled. By unceasing study and experimenting, Dr. Briggs has discovered a positively sure for internal, bleeding, external, and itching piles. Briggs' Pile Remedies are mild, safe and sure.

For sale by all druggists. Wm. R. Preston, Portsmouth; James O. Trefethen, Kittery; E. S. Sawyer, Kittery Point; B. M. Curtis, Newcastle; and dealers generally.

Another Witness.

Horace Greeley, when travelling in the South, in 1871, wrote a letter to the Tribune in which he said: "That those who struggled and fought for secession generally believe that they were right in so doing, I cannot doubt. * * * They propose to renew the fight, but not with gun and saber. They expect to regain as Democrats, through elections, the power they lost as rebels through war." Just so; and their first movement to "regain as Democrats, through elections, the power they lost as rebels through war," was to purchase Horace Greeley, body and soul. Either this is so, or the Democratic orators lie most persistently concerning their candidate and his "pledges."

Hon. Harry Bingham of Littleton, whose fame as a Democratic wire-puller and a most determined anti-war copperhead extends all over this State, and who was chairman of the Democratic convention at Concord on the 11th, has taken the witness stand to testify that Greeley sold himself, "principles" and all, to the Democrats, before they would nominate him. Said Bingham: "Horace Greeley is pledged to do, and will do, if elected, just what the Democracy would require one of their old and tried leaders to do were he elected." This same statement has been made by numerous other Democratic speakers, but always away off somewhere; Harry Bingham, however, is a New Hampshire copperhead and was addressing a New Hampshire audience. How do you like your candidate's Republicanism, Messrs. "Liberal" Republicans?

Maine Election.

Official returns from 393 towns give Perham, for Governor, 16,600 majority.

The News.

The steam tug Agnes exploded her boiler below City Point on the James river. Captain Johns of the barque Lucy, Bemoughty, engineer, two colored firemen and the wheelman, colored, were killed. Two colored men were wounded. Captain Lawrence, who commanded the tug, was blown some distance into the air, fell into the water, but was only slightly injured. The schooner Mary Harris, which was alongside the tug, was badly damaged. The tug is a complete wreck.

At base ball in Baltimore, Sept. 11, the Bostons defeated the Baltimores, 8 to 7.

The completion of the Sugar River Railroad was celebrated enthusiastically at Claremont, on the 10th.

Mr. Henry Lynch, for many years assistant postmaster at Milford, died suddenly in that town on the 9th.

From the description of the body which was recently discovered in the woods at Wentworth, it is believed that it was that of Mr. Samuel Jones of New Boston, who suddenly disappeared in August, 1871. Some of the relatives of Mr. Jones have gone to Wentworth to make an examination of the remains.

Mr. Charles E. Towne, one of the most popular and promising business men of Manchester, was found dead in his bed on the morning of the 10th.

WOMAN'S RIGHTS. — The London Civilian, a journal devoted to the interests of the Civil Service, says that the English Post Office authorities have resolved to introduce a large number of female clerks into the department. Forty young ladies are to be shortly placed on the establishment of the Savings Bank Office, notwithstanding the vigorous protest of the Controller, who, in common with the entire Staff, feels the grievous dangers, moral and official which are likely, to follow the adoption of so extraordinary a course. The gentlemen in the office contemplate holding an "indignation meeting" to protest against the proposed action of the authorities.

THE ARBITRATION.—The department of State is in receipt of despatches from Geneva, but declines to make their contents known in advance of the formal announcement. There is reason to believe from other sources that the amount awarded is about $15,000,000, though there are no official advices positively fixing this sum.

THE CAMPAIGN.

CHAPPAQUA,
(Wich is in the State uv Noo York).
August 22, 1872.

It wuz determined by our resident committee that it wood be a joodishus thing to do to hev the great and good Greeley go on a toor thro the states uv New Hampshire and Maine, to encourage the weak and to sekoor the wassiltain in those states. I opposed it, ez I hed hed some experience with trips, hevin accompanied the immortal Johnson on all uv hizzen. I was overrooled, out they conceded to me the arrangement uv the toor, tho they took control uv the great and good man from the start to its conclooshun. They insisted that it wood hev two good effects: First. We should dodge the frekent delegashuns wich afflict us at Chappaqua; and, second, that the exhibition uv Horris wood hev a good effeck on the rooral populis. I yielded, and set about fitin him for the journey. I hed a very difficult job to git the philosopher up properly for the occashen. I took a whetstun and rubbed the inside uv his rite hand for hours, till it perdooced sich callous spots onto it iz the most horny-handed labrer in Vermont mite be proud uv, and instructed him that when shakin hands with the yeomanry to grip hard, that there mite be no mistake ez to feelin them callous spots on his labor hardened hands. I then hed him grin out in the sun two hours each day, with his face turned, till he became browned by exposure to the elemence; after wich I bed a badly-fitting soot uv close made for him, that the people mite feel that he had attempted to dress up on their account, but that, after all, he wuzn't accustomed to so much grandyer.

Then came the most difficult part uv the out-fittin biznis, wich wuz to instruct him in wat he shood say, but I succeeded. I charged him espeshelly that he should never menshun poltix, (ceptin that he mite now and then howl mildly suthin about the era uv good feelin) and shood be spesheley keerful to dodge all them pints out uv wich offense mite come. "The toor," I remarkt, "is to be one uv sentiment. We are on a pilgrimage to the tooms uv our ancestors—we are a going to revisit the scenes uv our childhood, ez it were; to revive remembrances uv our youthful days and sich, and it must be confined strictly to that. I have arranged with our committees on the route to organize into a spontaneous out-pourin uv the people to receive you, and you must speak to em at each stoppin-place. I wood recommend that your responses to the greetins be mostly alloosions to the grandyer uv the mountains, and the purity uv the air and water, and above all, don't forgit the mother biznis. Ef you cood ring in a verbal pikter uv your mother yearnin for noose of her absent son, it wood hev a good effect. You needn't trot out your father, for fathers is played out. It's the mother that teches the popular heart. And you must get your eyes in fine shape for occashen demands. I hev done good things before now, by weeping perfoosely at the rite time."

The minit the procession had started onto its toor, I pakt my valise with a bottle, and possibly a shirt or two, (tho I reely forgit about the latter, pain so little attenshun ez I do to the mere luxuries uv life), and started for an interior village uv Pennsylvany, where I made a speech last year, and konsekently knowed all the principal demokrats. I put up at the old familyer tavern, where the licker I knowed to be good. I hed barely time to hist in three or four slugs afore it wuz noozed abroad that I wuz there. In twenty minits a person appeared to interview me. He introduced hisself ez a Mr. Slodgers—a liberal republikin, who had determined to vote for honest old Horace. I asked him to drink, which he did; then went on. He wuz disgusted with the corruption and rascality uv the repubkin party and felt that he must leave it. He wanted purity—he yearned for a return to suth a beside office-seekin. Hence, he had decided to support Greeley. "But," resumed he, "I hev made sacrifices in this, and I must hev ashoorences. I wuz an unsuccessful applicant for the postoffis in this village under Linkin, in 1861; then agin in 1865. I succeeded in gittin it uv Johnson in 1866, when the then incumbent was dismist, and held it till April, 1860, when the tyrant Grant dismissed me and reappointed my predecessor, and left me to languish all these years without offishel poisihen, and to subsist on the petty earnins uv my wife, wich is a milliner. Ef Horris is elected, kin I have that offis? I kin control the liberal vote uv this county, sir. I hold it in the holler uv my hand."

"Say no more, sir, "sed I. "I fully appreshiate your pos tion. Uv course I kin make no positive promise; but it is safe to say, sir, that the posishen shel be yours. But that liberal republican vote, sir, must be all polled. We shel hold you responsible for it."

He left the presence profoose uv thanks, and I took four more drinks, hand runnin.

Mr. Slodgers hedn't any more than got out, when another citizen entered and announced hisself ez a liberal republican, wich his name was Perkins. He wanted to be understood, to begin with, ez holdin the liberal republikin vote in his hand. He cood control it. Without his aid nothin cood be done with it. He created it, and he held it to-day. But he hed made sacrifices. He hed bin a candidate for treasurer uv the county regerly from 1856 to date; but hed altuz bin defeated—by fraud. The last time he wuz defeated—by fraud—he hedn't but two votes in the county convention—his uncle and brother-in-law. He wuz disgusted with the offis-seekin party, but cood be be ashoored uv the post-offis in the event uv Greeley's selecshen? He felt that ef he ever wuz agoin to have an offis this wuz the time. He wanted the post-offis from the time he wuz twenty-one years old. "Without my influoence," sed he, "the liberals republiken in this visinity will be nothin. I, sir, hold that vote in the holler uv my hand. Ken I hev that offis?"

I bed taken two drinks while talkin to him and wuz oblivius uv everything that preceded it. I replied that uv course we coodn't make promises now, but that he should rest easy. I felt that there wood be nothin in the way uv his appointment the minit the farmer of Chappaqua should be enoggerated. "But, sir, the liberal republican vote must all be out; we shel hold you responsible for it."

"Trust me," sed he, with a look uv gladness on his hungry face which I never saw ekalled; and he took his leave, and I took two more drinks.

Skasely bed Perkins disappeared afore another cum, announot hisself ez Mr. Eli Matchitt. Matchitt remarkt that he rejoiced at the movement which led to the nomina-hen uv Mr. Greeley at Cincinnati. He had alluz acted with the republikin party, but the offis-seekin tendency uv the members thereof, hed disgusted him, and he hed determined to quit it. He hed influoence. He controled the liberal republican vote—in fact he he held in it the holler uv his hand, and without his influoence, nothin cood be done with it. He hed made sacrifices. He wuz an unsuccessful applicant for the assessorship in 1861, and in 1865. President Johnson wuz pleased to give it to him, but he wuz removed by the merciless tyrant, Grant, in 1869, and one uv his minions appointed in his place. He hed sed at times, that he wood accept the post offis, if it was tendered him, and as some slite acknowledgment uv his services in controlin the liberal republican vote he shood expect it. "In case the good Greeley is elected, kin I hev it?"

We drank, and, forgettin all about Perkins, I replied promptly that uv course no positive promises cood be made at so early a day, but I could say frankly, that there coodent be any doubt about about it. And Mr. Matchett took his leave thankin me profoosely and promisin that the liberal republikin vote, which he controled shood be out.

I then took several drinks by myself.

* * * * * * * *

How I got to the train that nite or wat transpired I know not. I hev an indistinct idee uv havin a mob uv men in my room, and uv much drinkin. Suffice it to say I awoke on the cars, and found myself some hours after in New York, and then back to my quarters at Chappaqua.

Ten days after I received four letters. Three uv em wuz from Messers. Slodgers, Perkins, and Matchett, each reproachin me with doopliicity in promisin the post-office to two others, and each ashoorin me that he alone controled the liberal republikin vote uv the county. The other wuz from the landlord, enclosin bill for busted furnitoor, and statin likewise that I hed made an ass uv myself ez the only liberal republikins there wuz in the county were Slodgers, Perkins, and Matchett, and that they wuz uv that pekooliyer stripe that the republikins rejoist more fervently when they left the party than they did over their success in North Carolina. I must quit either liker or politics. They don't work well together.

Ask for new style; the old is counterfeited. 14

TAKE COURAGE, INVALIDS. — Pain and weakness produce despondency, and the invalid who is laboring under bodily torture, debility and mental depression, at the same time is indeed in a pitable condition. But let all who are thus situated take heart. A balm is provided both for their physical and mental infirmities in Hostetter's Stomach Bitters. Among the commonest sources of pain, uneasiness and melancholy are the diseases which affect the stomach, the liver, the alimentary canal, the nerves and the muscles, such as dyspepsia, bilious disorders, constipation, headache, hysteria, and rheumatism, all of which yield readily to the regulating, invigorating and purifying influence of this peerless vegetable tonic, stimulant and restorative. Take courage, sorrowful invalids; you will find the help you need in Hostetter's Bitters.

LIKE QUAKER'S GUNS.'—Artificial teeth are of little use and easily detected. Take care of the real ones. All you need is Fragrant Sozodont; use it daily and your teeth will be the last of nature's gifts to fail you.

USE BUCHMAN'S PULMOCINE CORDIAL for all throat diseases. For sale at the Union Store.

IN EVERY QUARTER OF THE GLOBE where it is known, and there are few indeed where it is not, the Mexican Mustang Liniment takes precedence of all similar preparations. Its transcendant merits have obtained for it a popularity seldom reached by any proprietary medicine. In its infancy the fiat of its success was pronounced in the wide-spread endorsement which it received from physicians, veterinary surgeons, horsemen and the public generally. No one now thinks of questioning its claim to be considered the Standard Liniment of America.

CASTORIA.—A substitute for Castor Oil—is a physic which does not distress or gripe, but is sure to operate when all other remedies have failed. You may confidently rely upon the Castoria in Stomach-ache, Constipation, Flatulency, Croup, Worms, Piles or deranged Liver. It contains neither Minerals, Morphine, Opium nor Alcohol, but is purely a vegetable preparation, perfectly harmless, and above all, pleasant to take. The Castoria soothes and quiets the system, and produces natural sleep. It is a wonderful thing to assimilate the food of children and prevent them from crying. A 35 cent bottle will do the work for a family and save many doctors' bills.

THE THIEF who was arrested for robbing Parsons' store in this town, was found to have a quantity of Ayer's Hair Vigor in his possession. When asked why he wished to steal that article, he answered that he "wanted to restore his hair, for it was hard to be a thief and bald too." If that invention of the great chemist could restore a faded character as effectually as it does their natural beauty to bald and grey heads, it would surely be, as they say it now is, truly invaluable.—Lewiston (Me.) Journal.

PILES.—The unceasing torture from internal bleeding, external and itching piles is fast wearing away the thousands of those who are afflicted and their hope and courage have long since given place to despair. Let those who see this cheer up, for a mild and sure cure may be had by using BRIGGS' PILE REMEDIES.

DECAY'S EFFACING FINGER.—Will never mar the teeth that are brushed daily with Odenferous SOZODONT. It lends a floral fragrance to the breath as well as protects the teeth from corrosion and decomposition.

CORNS.—Since pride and fashion have had control of mankind, and shoemakers were compelled to make boots and shoes to fit fancy instead of the feet, the suffering from Corns, Bunions, Ingrowing Nails, Sore Insteps, Blistered Heels, Callosities on the bottom of the feet, &c., cannot be described. But Briggs' Corn and Bunion Remedies will cure all such torments, and proper fitting boots will prevent their reproduction. Sold by all druggists. a12

AYER'S HAIR VIGOR
FOR RESTORING GRAY HAIR
TO ITS NATURAL VITALITY AND COLOR.
Advancing years, sickness, care, disappointment, and hereditary predisposition, all turn the hair gray; either of them disposes to fall off prematurely, and either effect is unsightly and unpleasant to behold. DR. AYER'S consummate skill has produced an auditote for these deformities, which has won gratitude for him from multitudes of men and women. His HAIR VIGOR sometimes reproduces lost hair; and always restores to faded and gray hair its natural color, with the glose and freshness of youth. The comparatively few bald and gray heads, that we now see, are those who have not yet discovered the virtues of AYER'S HAIR VIGOR for renewing the hair. The fresh and youthful hair we see on older heads is often the product of his art. If you are disgraced, or made sad, austere and ugly, by gray hair, restore its youthful color, and with your features to their original softness and agreeable expression.

As an elegant dressing for beautifying the Hair, it has no superior.

LOCAL AFFAIRS.

Laconics.

Secretary Robeson visited the Navy Yard Thursday morning.

U. S. ship Monongahela was undocked Thursday, and the dry dock from which she was floated is to undergo extensive repairs.

Alfred F. Howard, Esq., has been appointed Deputy Collector at this port, in place of Mr. Joseph M. Edmonds, deceased.

S. B. Breed Hook and Ladder company of Lynn, accompanied by the Lynn Cornet Band, arrived here Thursday morning as guests of Dearborn S. F. Engine Company.

Prof. Mac Evoy's Combination, (Germany and Ireland Illustrated,) will give the first of three entertainments at the Temple on Saturday evening. The advertisement will appear to-morrow.

WEDDING OF GOV. STRAW'S DAUGHTER.—A very quiet and home-like wedding occurred at the residence of Governor Straw, at Manchester, Thursday. The parties were Mr. Henry M. Thompson, agent of the Manchester Print Works, and Miss Nellie Straw, youngest daughter of the governor. Miss Straw wore a white rep silk, with very long train, plain skirt, with puffs in the back; cut with a basque, and large sleeves, and trimmed with point applique lace. The bridegroom was in full dress. The bridemaids were Misses Minnie Harker of Boston, Minnie Ellis of Amesbury, and Ella White of Manchester. They were dressed in white tarletan, trimmed respectively with buff, blue and pink. The ceremony was performed by Rev. Mr. DeNormandie, of Portsmouth, and was followed by a reception, attended by many of the most distinguished people in the State. Mr. and Mrs. Thompson will spend the honeymoon in Maine and the British provinces.

SPAIN.—A great land-slide is reported near Fraga, in Aragon, on the banks of the river Cinca. The bed of the river was filled with earth and rocks. The waters were forced from their course and the country around the town inundated. The bridge which crossed the river at that point was carried away. A barge with 40 men, women and children, taken from flooded houses, was swamped and all on board were drowned except three. Many other lives were lost and the damage to property was very great.

SIGNOR BLITZ.—This widely known magician, who has been so long absent from the American stage, recently made his appearance before a Cleveland audience after an absence of eighteen years, and delighted them by his wonderful ventriloquism and the exhibition of his trained canaries. Signor Blitz was once famed as the most successful ventriloquist in this country, and although age has made him gray, it has not impaired his wonderful powers of throwing his voice. The sensation of the evening was the exhibition of the Egyptian sphinx or talking head, which is one of the most mysterious and startling ledgerdemain acts that ever perplexed an audience. A human head appears upon a table apparently entirely severed from the trunk, and responds by looks and gestures to the voice of the Signor, drinks, smokes a cigar with the complacency of a corpse, and disappears suddenly, leaving the beholder bewildered at its vanishing.

Political.

Rev. Dr. Sears, the eloquent Unitarian writer, says, at the close of a recent article in the Religious Magazine: "Booth's bullet made us clasp Lincoln more closely to our hearts, and forget his foibles. Sumner's ruthless attack will make the country receive Grant into a warmer gratitude, and be more jealous than ever of his fame."

The exodus to Europe of "distinguished" politicians who dare not, for the sake of their families, take the stump for Greeley, is something remarkable.

After the loving sister conventions at Concord had coalesced, the biographer of the Woodbull took the speaker's stand. Near the close of his oration Demosthenes whispered in his ear that the Maine election was "a great Liberal Republican triumph," which information Theodore instantly imparted to his audience. Somehow or other this declaration was not applauded, and Mrs. Woodbull's admirer soon after subsided.

A private despatch received in Washington says that Chaffee (Republican) has been re-elected to Congress from Colorado by 1500 majority. His opponent was a "Greeley Republican!"

It is a significant fact connected with the Vermont election, that in every town in the State where General Kilpatrick spoke the straight Republicans gave largely increased majorities.

The example of Ben Wood in paying $1000 forfeit money on the bet of $10,000 that Greeley would be the next President is being followed by many other persons at the Fifth Avenue Hotel, Astor House, and other resorts in New York. Bets amounting in the aggregate to $13,000 were compromised Wednesday, by men who wagered on Greeley paying from eight to fifteen per cent. for release. One bet of $100 was compromised by a Greeley man by paying $18.

There is a colored Greeley and Brown club in Indianapolis, composed of a hair dresser named Mahurney.

The Chicago Times is authorized to say that Governor Jacobs is in favor of the Louisville movement, and will stump West Virginia against Grant and Greeley.

The peace reunion, opened at Louisville Sept. 11, fell far short of the expectations of its managers. Bullocks and hogs for fifty thousand people were prepared for roasting, but there were only ten thousand to be fed. Schurz and Trumbull were not on hand, and Greeley will be about a fortnight late.

The Republican mass meeting at Lake Pleasant Mass., Sept, 11, was successfully carried out. About ten thousand people were present and speeches were made by Senator Wilson, General Butler and others.

The Republican State convention of Delaware nominated James R. Lofland for Congress.

The Greeley convention of New Jersey nominated Geo. B. McClellan and Abraham Browning for electors at large.

The Dolly Varden convention of Massachusetts, held at Worcester, Sept. 11., nominated the following State ticket: for governor, Charles Sumner of Boston; for lieutenant-governor, George M. Stearns of Chicopee; for secretary of State, George H. Monroe of Boston; for treasurer, Levi Heywood of Gardner; for auditor, Patrick A. Collins of Boston; for attorney-general, Waldo Colburn of Dedham; for electors at large, Chester W. Chapin of Springfield and Frank W. Bird of Walpole. Gen. Banks was president of the coalition convention.

It is reported that the Louisville deputation has decided not to further urge the nomination on Charles O'Conor. It is understood that O'Conor met the deputation with a decided refusal at first, but Mr. Moreau urged that as many influential citizens were ready to support O'Conor it was his duty to accept. O'Conor said that if he could be shown any considerable number of citizens of New York felt as Moreau represented he might modify his speech. A circular pledging the signers to use their influence for the Louisville nominees has been prepared, and when sufficient signers are secured it will be presented to O'Conor.

—A German correspondent of the Pall Mall Gazette says it has been established by official inquiries that the first shot in the Franco-German war was fired by the Prussian sergeant-major of cavalry, Schranz, who with a patrol from Saarbrucken, met French cavalry, and wounded one of them. He has been decorated with the Iron Cross, and presented by the Emperor William with a revolver of very rich workmanship.

—Women require more sleep, it is said, than men. Bilkins disputes this, as he says the last sound he hears at night is the voice of Mrs. B. in her nocturnal lecture, and the first in the morning is her matutinal admonition.

—White women get $3 a day in the South for picking cotton.

—Lovers, and young gentlemen who are just getting "on a string," should remember cambric waists were not intended for hugging purposes as long as laundry work is so expensive.

—A young fortune-hunter surprised his friends by announcing that he was going into agriculture, and should commence his husbandry by removing weeds—some rich and lovely widow's weeds.

—"Steel your heart," said a considerate father to his son, "for you are now going among fascinating girls." "I had much rather steal theirs," said the unpromising young man.

The Grand Gift Concert

A FIXED FACT.

September 28th the Day.

Your Tickets Now or Never!

THE vast sale of tickets already made, and the increasing demand for them from all quarters having induced the Trustees that the GRAND GIFT CONCERT for the benefit of the PUBLIC LIBRARY OF KENTUCKY, advertised for SATURDAY, SEPT. 28, 1872, shall positively come off on that day without postponement, the management now advise all who expect to participate in the drawing that they should buy their tickets at once. Delay for a few days caused many who wanted tickets at the concert in December last to go without them. Some living in Louisville waited until sales were closed, expecting, no doubt, a postponement, and then offered fifteen, twenty, and even twenty-five dollars for tickets which the day before were offered to purchasers at the regular price. Others living at a distance sent thousands of dollars by mail and express, which got here after sales were closed, and had to be sent back. These disappointments need not occur again, if the warning now given in due season is heeded.

The drawing will begin precisely at 6 o'clock Saturday morning, September 28, 1872, in the great hall of the Public Library building, and continue until the one thousand gifts are all drawn.

The Concert itself will be the most brilliant orchestral display that ever occurred in the West. One hundred performers, gathered from all parts of this country and from Europe, under the direction of Prof. Hafner, will contribute to this grand musical carnival. And to afford ample room for every ticket-holder to enjoy such an unusual musical festival, the Concert will be given in Central Park, where arrangements have been made to accommodate all who may come.

Persons holding whole, half or quarter tickets, will be admitted to both the Concert and Drawing, and none without such tickets will be admitted to either.

PRICE OF TICKETS.

Whole Tickets $10; halves, $5; quarters, $2 50; 11 Whole tickets for $100; 28 for $250; 56 for $500; 113 for $1,000; 285 for $2,500; 575 for $5000. No discount on less than $100 worth of tickets at a time.

In accordance with numerous solicitations arrangements have been made with all the railroad and steamboat lines leading into the city for the sale of round-trip tickets, good for six days to all persons who may wish to attend the Concert or drawing. Such tickets will be issued by the Louisville & Nashville Railroad; the Louisville, Cincinnati and Lexington Railroad; the Louisville, Indianapolis and Martinsville Railroad; the Ohio and Mississippi Railroad; the Louisville and Cincinnati Mail Boat Line, and the Louisville, Owensboro and Henderson Mail Line Packets.

All agents are required to close sales and make their returns in full time to reach this office by Thursday, September 26, so as to do this successfully, those located at great distances must close some days before the 25th.

All tickets to which gifts are awarded, will be paid without discount, by the Farmers' and Drovers' Bank, either in currency, or by sight-draft upon the Fourth National Bank of New York, at option of the holder. The ticket must first be presented at this office, Room No. 4, Public Library Building, before they will be paid by the Bank.

The drawing will be published in the Louisville Papers and New York Herald, and official copies sent to purchasers to whom tickets have been sent by letter.

HER ANSWER.

Dick stood on the shore and watched Dora Selwyn climb the cliff, an odd little feeling at his heart.

Ever since he could remember he had loved Dora. They had been schoolmates together and he had got into more scrapes on account of her than anything else he could think of. He had always constituted himself her champion and knight, and couldn't remember the time when he hadn't called her his "little wife."

But Dick's love, like other cases of "true love," didn't run just as smooth as he could have wished it to.

Dora had got into a habit of late of tantalizing him; probably because she knew she could, and she liked to show her power.

Ever since they had been at the seaside she had kept him in torment by flirting outrageously with Will Danvers, who hadn't half brains enough to see that she was making sport of him. Dick knew she didn't care anything for Danvers, but he didn't like to see the woman he meant to marry acting as Dora did. It didn't look well.

But whenever he ventured to remonstrate with her on the subject, she got angry, or pretended to, at least, and poor Dick could not get the least satisfaction in reasoning the case with her. She was provoking, and she knew she could tease him, and liked to.

"I wish I could get her to answer one question fairly and squarely," said Dick, thoughtfully looking up the cliffs, where her scarlet scarf fluttered in the wind. "If she does care for me why can't she say so; if she doesn't why can't she say so? I'm sure I've asked her often enough, but she'll evade any direct reply. I wish I could tantalize her for a day or two as she does me."

Dick wandered about forlornly for an hour or two, and then began to ascend the cliff.

"Dear me! how you scared me!" she cried, with a start which was a good imitation of the genuine article, since she had seen him coming up the cliff at the time.

"I'm sorry if I frightened you," he said. "You have been reading, haven't you?"

"Yes," she said, absently. "I wish you would sit a little further off, Mr. Kent. I'm afraid you'll muss my dress."

"Mr. Kent!" Dick repeated the name after her scornfully.

"Yes, Mr. Kent," answered Dora, with a twinkle of fun in her eyes. "I forgot that boys don't like to be called Mr., though. Please excuse me. I'll call you dicky, if that suits you better."

Dick groaned.

"Why can't you leave off teasing me?" he asked. "I don't tantalize you, do I?"

"Oh no," answered Dora. "Mr. Danvers gave me this book. Isn't it pretty?"

"I don't think so," answered Dick. "It looks about as empty as his head!"

"I'd thank you to speak a little more respectfully of my friends," said Dora, frigidly.

"Your friends!" said Dick sarcastically. "I suppose Will Danvers is a very dear one, isn't he?"

"He doesn't talk about you behind your back, at any rate," said Dora.

"Come now," pleaded Dick. "Let's not quarrel. I came up on purpose to ask you a question, and I want you to say yes or no to it. I can't stand this suspense much longer."

"I thought you looked poorly of late," said Dora, with motherly solicitude in her tones. "Do you take anything?"

"Don't," exclaimed Dick, vehemently. "Don't make fun of me, if you won't talk seriously. I can't act like a saint."

"I didn't suppose you could," laughed Dora.

"Then answer me the question I asked you the other day."

"Which one? You asked me so many I can't remember any one in particular. Oh I think I know now—what colored neck-tie I thought you looked most stylish in. Well, following out the fashion of shades, as we women have them in our dresses, I should say a pink would harmonize with your moustache."

"Dora," said Dick, solemnly, "I've half a mind to go away and never come back again. You'd be glad to see me, if I should, I guess."

"Wait till I tell you so," she laughed.

"I believe I will go away," said poor Dick.

"You'll regret using me so when I'm gone, and wish I was back."

"When I tell you I'm glad to have you back, why—I'll—I'll—"

"Accept anything I bring you?" asked Dick, eagerly.

"Yes, when I tell you I'm glad to see you back. I'll accept anything you bring me," said Dora.

"It's a compact," said Dick. "I'll go away to-morrow. But I wish you'd answer me that question, Dora."

"I have answered one question," she said. "I can't remember what other one you asked me."

"You know what I mean," said Dick. "Can't you tell me whether you love me or not?"

"I don't think I can," answered Dora. "Isn't that Mr. Danvers on the beach? Just call him, won't you?"

"No, I won't," said Dick savagely, and stalked away.

Half an hour later Dora saw him rowing out across the bay in a little skiff, and smiled.

Pretty soon the wind began to blow furiously, and Dora went back to the hotel. Night shut down dark and gloomy, and the storm grew into a hurricane.

"There'll be lives lost to-night, I'm afraid," some one said, in Dora's hearing, and straightway she thought of Dick. He had not come back yet. What if he should be drowned?

Dora did not sleep a wink that night. She was up early in the morning. No one had seen Dick; no one knew anything about him.

In the course of the morning some one found the boat he had gone out in lying battered and broken on the shore, at the foot of the cliffs, and the idea that he had been drowned in the storm got abroad, and gained general credence.

Poor Dora! She accused herself harshly with being the cause of poor Dick's death. If she hadn't been so provoking and teased him so he wouldn't have gone away.

She went down to the shore and paced up and down, half expecting to see his body cast ashore at her feet.

A step came behind her. She turned.

"Oh, Dick!" she cried. "Is it you, and are you really alive? I'm so glad to see you! I thought you were drowned."

"Not a bit of it," answered Dick, "I went over to the island, and a steamboat came along, and I got on and went to town, and have just got back to find everybody lamenting my death. Dora"—solemnly, "you know you said yesterday you'd accept whatever I brought you, when you said you were glad to see me. You've just said you were glad, and now you've got to do as you agreed."

"Well, what have you brought?" asked Dora, red as a rose.

"Myself," answered Dick, "and you've got to take me."

"Well, I 'spose I have," she answered, "not because I want you, but just to keep my word!" And Dick was satisfied at last.—Saturday Eve'g Post.

AYER'S PURGATIVE PILLS.

For all the purposes of a Family Physic,

CURING

Costiveness, Jaundice, Dyspepsia, Indigestion, Dysentery, Foul Stomach, Erysipelas, Headache, Piles, Rheumatism, Eruptions and Skin Diseases, Biliousness, Liver Complaint, Dropsy, Tetter, Tumors and Salt Rheum, Worms, Gout, Neuralgia, as a Dinner Pill, and Purifying the Blood,

Are the most congenial purgative yet perfected. Their effects abundantly show how much they excel all other Pills. They are safe and pleasant to take, but powerful to cure. They purge out the foul humors of the blood; they stimulate the sluggish or disordered organ into action, and they impart health and tone to the whole being. They cure not only the every day complaints of every body, but formidable and dangerous diseases. Most eminent clergymen, most skillful physicians, and our best citizens send certificates of cures performed, and of great benefits they have derived from these Pills. They are the safest and best physic for children, because mild as well as effectual. Being sugar coated, they are easy to take; and being purely vegetable, they are entirely harmless.

400 OF THE SINGERS

Failing to Supply the Constant Demand.

All other machines call the public attention to some new loop or stitch or tension or finish, some advantage in running or needles or feed or prices—and many of these are new have real very good points, and the agents selling them use them to divert entirely the would-be purchaser from fairly considering the facts in the case; but the

seems to unite the good qualities of all, and is never found wanting.

THE SINGER

IS THE

OLDEST

SEWING MACHINE

IN THE MARKET.

All others being copied from its first model. It does two-thirds the sewing done in this country and preserves its advantages over all others combined.

It is readily kept clean, and has THE BEST TENSION EVER INVENTED; it is higher speeded and requires but little power to run; it works equally well upon the finest and heaviest goods; it does all the varieties of work known to the art.

AYER'S

SARSAPARILLA

FOR PURIFYING THE BLOOD.

A medicine that cures is a real public blessing. AYER'S SARSAPARILLA makes positive cure of a series of complaints, which are always afflicting and too often fatal. It purifies the blood, purges out the lurking humors in the system, which undermine health and settle into troublesome disorders. Eruptions of the skin are the appearance on the surface of humors that should be expelled from the blood. Internal derangements are the determination of these same humors to some internal organ, or organs, whose action they derange, and whose substance they disease and destroy. AYER'S SARSAPARILLA expels these humors from the blood. When they are gone, the disorders they produce disappear, such as Ulcerations of the Liver, Stomach, Kidneys, Lungs, Strumous and Eruptive Diseases of the skin, St. Anthony's Fire, Rose or Erysipelas, Pimples, Pustules, Blotches, Boils, Tumors, Tetter and Salt Rheum, Scald Head, Ringworm, Ulcers and Sores, Rheumatism, Neuralgia, Pain in the Bones, Side, and Head, Female Weakness, Sterility, Leucorrhœa arising from internal ulceration, and uterine disease, Dropsy, Dyspepsia, Emaciation, and General Debility. With their departure health returns.

—The Western wits now call bigamy Utah-lizing the female sex.

—Let the toast be, "dear woman," as the man said to his wife when he wanted to eat it all himself.

—When a showman goes to Louisville and advertises a "remarkable feat," he is egged. The natives are sensitive on that question.

—A daughter of Mrs. Mary Howard of Bangor is lying at the point of death after having suffered intensely from having accidentally swallowed a piece of herd's grass, which lodged in her windpipe.

—Describing the Inebriate Asylum at Ward's island, the New York Tribune says: "Within the past four years about one hundred women have occupied rooms in the asylum. Of these nearly one-third have been ladies moving in the highest circles of society. They were all middle-aged, and nearly all had been married."

—The Cincinnati editors are getting into the tantrums again. The Enquirer sarcastically remarks that it would be "to paint the lily and gild refined gold" "to characterize as a liar the man who adds forgery to theft," but knowing deep down in their editorial "heart of hearts" that the editor of the Commercial is a liar, they impart this useful information to an enquiring world.

$500,000 CASH DISTRIBUTION.

The Grand Gift Concert

A FIXED FACT.

September 28th the Day.

Your Tickets Now or Never!

THE vast sale of tickets already made, and the increasing demand for them from all quarters having determined the Trustees that the GRAND GIFT CONCERT for the benefit of the PUBLIC LIBRARY OF KENTUCKY, advertised for SATURDAY, SEPT. 28, 1872, shall positive'y come off on that day without postponement, the management now notifies all who expect to participate in the drawing that they should buy their tickets at once. Delay for a few days caused many who wanted tickets at the concert in December last to go without them. Some living in Louisville waited until sales were closed, expecting, no doubt, a postponement, and then offered fifteen, twenty, and even twenty-five dollars for tickets within the day before were offered to purchasers at the regular price. Others living at a distance sent thousands of dollars by mail and express, which got here after sales were closed, and had to be sent back. These disappointments need not occur again, if the warning now given in due season is heeded.

The drawing will begin precisely at 6 o'clock Saturday morning, September 28, 1872, in the great hall of the Public Library building, and continue until the one thousand gifts are all drawn.

The Concert itself will be the most brilliant orchestral display that ever occurred in the West. One hundred performers, gathered from all parts of this country and from Europe, under the direction of Prof. Hast, will contribute to this grand musical carnival. Ample time to afford ample room for every ticket-holder to enjoy such an unusual musical festival, the Concert will be given in Central Park, where arrangements have been made to accommodate all who may come.

Persons holding whole, half or quarter tickets, will be admitted to both the Concert and Drawing, and none without such tickets will be admitted to either.

PRICE OF TICKETS.

Whole Tickets $10; halves, $5; quarters, $2 50; 11 Whole tickets for $100; 28 for $250; 56 for $500; 115 for $1,000; 285 for $2,500; 575 for $5000. No discount on less than $100 worth of tickets at a time.

In accordance with numerous solicitations arrangements have been made with all the railroad and steamboat lines leading into the city for the sale of round-trip tickets, good for six days to all persons who may wish to attend the Concert or drawing. Such tickets will be furnished by the Louisville & Nashville Railroad; the Louisville, Cincinnati and Lexington Railroad; the Louisville, Indianapolis and Madison Railroad; the Ohio and Mississippi Railroad; the Louisville and Cincinnati Mail Boat Line, and the Louisville, Owensboro and Henderson Mail Line Packets.

All agents are required to close sales and make their returns in full time to reach this office by Thursday, September 25. To do this successfully, those located at great distances must close some days before the 25th.

All tickets to which gifts are awarded, will be paid without discount, by the Farmers' and Drovers' Bank, either in currency, or by sight-draft upon the Fourth National Bank of New York, at option of the holder. The ticket must first be presented at this office, Room No. 4, Public Library Building, before they will be paid by the Bank.

The drawing will be published in the Louisville Papers and New York Herald, and official copies sent to purchasers to whom tickets have been sent by letter.

AYER'S

CHERRY PECTORAL

For Diseases of the Throat and Lungs, such as Coughs, Colds, Whooping Cough, Bronchitis, Asthma and Consumption.

The few compositions, which have won the confidence of physicians and become household words among not only one but many nations, must have extraordinary virtues. Perhaps no one ever secured so wide a reputation or maintained it so long as AYER'S CHERRY PECTORAL. It has been known to the public about fifty years, by a long continued series of marvellous cures, which have won for it a confidence in its virtues, never equalled by any other medicines. It still makes the most effectual cures of Coughs, Colds, Consumption, that can be made by medical skill. Indeed the CHERRY PECTORAL, has really robbed these dangerous diseases of their terrors, to a great extent, and given a feeling of immunity from their fatal effects, which is well founded, it the remedy be taken in season. Every family should have it in their closet for the ready and prompt relief of its members. Sickness, suffering, and even life is saved by this timely protection. The prudent should not neglect it, and the wise will not. Keep it by you for the protection it affords in sudden attacks, and by its timely use.

R. H. EDDY,
SOLICITOR OF PATENTS,
For Inventions, Trade Marks or Designs,
NO. 765 STATE ST., OPPOSITE KILBY ST., BOSTON,

After an extensive practice of upwards of thirty years, continues to secure patents in the United States; also in Great Britain, France and other foreign countries. Caveats, Specifications, Assignments, and all papers for Patents, executed on reasonable terms with dispatch. Researches made to determine the validity and utility of Patents of Inventions, and legal and other advice rendered in all matters touching the same. Copies of the claims of any patent furnished, by remitting one dollar. Assignments recorded in Washington.

No Agency in the United States possesses superior facilities for obtaining Patents or ascertaining the patentability of inventions.

All necessity of a journey to Washington to procure a Patent and the usual great delay there, are here saved inventors.

TESTIMONIALS.

"I regard Mr. Eddy as one of the most capable and successful practitioners with whom I have had official intercourse." CHARLES MASON, Commissioner of Patents."

"I have no hesitation in assuring inventors that they cannot employ a man more competent and trustworthy, and one more capable of putting their applications in form to secure for them an early and favorable consideration at the Patent Office. EDMUND BURKE, Late Commissioner of Patents."

"MR. R. H. EDDY has made for me over THIRTY applications for Patents, having been successful in almost every case. Such unmistakable proof of great talent and ability on his part leads me to recommend ALL inventors to apply to him to procure their Patents, as they may be sure of having the most faithful attention bestowed on their cases, and at very reasonable charges.

For the terrible diseases engendered by the lung-trying climate of New England,

Pulmocine Cordial

Is a speedy and reliable Preventive and Remedy. EVERY FAMILY should have a bottle at hand to check the sudden growth of all Pulmonary Diseases. For the Asthma, Coughs, Croups, Laryngitis, or inflammation of the larynx, Diphtheria, and all kindred DISEASES AND PAINS at all times prevalent, it is the choice of PREVENTION. Children attacked with Whooping Cough or Croup should be immediately cured for. These painful attacks come with scarcely a moment's warning, when a physician may be out of immediate reach. A dose of PULMOCINE CORDIAL gives speedy relief, and the little ones are spared hours of pain and agony. As "a stitch in time saves nine," so does the possession of this FAMILY MEDICINE prevent the spread of disease. Parents seeing their children gasping with pain, friends and relatives beholding each other in peril from suffocation by the choking pain in the throat, paralyzed with fear and not knowing the best course to pursue, are liable to apply the wrong remedial agents. There is no safety in delay, no time to waste in such cases. CONSUMPTION, that inevitable scourge of the human race, lies at the door of all this sufferer. BUCHMAN'S PULMOCINE CORDIAL arrests it (unless in its advanced stage at which time there is no local cure) relieves the pressing, suffocating feeling at the lungs, and the patient's danger is past.

Buchman's Pulmocine Cordial

BUCHMAN'S PULMOCINE CORDIAL is no new discovery. Twenty-three years ago it was used by one of New England's most famous physicians as the best PULMONARY CURATIVE he could prescribe, after a dozen years spent in experimenting with it before he was satisfied that the Materia Medica could add nothing to its favor.

Is the ultima thule of Medical Discovery.

Among its many ingredients are WILD CHERRY BARK, SQUILL ROOT, LIQUORICE ROOT, BLOOD ROOT, &c. It is a BLOOD PURIFIER, gently stimulating. It increases expectoration and is diuretic. It is sudorific and alterative. It is a necessary family medicine. It is a Tonic, and a powerful aid to the digestive organs. It is a gentle sedative, and relieves nervousness. It is aromatic and agreeable to the taste.

For Coughs, Croup, Diphtheria, Asthma, &c.

USE BUCHMAN'S PULMOCINE CORDIAL.

The Pulmocine Cordial is not a quack medicine, is not an experiment, is not composed of any ingredients "discovered" by "walking in pastures" in South America or anywhere else, nor by one who discovered a weed and thereby cured himself. Most of the ingredients are such as our best educated physicians daily use for the complaints specified, in some form or other. The recipe is that perfected by one of New England's most learned and famous physicians, who used it entirely in his daily practice until his death. It is offered to the profession and to the public, absolutely pure and unadulterated.

BRIGGS' ALLEVANTOR is composed of Ammonia, Chloroform, Spirits of Camphor, Tinctures of Lupulina, Oil of Juniper, and Alcohol. This compound is unequalled in the annals of medicine for the cure of Nervous or Sick Headache, Neuralgia, Trembling or Twitching of the Nerves, and all Nervous Diseases. It will counteract all poisons, banish pimples, cure scaly eruptions, itching, humors, &c.; it equalizes the circulation, invigorates the system, increases the action of the heart, without exciting the brain, cures Heartburn, Palpitation and Fluttering of the Heart, Dyspepsia, &c. Briggs' Allevantor absolutely possesses more curative properties than any other preparation. Physicians, chemists, and others are requested to examine and test the remedy, and $1000 will be paid if found different from representation.

COUCHS. Much has been said and written, and many remedies have been offered for the relief and cure of throat and lung diseases; but nothing has been so eminently successful, or obtained such a wide celebrity, as Briggs' Throat and Lung Healer.

CORNS! The excruciating pain caused by Corns, the unceasing twinging from Bunions, the piercing, distressing pain from Ingrowing Nails, cannot be described. Thousands suffer, not knowing there is a cure. Briggs' Corn and Bunion Remedies are no acid or potash compounds, but are reliable, soothing, and effectual, and just merit the success they have earned from appreciative public. The Curative is a healing ointment; immediate relief is obtained by its application, and it will positively cure the worst cases of Festered Corns, inflamed and Ulcerated Bunions, the sore-est, the largest and severest Blisters, the most extensive Callosities on the soles or heels of the feet, unequalled in the cure of Chilblains or Frosted Feet. The Allevantor for ordinary corns and preventing their formation is absolutely unexcelled by anything ever known.

PILES have been a terror to mankind for centuries, and almost every attempt to cure them has been baffled. By unceasing study and experimenting, Dr. Briggs has discovered an absolutely cure for internal, bleeding, external, and itching piles. Briggs' Pile Remedies are mild, safe and sure.

For sale by J. H. THACHER, WM. R. PRESTON, Portsmouth; JAMES O. TREFETHEN, Kittery; E. S. SAYFORD, Kittery Point; H. M. CURTIS, Newcastle, and dealers generally.

CORNS, Bunions, Bad Nails, and all other diseases of the feet, Scrofulous and Cancerous Humors, Piles, etc., skillfully treated at the great central Chiropodical and Healing Institute, No. 765 Broadway, New York. DR. J. BRIGGS, President; DR. ALEXANDER WEBBER, Secretary. 8p9

Maine Election.

Oxford County last year gave 457 Republican majority. This year the Oxford Republicans give about 700 majority for Perham and elect their whole county ticket by over 750 majority, and every Republican representative. That will do for a county claimed by the Democrats!

Can any one explain the overwhelming defeat of Pike in the fifth district? This district was regarded both by Republicans and Democrats as very close, yet Pike is buried beneath 2,500 majority. We suspect the Democrats down there saw an excellent opportunity to step over into the Republican party and took advantage of it.—Portland Advertiser.

Lewiston gives the largest Republican majority of any town or city in Maine—643.

Returns indicate that the majority for Hersey in the 4th congressional district will be 5000. This is the largest majority ever given in the district.

The News.

Right Rev. Bishop Manton Eastman, D. D., is dead.

The Vermont State fair had a very successful opening at St. Johnsbury. Horace Greeley was present, and delivered the annual address.

Admiral Winslow, who commanded the Kearsarge when she sank the Alabama, will receive $24,000 as his share of the prize money.

The oil works of William Lincoln & Co. at East Cambridge were totally destroyed by fire, Thursday night. The loss will probably reach $100,000.

A hurricane has visited the Windward Islands. Vessels are ashore at St. Kitts, Guadaloupe and Martinique and great damage was done. At Dominica vessels and wharves were dashed to pieces and many lives lost.

DeForest Patterson, who was sentenced about a year ago to two years and a half in the Massachusetts State Prison has just been released, it having been shown that he was legally married to the woman with whom he had been living, both parties supposing that a divorce granted her first husband gave her also the right to remarry.

Charles O'Conor.

The nominee of the Louisville convention declining to accept, the committee appointed to notify him have replied that they see nothing in the declination to prevent them from voting for him as President of the United States. They therefore propose to proceed with the organization, confident that the movement will result in giving him the support of the Democratic party.

Political.

A battalion of Grant Guards is forming in Exeter.

Herbert Brown of Hampton Falls, sixteen years old, handled a pistol carelessly, and a bullet passed down through his leg via the knee.

The Republicans of the second Councillor district nominated Hon. B. J. Cole of Lake Village for Elector, on the 12th.

The Republicans of Lynn held an immense ratification meeting and were addressed by Wendell Phillips.

The Albany Journal says: "New York will cast her vote for Grant by a majority as overwhelming as was ever recorded for any Presidential candidate in the State.

The Republicans of this city had quite a jubilee on Monday night, as the glad news from Maine was being received by telegraph at the City Hall. The Dover Cornet Band were out, and cheers, music and impromptu speeches occupied the time. Hon. E. H. Rollins, recently chairman of the State Central Committee, being present, was called out, and made a most eloquent and stirring speech, which was frequently applauded. The Greeleyites present, who heard his remarks about the position Greeley has occupied at different times and the humiliating position he occupies to-day, in contrast with the past record and present noble position of President Grant, must have concluded that he was not a very valuable accession to the "lost cause."—Dover Enq'r.

The Concord Monitor says "Portsmouth is an attractive place to live in. Two of her citizens, and young men, too, have within the past few months declined salaries of $10,000 to go to other cities."

The nomination of Hon. Frank Jones, the most popular Democrat of this region, for candidate for elector, is a notice to Republicans to work earnestly for their coming victory and not wait for the victory to win itself. The demonstration of Thursday evening was a fine one, and shows that the party is united and can be relied on. Heretofore there have always been Republicans who, when Mr. Jones has been a candidate for office, have shown their friendship for him by giving him their votes. In this campaign, however, Mr. Jones' popularity will avail him less than in former contests, for the reason that in voting for him Republicans would only contribute towards the election of Horace Greeley to the Presidency. This time Mr. Jones is running on Horace Greeley's merits—not on his own.

Gen. Banks presided at the Liberal Republican Convention at Worcester, thus capping his apostacy to the party to which he owes all that he has ever been. This renegade has forfeited every claim to the respect of his old party associates, who at first regretted his departure, but who have since been reconciled to the loss(?) of him. When this man was Governor of this State he was the most popular man in New England, but now he is conspicuous only as an example of what dissipation and petty political ambition will do for a man, who has now demonstrated that his whole life has been a political masquerade. —Boston News.

The New York Herald says the Liberal and Democratic Conventions at Concord "wearily adjourned," and that the object of the movement was a more thorough organization of the Democrats in the vain endeavor to carry the State next March, the re-election of President Grant being "a thing virtually accomplished."

The national republican executive committee held a meeting in New York on Wednesday. In an interview with Hon. William E. Chandler, secretary of the committee, that gentleman stated that in New Hampshire, from which State he had just returned, the liberal republican strength was very inconsiderable. New Hampshire, Mr. Chandler believes, will give 3000 majority for Grant and Wilson. Rhode Island will also give a good republican majority, and Connecticut may also be relied upon. The contest in Indiana, Mr. Chandler believes, will be close. The republican majority will not probably run over 5000.

The Republicans of Manchester had a grand rally at Smyth's Hall, Thursday night, and were addressed by General Harlan of Kentucky. A torchlight procession marched through the principal streets. The meeting was enthusiastic.

State News.

A barn and part of a house in Manchester, belonging to Thomas Connors, were destroyed by fire, Wednesday night. The loss was about $1000, and the property was insured.

The dwelling-house, two barns and carriage house, with four horses and a large amount of hay, grain, carriages and harnesses belonging to Leonard Gerrish, about two miles from Franklin, were destroyed by fire, Thursday morning. Cause unknown. Loss, $9000; insurance $5600.

The Republicans of the Third Councillor District have nominated Phineas Adams, Esq., of Manchester, for Elector.

HUMORS OF LETTER WRITING.—When postage was high, says a writer in Temple Bar, letters were luxuries in which persons, far above the condition of those who are called poor, could not often indulge. We cannot give a better illustration of this than one we find in a letter addressed by Mr. Collins, the artist, to his brother (in 1816) when the landscape painter was twenty years of age. Collins was then at Hastings sketching, and had invited his brother to come down from Saturday to Monday. "The whole amount of the expense would be the coach, provided you put two biscuits in your pocket, which would answer as lunch; and I would have dinner for you, which would not increase my expenditure above tenpence. I shall be at the place where the coach stops for you, should you be able to come. Write me nothing about it unless you have other business, for a letter costs a dinner." This was the artist who was overjoyed to receive £50 for his "Cromer Sands," the picture for which, at the sale of the Gillott collection, a purchaser was found to give, quite as joyously, 3780 guineas.

Letters to children are as difficult to write as books for children. Crabb Robinson stands at the head of all indicters of little epistles to little folk. He is not in the vein of Jeffrey to his grand-daughter, as in "I send you my blessing and wish I was kissing your sweet rosy lips or your fat finger tips." Robinson comes nearer to Hood, only that he could not stoop to use old jokes as well as make new. The two are together in the following paragraph in Hood's letter to May, one of Dr. Eliot's daughters, "Tell Dunnie that Tom has set his trap in the balcony, and has caught a cold; and tell Jeanie that Fannie has set her foot in the garden, but it has not come up yet. * * The other night, when I came from Stratford, the cold shrivelled me up so when I got home I thought I was my own child."

The best thing Crabb Robinson did in this way was by surprising a girl, who said she did not know how to write a letter to her brother, by proving to her that she was a perfect letter writer. She had asked Robinson to suggest all the subjects. He proposed, purposely, something untrue, then something silly; but both were rejected by the child on the ground of their untruthfulness and silliness. This process went on until the child adopted such subjects as were adapted to her purpose, and she found she was a good letter writer without knowing it.

We conclude with an unpublished letter from an American lady, who some quarter of a century ago aspired to be the instructor of children. The quaintness and simplicity, for it is all sober earnestness, are worthy of being preserved: "Dear Sir:—Having heard that you are in want of a governess for your children, I write to offer myself as a candidate for that post. My acquirements are English in all its branches, French, German, music, which I play well, singing, painting, drawing and dancing. My age is just twenty-right. I am a lady by birth, high-spirited, and, I am sorry to say, slightly quick tempered, but still very fond of children, like wise of gentlemen's society. I am rather delicate, and when not as well as usual require a few tempting viands. I hope, if you decide in having me for your children as their governess, that you will allow me the entre of your drawing rooms at all times, and that you will allow me to join in all your domestic amusements. I wish to inform you that I have been in the habit of receiving £60 (sixty pounds) per annum, or fifty pounds (£50) with laundress, and all travelling expenses paid. You may be glad to hear that I have an elegant figure, small hands and feet, and am, if my friends and admirers are to be believed, engaging."

USE BUCHMAN'S PULMOCINE CORDIAL for all throat diseases. For sale at the Union Store.

TAKE COURAGE, INVALIDS.—Pain and weakness produce despondency, and the invalid who is laboring under bodily torture, debility and mental depression, at the same time is indeed in a pitiable condition. But let all who are thus situated take heart. A balm is provided both for their physical and mental infirmities in Hostetter's Stomach Bitters. Among the commonest sources of pain, uneasiness and melancholy are the diseases which affect the stomach, the liver, the alimentary canal, the nerves and the muscles, such as dyspepsia, bilious disorders, constipation, headache, hysteria, and rheumatism, all of which yield readily to the regulating, invigorating and purifying influence of this peerless vegetable tonic, stimulant and restorative. Take courage, sorrowful invalids; you will find the help you need in Hostetter's Bitters.

LIKE "QUAKER'S GUNS."—Artificial teeth are of little use and easily detected. Take care of the real ones. All you need is fragrant SOZODONT; use it daily and your teeth will be the last of nature's gifts to fail you.

USE BUCHMAN'S PULMOCINE CORDIAL for all throat diseases. For sale at the Union Store.

IN EVERY QUARTER OF THE GLOBE where it is known, and there are few indeed where it is not, the Marshall Candlestick takes precedence of all similar preparations. Its transcendant merits have obtained for it a popularity seldom reached by any proprietary medicine. In its infancy the flat of its success was pronounced in the wide-spread endorsement which it received from physicians, veterinary surgeons, horsemen and the public generally. No one now thinks of questioning its claim to be considered the Standard Liniment of America.

HOLLOWAY'S PILLS AND OINTMENT.—Dyspepsia is the most depressing of human ailments. The Pills will cure it in ten days! The Ointment is equally sure and speedy in its opperation on sores and eruptions. Sold 78 Maiden Lane, N. Y. Price 25 cents per box or pot. Ask for new style; old is counterfeited. 15

SYMPTOMS OF CATARRH.—Dull, heavy headache, obstruction of Nasal passages, discharge falling into throat, sometimes profuse, watery, acrid, thick and tenacious mucous, purulent, muco-purulent bloody, putrid, offensive, etc. In others a dryness, dry, watery, weak, or inflamed eyes, ringing in ears, deafness, hawking and coughing to clear throat, ulcerations, scabs from ulcers, voice altered, nasal twang, offensive breath, impeared smell and taste, dizziness, mental depression, tickling cough, etc. Only a few of the above symptoms are likely to be present in any case at one time. The proprietor of DR SAGE'S CATARRH REMEDY will pay $500 reward for a case of Catarrh which he cannot cure. Sold by Druggists at 50 cents. 608.

THE THIEF who was arrested for robbing Parsons' store in this town, was found to have a quantity of Ayer's Hair Vigor in his possession. When asked why he wished to steal that article, he answered that he "wanted to restore his hair, for it was hard to be a thief and bald too." If that invention of the great chemist could restore a faded character as effectually as it does their natural beauty to bald and grey heads, it would surely be, as they say it now is, truly invaluable.—Lewiston (Me.,) Journal.

USE BUCHMAN'S PULMOCINE CORDIAL for all throat diseases. For sale at the Union Store.

PILES.—The unceasing torture from internal bleeding, external and itching piles is fast wearing away the thousands of those who are afflicted and their hope and courage have long since given place to despair. Let those who see this cheer up, for a mild and sure cure may be had by using BRIGGS' PILE REMEDIES.

DECAY'S EFFACING FINGER.—Will never mar the teeth that are brushed daily with Odenferous SOZODONT. It lends a floral fragrance to the breath as well as protects the teeth from corrosion and decomposition.

CORNS.—Since pride and fashion have had control of mankind, and shoemakers were compelled to make boots and shoes to fit fancy instead of she feet, the suffering from Corns, Bunions, Ingrowing Nails, Sore Insteps, Blistered Heels, Callosities on the bottom of the feet, &c., cannot be described. But Briggs' Corn and Bunion Remedies will cure all such torments, and proper fitting boots will prevent their reproduction. Sold by all druggists. a12

LOCAL AFFAIRS.

The Torchlight Parade

Thursday evening, in honor of the glorious Republican victory in Maine, brought out two hundred Grant and Wilson Guards, (including the Juniors, forty-eight in number,) in uniform and with torches, with the Marine Band; and the crowds of people—men, women and children — in the streets through which the procession passed, were immense, reminding us of the firemen's muster of last year. As the procession started, the thunder of artillery came booming over the river from Kittery, and the announcement that the gallant Republicans of that place were firing one hundred guns in honor of the glorious victory in their State and town, detracted nothing from the pleasure of the occasion. Many residences along the route were brilliant with lights and gorgeous with bunting and pictures; on Cabot and Middle Streets in particular the display was very fine, and State and Pleasant Streets made a good show.

The house of J. F. Shores, Esq., corner of Middle Street and Richards Avenue, was a blaze of light and attracted much attention. C. A. Shannon and J. M. Knapp had their house on North Street finely illuminated with Chinese lanterns and candles, and an illuminated picture of President Grant, surrounded with flags, produced a fine effect; flags and streamers were also employed to embellish the hall.

Among the illuminations not on the route of the procession, worthy of especial mention, were those at the residences of Messrs. George Vandenhoff on Deer Street and Frank W. Miller at Lincoln Hill. At the latter place, the illuminations seemed like pyramids of light and attracted much attention, being plainly visible from Middle and Palesant Streets.

The prolonged and vociferous cheering of the Guards as they passed under the various Grant and Wilson flags or by the lighted houses of Republicans along their route, was probably anything but a cheering sound to the Greeleyites; but the numbers out and the spirit they displayed were a good answer to the twaddle about "the demoralization of the Grant party" in this city. The procession broke up soon after 9 o'clock, all concerned—meaning the entire Republican party of the city—voting it a grand success.

Laconics.

We regret to record the death, on the 10th, after a severe illness of three weeks' duration, of D. Jackson Bigelow, Esq., of the book publishing firm of Thompson, Bigelow & Brown of Boston. Mr. Bigelow was a native of this city, but for the past twenty years has resided in Boston. He was an enterprising and respected merchant.

Good news seldom comes from the Democratic press. But here is some! They say 1500 New Hampshire workmen are to be taken on the Navy Yard. As there are not over 500 Republicans who need work there, and as it is said the Yard is a "Republican vote manufactory," it follows that 1000 Democrats must be going on the Yard to earn some money and vote against Greeley, the Baltimore-Republican candidate for President. In this case, then, full five hundred Portsmouth Democrats will rally for the Navy Yard "stamps" and more than overbalance the half dozen Republicans here who declared a month ago that they would desert their old friends and vote for Greeley and now are too proud to take the back track. 'Tis well.

A loose horse created quite an excitement near the Franklin House, Thursday evening, just after the Republican procession broke up. The street and sidewalks were filled with people, and the horse, frightened by the crowd and the torches, charged around among them to their no small consternation, a young woman backing through the window of Sanborn's confectionery store, to the serious demoralization of the glass, in endeavoring to escape.

It will be remembered that among the foolish falsehoods published by the Lyre was a statement, several weeks ago, that Mr. Chas. B. Gafney, a prominent young lawyer and Republican of Rochester, had deserted his friends and would vote for Greeley. At the time, to make the force of the statement stronger, the author of the falsehood paid a deserved compliment to Mr. Gafney for refusing to accept a sinecure clerkship at the Navy Yard. Mr. Gafney, as we supposed would be the case, is an earnest supporter of Grant and Wilson and declares his intention of aiding to his utmost in the election of the Republican electoral ticket.

Capt. Jedediah Rand's corn beats the crowd. Here are eleven ears (one blighted) grown in 1871—all in a cluster. Of what mortal use it could be to raise corn that-a-way, we have no idea—but if some lady would like to use the cluster as a "bustle," for which it is evidently shaped, she can have the same on application at this office.

Portsmouth gave Grant 1122 votes and 222 majority in 1868—and will do better in 1872.

Our evening cotemporary referred to the figures of the Maine election as "dry details." In the Republican procession, Thursday evening, a response was found on a transparency:—"Dry reading for the times—18,000 Republican majority in Maine."

Willie, of the local Greeleyite organ, in the exuberance of his desire to "clasp hands across the bloody chasm" which has hitherto separated the Republican and copperhead parties, calls the Grant and Wilson Guards by the pet name of "Squash Bugs." Probably a playful allusion to the deadly blight they will cause to the prize pumpkin of Chappaqua.

A New York Herald reporter is responsible for an excellent pun at Rye. When the guests at the residence of Mr. G. H. Jenness took up the line of march for the clam-bake at the Beach, with Horace Greeley at their head, Mr. Shanks, looking back and seeing the company a large one, remarked, "There's quite an exodus from Jenness's."

The flag tenders whose duty it is to shake out the campaign flags about the city when they get "hung up," will doubtless feel relieved when the Presidential election is over. The September breezes have a persevering habit of twisting them around the halyards, much to the disgust of the individuals in charge.

Hon. Daniel Marcy and other gentlemen are having the keel laid for a large first-class ship, at Neal's shipyard in Kittery.

The much postponed game of base ball between the Star club of Peabody, Mass., and a Portsmouth picked nine, may be played this afternoon at the Plains.

Origen S. Caswell, Esq., of Gosport, has leased Rollins' wharf and is to go into the wholesale fish business. Success to him.

Senator Butler of Biddeford is so overjoyed at the Maine election that he invites us to go grey-squirrel-hunting. We accept, and will venture on the war path as Winkle and Pickwick.

The Concord People thinks "folks of the Joseph kind are pretty scarce at the summer resorts."

The value of advertising is shown by the result attendant upon the advertising of railroad tickets for sale for the South and West by Chas. E. Shedd & Co. Mr. Shedd informs us that since he began advertising in the CHRONICLE, a few weeks ago, his sales have increased to the amount of $3000 more than at any corresponding period. To all who are travelling we commend Mr. Shedd as a gentleman who can obtain accommodations for them at short notice, and furnish transportation as cheap as any agent in the New England States.

A fine exhibition of billiard playing was witnessed by the friends of two amateurs at the Rockingham House on Wednesday evening. The game was 1000 points and the winner averaged 24 and a fraction,—in 42 innings, making two runs of 99 each, and going out on a run on which he had made 96. The loser made 606 points, averaging 14 43-100. The game occupied an hour and three quarters and was a remarkable affair.

The Democrats are to patronize the Salisbury gathering on the 17th because Greeley is to be there; but that is no reason why Republicans should absent themselves.

Stratham sends 2900 gallons of milk to Boston, weekly.

A subscriber is anxious to have us publish a list of the officers of the Greeley Greybacks, and to let him know how many men are enrolled in that organization. We regret that the Greeley organ in this city has not seen fit to give any report of the proceedings of the meeting which was called for the purpose of organizing a company of "Greeley and Brown Guards," nor to publish the names of the illustrious commanders. The report so industriously circulated that only six men appeared who were willing to "organize,"—in this city, too, where is such "tremendous enthusiasm" for Greeley and Brown,—is so manifestly absurd as to require no contradiction. But we cannot inform our querist how many Greybacks there are; he must wait till they parade, and count them—not a long job, probably, once it is commenced, though the indications are that it will be a long time before he will have a chance to commence it.

The appointment of Alfred F. Howard, Esq., to be Deputy Collector of the Port of Portsmouth vice Joseph M. Edmonds, deceased, is an eminently fit selection and shows sagacity on the part of Collector Bailey in obtaining a person so well qualified for the onerous duties of the position. The appointment gives great satisfaction to Democrats and Republicans alike, and we hope Mr. Howard will be induced to accept it.

The Greeleyites about town take a cursory view of the political situation.

A town meeting was held at Gosport on Thursday, at which it was unanimously voted to deed the common lands of the town to N. F. Mathes, Esq., providing he pays a portion of the war debt and taxes of 1871 and 1872 equal to the propotion that the individuals who sold their land to him recently were liable for, amounting to about $3800. He has purchased the property of all but two residents. Some of the inhabitants will remain and others are to remove. The town will continue a corporate organization, its present houses be utilized for occupation by summer guests, a new hotel and wharf built and a large steamer put on the route from Portsmouth. Mr. Mathes has taken hold of the matter with his usual energy and will develope a great business at the new watering place by next year.

Col. Charles G. Pickering has arrived home from Europe after a six month's absence.

The parade of the Grant and Wilson Guards and Tanners, Thursday evening, annoyed the office seekers' organ so much that it devoted nearly half of its local department next day to slurs and sneers at the torch bearers.

Monday is the heaviest day for letters, showing that most people write on Sunday, while Thursday has the largest paper mail, more weekly papers being sent on that day.

The quantity of mail matter is constantly increasing. Since the last act of Congress any package not chargeable with letter postage and weighing not over twelve ounces can be sent any distance for one cent per ounce. Thus a pair of boots, if neither weighs over twelve ounces, by being done up separately can be sent from Maine to California for twenty-four cents.

A new postal and express car passed through to Bangor on Monday. It is a superior specimen of work throughout, built at the Eastern railroad car shop at Salem, under the personal supervision of J. P. Somerby, master car builder. The interior is finished entirely in light, native wood, presenting a most cheerful appearance, while the outside is painted a delicate shade of buff, and handsomely lettered. A correspondent speaking of the amount of mailing over the Eastern Road, says that very few people not connected with the department have any adequate idea of the amount of mail distribution in these travelling post offices. The number and amount of letters and papers constantly travelling to their destination is simply enormous.

From the Portsmouth Journal.

—The District Court holds a session here Tuesday, the 17th.

—See the advertisement of Mac Evoy's Combination for Saturday and Monday evenings.

—Several summer cottages will probably be built near the beach at Newcastle in season for next summer.

—There is some talk of forming a Grant and Wilson cavalry company here in connection with the Guards.

—Cider making has begun in this vicinity. There will be a large quantity barrelled, and it promises to be cheap.

—The great tradegienne Booth is to appear here October 3d and 4th, and will probably present Macbeth and Hamlet.

—No fault can be found with the manner which Congress, Market and Pleasant Streets have been sprinkled this season.

—The chapel on Fleet Street, occupied for many years by the Congregationalists, is being converted into a dwelling house.

—The Public Library project seems to have gone among the files of "dead issues," like the City Hall, and Park, and Richards' Avenue improvements.

—"At Rye" is the title of a delightfully written story by Harriet Prescott Spofford of Newburyport, published in the last number (38) of Harper's Bazar.

—We learn that farmers in this vicinity look with favor upon the proposed project of running a daily milk car from this city to Boston, commencing October 1st.

—The Knights of Pythias had a picnic and excursion to Wood Island, Thursday, going down in the steam tug Clara Bateman. A chowder was indulged in, and a good time gen-erally.

—At a meeting of the School Committee held on Friday evening, it was decided by a vote of eight to six to substitute the Greenleaf series of Arithmetic for Walton's series, which are now used.

—The first horse trot of the season here is to take place at the Rockingham Park next Tuesday between "Southerner," owned by Frank Jones of this city, and "Kentucky Chief," owned by H. B. Stott of New Market, for a purse of $300.

—A transparency, lettered "Republican Headquarters" in large black letters on a white ground, and extending the entire length of the building on Congress street in which the club room is situated, was put in place Thursday afternoon. When illuminated it presents a fine appearance.

—The Eastern Railroad Company is running excursion trains to North Conway and the White Mountains at reduced rates. This being a pleasant time to travel, and the Eastern Railroad, with its luxurious palace cars, so pleasant to travel on, we doubt not that many will avail themselves of this opportunity.

—During a recent visit of our worthy Mayor, T. E. O. Marvin, to St. Johns, a most cordial greeting was given him by the officials and citizens when it became known that he was at the head of the municipality of Portsmouth, and wherever he appeared he was feted in the most sumptuous manner, and hailed on the public squares as "His Worshipful",—such an unexpected outburst of popular feeling, in fact, as at times completely staggered our usually self-possessed Mayor, but who, however, with characteristic grace and feeling acknowledged the compliments as a happy "renewal of friendly relations between foreign powers."

—Mr. James F. Hartshorn, of this city, attends as Grand Representative, the forty-eighth annual session of the R. W. Grand Lodge of the United States which commences in Baltimore Monday next. The coming session will no doubt be an important one, as the Grand Officers for the next two years are to be elected, and several amendments to the constitution to be acted upon, the most important of which are to change the title of the Grand Lodge from "the Grand Lodge of the United States" to "the Grand Lodge of America;" to lengthen the term of Representatives from two to four years, and make the sessions "biennial." An effort will probably be made to lengthen the terms of subordinate Lodges to one year.

MARRIAGES.

AYER'S HAIR VIGOR

FOR RESTORING GRAY HAIR

TO ITS NATURAL VITALITY AND COLOR.

Advancing years, sickness, care, disappointment, and hereditary predisposition, all turn the hair gray; neither of them dispposes to fall of prematurely, and either effect is unsightly and unpleasant to behold. DR. AYER'S compounds skill has produced an antidote for these deformities, which has won gratitude for him from multitudes of men and women. His HAIR VIGOR sometimes reproduces lost hair; and always restores to faded and gray hair its natural color, with the gloss and freshness of youth. The comparatively few bald and gray heads, that we now see, are those who have not yet discovered the virtues of AYER'S HAIR VIGOR for renewing the hair. The fresh and youthful hair we see on older heads often the product of the art. If you are disfigured, or made old, austere and ugly, by gray hair, restore its youthful color, and with your features to their original softness and agreeable expression.

As an elegant dressing for beautifying the Hair, it has no superior.

CAUTION.

THE immense demand for HOLLOWAY'S PILLS and OINTMENT, has tempted unprincipled parties to counterfeit these valuable medicines.

In order to protect the public and ourselves, we have issued a new "Trade Mark," consisting of an Egyptian circle of a serpent, with the letter H in the centre. Every box of genuine HOLLOWAY'S PILLS and OINTMENT will have this trade mark on it; none are genuine without it.

AYER'S PURGATIVE PILLS.

For all the purposes of a Family Physic,

CURING

Costiveness, Jaundice, Dyspepsia, Indigestion, Dysentery, Foul Stomach, Erysipelas, Headache, Piles, Rheumatism, Eruptions and Skin Diseases, Billiousness, Liver Complaint, Dropsy, Tetter, Tumors and Salt Rheum, Worms, Gout, Neuralgia, as a Dinner Pill, and Purifying the Blood,

Are the most congenial purgative yet perfected. Their effects abundantly show how much they excel all other Pills. They are safe and pleasant to take, but powerful to cure. They purge out the foul humors of the blood; they stimulate the sluggish or disordered organ into action, and they impart health and tone to the whole being. They cure not only the every day complaints of every body, but formidable and dangerous diseases. Most eminent clergymen, most skillful physicians, and our best citizens send certificates of cures performed, and of great benefits they have derived from these Pills. They are the safest and best physic for children, because mild as well as effectual. Being sugar coated, they are easy to take; and being purely vegetable, they are entirely harmless.

The Singer

SEWING MACHINE

STILL LEADS THE MARKET.

The Success of the Company is far beyond that of any other similar concern; the

Daily Manufacture

— OF —

400 OF THE SINGERS

Failing to Supply the Constant Demand.

All other machines call the public attention to some new loop or stitch or tension or finish, some advantage in running or needles or feed or prices —and many of these are as we have said very good points, and the agents selling them use them to divert entirely the would-be purchaser from fairly considering the facts in the case; but the

seems to unite the good qualities of all, and is never found wanting.

THE SINGER

IS THE

OLDEST

SEWING MACHINE

IN THE MARKET,

All others being copied from its first model. It does two-thirds the sewing done in this country and preserves its advantages over all others combined.

It is readily kept clean, and has THE BEST TENSION EVER INVENTED; it is higher speeded and requires but little power to run; it works equally well upon the finest and heaviest goods; it does all the varieties of work known to the art.

N. B. Those purchasing for cash, before the 1 of January next, will have a consideration allowed them.

AYER'S

SARSAPARILLA

FOR PURIFYING THE BLOOD.

A medicine that cures is a real public blessing. AYER'S SARSAPARILLA makes positive cure of a series of complaints, which are always afflicting and too often fatal. It purifies the blood, purges out the lurking humors in the system, which undermine health and settle into troublesome disorders. Eruptions of the skin are the appearance on the surface of humors that should be expelled from the blood. Internal derangements are the determination of these same humors to some internal organ, or organs, whose action they derange, and whose substance they disease and destroy. AYER'S SARSAPARILLA expels these humors from the blood. When they are gone, the disorders they produce disappear, such as Ulcerations of the Liver, Stomach, Kidneys, Lungs, Eruptions and Eruptive Diseases of the skin, St. Anthony's Fire, Rose or Erysipelas, Pimples, Pustules, Blotches, Boils, Tumors, Tetter and Salt Rheum, Scald Head, Ringworm, Ulcers and Sores, Rheumatism, Neuralgia, Pain in the Bones, Side, and Head, Female Weakness, Sterility, Leucorrhœa arising from internal ulceration and uterine disease, Dropsy, Dyspepsia, Emaciation, and General Debility. With their departure health returns.

—There is a street in Elmira, N.Y., which "looks like an irregular ploughed field or an incomplete graveyard."

—It is a complaint against some young ministers that, while their bodies are in the pulpit their hearts are in the pews.

—The oldest inhabitant having got a new pair of pants of a rhubarb tint, is of the opinion that we will have more cider than rain this fall. — Danbury News.

—Two years ago a Connecticut man received a gross insult from a neighbor who lives a quarter of a mile or more from him. After long meditation he has now purchased a peacock and a jackass and anchored them in a field adjoining his neighbor's back yard. The neighbor has advertised his house forsale and he is satisfied.

—This is the way you make a Dolly Varden pie: Take about four yards of light dough, gather it up in tucks and flounces, crisp the edges, and fill up with fruit, then lay on the overskirt, fasten it with buttons of dough, connected with frills of the same and you will have a tasteful and elegant pie; only you must eat it, not wear it.

—Hon. John Carew, of Slawsons, is dead. Mr. Carew has been a prominent man for some years, and was the author of a series of addresses on matters pertaining to the government which are of considerable value. His life was devoted to the service of his country, and in a humble way he worked for its salvation, calling the opposition "liars" and "horse thieves" whenever opportunity offered. — Danbury News.

AYER'S HAIR VIGOR

FOR RESTORING GRAY HAIR TO ITS NATURAL VITALITY AND COLOR.

Advancing years, sickness, care, disappointment, and hereditary predisposition, all turn the hair gray; either of them disposes to fall off prematurely, and either effect is unsightly and unpleasant to behold. DR. AYER'S consummate skill has produced an antidote for these deformities, which has won gratitude for him from multitudes of men and women. His HAIR VIGOR sometimes reproduces lost hair; and always restores to faded and gray hair its natural color, with the gloss and freshness of youth. The comparatively few bald and gray heads, that we now see, are those who have not yet discovered the virtues of AYER'S HAIR VIGOR for renewing the hair. The fresh and youthful hair we see on older heads is often the product of his art. If you are disfigured, or made old, austere and ugly, by gray hair, restore its youthful color, and with your features to their original softness and agreeable expression.

As an elegant dressing for beautifying the Hair, it has no superior.

CAUTION.

THE immense demand for HOLLOWAY'S PILLS and OINTMENT, has tempted unprincipled parties to counterfeit these valuable medicines.

In order to protect the public and ourselves, we have issued a new "Trade Mark," consisting of an Egyptian circle of a serpent, with the letter H in the centre. Every box of genuine HOLLOWAY'S PILLS and OINTMENT will have this trade mark on it; none are genuine without it.

VEGETINE

The Great Blood Purifier.

A valuable Indian compound, for restoring the health, and for the permanent cure of all diseases arising from impurities of the blood, such as

Scrofula Scrofulous Humors, Cancers, Cancerous Humor Erysipelas, Canker, Salt Rheum, Pimples and Humors on the Face, Ulcers, Coughs, Catarrh, Bronchitis, Neuralgia, Pains in the Side, Rheumatism, Dyspepsia, Constipation Costiveness, Dizziness Piles, Headache, Nervousness, Faintness at the Stomach Pains in the Back, Kidney Complaints

Female Weakness, and General Debility.

This preparation is scientifically and chemically combined, and so strongly concentrated from roots, herbs and barks, that its good effects are realized immediately after commencing to take it. There is no disease of the human system for which the VEGETINE cannot be used with PERFECT SAFETY, as it does not contain any metallic compound. For eradicating the system of all impurities of the blood, it has no equal. It has never failed to effect a cure, giving tone and strength to the system debilitated by disease. Its wonderful effects upon these complaints are surprising to all. Many have been cured by the VEGETINE that have tried many other remedies. It can well be called

AYER'S

CHERRYPECTORAL

For Diseases of the Throat and Lungs, such as Coughs, Colds, Whooping Cough, Bronchitis, Asthma and Consumption.

The few compositions, which have won the confidence of mankind and become household words among not only one but many nations, must have extraordinary virtues. Perhaps no one ever secured so wide a reputation or maintained it so long as AYER'S CHERRY PECTORAL. It has been known to the public about forty years, by a long continued series of marvellous cures, which have won for it a confidence in its virtues, never equalled by any other medicines. It still makes the most effectual cures of Coughs, Colds, Consumption, that can be made by medical skill. Indeed the CHERRY PECTORAL has really robbed these dangerous diseases of their terrors, to a great extent, and given a feeling of immunity from their fatal effects, which is well founded, if the remedy be taken in season. Every family should have it in their closet for the ready and prompt relief of its members. Sickness, suffering, and even life is saved by this timely protection. The prudent should not neglect it, and the wise will not. Keep it by you for the protection it affords in sudden attacks, and by its timely use.

AMERICAN & FOREIGN PATENTS.

R. H. EDDY,
SOLICITOR OF PATENTS,
For Inventions, Trade Marks or Designs,
No. 76 STATE ST., OPPOSITE KILBY ST., BOSTON,

After an extensive practice of upwards of thirty years, continues to secure patents in the United States; also in Great Britain, France and other foreign countries. Caveats, Specifications, Assignments, and all papers for Patents, executed on reasonable terms with dispatch. Research made to determine the validity and utility of Patents of inventions, and legal and other advice rendered in all matters touching the same. Copies of the claims of any patent furnished, by remitting one dollar. Assignments recorded in Washington.

No Agency in the United States possesses superior facilities for obtaining Patents or ascertaining the patentability of inventions.

All necessity of a journey to Washington to procure a Patent and the usual great delay there, are here saved inventors.

TESTIMONIALS.

"I regard Mr. Eddy as one of the most capable and successful practitioner with whom I have had official intercourse. CHARLES MASON, Commissioner of Patents."

"I have no hesitation in assuring inventors that they cannot employ a man more competent and trustworthy and more capable of putting their applications in a form to secure for them an early and favorable consideration at the Patent Office. EDMUND BURKE, Late Commissioner of Patents."

"MR. R. H. EDDY has made for me over THIRTY applications for Patents, having been successful in almost every case. Such unmistakable proof of great talent and ability on his part leads me to recommend ALL inventors to apply to him to procure their Patents, as they may be sure of having the most faithful attention bestowed on their cases, and at very reasonable charges. JOHN TAGGART."

CLEAR YOUR THROAT!

Relieve Your Lungs.

For the terrible diseases engendered by the lung-trying climate of New England,

Pulmocine Cordial

Is a speedy and reliable Preventive and Remedy. EVERY FAMILY should have a bottle at hand to check the sudden growth of all Pulmonary Diseases. For the Asthma, Coughs, Croups, Laryngitis, or inflammation of the larynx, Diphtheria, and all kindred THROAT DISEASES at all times prevalent, it is the ounce of PREVENTION. Children attacked with Whooping Cough or Croup should be immediately cared for. These painful attacks come with scarcely a moment's warning, when a physician may be out of immediate reach. A dose of PULMOCINE CORDIAL gives speedy relief, and the little ones are spared hours of pain and agony. As "a stitch in time saves nine," so does the possession of this FAMILY MEDICINE prevent the spread of disease. Parents seeing their children gasping with pain, friends and relatives beholding each other in peril from suffocation by the choking pain in the throat, paralyzed with fear and not knowing the best course to pursue, are liable to apply the wrong remedial agents. There is no safety in delay, no time to waste in such cases. CONSUMPTION, that fearful scourge of the human race, lies at the door of all thus afflicted. BUCHMAN'S PULMOCINE CORDIAL arrests it (unless in its advanced stage at which time there is no local cure) relieves the pressing, suffocating feeling at the lungs, and the patient's danger is past.

Buchman's Pulmocine Cordial

BUCHMAN'S PULMOCINE CORDIAL is no new discovery. Twenty-three years ago it was used by one of New England's most famous physicians and is the best PULMONARY CURATIVE he could prescribe, after a dozen years spent in experimenting with it before he was satisfied that the Materia Medica could add nothing in its favor.

Is the ultima thule of Medical Discovery.

Among its many ingredients are WILD CHERRY BARK, SQUILL ROOT, LIQUORICE ROOT, BLOOD ROOT, &c. It is a BLOOD PURIFIER, gently stimulating. It increases expectoration and is diuretic. It is sudorific and alterative. It is a necessary family medicine. It is a Tonic, and a powerful aid to the digestive organs. It is a gentle sedative, and relieves nervousness. It is aromatic and agreeable to the taste.

For Coughs, Croup, Diphtheria, Asthma, &c.

USE BUCHMAN'S

PULMOCINE CORDIAL.

The Pulmocine Cordial is not a quack medicine, is not an experiment, is not composed of any ingredients "discovered" by "roaming in pastures" in South America or anywhere else, nor by one who discovered a weed and thereby cured himself. Most of the ingredients are such as our best educated physicians daily use for the complaints specified, in some form or other. The recipe is that perfected by one of New England's most learned and famous physicians, who used it entirely in his daily practice until his death. It is offered to the profession and to the public, absolutely pure and unadulterated.

BRIGGS' ALLEVANTOR is composed of Ammonia, Chloroform, Spirits of Camphor, Tincture of Lupuline, Oil of Juniper, and Alcohol. This compound is unequalled in the annals of medicine for the cure of Nervous or Sick Headache, Neuralgia, Trembling or Twitching of the Nerves, and all Nervous Diseases. It will counteract all poisons, banish pimples, cure scaly eruptions, itching, humors, &c.; it equalizes the circulation, invigorates the system, increases the action of the heart, without exciting the brain, cures Heartburn, Palpitation and Fluttering of the Heart, Dyspepsia, &c. Briggs' Allevantor absolutely possesses more curative properties than any other preparation. Physicians, chemists, and others are requested to examine and test the remedy, and $1000 will be paid if found different from representation.

COUGHS, Much has been said and many remedies have been offered for the relief and cure of throat and lung diseases; but nothing has been so eminently successful, or obtained such a wide celebrity, as Briggs' Throat and Lung Healer.

CORNS! The excruciating pain invariably produced by Corns, the unceasing twinging from Bunions, the piercing, distressing pain from Ingrowing Nails, cannot be described. Thousands suffer, not knowing there is a cure. Briggs' Corn and Bunion Remedies are no acid or potash compounds, but are reliable, soothing, and effectual, and just merit the success they have earned from an appreciative public. The Curative is a healing ointment; immediate relief is obtained by its application, and it will positively cure the worst cases of Festered Corns, Inflamed and Ulcerated Bunions, the sorest instep, the largest and severest Blisters, the most extensive Callosities on the soles or heels of the feet, unequalled in the cure of Chilblains or Frosted Feet. The Allevantor for ordinary corns and preventing their formation is absolutely unexcelled by anything ever known.

PILES have been a terror to mankind for centuries, and almost every attempt to cure them has been baffled. By unceasing study and experimenting, Dr. Briggs has discovered an absolutely cure for internal, bleeding, external, and itching piles. Briggs' Pile Remedies are mild, safe and sure.

For sale by J. H. TRAGHEN, WM. R. PRESTON, Portsmouth; JAMES O. TRAFTHEN, Kittery; E. S. SAFFORD, Kittery Point; H. M. CURTIS, Newcastle, and dealers generally.

CORNS, Bunions, Bad Nails, and other diseases of the feet, Scrofulous and Cancerous Humors, Piles, etc., skillfully treated at the great central Chiropodical and Healing Institute, No. 765 Broadway, New York. DR. J. BRIGGS, President; DR. ALEXANDER WEBBER, Secretary. sp9

Political.

New England is not the place where the strength of Greeleyism lies.—N. Y. Telegram.

You are right, Mr. Telegram. It "lies" in the columns of the Dolly Varden newspapers.

The Madison (Ga.) Bulletin, which has had the names of Greeley and Brown at its head, hauls them down and puts up Charles O'Conor,

On Thursday evening the citizens of South Berwick, Me., to the number of over one thousand, celebrated the election of their fellow-townsman, Hon. John H. Burleigh, as representative to Congress. Led by the band, they proceeded to the residence of Mr. Burleigh, whose ample grounds were splendidly illuminated. Bonfires were lighted on the hills back of the house and a salute of thirty-seven guns was fired. After the serenade, loud calls for Mr. Burleigh were made, when he appeared and addressed the citizens in an excellent speech. Hon. Elisha H. Jewett of South Berwick and Hon John E. Butler of Biddeford made congratulatory speeches.

Delegate McCormick of Arizona writes from Los Angeles, Cal., that there has been everywhere on that coast a rapid change in favor of the Republican ticket. California will give more majority than the 3000 Governor Booth received.

The Liberal Republican mass convention at Concord, as such, was a successful failure. By an actual count made by a gentleman in the gallery there were exactly 197 persons present on the floor of the hall, and this number included some Democrats, more Labor Reformers, and possibly 100 Republicans who voted the Republican ticket last spring. As a mass convention there never was such a fizzle in the State. Even the Labor Reformers and straight-out Temperance men have held much more formidable delegate conventions in Concord than was this mass convention. The principal actors were Baker, Gove and Jesse Mann, whose herculean but unsuccessful efforts to overthrow the Republican party in this State are now to be augmented by a few more disaffected and disappointed politicians. We do not believe there are, all told, over three hundred Greeley Republicans in New Hampshire today, while we know there are three times that number of Democrats who will not vote for Greeley and Brown. —Nashua Telegraph.

Greeley is unfortunate in New England. He missed a train at Springfield, and was therefore late at the Vermont Fair.

If the Republicans of Missouri keep on gaining in strength for the next two months as they have gained in the past month, according to the Missouri Democrat, John B. Henderson will be elected Governor of the State by 20,000 majority.

Wendell Phillips says Greeley is "a bit of wet brown paper, instead of a man."

Prof. Moses T. Brown, of Tufts College, is preparing to go vigorously into the Grant campaign.

From Pennsylvania the most cheering intelligence comes. The Grant and Wilson majority will not be less than 20,000, and probably nearer 30,000. Hartranft will be elected.

One thousand Democrats in New Haven county, Connecticut, refuse to vote for Greeley.

Eight hundred Democrats in Auglaize county, Ohio, repudiate Greeley.

The Danbury News thinks that Greeley's fate is sealed because the Derby Transcript is flinging Latin at him. It adds, when a country newspaper throws Latin at a candidate he is just the same as an interrupted stream.

The Chicago Times, the leading Democratic paper of the West, says that "the returns from Maine are quite sufficient to indicate the result, and the result is quite sufficient to indicate that the Greeley business is the most absurd and contemptible fiasco in the history of American politics."

Hon. George W. McLean, who was nominated as Presidential elector in Arkansas on the Greeley and Brown ticket, has come out for Grant and Wilson, being unwilling, he says, to serve with allies who murder his loyal friends. He predicts 5000 majority for Grant

The St. Paul Press has the following advertisement:—"I want to bet $5,000 that General Grant will be re-elected president in November. The bets to be taken in sums of $250 or upward. No squealing—put up or shut up—and a bottle of wine to the man that takes the whole bet. George W. Crummey, a square Democrat."

Hon. Henry M. Rice, who has been well known for years as an influential Democrat of Minnesota, and who was one of the first two Senators of that State in the Congress of the United States, refuses to support Greeley, and has declared for Grant.

The official returns of the election in North Carolina show that the Republican majority is 3,078.

Never did any fancy stock decline more rapidly on a falling market than Greeley stock since August 15.

The Louisville Courier says Grant is a dead letter in Kentucky. Dead letters, says the Toledo Blade, are always sent to Washington.

The Toledo Blade thus replies to an anxious correspondent: Abram—If your father will persist in betting on Greeley, there is but one way to save his estate. Get out a writ of lunacy. Any court will grant it on a statement of the case.

Colonel McClure, who is engineering the Greeley cause in Pennsylvania, is in a slough of despond. He says: "If Buckalew is beaten, the game is up with Greeley." "My idea of the canvass," added the Greeley Head Center, "has been that the tide would rise about this time; but it doesn't appear to be coming, and blast my eyes if I don't begin to think it won't come."

"B. E. L." writes from Bethlehem, Pa.: "In South Bethlehem, where we never polled more than 82 votes, we have already the signatures of over 150 Democrats in the Grant and Hartranft club."

The Milwaukee Sentinel asks: "If anybody wanted to hire a man to construct or superintend a railroad, or to conduct a manufacturing enterprise, or to command an army, or to carry on a banking business, or to do any practical and sensible thing, would he employ such a man as Horace Greeley?"

Let the subscribers of the New York Tribune be patient. In two short months the manikin who is now perched on Greeley's tripod will be pushed aside for Honest Horace, who will resume his appropriate place and wage a vigorous winter campaign against the corrupt gang of British free-traders who are trying to cripple the infant industries of the United States.

State News.

Hon. William H. Haile has been nominated for Elector by the Republicans of the fifth Councillor district.

In a session of the governor and council, held on Friday, Edgar Aldrich was nominated as county solicitor of Coos county. Charles E. West, sentenced to State prison in April, 1861, for twenty years, for arson, was pardoned out.

The News.

A middle-aged woman named Mrs. Barry, in a crazy fit, set fire to her clothes at her house in Portland, Friday afternoon, and died in great agony.

The eleven o'clock train from Newburyport to Boston, on the Boston and Maine railroad, Friday morning, ran over a little girl at Georgetown, and severed her head entirely from her body, throwing it some distance over the track. She was about three years old. Her name was Mary Cuff.

A boiler explosion in Cincinnati, Friday, killed four men, injured five and wrecked the building.

Thursday night a car loaded with pine shavings on the Portland and Ogdensburg railroad, near the station at Portland, was discovered to be on fire and the flames were extinguished by Officer Parsons and the railroad hands. It was discovered that the next car was loaded with gunpowder from the Sambo mills.

A Mormon militia man has taken an affidavit that the Mountain Meadow massacre, which was supposed to be the work of Indians, was really committed by the Mormon militia in cold blood.

James Gordon Bennett's will gives the Herald to his son, a life interest in his residences to his wife, and the rest of his real estate to his daughter.

The reported loss of the Pacific mail steamship America is confirmed. Three of the European crew and thirty Chinese steerage passengers were lost.

Earthquakes, accompanied by underground explosions, have begun again in River Valley, Inyo county, California, but no damage has yet been done.

—An Iowa man traded his wife for a shuck mattress and a bottle of mucilage.

WHICH THREE?—Mr. Greeley indignantly denied that he had said that he expected only two States in New England. He expected more than two; that must be three, at least. Which are they? Vermont and Maine have begged to be excused. Certainly the election in New Hampshire gave little comfort to the coalition. Does he count on Massachusetts, Rhode Island and Connecticut? In no other way can he get the three.—Providence Journal.

—Erastus T. Bidwell, of Collinsville, with another, were caught in a caving well, and held down by several tons of earth. They were thus confined nearly three hours, and when released appeared to feel tired. Holding several tons of earth on one's back must be a rather exhaustive undertaking. Gypsies always have a tired look; don't you think so?

"NOT VERY WELL"—A feeling of vague bodily discomfort, which does not amount to positive illness, and yet is incompatible with health, is often aptly described by the phrase "Not very well." This feeling usually arises from a deficiency of the nervous power which is required to keep the vital machinery in vigorous and healthful operation. Nervous weakness has too frequently turned out to be the prelude of some serious malady to admit of any doubt in the matter Inactivity of the bodily functions as surely begets their derangement as cause precedes effect.

It is therefore absolutely essential for the preservation of health, perhaps of life itself, that this warning should be promptly heeded. The case does not admit of delay. Revitalize the system at once and effectually with Hostetter's Bitters—that peerless invigorant which, by infusing new health and strength into the system, protects it against disease more surely than ever knight of old was protected by armor of proof against his foe.

LIKE "QUAKER'S GUNS."—Artificial teeth are of little use and easily detected. Take care of the realones. All you need is fragrant SOZODONT; use it daily and your teeth will be the last of nature's gifts to fail you.

MASKS AND FACES.—Ladies who mask their faces and neck with enamels endanger their health to no purpose. The plaster work deceives nobody. There is but one article known which will restore a blemished complexion or create external brilliancy and bloom where they have never heretofore existed, and that article is Hagan's Magnolia Balm. It performs this toilet miracle by infusing vitality into the skin. The floral and herbal juices of which it is composed gently stimulate the circulation in the minute, blood vessels and brace the network of nerves through which they pass. Thus quickened and strengthened the external covering soon acquires a fresh and healthful hue, and every trace of sallowness disappears. The palest cheeks derive from the beautifying baptism of this delightful cosmetic a warmer hue, and the arms, hands and neck, a blonde lustre which the charlatans, who profess to make ladies "beautiful forever" with their poisonous cement, can never hope to imitate.

CASTORIA.—A substitute for Castor Oil—Is a physic which does not distress or gripe, but is sure to operate when all other remedies have failed. You may confidently rely upon the Castoria in Stomach-ache, Constipation, Flatulency, Croup, Worms, Piles or deranged Liver. It contains neither Minerals, Morphine, Opium nor Alcohol, but is purely a vegetable preparation, perfectly harmless, and above all, pleasant to take. The Castoria soothes and quiets the system, and produces natural sleep. It is a wonderful thing to assimilate the food of children and prevent them from crying. A 35 cent bottle will do the work for a family and save many doctors' bills.

HOLLOWAY'S PILLS AND OINTMENT—Dyspepsia is the most depressing of human ailments. The Pills will cure it in ten days! The Ointment is equally sure and speedy in its operation on sores and eruptions. Sold 78 Maiden Lane, N. Y. Price 25 cents per pox or pot. Ask for new style; old is counterfeited. 15

THE THIEF who was arrested for robbing Parsons' store in this town, was found to have a quantity of Ayer's Hair Vigor in his possession. When asked why he wished to steal that article, he answered that he "wanted to restore his hair, for it was hard to be a thief and bald too." If that invention of the great chemist could restore a faded character as effectually as it does their natural beauty to bald and grey heads, it would surely be, as they say it now is, truly invaluable.—Lewiston (Me.) Journal.

PILES.—The unceasing torture from internal bleeding, external and itching piles is fast wearing away the thousands of those who are afflicted and their hope and courage have long since given place to despair. Let those who see this cheer up, for a mild and sure cure may be had by using BRIGGS' PILE REMEDIES.

DECAY'S EFFACING FINGER.—Will never mar the teeth that are brushed daily with Odoriferous SOZODONT. It lends a floral fragrance to the breath as well as protects the teeth from corrosion and decomposition.

CORNS.—Since pride and fashion have had control of mankind, and shoemakers were compelled to make boots and shoes to fit fancy instead of the feet, the suffering from Corns, Bunions, Ingrowing Nails, Sore Insteps, Blistered Heels, Callosities on the bottom of the feet, &c., cannot be described. But Briggs' Corn and Bunion Remedies will cure all such torments, and proper fitting boots will prevent their reproduction. Sold by all druggists. a12

Laconics.

After a dearth of entertainments comes the Hibernicon Combination. Saturday evening, the attendance was fair. The panorama is well worth seeing, the musical illustrations by Miss Marie Lami Mac Evoy are popular and Mr. Robert Byrne appears in his well known character of Barney the Guide.

The Greeleyites say there are but few Democrats here who will not vote for Horace; yet Pomeroy's Democrat has a circulation of three hundred copies in Portsmouth.

The base ball match, Saturday, between a "picked" nine of this city and the Star club of Peabody, Mass., was the loosest-played game ever witnessed here, and was won by the visitors by an overwhelming majority.

A fourth company of Grant and Wilson Guards has been organized with D. Webster Barnabee as Captain, Thomas Tredick, 1st Lieut., and Charles W. Shannon, 2d Lieut.

On the night of the 12th inst. the store of Mr. John E. Holmes of Greenland was entered, and goods and money taken to the amount of $20. The entrance was made through a window. On Sunday a man about 30 years old, calling himself John Smith, of Concord, Mass., was arrested on the York road by City Marshal Johnson, on suspicion, and a small quantity of tobacco and about $4 in scrip found upon him. He acknowledged that he watched outside the store while a man named Collins entered it, receiving his pay for that service in tobacco, some of which he sold in this city. Asst. Marshal Entwistle took the tobacco found on Smith to Greenland, and was told it was similar to that stolen, and that fifteen or twenty pounds of tobacco and about $7 in money was all the property missed.

A porter at the Franklin House filled a glass lamp in one of the rooms, Sunday evening, with paraffine instead of kerosene, lighted the lamp and left it burning, locking the door of the room Soon after, the lamp exploded and the room became a mass of flames. A gentleman kicked the door in and extinguished the fire with clothes from a bed.

The Eastern Railroad is about to build a new switch-house at Revere, and will remove the first bridge beyond the station, enabling engineers to have a clear view of the track for more than a mile after passing the Revere station.

We were witness, a few evenings since, of a flag raising which has not yet been mentioned by the press, though the flag raisers seemed quite as earnest and enthusiastic in their work, and made as much noise over it in proportion to their size and weight as the participants in any similar gathering we have attended. A party of little boys and girls, the eldest not more than six or seven years old, had stretched a string from a parlor window to a tree at the edge of the sidewalk; on this string a flag some eighteen inches long was hung, and then the party assembled beneath it and gave three hearty cheers. Then the flag was hauled down, gravely reboisted, and cheered over again. There was no name or motto on the flag, but that did not seem to make any difference in the "enthusiasm." Altogether it was the most amusing caricature we have seen for some time.

Clasp Hands, Then!

Some time ago Horace Greeley, Ben Wood, Horatio Seymour, the Tammany Ring, Harry Bingham and other patriots, decided that the popular thing to be done to "bind up the wounds of the sad and weary South" and restore peace and good will to the Union, was to "clasp hands across the bloody chasm"—i. e., to restore to power the men who dug that same "bloody chasm" and whose persistent refusal to accept the results of the war they waged against the Union is all that has prevented the "bloody chasm" from being long ago filled up and obliterated. But the Republicans cruelly refuse to engage in any such hand-clasping business; so it is not to be wondered at if the advocates of it,—the binders up of wounds and hand-claspers across the bloody chasm—are a trifle indignant, and occasionally exhibit a little of that same old spirit of love and "conciliation" which dragged Wm. Lloyd Garrison through the streets of Boston with a rope around his neck, which raised a shout of exultation when a "black abolitionist" had his head caved in by an attack of "chivalry" from behind, in the United States Senate, which shelled Fort Sumter, which tenderly cared for the wicked in the Libby Prison and at Andersonville, which burned orphan asylums and hung negroes to lamp posts, and which gave birth to and nursed the noble and patriotic Ku-Klux. You Republicans,—you, why don't you "clasp hands across the bloody chasm," if you don't want your heads broken? Don't you know that your street processions, exulting over Greelymocratic defeats, are a "tearing open afresh of the wounds of the war?" If you don't know it you must be taught it. Why don't you clasp hands?

To illustrate the love for all men which grows in the bosoms of the hand-claspers, and their determination that everybody else shall entertain a similar all-embracing affection, we may mention that at Lowell, Mass., on the evening of the 11th, a Republican torchlight procession was assailed at various points along its entire march with stones and missiles aimed at the transparencies and occasionally hitting a torch bearer. They came chiefly from dark and secluded avenues. On the same evening, in Nashua, a procession of Boys in Blue and Tanners was generously dealt with in the brick-bat line by the hand-claspers, and several persons injured, one or two seriously. And on the evening of the 12th, in Brooklyn, N. Y., at a Republican meeting, a gang of hand-claspers assaulted the speakers with stones, eggs and sticks, and tore two large banners, costing some $500, to pieces. Application for protection to the police was made, but no notice was taken of the application—the Brooklyn authorities being thoroughly imbued with the "conciliatory" spirit of hand-clasping.

The hand-claspers in this city have also given evidence of their "conciliatory" disposition, on the occasion of Republican parades. We have already mentioned that Major D. J. Vaughan, the commander of the Grant and Wilson Guards, was hit with a brick-bat on the occasion of that organization's first parade; and the jollification of Thursday evening last caused the enterprising hand-claspers to give further proofs of their earnestness in their new branch of political business, and of their resolution to make converts of all opponents. No one in the procession was hurt or (so far as we know) hit by any missile; but half-bricks were thrown through the ranks, across Elm Street, one "bat" narrowly missing the head of our informant and violently striking the fence, and another hitting a small boy, causing him to blow up his voice and weep. Another boy stopped the winged flight of a rotten potatoe with his jaw, on Market Square, and several persons were startled by the bouncing of stones along the sidewalk on Middle Street, during the passage of the procession.

From the way the old thing works we should say that even the hand-clasping business has failed to entirely civilize "the ruffianly, criminal and dangerous classes" which Horace Greeley asserts are attached to the Democratic party by "a purely selfish interest;" and we beg leave to suggest to the Greeley leaders that this assaulting of peaceable people by the roughs of the coalition has a tendency to injure the good effect of the twaddle about "conciliation" and the "era of good feeling." If the converted copperheads of the North rush out from their hand-clasping love-feasts to throw bricks at their political antagonists, the query will naturally arise, "what may we expect from the unconverted rebels of the South?" Every missile thrown at a Republican procession does harm to the "Liberal" cause, and (excepting to the individual hit) to nothing else.

Mrs. Partington at Home.

The genial B. P. Shillaber has a pleasant letter in the September number of the American Odd Fellow, from which we make copious extracts:—

RIVER HIGHLANDS,
PORTSMOUTH, Aug. 10, 1872.

Editors A. O. F.—Swedenborg emblemizes truth by water, and believing in truth, and also believing in water, I shall not apologize for making water a substitute for something stronger at the present writing. If there is one body of water that, more than another, justifies its use as an emblem of truth, I should locate that body between New Hampshire and Maine, and call it the Piscataqua. There is a strength, beauty, coolness, and purity in the waters of the Piscataqua, that would commend this distinction to all sojourning by it or bathing in it, and it would need no argument with one to the manner born to establish the fact beyond peradventure. "Of course!" would be the response with such, were the claim made. I think, still further, that there is more truth spoken on the banks of the Piscataqua, according to the number of inhabitants, than in the vicinity of any other body of water in the country.

You hear none of the big fish stories there that you do in the vicinity of the lakes. Why, I was a tourist last year, and heard tales that would have driven professedly true, too. One of these I must tell you in illustration. A native was relating his fishing experiences on the lake, in winter, and came to the point where, fishing through the ice, he hooked a pickerel. Drawing the fish in, he was suddenly made aware, by his line's rushing through his hands, that something else had seized his bait. After the line had run out, he began to pull in—some heavy fish holding back very hard—until he got his prize to the surface, when, stooping down, he attempted to lift it through the hole in the ice. "And, gentlemen," said he, "though I am a pretty tall man, as you see, when I had lifted it as far as I could—say as high as my chin—I could just see its eyes!" Now such stories never startle the ears of those by the Pi-cataqua, who love the truth in its purity—our kind.

My friend the Captain, in whose new story these reflections are made, who has lived within the sound of Boiling Rock for forty years, and who was "born when he was young," near by, to quote eminent authority, tells me some strange things, as we swing at our moorings fishing for the crafty perch, the Pickwick crazy with excitement—but I would sooner doubt myself, or anything my truthful pen might write, than one word that he utters. If he tells me of hooking three hundred pound halibut by the tail, I know it is a fact; or, if he gives me the secrets of the great river that have revealed themselves to him in all these years, they sound like oracles. No one else has heard of them, perhaps; but he is in such communion and sympathy with the river that he has become its confidant; so I listen, without doubt, though I may marvel at magnitudes and seeming impossibilities. There was a boat capsized in the river some years since, and six persons were drowned. None saw the boat go over, but, as she had started and did not arrive, the presumption was strong that the casualty had occurred. But the Captain, in a vision of the night, had the whole scene presented to him—the raging waves, the reversed boat, and struggling victims. Taking to his dory in the morning, and rowing to the spot seen in his dream, he found the boat as depicted, with one of the bodies caught in the thwarts. And thus does he chase the bour by his narrations.

A sojourner here last summer did attempt to describe the capture that he made from the wharf, of a "salt water trout," going into details to show the operation. It was ingenious, rivaling anything inspired by the Adirondacks. There was the preparation, the eager expectation, the bending of the pole, the struggles of the fish, till, getting down on all fours, the fisher pulled in the trout, that weighed fully four pounds! a beautiful speckled fellow, covered all over with warts, having horns on his head, with a mouth of four inches, from ear to ear!

One conclusion I have arrived at among many others, viz., that it is not so bad to lie in a manner transcending belief as it is to lie so nearly like the truth as to deceive, and intend to do so.

A few miles further down the river, some days since, I saw two or three vessel loads of Odd Fellows, from the back country, bound for the broad blue sea beyond. They were a happy set, and my heart went out for them; although I could not see their faces to know them, I felt that there was not one there with whom I could not claim fraternity, and exchange salutions withal, in flowing bowls of exhilarating chowder. The weather was propitious, the skies bright, the water tranquil, and under such circumstances your good Odd Fellow enjoys more felicity to the square inch than any other man.

The river is exceedingly fascinating to me, and doubtless many of my readers have revealed the same experience in the midsummer moods that make them pleasant. You know, my brother, very well how it is yourself. How full of yield it is to the fisher!—what a bounty rewards his effort! I do not relish the fishing that requires the exertion of muscular outlay, comprehending miles of travel, weary limbs, and uncertain return. But here is the acme of piscatorial satisfaction: to row out to the eddy, throw over killock, and drop line, when trust is rewarded instantly and a full weight is assured. It is well named Fishing Water, for a more prolific stream exists not in our borders. The Indians have been remarkable for the fitness of the names they bestow on localities, though this seems to be of doubtful origin, as it has a classical as well as characteristic significance. But its loveliness must be seen to be appreciated—the blue and rapid water, the green and rocky banks, the grand old trees, the mountainous fringe of the horizon, the shadows of the shore, the rushing of the water, and the sweet smell of the pines, all make a scene of rich attraction.

Then the dreams which come as we sit, with the water all around us, dabbling our hands in the brine as we wait for bites at biteless hooks, as we are willing they should be for a while; the sound of voices coming to us from the shore, or from on board nearing packets for the town above, whose latteen sails gleam in the water; the chirp of the locusts—"lo-cusses," the Captain calls them—has a dreamy tone, responsive to the gurgle of the water by our prow; the fleecy clouds overhead reflect like snow upon the flood; the boat swings and rocks here and there at the mercy of the tide, while the Captain, whose day of dreaming is past, looks to his bait and catches the fish. And all this time the sun is playing the deuce with our complexion, in spite of a broad-brimmed hat, and our nose, like Marion's is "red and raw." Depend upon it, it is delicious, but dull people can never realize the bliss of such abandon—perhaps don't wish it.

I leave the subject with a sigh, not half satisfied with what I have said; and dread, beside, lest the readers of the Odd Fellow should not care three whiffs of a cigar for what I have said or might have said. Well, what is writ is writ, and therefore I reel up my line, shoulder my basket—for we have had splendid luck to-day—and sit in the shadow of the rocks here awhile before going "back to busy life again." Ah! such a river, as the Captain says, isn't to be found anywhere, and I feel for it an affection as deep as that which the old Romans felt for Father Tiber.

Portsmouth has three lodges and two encampments, all in a healthy and vigorous condition. Piscataqua Lodge, No. 6, has 440 members, and assets worth $22,000, although representing on their face only $18,500. Its funds have been very judiciously invested in stocks and bonds which are now above par. To give an idea of the admirable manner in which the trustees of this lodge have managed its finances, it is only necessary to state that the total amount received by them on account of the lodge has been $3,931.25, while they have paid back to the lodge $7,881.78, and still hold securities to its credit to the amount of $18,071 85. It may rightly be judged that $4 000 made to realize $2600 within a period of 25 years must have been pretty fortunately invested. If the funds of every lodge were as handsomely turned to account, there would be no apprehension of our subordinates becoming bankrupt. Piscataqua disburses about $2,500 a year for relief purposes.

New Hampshire Lodge, No. 17, is another finely flourishing organization, having a membership of about 250, and a fund of $7,500. The new lodge—Osgood, No 48—has 144 members, and resources amounting to $2,000. This is a good working lodge, well officered, and making encouraging progress. The Odd Fellows' Funeral Aid Association of this city, recently organized, has 150 members. Every member of the order should join some one of these very useful beneficial associations.

Strawberry Bank Enc. No. 5, has 249 members, and a fund of $3,350. Mt. Sinai Enc., No. 19, has about 75 members. This new camp is working creditably, and gaining in membership. From the foregoing statements and statistics, it will be seen that Odd Fellowship is a great and prosperous institution in this city; 800 members in a population of 10,000 is an unusually large proportion. If New York city had the same ratio of membership, there would be 80,000 Odd Fellows in the metropolis.

Bro. E. P. Nowell, editor of the A. O. F., who is sojourning here, has been presented by Bro. C. Dwight Hanscom with a curiosity, in the shape of the skin of a haddock with the three links distinctly delineated thereon by nature. What of-fish-al position said fish held in the Order remains to be shown. The lusus naturæ will be placed on exhibition at the office of the A. O. F.

—When the Portsmouth and Dover Railroad is built it is contemplated to make Dover Point a prominent place of summer resort, by greatly improving and beautifying that delightful, cool and sightly spot. It is probable that several private cottages will be erected along the shore in that vicinity, while the hotel facilities will be greatly increased It is hoped that the bridge which is to span the Piscataqua will be made a free highway.—Enquirer.

AYER'S

SARSAPARILLA

FOR PURIFYING THE BLOOD.

A multitude that cures is a real public blessing. AYER'S SARSAPARILLA makes positive the removal of a series of complaints, which are always afflicting and too often fatal. It purifies the blood, purges out the lurking humors in the system, which unchecked undermine health and settle into troublesome disorders. Eruptions of the skin are the appearance on the surface of humors that should be expelled from the blood. Internal derangements are the determination of these same humors to some internal organ, or organs, whose action they derange, and whose inhabitance they disease and destroy. AYER'S SARSAPARILLA expels these humors from the blood. When they are gone, the disorders they produce disappear, such as Dyspepsia, Liver Complaint, Stomach, Kidneys, Lungs, Eruptions and Eruptive Diseases of the skin, St. Anthony's Fire, Rose or Erysipelas, Pimples, Pustules, Blotches, Boils, Tumors, Tetter and Salt Rheum, Scald Head, Ringworm, Ulcers and Sores, Rheumatism, Neuralgia, Pain in the Bones, Side, and Head, Female Weakness, Sterility, Leucorrhœa arising from internal ulceration and uterine disease, Dropsy, Dyspepsia, Emaciation, and General Debility. With their departure health returns.

AYER'S PURGATIVE PILLS.

For all the purposes of a Family Physic,

CURING

Costiveness, Jaundice, Dyspepsia, Indigestion, Dysentery, Foul Stomach, Erysipelas, Headache, Piles, Rheumatism, Eruptions and Skin Diseases, Biliousness, Liver Complaint, Dropsy, Tetter, Tumors and Salt Rheum, Worms, Gout, Neuralgia, as a Dinner Pill, and Purifying the Blood.

Are the most congenial purgative yet perfected. Their effects abundantly show how much they excel all other Pills. They are safe and pleasant to take, but powerful to cure. They purge out the foul humors of the blood; they stimulate the sluggish or disordered organ into action, and they impart health and tone to the whole being. They cure not only the every day complaints of every body, but formidable and dangerous diseases. Most eminent clergymen, most skillful physicians, and our best citizens send certificates of cures performed, and of great benefits they have derived from these Pills. They are the safest and best physic for children, because mild as well as effectual. Being sugar coated, they are easy to take; and being purely vegetable, they are entirely harmless.

The Singer

SEWING MACHINE

STILL LEADS THE MARKET.

The Success of the Company is far beyond that of any other similar concern; the

Daily Manufacture

—OF—

400 OF THE SINGERS

Failing to Supply the Constant Demand.

All other machines call the public attention to some new loop or stitch or tension or finish, some advantage in running or necklace or feed or prices—and many of these are as we have said very good points, and the agents selling them use them to divert entirely the Razzle-Dazzle purchaser from thinly considering the facts in the case; but the

seems to unite the good qualities of all, and is never found wanting.

THE SINGER

IS THE

OLDEST

SEWING MACHINE

IN THE MARKET,

All others being copied from its first model. It does two-thirds the sewing done in this country and preserves its advantages over all others combined.

It is readily kept clean, and has THE BEST TENSION EVER INVENTED; it is higher speeded and requires but little power to run; it works equally well upon the finest and heaviest goods; it does all the varieties of work known to the art.

N. B. Those purchasing for cash, before the 1 of January next, will have a consideration allowed them.

The Grand Gift Concert

A FIXED FACT.

September 28th the Day.

Your Tickets Now or Never!

THE vast sale of tickets already made, and the increasing demand for them from all quarters having decided the Trustees that the GRAND GIFT CONCERT for the benefit of the PUBLIC LIBRARY OF KENTUCKY, advertised for SATURDAY, Sept. 28, 1872, positively come off on that day without postponement, the management now notifies all who expect to participate in the drawing that they should buy their tickets at once. Delay for a few days caused many who wanted tickets at the concert in December last to go without them. Some living in Louisville waited until some were closed, expecting, no doubt, a postponement, and then offered fifteen, twenty, and even twenty-five dollars for tickets which the day before were offered to purchasers at the regular price. Others living at a distance sent thousands of dollars by mail and express, which got here after sales were closed, and had to be sent back. These disappointments need not occur again, if the warning now given in due season is heeded.

The drawing will begin precisely at 6 o'clock Saturday morning, September 28, 1872, in the great hall of the Public Library building, and continue until the one thousand gifts are all drawn.

The Concert itself will be the most brilliant orchestral display that ever occurred in the West. One hundred performers, gathered from all parts of this country and from Europe, under the direction of Prof. Hast, will contribute to this grand musical carnival. And to afford ample room for every ticket-holder to enjoy such an unusual musical festival, the Concert will be given in Central Park, where arrangements have been made to accommodate all who may come.

Persons holding whole, half or quarter tickets, will be admitted to both the Concert and Drawing, and none without such tickets will be admitted to either.

PRICE OF TICKETS.

Whole Tickets $10; halves, $5; quarters, $2 50; 11 Whole tickets for $100; 28 for $255; 56 for $500; 113 for $1,000; 285 for $2,500; 575 for $5000. No discount on less than $100 worth of tickets at a time.

In accordance with numerous solicitations arrangements have been made with all the railroad and steamboat lines leading into the city for the sale of round-trip tickets, good for six days to all persons who may wish to attend the Concert or drawing. Such tickets will be furnished by the Louisville & Nashville Railroad; the Louisville, Cincinnati and Lexington Railroad; the Louisville, Indianapolis and Madison Railroad; the Ohio and Mississippi Railroad; the Louisville and Cincinnati Mail Railroad; the Louisville, Owensboro and Henderson Mail Line Packets.

All agents are required to close sales and make their returns in full time to reach this office by Thursday, September 25. To do this successfully, those located at great distances must close some days before the 25th.

All tickets to which gifts are awarded, will be paid without discount, by the Farmers' and Drovers' Bank, either in currency, or by sight-draft upon the Fourth National Bank of New York, at option of the holder. The ticket must first be presented at this office, Room No. 4, Public Library Building, before they will be paid by the Bank.

The drawing will be published in the Louisville Papers and New York Herald, and official copies sent to purchasers to whom tickets have been sent by letter.

—It really requires more delicacy of touch, a better acquaintance with the inner motions of the heart, and a grander pathos of sentiment to make a declaration of love than it does to put up a stove.—Danbury News.

—A new and profitable branch of business is invented in Georgia, by a genius who sprinkles salt on the railroad to allure cattle upon the track. The animals are killed by the trains, and the railroad company has to pay for them.

—A young man named Louis Guthrie, living near Milltown, Berrien county, Ky., was bitten by a rattlesnake recently, while in the woods about a half a mile from home. He made his way home as speedily as possible, but he died the following night after terrible suffering.

—Quite an exciting incident occurred one day last week in one of those deep rocks cuts at the foot of Lookout Mountain, as the Memphis train was coming west. As the engine came puffing along around a heavy curve, a frightened cow, standing on the track with only one means of escape, as quick as thought scaled the rocky heights with goat-like agility, till near the top, some six feet above the engine, where the rocks projects over. She scrambled for life, hanging by her fore feet while the train rolled along beneath.

AYER'S

SARSAPARILLA

FOR PURIFYING THE BLOOD.

A medicine that cures is a real public blessing. AYER'S SARSAPARILLA makes positive cure of a series of complaints, which are always afflicting and too often fatal. It purifies the blood, purges out the lurking humors in the system, which undermine health and settle into troublesome disorders. Eruptions of the skin are the appearance on the surface of humors that should be expelled from the blood. Internal derangements are the determination of these same humors to some internal organ, or organs, whose action they derange, and whose substance they disease and destroy. AYER'S SARSAPARILLA expels these humors from the blood. When they are gone, the disorders they produce disappear, such as Ulcerations of the Liver, Stomach, Kidneys, Dropsy, Eruptions and Eruptive Diseases of the skin, St. Anthony's Fire, Rose or Erysipelas, Pimples, Pustules, Blotches, Boils, Tumors, Tetter and Salt Rheum, Scald Head, Ringworm, Ulcers and Sores, Rheumatism, Neuralgia, Pain in the Bones, Side, and Head, Female Weakness, Sterility, Leucorrhea arising from internal ulceration and uterine disease, Dropsy, Dyspepsia, Emaciation, and General Debility. With their departure health returns.

VEGETINE

The Great Blood Purifier.

A valuable Indian compound, for restoring the health, and for the permanent cure of all diseases arising from impurities of the blood, such as Scrofula, Scrofulous Humors, Cancers, Cancerous Humor, Erysipelas, Canker, Salt Rheum, Pimples and Humors on the Face, Ulcers, Coughs, Catarrh, Bronchitis, Neuralgia, Pains in the Side, Rheumatism, Dyspepsia, Constipation, Costiveness, Dizziness, Piles, Headache, Nervousness, Faintness at the Stomach, Pains in the Back, Kidney Complaints, Female Weakness, and General Debility.

This preparation is scientifically and chemically combined, and so strongly concentrated from roots, herbs and barks, that its good effects are realized immediately after commencing to take it. There is no disease of the human system for which the VEGETINE cannot be used with PERFECT SAFETY, as it does not contain any metallic compound. For eradicating the system of all impurities of the blood, it has no equal. It has never failed to effect a cure, giving tone and strength to the system debilitated by disease. Its wonderful effects upon these complaints are surprising to all. Many have been cured by the VEGETINE that have tried many other remedies. It can well be called

AYER'S

CHERRY PECTORAL

For Diseases of the Throat and Lungs, such as Coughs, Colds, Whooping Cough, Bronchitis, Asthma and Consumption.

The few compositions, which have won the confidence of mankind and become household words among not only one but many nations, must have extraordinary virtues. Perhaps no one ever secured so wide a reputation or maintained it so long as AYER'S CHERRY PECTORAL. It has been known to the public about forty years, by a long continued series of marvellous cures, which have won for it a confidence in its virtues, never equalled by any other medicines. It still makes the most effectual cures of Coughs, Colds, Consumption, that can be made by medical skill. Indeed the CHERRY PECTORAL has really robbed these dangerous diseases of their terrors, to a great extent, and given a feeling of immunity from their fatal effects, which is well founded, if the remedy be taken in season. Every family should have it in their closet for the ready and prompt relief of its members. Sickness, suffering, and even life is saved by this timely protection. The prudent should not neglect it, and the wise will not. Keep it by you for the protection it affords in sudden attacks, and by its timely use.

AMERICAN & FOREIGN PATENTS.

R. H. EDDY,
SOLICITOR OF PATENTS,
For Inventions, Trade Marks or Designs,

No. 76 STATE ST., OPPOSITE KILBY ST., BOSTON.

After an extensive practice of upwards of thirty years, continue to secure patents in the United States; also in Great Britain, France and other foreign countries. Caveats, Specifications, Assignments, and all papers for Patents, executed on reasonable terms with dispatch. Researches made to determine the validity and utility of Patents of inventions, and legal and other advice rendered in all matters touching the same. Copies of the claims of any patent furnished, by remitting one dollar. Assignments recorded in Washington.

No Agency in the United States possesses superior facilities for obtaining Patents or ascertaining the patentability of inventions.

All necessity of a journey to Washington to procure a Patent and the usual great delay there, are here saved inventors.

TESTIMONIALS.

"I regard Mr. Eddy as one of the most capable and successful practitioners with whom I have had official intercourse. CHARLES MASON, Commissioner of Patents."

"I have no hesitation in assuring inventors that they cannot employ a man more competent and trustworthy and more capable of putting their applications in a form to secure for them an early and favorable consideration at the Patent Office. EDMUND BURKE, Late Commissioner of Patents."

"MR. R. H. EDDY has made for me over THIRTY applications for Patents, having been successful in almost every case. Such unmistakable proof of great talent and ability on his part leads me to recommend ALL inventors to apply to him, to procure their Patents, as they may be sure of having the most faithful attention bestowed on their cases, and at very reasonable charges.

JOHN TAGGART."

CLEAR YOUR THROAT!

Relieve Your Lungs.

For the terrible diseases engendered by the lung-trying climate of New England,

Pulmocine Cordial

Is a speedy and reliable Preventive and Remedy. EVERY FAMILY should have a bottle at hand to check the sudden growth of all Pulmonary Diseases. For the Asthma, Coughs, Croup, Laryngitis, or inflammation of the larynx, Diphtheria, and all kindred THROAT DISEASES at all times prevalent, it is the choice of PREVENTION. Children attacked with Whooping Cough or Croup should be immediately cared for. These painful attacks come with scarcely a moment's warning when a physician may be out of immediate reach. A dose of PULMOCINE CORDIAL gives speedy relief, and the little ones are spared hours of pain and agony. As "a stitch in time saves nine," so does the possession of this FAMILY MEDICINE prevent the spread of disease. Parents seeing their children gasping with pain, friends and relatives beholding each other in peril from suffocation by the choking pain in the throat, paralyzed with fear and not knowing the best course to pursue, are liable to apply the wrong remedial agents. There is no safety in delay, no time to waste in such cases. CONSUMPTION, that fearful scourge of the human race, lies at the door of all this afflicted. BUCHMAN'S PULMOCINE CORDIAL arrests it (unless in its advanced stage at which time there is no local cure) relieves the pressing, suffocating feeling at the lungs, and the patient's danger is past.

Buchman's Pulmocine Cordial

BUCHMAN'S PULMOCINE CORDIAL is no new discovery. Twenty-three years ago it was used by one of New England's most famous physicians as the best PULMONARY CURATIVE he could prescribe, after a dozen years spent in experimenting with it before he was satisfied that the Materia Medica could add nothing in its favor.

Is the ultima thule of Medical Discovery.

Among its many ingredients are WILD CHERRY BARK, SQUILL ROOT, LICORICE ROOT, BLOOD ROOT, &c. It is a BLOOD PURIFIER, gently stimulating. It increases expectoration and is diuretic. It is sudorific and alterative. It is a necessary family medicine. It is a Tonic, and a powerful aid to the digestive organs. It is a gentle sedative, and relieves nervousness. It is aromatic and agreeable to the taste.

For Coughs, Croup, Diphtheria, Asthma, &c.

USE BUCHMAN'S

PULMOCINE CORDIAL.

The Pulmocine Cordial is not a quack medicine, is not an experiment, is not composed of any ingredients "discovered" by "walking in pastures" in South America or anywhere else, nor by one who discovered a weed and thereby cured himself. Most of the ingredients are such as our best educated physicians daily use for the complaints specified, in some form or other. The recipe is that perfected by one of New England's most learned and famous physicians, who used it entirely in his daily practice until his death. It is offered to the profession and to the public, absolutely pure and unadulterated.

BRIGGS' ALLEVANTOR is composed of Ammonia, Chloroform, Spirits of Camphor, Tincture of Lupuline, Oil of Juniper, and Alcohol. This compound is unequaled in the annals of medicine for the cure of Nervous or Sick Headache, Neuralgia, Trembling or Twitching of the Nerves, and all Nervous Diseases. It will counteract all poisons, banish pimples, cure scaly eruptions, itching, humors, &c.; it equalizes the circulation, invigorates the system, increases the action of the heart, without exciting the brain, cures Heartburn, Palpitation and Fluttering of the Heart, Dyspepsia, &c. Briggs' Allevantor absolutely possesses more curative properties than any other preparation. Physicians, chemists, and others are requested to examine and test the remedy, and $1000 will be paid if found different from representation.

COUCHS. Much has been said and written, and many remedies have been offered for the relief and cure of throat and lung diseases; but nothing has been so eminently successful, or obtained such a wide celebrity, as Briggs' Throat and Lung Healer.

CORNS! The excruciating pain produced by Corns, the unceasing twinging from Bunions, the piercing, distressing pain from Ingrowing Nails, cannot be described. Thousands suffer, not knowing there is a cure. Briggs' Corn and Bunion Remedies are no acid or potash compounds, but are reliable, soothing, and effectual, and just merit the success they have earned from an appreciative public. The Curative is a healing ointment; immediate relief is obtained by its application, and it will positively cure the worst cases of Festered Corns, Inflamed and Ulcerated Bunions, the sorest instep, the largest and severest Blisters, the most extensive Callosities on the soles or heels of the feet, unequalled in the cure of Chilblains or Frosted Feet. The Allevantor for ordinary corns and preventing their formation is absolutely unexcelled by anything ever known.

PILES have been a terror to mankind for centuries, and almost every attempt to cure them has been baffled. By unceasing study and experimenting, Dr. Briggs has discovered an absolutely cure for internal, bleeding, external, and itching piles. Briggs' Pile Remedies are mild, safe and sure.

For sale by J. H. THACHER, WM. R. PRESTON, Portsmouth; JAMES O. TREFETHEN, Kittery; E. S. SAFFORD, Kittery Point; H. M. CURTIS, Newcastle, and dealers generally.

CORNS, Bunions, Bad Nails, and other diseases of the feet, Scrofulous and Cancerous Humors, Piles, etc., skillfully treated at the great central Chiropodical and Healing Institute, No. 766 Broadway, New York. DR. J. BRIGGS, President; DR. ALEXANDER WEBBER, Secretary. ap9

"Circumstances Alter Cases."

The extravagant bluster and brag with which the Dolly Vardens opened the campaign which is to end in the great Chappaquack's election to four years more of agricultural pursuits, is now very much toned down, and agreeably interspersed with remarkable mathematics intended to show that a Republican gain of 5,000 or more in any State is a Democratic victory. A month ago the coalition campaign was an entirely aggressive one, as a campaign of the "outs" must be to be successful; now it is a defensive one. Then, their cry was "we are winning everywhere:" now it is "we are not losing anywhere,"—and they are doing some most astonishing figuring to prove the latter assertion true. As we predicted long ago would be the case, the Greeley stock of brag has run short long before election day.

Brag didn't carry Vermont or Maine for the Greeley Democracy, though the experiment was thoroughly tried. Brag didn't prevent New Hampshire, Oregon and North Carolina from going over from the Democratic to the Republican side. Brag did not save the Democrats from being beaten in every one of the eight State elections thus far held this year.

Among all our Greeleycratic exchanges, none has gone more deeply into the noisy bluster of that party than Foster's Dover Democrat. Just before the Vermont election it said, concerning that State:

The Grantities are badly demoralized, but will rally in sufficient force to carry the State by a reduced majority.

On the Saturday following the Vermont election, (which took place on Tuesday,) the Democrat contained the following report of the result, in small type, tucked away in an obscure corner of the paper:

The Vermont election took place last Tuesday and according to telegraph reports the Republicans carried it, by increased majorities.

And that is the only reference to the issue of the Vermont election we have seen in that paper, which gives us the idea that the badly demoralized Grantites rallied in sufficient force to disgust Joshua the worst kind. But we have still better specimens of the ridiculous Munchausenisms of the Dollies, and suggest to those deluded individuals (if any such still exist) who believe that there is anything but brag in the coalition boastings, to read the following paragraph from the Democrat, (written before the Maine election) by the light of subsequent events:

One of the Democratic Committee writes from Portland: "Everything looks well in Maine. I have no doubt we shall carry two Congress districts and elect our candidate for Governor." The Chairman of the Liberal State Committee, writing from Augusta says: "It would not be strange if Blaine was defeated by a decided majority." The information from Bridgton is to the effect that the Grant men are becoming alarmed at the revolution going on in that State, and that the Democratic candidate will be elected. A correspondent from Fairfield, Somerset Co., writes: "So far this State is safe for Greeley and Brown. This County last year went something over 700 majority for the Republicans. We already know of changes enough to overcome that, and when I say I know, I mean that their names are on paper. If the people keep tumbling as they have since the Cincinnati Convention, the State will be carried by Greeley by 10,000 majority. C. P. Kimball, Liberal candidate, will be elected Governor."

As the "Liberal" candidate for governor was defeated by 16,000 majority; as Blaine was not defeated, but on the contrary increased his majority over what it had ever been before; and as the changes of men whose "names are on paper" were not numerous enough to reduce—let alone overcoming—the Republican majority in Somerset county, that pre-election view of the state of political affairs in Maine is rather rich reading, just now. We give two more pleasant paragraphs:

Then comes Maine, Sept. 9. The Democrats and Liberal Republicans appear to be well united all over the State. From the best information we can obtain, we judge that the result will be very close indeed.—Foster's Democrat, Aug. 17.

It will be admitted on all hands that there never was a more closely contested election than that in Maine last Monday. * * We have never thought that their majority would be less than 15,000.—Foster's Democrat, Sept. 14.

Some people may imagine they detect a contradiction in the two extracts above printed, but we only regard them as proving that Joshua considers a State giving only 15,000 Republican majority as "very close indeed." There will be a lot of such very close States in November. We close this article with two extracts from a paper which is not an organ:

The Republican majority in Maine in 1871 was 10,631. That is the figure which the Liberal Republicans and Democrats propose to overcome.—N. Y. Tribune, Aug. 3.

Twenty thousand majority is a large figure to set to work against; but this is the sum total which the Maine Liberals have gallantly attempted to reduce.—N. Y. Tribune, Sept. 9.

Political.

Senator Wilson, Speaker Blaine and Gen. Garfield indignantly deny the charge that they were in any way interested in the Credit Mobilier. No decent man believes they were guilty of the charge.

The movement to withdraw Greeley, says the New York Commercial, encounters the greatest opposition from Greeley himself. He isn't so much "in the hands of his friends" as he was.

Mr. B. Gratz Brown is coming to Chicago. We trust the speculators will not seize the occasion to get up a corner in Old Rye.—Chicago Post.

Advices from all parts of Indiana presage a handsome Republican victory, in October. A Democratic editor having ciphered up the returns in advance, and proved to his own satisfaction that Hendricks will be elected by a large majority, the Cincinnati Gazette comments thus:

We are well aware that figures won't lie, but, with Prentice, of olden times, we discover in these later days also that a man may lie most admirably with figures. There are some elements in the calculation which the mathematical editor of the Enquirer omits: first, that the "10,000 Liberal Republicans" will not vote for Hendricks; second, there is not half that number of the "so called" in the State; third, at least 10,000 straight Democrats will not vote for Hendricks; fourth, Kentucky emigrants will not be as plenty in the border counties by 5,000, owing to the want of special interest by the Kentucky Democracy.

The Chicago Times, Democratic, says, "The truth is that Mr. Greeley is proving to be of more service to the Radicals in the character of leader of the opposite party than he was in the capacity of editor of their principal organ." Just so.

Hon. John P. Hale is among the latest letter-writers of the campaign. To correct a newspaper report that he favors the election of Greeley, he has written a letter giving a brief but capital review of Mr. Greeley's recent course, and an explanation of Mr. Sumner's desertion of the Republican party, which he considers a "temporary misjudgment" into which the senator has been led by his "wounded vanity and imperious temper."

The Trenton State Gazette has authority for the assertion that the New Jersey Democrats are anxious to throw Greeley overboard.

Senator Conkling says New York is certain for Grant and Wilson.

A Democrat, writing from Fulton County, Ind., says Greeley will not begin to get the party vote in Northern Indiana. He says in the Fulton County Democratic Convention for nominating county officers all the candidates were obliged to pledge themselves not to vote for Greeley before they would support them for nomination.

The injuitous gerrymandering of the Congressional districts in North Carolina is well illustrated in the majorities in the recent election. The Republican majority in a single district is greater than the Democratic majorities in all the Democratic districts together; and yet the Republicans have but three members and the Democrats have five.

The returns from Maine are very "scattering." Just read two lines of them to the first crowd of Democrats you meet, and see how quick they will scatter.—Chicago Post.

Horace comes to grief every time. Not a single State has declared for him though half of those that have thus far held elections this year were Democratic at the last preceding election.

It is a bad year for sorebeads. It is fly-time the whole season.—Chicago Post.

When Sumner gets to Europe he will be sorry that there is any such thing as an Atlantic cable to carry the news from Maine to him.

Charles Sumner has arrived in Europe and declines the Democratic nomination for Governor of Massachusetts.

Sam. Bowles thinks Gratz Brown can carry fewer States and more whisky than any candidate ever presented to the American people for their suffrages.

The News.

A coal pit near Herlstal on the Meuse, Belgium, was accidentally flooded on Friday, while the men were at work. The inundation was so sudden that twenty-five miners were drowned at the bottom of the pit.

Superintendant Kelso expresses himself as confident that Forrester is Nathan's murderer.

The Bostons were again defeated in Philadelphia on Saturday, the score standing 6 to 4. The Mutuals also whitewashed the Atlantics.

On Saturday night, at Pittsburg, Pa., a fight occurred between a colored Guard club and a white Greeley club. The fighting was of the most desperate character, lasting not more than ten minutes, but in that time 100 shots were fired. Six negroes were shot, but how badly was not ascertained. A white man named John Sewell had his skull fractured by a stone and will die.

State News.

A man calling himself A. A. Hyde of Memphis, Tenn., on Wednesday night last, while in an unconscious condition, jumped from the balcony of the Eagle Hotel in Keene, and broke his leg and wrist. His tongue was half bitten off also. He is a respectable looking man, and had plenty of money on his person.

The officers of the New Hampshire Agricultural Society have nearly completed all the arrangements for the State Fair, which will open at Dover Oct. 1. The purses for trotting will amount to about $2000.

Ten thousand people attended the Alton Bay camp meeting, Sunday.

A large block on the corner of Central and Chestnut Streets in Manchester, owned by John Sweeney, was burned on Sunday. The fire is supposed to have caught from the breaking of a kerosene lamp. The block contained seventeen tenements and the large grocery store of Wm. F. Sleeper & Co. The building is insured for $7000.

The thirteenth regiment of volunteers had its reunion at Concord on Thursday. The number present was large.

The Swampscott Machine Company of South New Market have appropriated $1000 for a public library in that place.

The Arbitration.

The a ward of the board of arbitrators in the case of the Alabama claims has been officially announced, and the sum to be received by our government is $15,500,000 in gold. Damages were granted in the cases of the Alabama, the Florida and the Shenandoah, and all other cases were dismissed.

RUN THROUGH WITH A RED-HOT IRON BAR.—A terrible accident occurred yesterday morning at the American Iron Works of Messrs. Jones & Laughlin, at Brownstown, resulting in the almost instant death of a boy named Louis Hoopy.

The boy was about thirteen years of age and had been temporarily at the works in the place of his brother, who had disabled himself by burning his hand. He had been at work for some time yesterday morning, when, about five o'clock, he stooped down in front of the rolls. Just as he did so a bar of red-hot iron came through the rolls. The end struck him on the leg and instantly, ere he could get out of the way, or even realize his danger, the hot iron had been run completely through his thigh. As speedily as possible he was rescued from his dreadful position. The main artery of the leg was severed, and the blood was flowing in a torrent, but he was alive when removed. He was carried to his home near the works, and medical attendance summoned. Of course it was impossible to save his life, but he lived some fifteen minutes after the accident, when death relieved him. Coroner West was then notified, and held an inquest. A verdict of accidental death was rendered

The family of the unfortunate boy seem to have been remarkably unfortunate. The father was engaged at the works as a watchman, and about a month ago met with an accident that fractured one leg. Last week one of his children fell from a chair and broke its arm. An older son, who worked at the rolls at which the accident occurred this morning, was so seriously hurt that his brother Louis had to go to work for him, and doing so he met with a horrible death as described above.—Pittsburg Gazette.

—It takes about a half acre of potatoes to tap a pair of boots.—Danbury News.

—Only an average crop of hair has been raised on the plains this season.

—A Redding gentleman who came to Danbury to make a few inquiries in relation to the coming agricultural exhibition, stepped on a piece of watermelon in front of the post office, and sat down on the pavement so violently as to turn his pockets inside out. "Pickled Jehosophat!" said he, more in sorrow than in anger, as he struck out for the depot.—Danbury News.

—In the London Botanical Garden there is a Victoria lily, each leaf of which, while floating on the surface of the water, will support three persons. An enthusiastic Chicago botanist thought he had discovered one of these plants in the river, and was sadly disappointed when he found it was only the ear of the Mail-man, who was taking his evening bath.—St. Louis Globe.

USE BUCHMAN'S PULMOCINE CORDIAL for all throat diseases. For sale at the Union Store.

"NOT VERY WELL."—A feeling of vague bodily discomfort, which does not amount to positive illness, and yet is incompatible with health, is often aptly described by the phrase "Not very well." This feeling usually arises from a deficiency of the nervous power which is required to keep the vital machinery in vigorous and healthful operation. Nervous weakness has too frequently turned out to be the prelude of some serious malady to admit of any doubt in the matter. Inactivity of the bodily functions as surely begets their derangement as cause precedes effect.

It is therefore absolutely essential for the preservation of health, perhaps of life itself, that this warning should be promptly heeded. The case does not admit of delay. Revitalize the system at once and effectually with Hostetter's Bitters—that peerless invigorant which, by infusing new health and strength into the system, protects it against disease more surely than ever knight of old was protected by armor of proof against his foe.

LIKE "QUAKER'S GUNS."—Artificial teeth are of little use and easily detected. Take care of the real ones. All you need is fragrant Sozodont; use it daily and your teeth will be the last of nature's gifts to fail you.

USE BUCHMAN'S PULMOCINE CORDIAL for all throat diseases. For sale at the Union Store.

MASKS AND FACES.—Ladies who mask their faces and neck with enamels endanger their health to no purpose. The plaster work deceives nobody. There is but one article known which will restore a blemished complexion or create external brilliancy and bloom where they have never heretofore existed, and that article is Hagan's Magnolia Balm. It performs this toilet miracle by infusing vitality into the skin. The floral and herbal juices of which it is composed gently stimulate the circulation in the minute blood vessels and brace the network of nerves through which they pass. Thus quickened and strengthened the external covering soon acquires a fresh and healthful hue, and every trace of sallowness disappears. The palest cheeks derive from the beautifying baptism of this delightful cosmetic a warmer hue, and the arms, hands and neck, a blonde lustre which the charlatans, who profess to make ladies "beautiful forever" with their poisonous cement, can never hope to imitate.

CASTORIA.—A substitute for Castor Oil—is a physic which does not distress or gripe, but is sure to operate when all other remedies have failed. You may confidently rely upon the Castoria in Stomach-ache, Constipation, Flatulency, Croup, Worms, Piles or deranged Liver. It contains neither Minerals, Morphine, Opium nor Alcohol, but is purely a vegetable preparation, perfectly harmless, and above all, pleasant to take. The Castoria soothes and quiets the system, and produces natural sleep. It is a wonderful thing to assimilate the food of children and prevent them from crying. A 35 cent bottle will do the work for a family and save many doctors' bills.

HOLLOWAY'S PILLS AND OINTMENT—Dyspepsia is the most depressing of human affluents. The Pills will cure it in ten days! The Ointment is equally sure and speedy in its opperation on sores and eruptions. Sold 78 Maiden Lane, N. Y. Price 25 cents per pox or pot. Ask for new style; old is counterfeited. 15

THE THIEF who was arrested for robbing Parsons' store in this town, was found to have a quantity of Ayer's Hair Vigor in his possession. When asked why he wished to steal that article, he answered that he "wanted to restore his hair, for it was hard to be a thief and bald too." If that invention of the great chemist could restore a faded character as effectually as it does their natural beauty to bald and grey heads, it would surely be, as they say it now is, truly invaluable.—Lewiston (Me.,) Journal.

PILES.—The unceasing tortore from internal bleeding, external and itching piles is fast wearing away the thousands of those who are afflicted and their hope and courage have long since given place to despair. Let those who see this cheer up, for a mild and sure cure may be had by using BRIGGS' PILE REMEDIES.

DECAY'S EFFACING FINGER.—Will never mar the teeth that are brushed daily with Odenferous Sozodont. It lends a floral fragrance to the breath as well as protects the teeth from corrosion and decomposition.

CORNS.—Since pride and fashion have had control of mankind, and shoemakers were compelled to make boots and shoes to fit fancy instead of the feet, the suffering from Corns, Bunions, Ingrowing Nails, Sore Insteps, Blistered Heels, Callosities on the bottom of the feet, &c., cannot be described. But Briggs' Corn and Bunion Remedies will cure all such torments, and proper fitting boots will prevent their reproduction. Sold by all druggists. a12

P. W. T. A. S.

The annual meeting of the Portsmouth Washingtonian Total Abstinence Society was held last Tuesday evening, and the following named gentlemen chosen as officers for the ensuing year:—

President, Frederick W. Rogers; Vice President, B. F. Thorndike; Sec'y and Treas., Alonzo F. Craig; Executive Committee, Rev. L. L. Harmon, Isaac Dow, J. Horace Kent, John S. Rand, William D. Fernald, Benjamin Cheever and A. H. Harlow.

A committee were appointed, consisting of A. F. Craig, J. Horace Kent and B. F. Thorndike, to inaugurate a Temperance Reform movement in this city similar to the recent successful movement in Maine, Massachusetts and Connecticut. This committee have consulted and it is their intention to commence a series of lectures on Sunday evening, the 22d of this month, at the Temple. Mr. John F. Coles of Massachusetts, the well known advocate of temperance on the Washingtonian plan, will deliver the first address; and Mr. Osgood, of Gardner, Me., the originator of the reform in Maine, will also be persent. Fuller details of this meeting will be given in a day or two.

It is sufficent to know that the permanent reformation of victims to intemperance is the object in view, and the "Washingtonian" method, kindness, sympathy and encouragement, the means for reclamation to social usefulness, respectability and domestic happiness of the men and women who will go down to the deepest depth of degradation if not restored, and who if reformed can fill the most respectable positions in the community. I speak whereof I know. Husbands and wives, parents and children, friends and relatives have been made glad by the restoration of lost ones—floods of tears have been dried up, wounded hearts have been healed, and there has been joy in the presence of the angels of God. United effort will do wonders. K.

A Greeley Straw.

They tell a good story of the vote taken on the train from this city for Concord on the morning of the day when the Democratic and Liberal Republicans left this city "one hundred strong" with Harlow's Band. An enthusiastic Greeley man thought it would be a good time to start a "straw;" so he passed through the cars and took a vote for President. The members of the Band were requested to vote and every one of them indicated Gen. Grant as his choice for President. When noses had been counted it was found that Grant had thirteen majority! Then the canvassers took a cursory view of the matter and declared that the Band had no right to vote unless they were for Greeley, but the mischief was done.

Laconics.

Mr. Joshua Bickford has been appointed custom house officer at Newcastle vice Dr. William H. Smart, resigned. Dr. Smart goes to Concord to take charge of a lucrative practice there. He is a genial, whole-souled gentleman and we regret his removal from this vicinity.

The Boston and Maine railroad will be in running order between Portland and Saco by the latter part of December.

It is rumored that the Eastern Railroad Company propose to discontinue their present track between Kittery and Kennebunk, which runs in the shape of a semi-circle, and build an air-line between the two towns, which will shorten the distant between Portland and Boston some thirteen miles.

There will be a meeting of the Junior Grant and Wilson Guards at Republican Headquarters this (Tuesday) evening at 8 o'clock.

Rev. John A. Goss of Lynn, Mass., has received and accepted a call to the pastorate of the Christian Church in this city.

The annual meeting of the Portsmouth Baptist association will be held at the Water street church, Exeter, on the 18th inst.

The Lyre says there are not two Democrats in Portsmouth who will not vote for Greeley. We know ten times two who will not vote for Greeley. Furthermore, twice as many Democrats in Portsmouth refuse to vote for Greeley as there are Republicans who refuse to vote for Grant.

Admiral Porter and family are at the Rockingham House.

New Publications.

Orange Judd & Co, announce for early publication, in book form, "The End of the World; a Love Story," by Edward Eggleston, author of "The Hoosier School-Master," etc. Its earlier chapters read like a Western Idyle; but Mr. Eggleston soon gets into the grotesque scenes which he draws so strongly, and Gottlieb Wehle, the Backwoods Philosopher, the Steam-Doctor, Cynthy Ann, the "Hawk," the "Mud-Clerk," and, above all, Jonas Harrison, one of the most effective Western characters ever drawn, make a rare gallery of original portraits. The speeches of Gottlieb Wehle, Jonas, Cynthy Ann, and the Philosopher are full of delightful humor, while the Night Adventure of August, the Mob Scene, the life-like description of gambling in the saloon of a Mississippi steamboat, are drawn most vividly. The interview at the Castle can hardly be read without tears and the chapters entitled "The Last Day" and "The Midnight Alarm" contain pictures of religious excitement such as can not be found elsewhere in English literature, while the mob and "shivaree" scenes are pervaded by an irresistible spirit of fun, and the reader will fully appreciate Bill Day's longing for "somethin' Indikerous." The moral influence of the book is of the healthiest kind. The leading critics assigned a very high place to the "Hoosier School-master," and we feel sure that "The End of the World" will place its author in the front rank of American writers of fiction and we predict for it a success unsurpassed by any American story that has yet been written. It will contain fifteen full-page engravings, and many other illustrations. Price, post paid, $1 50.

American Homes for September is the best issue of that standard magazine, and is full of amusing, interesting and beautiful illustration. It employs only good writers.

Our Young folks for October contains contributions by J. T. Towbridge, Rose Terry, Mary E. Atkinson, Rebecca Harding Davis, Marian Douglass, Harvey Wilder and several other writers who have in an unusual degree the qualifications of writers for youth. It is a capital number. Boston, J. R. Osgood & Co.

PRINTING OFFICE PERPLEXITIES.—We have been trying for two days to announce an auction sale of six hundred pieces of heavy fine foreign woolens, to-morrow. The first day our printers made it 60 pieces, and this morning the types refused to chronicle any number. We are trying it again for to-morrow morning, but are not sanguine of success, although a first-class man has made the correction and at last advices was sitting astride the form watching it without once stopping to wink!—New York Journal of Commerce.

Every newspaper man will sympathize with the writer of the above, for every one has been afflicted in a similar way. Some time ago we wrote out an item to the effect that "Congress has appropriated $200,000" for a certain purpose; it came down in the proof $2,000,000,—we marked one cypher "out," and were rewarded next morning by learning from our own item that "Congress has appropriated $20,000,000," etc. We again made the necessary correction, and on the second morning were surprised to read that "Congress has appropriated $20,000." We then wrote out the amount appropriated, and being a little annoyed at the previous errors, (by which figures were made to lie in our paper as persistently as though it was a Greeley organ,) we underscored the words "two hundred thousand dollars," to have them set in italics. Late at night, in our desperate determination to have the appropriation item correct at last, we looked it over in type, not having seen it in proof; and though we are credited with possessing a fair share of that persevering firmness which in woman is called obstinacy, the announcement that "Congress has appropriated two hundred dollars" was too much,—we "dumped" the item and gave up the unequal contest with fate, in despair.

A colored individual down South declares that Greeley is "only a rotten log for 'mocracy to crawl frough."

WOODEN WEDDING ANNIVERSARY.—A large and happy party assembled at the residence of Mr. and Mrs. Charles E. Shedd, on State Street, Wednesday evening, to celebrate their Wooden Wedding, and testify, by their presence and gifts, to the esteem in which both are held. The evening was passed in the most social manner, games, music, mirth and jollity extending far into the midnight hours. Previous to the refreshment of the body, a humorous and pathetic poem, written for the occasion by Mr. Samuel Dodge, was read by him, who assured the company in the commencement that

"Pulleys might run irregular, and belts be getting loose,
And wooden weddings for repairs might be of wondrous use."

and while "accepting the situation," it was given out that

"Surely, the Presidential prospects do not exercise our brain, For we've "clasped hands across the chasm" since the returns have come in from Maine!"— a sentiment which was patriotically and enthusiastically received; while the personal allusions to the aged people present, were greeted with that reverence due the whitened locks of nearly ninety winters.

Following, was the "exposing of the festive board," each one breaking the fast with a relish which was quite enjoyable not only to participants but to lookers-on. The celerity with which the well filled table was cleared and replenished was wonderful to behold. The company then pressed to an adjoining room, where the distribution to the host and hostess of a large and miscellaneous collection of gifts of use and ornament was made, with a few remarks, the comical side constantly coming up, especially when a huge scrub broom labelled as a "tooth-brush," and warranted not to shed the hair, was brought forth. The party then adjourned to the parlor, where the festivities of the evening were brought to a close with singing.

To the couple in whose honor the party was given we heartily join in the sentiment of the poet in wishing—

"May kindly Heaven on all your paths its blessings oft be Shedd-ing,
And so stay married fifty years—then have a Golden Wedding.—Journal.

The Singer SEWING MACHINE

STILL LEADS THE MARKET.

The Success of the Company is far beyond that of any other similar concern; the

Daily Manufacture

—OF—

400 OF THE SINGERS

Failing to Supply the Constant Demand.

All other machines call the public attention to some new loop or stitch or tension or finish, some advantage in running or needles or feed or prices—and many of these are as we have said very good points, and the agents selling them use them to divert entirely the would-be purchaser from fairly considering the facts in the case; but the

seems to unite the good qualities of all, and is never found wanting.

THE SINGER

IS THE

OLDEST

SEWING MACHINE

IN THE MARKET,

All others being copied from its first model. It does two-thirds the sewing done in this country and preserves its advantages over all others combined.

It is readily kept clean, and has THE BEST TENSION EVER INVENTED; it is lighter speeded and requires but little power to run; it works equally well upon the finest and heaviest goods; it does all the varieties of work known to the art.

AYER'S HAIR VIGOR.

FOR RESTORING GRAY HAIR TO ITS NATURAL VITALITY AND COLOR.

Advancing years, sickness, care, disappointment, and hereditary predisposition, all turn the hair gray; either of them disposes to fall off prematurely, and either of them unsightly and unpleasant to behold. DR. AYER'S consummate skill has produced an antidote for these deformities, which has won gratitude for him from multitudes of men and women. His HAIR VIGOR sometimes reproduces lost hair; and always restores to faded and gray hair its natural color, with the gloss and freshness of youth. The comparatively few bald and gray heads, that we now see, are those who have not yet discovered the virtues of AYER'S HAIR VIGOR for renewing the hair. The fresh and youthful hair we see on older heads is often the product of this art. If you are disfigured, or made old, austere and ugly, by gray hair, restore its youthful color, and with your features to their original softness and agreeable expression.

As an elegant dressing for beautifying the Hair, it has no superior.

AYER'S PURGATIVE PILLS.

For all the purposes of a Family Physic, CURING

Costiveness, Jaundice, Dyspepsia, Indigestion, Dysentery, Foul Stomach, Erysipelas, Headache, Piles, Rheumatism, Eruptions and Skin Diseases, Biliousness, Liver Complaint, Dropsy, Tetter, Tumors and Salt Rheum, Worms, Gout, Neuralgia, as a Dinner Pill, and Purifying the Blood,

Are the most congenial purgative yet perfected. Their effects abundantly show how much they excel all other Pills. They are safe and pleasant to take, but powerful to cure. They purge out the foul humors of the blood; they stimulate the sluggish or disordered organ into action, and they impart health and tone to the whole being. They cure not only the every day complaints of every body, but formidable and dangerous diseases. Most eminent clergymen, most skillful physicians, and our best citizens send certificates of cures performed, and of great benefits they have derived from these Pills. They are the safest and best physic for children, because mild as well as effectual. Sugar-coated, they are easy to take; and being purely vegetable, they are entirely harmless.

The Grand Gift Concert

A FIXED FACT.

September 28th the Day.

Your Tickets Now or Never!

THE vast sale of tickets already made, and the increasing demand for them from all quarters having determined the Trustees that the GRAND GIFT CONCERT for the benefit of the PUBLIC LIBRARY OF KENTUCKY, advertised for SATURDAY, SEPT. 28, 1872, shall positively come off on that day without postponement, the management now notifies all who expect to participate in the drawing that they should buy their tickets at once. Delay for a few days caused many who wanted tickets at the concert in December last to go without them. Some living in Louisville waited until sales were closed, expecting, no doubt, a postponement, and then offered fifteen, twenty, and even twenty-five dollars for tickets which the day before were offered to purchasers at the regular price. Others living at a distance sent thousands of dollars by mail and express, which got here after sales were closed, and had to be sent back. These disappointments need not occur again, if the warning now given in due season is heeded.

The drawing will begin precisely at 6 o'clock Saturday morning, September 28, 1872, in the great hall of the Public Library building, and continue until the one thousand gifts are all drawn.

The Concert itself will be the most brilliant orchestral display that ever occurred in the West. One hundred performers, gathered from all parts of this country and from Europe, under the direction of Prof. Hast, will contribute to this grand musical carnival. And to afford ample room for every ticket-holder to enjoy such an unusual musical festival, the Concert will be given in Central Park, where arrangements have been made to accommodate all who may come.

Persons holding whole, half or quarter tickets, will be admitted to both the Concert and Drawing, and none without such tickets will be admitted to either.

PRICE OF TICKETS.

Whole Tickets $10; halves, $5; quarters, $2 50; 11 Whole tickets for $100; 22 for $225; 56 for $500; 113 for $1,000; 285 for $2,500; 575 for $5000. No discount on less than $100 worth of tickets at a time.

In accordance with numerous solicitations arrangements have been made with all the railroad and steamboat lines leading into the city for the sale of round trip tickets, good for six days to all persons who may wish to attend the Concert or drawing. Such tickets will be furnished by the Louisville & Nashville Railroad; the Louisville, Cincinnati and Lexington Railroad; the Louisville, Indianapolis and Madison Railroad; the Ohio and Mississippi Railroad; the Louisville and Cincinnati Mail Boat Line, and the Louisville, Owensboro and Henderson Mail Line Packets.

All agents are required to close sales and make their returns in full time to reach this office by Thursday, September 25. To do this successfully, those located at great distances must close sales days before the 25th.

All tickets to which gifts are awarded, will be paid without discount, by the Farmers' and Drovers' Bank, either in currency, or by sight-draft upon the Fourth National Bank of New York, at option of the holder. The ticket must first be presented at this office, Room No. 4, Public Library Building, before they will be paid by the Bank.

The drawing will be published in the Louisville Papers and New York Herald, and official copies sent to purchasers to whom tickets have been sent by letter.

CHAPTER VI.

I owe an apology to a very irritable striped squirrel that chattered and scolded at us from amongst the trees near the foot of Newport. I quite forgot him in my last letter and must beg his pardon. He scolded us on one side the path, then ran across and scolded us on the other, apparently delighted to have somebody to find fault with. His shrewish audacity was very amusing to me, for I never before had more than a glimpse of a wild squirrel, just as he was disappearing through the chinks of a stone wall, or into the leafy gloom of a dense tree-top; and I supposed that they always got away from the genus homo as fast and far as possible; but this little fellow looked down at us from the bough as "Tickley Toby" might have done if he had ever come home and found us on his land. I wonder if every body who visits Newport gets such a scolding as we did.

Saturday morning rose from the sea, dripping with rain and veiled in fog, but dried its tears and put on a cheerful face in time for us to start, as said, just after breakfast. The Master himself was the Jehu of this expedition, and proud of his driving, as sailors always are; I know an old sea-captain who thinks that the one thing in the world he can do just a shade better than he can manage a ship, is to drive a horse; and no doubt of his ability has ever entered his head, though he is never without a lame horse or a broken carriage, except when crossing the Atlantic and unable to exercise his talents as a driver. This marine driving doesn't commend itself to my confidence, and the Mariner's was ultra-marine, but owing to the excellent moral character of the horse, nothing resulted from it but a delightful ride. The wagon, as usual, comes to the piazza for its load, we drive across the wide green enclosure and through the open gate, where stands the little Photograph Saloon in a corner of the field. Here we have supplied ourselves with views of Mt. Desert scenery, and would have had our pictures taken for our friends, but that we love them too well. Just beyond the saloon is a small one-story building bearing the imposing title of "The Mart" in huge letters over the door, and usually displaying from one to two men on the porch. Across the street the sign "Des Isle & Co." reminds us of the old French settlement at Mt. Desert, the only thing that does, except the name of one of the hotels, "St. Saviour House." Just out of the village we pass a pretty brook, "Duck Brook" our speculating Green Mountain driver said it was, but we don't feel sure of it for all that. We walked as far as this through the mud on the day of our arrival, and found a horse standing in the water half hidden amongst the alders, with a large cask in a cart, to be filled for the hotels, the supply from the wells being insufficient. I never saw this brook but the horse was standing in it, with his nose toward the road and the man filling the cask. I might have thought he stayed there, a perpetual tableau, but that I also met him driving homeward and brookward, though not at the same time; he must have been at it always. I never was fortunate enough to see the man drive the horse into the brook, and shall have to go down next summer to find out whether he backed the horse in or drove him in and turned him there;—it looked like something of a feat either way.

We are on the road to Schooner Head, as I should have told you before, favored with a delicate shade of clouds as we were yesterday. Now we first learn how grand a mountain Newport is; seen from this road it presents an almost perpendicular wall, between three and four miles long, the dark magnificent ridge descending, plunge after plunge, till it "breaks down in cliff to the sea." Sometimes there is apparently only half a mile of meadow between us and the base of the mountain, which lifts its glistening crags and solemn firs far into the mording sky. Good walkers follow the ridge from the summit away down to the ocean, and a magnificent walk it must be. It leads by Loch Anna, a little pond on one of the spurs, where white lilies float, and

CHERRY PECTORAL
For Diseases of the Throat and Lungs, such as Coughs, Colds, Whooping Cough, Bronchitis, Asthma and Consumption.
The few compositions, which have won the confidence of mankind and become household words among not only one but many nations, must have extraordinary virtues. Perhaps no one ever secured so wide a reputation or maintained it so long as AYER'S CHERRY PECTORAL. It has been known to the public about forty years, by a long continued series of marvellous cures, which have won for it a confidence in its virtues, never equalled by any other medicines. It still makes the most effectual cures of Coughs, Colds, Consumption, that can be made by medical skill. Indeed the CHERRY PECTORAL has really robbed these dangerous diseases of their terrors, to a great extent, and given a feeling of immunity from their fatal effects, which is well founded, if the remedy be taken in season. Every family should have it in their closet for the ready and prompt relief of its members. Sickness, suffering, and even life is saved by this timely protection. The prudent should not neglect it, and the wise will not. Keep it by you for the protection it affords in sudden attacks, and by its timely use.

AMERICAN & FOREIGN PATENTS.
R. H. EDDY,
SOLICITOR OF PATENTS,
For Inventions, Trade Marks or Designs,
No. 765 STATE ST., OPPOSITE KILBY ST., BOSTON,
After an extensive practice of upwards of thirty years, continues to secure patents in the United States; also in Great Britain, France and other foreign countries. Caveats, Specifications, Assignments, and all papers for Patents, executed on reasonable terms with dispatch. Research made to determine the validity and utility of Patents of inventions, and legal and other advice rendered in all matters touching the same. Copies of the claims of any patent furnished, by remitting one dollar. Assignments recorded in Washington.
No Agency in the United States possesses superior facilities for obtaining Patents or ascertaining the patentability of inventions.
All necessity of a journey to Washington to procure a Patent and the usual great delay there, are here saved inventors.
TESTIMONIALS.
"I regard Mr. Eddy as one of the most capable and successful practitioners with whom I have had official intercourse. CHARLES MASON, Commissioner of Patents."
"I have no hesitation in assuring inventors that they cannot employ a man more competent and trustworthy and more capable of putting their applications in a form to secure for them an early and favorable consideration at the Patent Office. EDMUND BURKE, Late Commissioner of Patents."
"MR. R. H. EDDY has made for me over THIRTY applications for Patents, having been successful in almost every case. Such unmistakable proof of great talent and ability on his part leads me to recommend ALL inventors to apply to him to procure their Patents, as they may be sure of having the most faithful attention bestowed on their cases, and at very reasonable charges.
JOHN TAGGART."

CLEAR YOUR THROAT!
Relieve Your Lungs.
For the terrible diseases engendered by the lung-trying climate of New England,
Pulmocine Cordial
Is a speedy and reliable Preventive and Remedy. EVERY FAMILY should have a bottle at hand to check the sudden growth of all Pulmonary Diseases. For the Asthma, Coughs, Croups, Laryngitis, or inflammation of the larynx, Diphtheria, and all kindred DREAD DISEASES at all times prevalent, it is the ounce of PREVENTION. Children attacked with Whooping Cough or Croup should be immediately cared for. These painful attacks come with scarcely a moment's warning, when a physician may be out of immediate reach. A dose of PULMOCINE CORDIAL gives speedy relief, and the little ones are spared hours of pain and agony. As "a stitch in time saves nine," so does the possession of this FAMILY MEDICINE prevent the spread of disease. Parents seeing their children gasping with pain, friends and relatives beholding each other in peril from suffocation by the choking pain in the throat, paralyzed with fear and not knowing the best course to pursue, are liable to apply the wrong remedial agents. There is no safety in delay, no time to waste in such cases. CONSUMPTION, that fearful scourge of the human race, lies at the door of all thus afflicted. BUCHMAN'S PULMOCINE CORDIAL arrests it (unless in its advanced stage at which time there is no local cure) relieves the pressing, suffocating feeling at the lungs, and the patient's danger is past.
Buchman's Pulmocine Cordial
BUCHMAN'S PULMOCINE CORDIAL is no new discovery. Twenty-three years ago it was used by one of New England's most famous physicians as the best PULMONARY CURATIVE he could prescribe, after a dozen years spent in experimenting with it before he was satisfied that the Materia Medica could add nothing in its favor.
Is the ultima thule of Medical Discovery.
Among its many ingredients are WILD CHERRY BARK, SQUILL ROOT, LIQUORICE ROOT, BLOOD ROOT, &c. It is a BLOOD PURIFIER, gently stimulating. It increases expectoration and is diuretic. It is sudorific and alterative. It is a necessary family medicine. It is a Tonic, and a powerful aid to the digestive organs. It is a gentle sedative, and relieves nervousness. It is aromatic and agreeable to the taste.
For Coughs, Croup, Diphtheria, Asthma, &c.
USE BUCHMAN'S
PULMOCINE CORDIAL.
The Pulmocine Cordial is not a quack medicine, is not an experiment, is not composed of any ingredients "discovered" by "walking in pastures" in South America or anywhere else, nor by one who discovered a weed and thereby cured himself. Most of the ingredients are such as our best educated physicians daily use for the complaints specified, in some form or other. The recipe is that perfected by one of New England's most learned and famous physicians, who used it entirely in his daily practice until his death. It is offered to the profession and to the public, absolutely pure and unadulterated.

BRIGGS' ALLEVANTOR is composed of Ammonia, Chloroform, Spirits of Camphor, Tincture of Lupulina, Oil of Juniper, and Alcohol. This compound is unequalled in the annals of medicine for the cure of Nervous or Sick Headache, Neuralgia, Trembling or Twitching of the Nerves, and all Nervous Diseases. It will counteract all poisons, banish pimples, cure scaly eruptions, itching, humors, &c.; it equalizes the circulation, invigorates the system, increases the action of the heart, without exciting the brain, cures Heartburn, Palpitation and Fluttering of the Heart, Dyspepsia, &c. Briggs' Allevantor absolutely possesses more curative properties than any other preparation. Physicians, chemists, and others are requested to examine and test the remedy, and $1000 will be paid if found different from representation.
COUGHS. Much has been said and written, and many remedies have been offered for the relief and cure of throat and lung diseases; but nothing has been so eminently successful, or obtained such a wide celebrity, as Briggs' Throat and Lung Healer.
CORNS! The excruciating pain produced by Corns, the unceasing twinging from Bunions, the piercing, distressing pain from Ingrowing Nails, cannot be described. Thousands suffer, not knowing there is a cure. Briggs' Corn and Bunion Remedies are no acid or potash compounds, but are reliable, soothing, and effectual, and just merit the success they have earned from an appreciative public. The Curative is a healing ointment; immediate relief is obtained by its application, and it will positively cure the worst cases of Festered Corns, inflamed and Ulcerated Bunions, the sorest instep, the largest and severest Blisters, the most extensive Callosities on the soles or heels of the feet, unequalled in the cure of Chilblains or Frosted Feet. The Allevantor for ordinary corns and preventing their formation is absolutely unexcelled by anything ever known.
PILES have been a terror to mankind for centuries, and almost every attempt to cure them has been baffled. By unceasing study and experimenting, Dr. Briggs has discovered an absolutely cure for internal, bleeding, external, and itching piles. Briggs' Pile Remedies are mild, safe and sure.
For sale by J. H. THACHER, WM. R. PRESTON, Portsmouth; JAMES O. TREFETHEN, Kittery; E. S. SAFFORD, Kittery Point; H. M. CURTIS, Newcastle, and dealers generally.
CORNS, Bunions, Bad Nails, and Scrofulous and Cancerous Humors, Piles, etc., skillfully treated at the great central Chiropodical and Healing Institute, No. 765 Broadway, New York. DR. J. BRIGGS, President; DR. ALEXANDER WEBBER, Secretary. ap9

AYER'S HAIR VIGOR
FOR RESTORING GRAY HAIR
TO ITS NATURAL VITALITY AND COLOR.
Advancing years, sickness, care, disappointment, and hereditary predisposition, all turn the hair gray; either of them disposes to fall off prematurely, and either effect is unsightly and undesirable. To behold DR. AYER'S consummate skill has produced an antidote for these deformities, which has won gratitude for him from multitudes of men and women. His HAIR VIGOR sometimes reproduces lost hair; and always restores to faded and gray hair its natural color, with the glossy and freshness of youth. The comparatively few bald and gray heads, that we see on older heads is often the product of his art. If you are disfigured, or made old, austere and ugly, by gray hair, restore its youthful color, and with your features to their original softness and agreeable expression.
As an elegant dressing for beautifying the Hair, it has no superior.

More Chasmatic Shaking.

A special despatch from Baltimore to the New York Times, on Sunday night says:—The rebellious spirit which animated the people of this city during the war, and which was exhibited in positive acts of violence whenever they could be indulged in with impunity, was shown this evening to be quite as strong as ever. The Washington veterans, in passing through the city on the way to Pittsburg to the Soldiers and Sailors' Convention, were attacked, at 7 o'clock, by ruffians concealed behind railway cars at the Calvert street depot. The scenes of 1861 were repeated in their main features and one soldier was seriously injured, having been struck by a brick, which smashed his face in a shocking manner. He was taken to a drug store and his wounds dressed. The brutal attack has created considerable excitement, but little hope is entertained that the police of this thoroughly Greeleyized city will make any effort to investigate the outrage. The city will undoubtedly go for Greeley, and the facts are intimately connected. Whatever has tended to revive the prospects of the "lost cause" has invariably resulted in outbursts of the old spirit of disloyalty and hatred of Union soldiers. The Pittsburg convention of the defenders of the Union is looked upon by these unrepentant secessionists with the same hatred that burst on the sixth Massachusetts regiment in April, 1861, and the delegates to it who have to pass through this city will do it at their peril, for the authorities secretly sympathize with the "blood-tubs" and "plugs," who are the active agents in these deeds of violence.

Greeleyites, Attention.

A wealthy citizen of Hartford authorizes the Courant to make the following proposition:—

I will bet [illegible] will be our next President if he lives. I will also bet $5000 that he will carry the State of New York, both bets to be taken together; or I will substitute Connecticut for New York—money to be deposited in bank at Hartford.

A Virginia Republican publicly announces at the head of the columns of the Richmond State Journal that he is prepared to make the following bets on the Presidential election of 1872, "open to all comers for ten days:"

$500 that Horace Greeley will not be elected.

$100 that he will not carry New Hampshire.

$100 that he will not carry Connecticut.

$100 that he will not carry New York (State).

$100 that he will not carry Pennsylvania.

$100 that he will not carry Ohio.

$100 that he will not carry Indiana.

$100 that he will not carry Illinois.

$100 that he will not carry Wisconsin.

$100 that he will not carry Virginia, and $100 that he will not carry North Carolina.

All of the above offers to be taken together.

If either General Grant or Mr. Greeley should die before the election, the bet to be off; but the withdrawal of Mr. Greeley is not to affect the wager.

Out Of Soap.

A financial row is impending between the Democratic and Liberal committees in New York, says the Troy Whig. Mr. Schell, of the Democratic side, is understood to refuse funds for the use of the handful of ex-Republican deadbeats who have attached themselves to the Chappaqua crowd, and there is danger that the latter will fall to pieces for lack of the cohesive power of "stamps." It is said that Schell has already advanced $92,000, that large sums were fruitlessly squandered in North Carolina, and much more in Maine, and that the fountains of this essential lubricating oil are running dry.

The loss of the Democratic vote in the East is easily explained, and we wonder that Horace has made no effort to reassure his panic-stricken followers. The influence of the Sage in former years caused thousands of young men in the crowded cities to go West and grow up with the country, as they were advised. Just wait until the bait gets started out here.—Cin. Chron.

Maine Election.

The Kennebec Journal has returns by towns, from the entire State except three small towns and fifteen plantations in remote parts of the State. The returns received foot up as follows:

Total number of votes returned	126,566
Perham receives	71,824
Kimball "	54,742

Perham's majority, 17,082.

Same towns last year:

Total	105,986
Perham	58,309
Kimball	47,677

Perham's majority, 10,632.

The remaining eighteen towns and plantations last year gave a total vote of 790, of which Perham received 348, Kimball 442. It is highly probable that these plantations, or some of them, will make no returns of votes this year, as it has heretofore been the case that a number of plantations have been excluded from voting, or from being counted, through a failure to comply with the terms of the statutes.

Political.

The St. Louis Globe has achieved a daily circulation of 8000 in two months. We hope it will run up to 80,000.

Colonel Forney, who has been opposing Hartranft the Republican candidate for Governor of Pennsylvania, expresses the opinion to his friends that while the fight made against Hartranft will reduce his majority much below the full Republican vote, he will certainly be elected, and that the State will go for Grant in November by a largely increased majority. This expected reduction in Hartranft's vote will, however, utterly fail to give any comfort or support to the Greeley movement, since he vote on congressman at large will show the real strength of the Republican vote, whatever the vote on governor may be.

The liberal Republican strength in Maine at the last election was not over 700.

We agree with the Chicago Times, the ablest Democratic organ in the West, when it declares that the result of the Maine election is "quite sufficient to indicate that the Greeley business is the most absurd and contemptible fiasco in the history of American politics."

The latest Greeley excuse for the disastrous result in Maine is that "none of the sinews of war were placed in any such a hopeless location." That would make a wooden Indian grin.—Cleveland Herald.

We have made an accurate computation of the time it will take for the Liberals and Democrats, according to the ratio of gain in the recent elections, to get control of this country. We find that if they keep up their spirits, and hold together as they do in North Carolina and Maine, they will come into power in about seventy-four years. This is not very cheering, but it is better than nothing.

Just as the Greeleyites had convinced themselves that it would be a great damage to Grant for O'Conor to run, how cruel it was for him to decline! Just their luck.—Cin. Chron.

Hon. Joshua Hill, Senator from Georgia, has declared for Grant.

A girl of Keokuk wanted to get rid of a tiresome lover, and so, according to the Buffalo Express, she promised to marry him when Greeley is elected.

We have reliable authority for the statement that Gratz Brown has quit the soft shell crab and taken to the oyster as a beverage. The first half a dozen raw indulged in went right to his head. Under the inspiration it produced he said Grant would carry three States and Wilson might possibly carry two—making five for the Radicals. He firmly believed Gratz Brown would carry the rest if Greeley could be kept in the background.—Cin. Times & Chron.

The next elections will take place Oct. 8, when State officers and Congressmen are to be chosen in Indiana, Iowa, Nebraska, Ohio and Pennsylvania.

The subsidence of the Greeley wave has carried several gentlemen of great talents out to sea, who have not since been heard of. Among them blessed memory brings back to us the names of such as Sumner, Banks, Tappan et id omne genus. Music by the band—a dirge for the lost.

On Saturday the republicans of Newmarket flung to the breeze a splendid Grant and Wilson flag. Remarks were made by Timothy Murray, Esq., and Hon. William B. Small.

General S. G. Griffin of Keene will attend the soldiers' convention at Pittsburg to represent New Hampshire in that body, and will take the stump for a short time in Pennsylvania in favor of his friend General Hartranft, the Republican candidate for governor.

It has been made public, says the Albany Journal, that Senator Doolittle, the virtuous Liberal reformer, not only used his official position to help along a private cotton speculation, in which he was interested, but he is more than suspected of complicity with the infamous Indian ring of 1865-6, whose offences he succeeded in whitewashing.

Gen. William H. Morris, a prominent Democrat of Putnam county, New York, is out for Grant.

"The lying Dutchman" is what Thomas A. Hendricks, the Democratic candidate for Governor of Indiana, once called Carl Schurz. This remark was never so vividly impressed on our mind as when Schurz, in a late speech, called Hendricks an honest man.—Cin. Chron.

Gov. Jewell, of Connecticut, gives assurance that that State will go for Grant in November by at least 2,000 majority.

The Boston Globe says: "We are desired to state that Mr. H. W. Longfellow's name was used without his authority by the so called liberal republicans at Worcester. Mr. Longfellow says: 'I do not vote with that party.'"

Hon. William Moran of Philadelphia, nominated for Congressman by the Greeleyites, urges the election of Grant.

Ever since we can remember, the Democrats have been howling for reform, and we know of none who need it more than they.

USE BUCHMAN'S PULMOCINE CORDIAL for all throat diseases. For sale at the Union Store.

"NOT VERY WELL."—A feeling of vague bodily discomfort, which does not amount to positive illness, and yet is incompatible with health, is often aptly described by the phrase "Not very well." This feeling usually arises from a deficiency of the nervous power which is required to keep the vital machinery in vigorous and healthful operation. Nervous weakness has too frequently turned out to be the prelude of some serious malady to admit of any doubt in the matter. Inactivity of the bodily functions as surely begets their derangement as cause precedes effect.

It is therefore absolutely essential for the preservation of health, perhaps of life itself, that this warning should be promptly heeded. The case does not admit of delay. Revitalize the system at once and effectually with Hostetter's Bitters—that peerless invigorant which, by infusing new health and strength into the system, protects it against disease more surely than ever knight of old was protected by armor of proof against his foe.

THE THIEF who was arrested for robbing Parsons' store in this town, was found to have a quantity of Ayer's Hair Vigor in his possession. When asked why he wished to steal that article, he answered that he "wanted to restore his hair, for it was hard to be a thief and bald too." If that invention of the great chemist could restore a fadeit character as effectually as it does their natural beauty to bald and grey heads, it would surely be, as they say it now is, truly invaluable.—Lewiston (Me.) Journal.

MASKS AND FACES.—Ladies who mask their faces and neck with enamels endanger their health to no purpose. The picture work deceives nobody. There is but one article known which will restore a blemished complexion or create external brilliancy and bloom where they have never heretofore existed, and that article is Hagan's Magnolia Balm. It performs this toilet miracle by infusing vitality into the skin. The floral and herbal juices of which it is composed gently stimulate the circulation in the minute blood vessels and brace the network of nerves through which they pass. Thus quickened and strengthened the external covering soon acquires a fresh and healthful hue, and every trace of sallowness disappears. The palest cheeks derive from the beautifying baptism of this delightful cosmetic a warmer hue, and the arms, hands and neck, a blonde lustre which the charlatans, who profess to make ladies "beautiful forever" with their poisonous cement, can never hope to imitate.

CASTORIA.—A substitute for Castor Oil—is a physic which does not distress or gripe, but is sure to operate when all other remedies have failed. You may confidently rely upon the Castoria in Stomach-ache, Constipation, Flatulency, Croup, Worms, Piles or deranged Liver. It contains neither Minerals, Morphine, Opium nor Alcohol, but is purely a vegetable preparation, perfectly harmless, and above all, pleasant to take. The Castoria soothes and quiets the system, and produces natural sleep. It is a wonderful thing to assimilate the food of children and prevent them from crying. A 35 cent bottle will do the work for a family and save many doctors' bills.

HOLLOWAY'S PILLS AND OINTMENT.—Dyspepsia is the most depressing of human ailments. The Pills will cure it in ten days! The Ointment is equally sure and speedy in its operation on sores and eruptions. Sold 78 Maiden Lane, N. Y. Price 25 cents per pox or pot. Ask for new style; old is counterfeited. 15

PILES.—The unceasing torture from internal bleeding, external and itching piles is fast wearing away the thousands of those who are afflicted and their hope and courage have long since given place to despair. Let those who see this cheer up, for a mild and sure cure may be had by using BRIGGS' PILE REMEDIES.

CORNS.—Since pride and fashion have had control of mankind, and shoemakers were compelled to make boots and shoes to fit fancy instead of the feet, the suffering from Corns, Bunions, Ingrowing Nails, Sore Insteps, Blistered Heels, Callosities on the bottom of the feet, &c., cannot be described. But Briggs' Corn and Bunion Remedies will cure all such torments, and proper fitting boots will prevent their reproduction. Sold by all druggists. a12

Ember Days.

The present week is called the Autumnal Ember Week in the Episcopal church; and Wednesday, Friday and Saturday, the Ember days,—i. e. days of special fasting and devotions. The Ember weeks of the year are four, and occur near the beginning of each of the four seasons. They are designed as suitable occasions of private recollection, penitence and prayer, but also for special prayers for the blessing of God on the labors of the husbandman; and yet more especially on the holy ministry, (many local churches among the various denominations keep a "quarterly fast," in some respects corresponding to, and perhaps patterned from this beautiful custom of fifteen centuries at least,) in every branch of the Episcopal church.

Appropriate services will be held in St. John's Chapel, State Street, on Wednesday evening at 7 1-2, Friday morning at 11, and Saturday afternoon at 5 o'clock.

Laconics.

A salute of 17 guns was fired at the Navy Yard on Tuesday in honor of the visit of Admiral Porter.

A carpenter named Perkins employed on Piscataqua Bridge was severely injured on Monday night by some fishermen who had taken refuge in our harbor from the recent severe storm. The rascals were ashore for the purpose of maraudering upon the farmers on the Kittery shore and seeing Mr. Perkins emerge from his home assailed him with stones which struck him in the face, breaking his nose and otherwise injuring him. It is but about a year since one of these mackerel fishermen was shot while on a similar expedition, and we would suggest to the parties above alluded to that they bear this incident in mind.

The local Lyre has found somewhere a vote taken on a train that resulted in favor of Greeley, and gives it to its readers as an item of news. "Pat' asked us several days since to "wait 'till the gravel train" voted; we suppose said train has voted. Who wonders that it resulted in favor of Greeley?

ALMOST AN ACCIDENT.—Mr. J. W. Bartlett attempted to get upon the Pullman train for Boston at the Eastern Railroad Station on Monday noon while the train was in motion. He was going out to the Knownothing station to his mother's house, and had taken hold of the railing at the front of the rear car in order to jump on board, when the wet ground caused him to slip and he fell, striking his head on the rail, and in some way his legs got under the moving train. He was active and fortunate enough, however, to roll out of the way so as to save his legs, and he escaped without injury, except the slight bruise upon his head.—Newburyport Herald.

ABOUT BIRDS.—Some curious statistics about small birds have recently been laid before the English House of Commons. The thrush is said to work from 2.30 in the morning until 9.30 in the evening, or nineteen hours. During this time he feeds his young 206 times. Blackbirds work seventeen hours. The male feeds the young 44 times and the female 55 times per day. The industrious titmouse manages to spread 417 meals a day before its voracious offspring. According to one naturalist their food consists largely of caterpillars. These statements, and a hundred more quite as curious, were made in an eloquent plea for a law to protect small birds from being snared and shot. Unfortunately, although the speech seems to prove that they are really the allies instead of the enemies of the farmer, the old prejudices against them were strong enough to defeat the bill.

The Singer

SEWING MACHINE

STILL LEADS THE MARKET.

The Success of the Company is far beyond that of any other similar concern; the

Daily Manufacture

—OF—

400 OF THE SINGERS

Failing to Supply the Constant Demand.

All other machines call the public attention to some new loop or stitch or tension or finish, some advantage in running or needles or feed or prices—and many of these are so we have said very good points, and the agents selling them use them to divert entirely the would-be purchaser from fairly considering the facts in the case; but the

seems to unite the good qualities of all, and is never found wanting.

THE SINGER

IS THE

OLDEST

SEWING MACHINE

IN THE MARKET,

All others being copied from its first model. It does two-thirds the sewing done in this country and preserves its advantages over all others combined.

It is readily kept clean, and has THE BEST TENSION EVER INVENTED; it is higher speeded and requires but little power to run; it works equally well upon the finest and heaviest goods; it does all the varieties of work known to the art.

N. B. Those purchasing for cash, before the 1 of January next, will have a consideration allowed them.

Morning Chronicle.

wild creatures go to drink, for it is the only water on the mountain. All along our way there is nothing to divide the attention with Newport, for we are shut in on the left by woods; and when "at last the longed for dash of waves is heard, and wide the luminous world of water opens" on our sight, we have reached the end of our drive.

The horse is left beside the fence, and we pass through the grounds of a Boston gentleman who has chosen the very finest location on our coast for his summer residence. Newport sits throned in majesty high over the green and gradual slopes that climb from the sea towards him him; and the rich undulating field in which the house is placed, looks up to the glory of the mountain, backward over the bay with its islands and its setting of opal-tinted hills, and southward to the open ocean, that dashes up through a rock-bound cove into the field itself. Here from the windows can be seen the full fury of the waves as they thunder against the cliffs. A foot-path leads through the field, which is matted with yellow clover, and flaming around the edges amongst the tall grass and thistles with the scarlet flowers of the wild lily. Winding round the head of the cove and up the hill through a beautiful grove, we reach the green top of Schooner Head, where hosts of harebells tremble in the breeze and the exquisite vine of the crowberry covers the ancient rocks, while at their base, "as if with endless hope, the waters climb eternally." We look over the brink of the beetling promontory, but no descent is possible here, and we shall not see the cliffs on which we stand, for we have missed the path that leads to the foot and there is no time to hunt it up to-day; we will do better next summer. Clambering over the rocks toward the south, we come upon the Spouting Horn, and as the tide is very low we descend into the black and horrible chasm, and passing under the dripping arch, look up at the fair strip of sky far over head, where the cliffs have been rent asunder. It is a savage place, and looks even worse from the edge of the chasm above than here. In a heavy gale this Horn sends up a column of foam to the height of a hundred feet.

O, to have been there in the great storm of August 30th, now forever associated with the appalling horrors of a great disaster. Wide over the world, wherever the fearful story goes, reaches that dread Shadow of Death; home grow dim beneath it, and every heart that knows anything of love, passes in sympathy with the sufferers through the Gethsemane of that bitter hour. But right there, in the midst of the darkness and the tempest, see the Lily of God, that only blooms in the deep waters of agony,—the sacred flower shining with a light never seen on sea or shore, before which the stars grow dim and the great sun veils his face,—the flower of the Heart of God, that opened on the cross, and fills eternity with its tender glory, its ineffable fragrance. Its white and starry lustre lights up that black sea of death, where heroic souls go out to save those helpless sufferers or die with them, and a young man gives up to a mother and her child the frail support to which he clung for life,—then goes down, Christ-like, into the deep, deep waters. God be thanked that he lets us see sometimes, even in this world where death is so mighty, that there is something mightier still. The mystery of suffering is not explained,—it cannot be; yet we do know that but for pain and death the human soul would miss of its divinest glory, for none could suffer for another. And even in the highest heaven, is not the "crown of all crowns a crown of thorns?"

"The salt, unplumbed, estranging sea," from the beginning of time both symbol and minister of death; all through the lonely dash of the waves and the hollow thunder of the surf "there sobs I know not what ground tone of human agony." Sorrow, parting, mystery, death,—this is what the wild waves are saying, with clearer accents as year follows year. Yet as we stand beside it, face to face with our one certainty, strength and even peace comes from the bosom of the deathful ocean into ours; for we remember that, with all its dead, who went down into those desolate depths alone,—with all its tempests, that sweep away the fleets like chaff, God holds it in the hollow of his hand.

"Life's mystery, deep, restless as the ocean,
Has surged and wailed for ages to and fro.
Earth's generations watch its ceaseless motion,
As in and out its hollow moanings flow.
Shivering and yearning by that unknown sea,
Let my soul calm itself, O Christ! in thee.

The many waves of thought, the mighty tides,
The ground-swell that rolls up from other lands,
From far-off worlds, from dim, eternal shores,
Whose echo dashes on life's wave-worn strands;
This vague, dark tumult of the inner sea
Grows calm, grows bright, O risen Lord! in thee.

Between the mysteries of life and death
Thou standest, loving, guiding,—not explaining.
We ask, and thou art silent; yet we gaze,
And our charmed hearts forget their drear complaining.
No crushing fate, no stony destiny.
Thou Lamb that hast been slain! We rest in thee."

Leaving the frowning rocks of Schooner Head on our left, we drive on to Great Head, a mile further in the same direction. The road ends at a farm-house, just under Sandy Beach Mountain, the boldest and finest of the spurs of Newport, rising so suddenly and steeply from the pretty little beach which gives it a name, that it looks inaccessible, but the farmer says it is not. A walk of nearly a mile through delicious woods, leads up to the highest point of Great Head, a far grander promontory than Schooner Head, with a perpendicular face of cliff more than a hundred feet in height. We scramble down by a narrow path along the hillside, to where we can look up at this massive masonry that has stood the storms of ages. It is a terrible coast. A few summers ago, all the guests were prepared to leave Bar Harbor at the arrival of the steamer, which was to be the last for the season if I remember rightly. The trunks were packed and everything in readiness. Then a great storm arose and for three days they were weather bound, and no steamer appeared. But they saw, what I would live in the fog for months to see at last, the raging of a tempest against these dreadful cliffs; for on the third day the storm abated enough for them to go to the shore, to see Spouting Horn, and Schooner Head and Great Head, with the roused Atlantic hurling his mighty waves upon them. Night came, no steamer yet, and they went to sleep in the hope that the next day and calmer weather would bring it. "But at midnight there was a cry made"—all through the little town it rang from house to house, "the Lewiston has come and leaves in half an hour!" Half dressed and half awake they hurried down to the boat, women and men dragging at the trunks, for there was not time to move them properly; and so they left Mt. Desert, in the black midnight, not a star to be seen and the sea still heaving with the violence of its spent passion.

We must leave Great Head and drive home to dinner, and my next letter shall tell you what we did with our Saturday afternoon. M. E. B.

AYER'S PURGATIVE PILLS.

For all the purposes of a Family Physic, CURING

Costiveness, Jaundice, Dyspepsia, Indigestion, Dysentery, Foul Stomach, Erysipelas, Headache, Piles, Rheumatism, Eruptions and Skin Diseases, Biliousness, Liver Complaint, Dropsy, Tetter, Tumors and Salt Rheum, Worms, Gout, Neuralgia, as a Dinner Pill, and Purifying the Blood,

Are the most congenial purgative yet perfected. Their effects abundantly show how much they excel all other Pills. They are safe and pleasant to take, but powerful to cure. They purge out the foul humors of the blood; they stimulate the sluggish or disordered organ into action, and they impart health and tone to the whole being. They cure not only the every day complaints of every body, but formidable and dangerous diseases. Most eminent clergymen, most skillful physicians, and our best citizens send certificates of cures performed, and of great benefits they have derived from these Pills. They are the safest and best physic for children, because mild as well as effectual. Being sugar coated, they are easy to take; and being purely vegetable, they are entirely harmless.

THE immense demand for HOLLOWAY'S PILLS and OINTMENT, has tempted unprincipled parties to counterfeit these valuable medicines.

In order to protect the public and ourselves, we have issued a new "Trade Mark," consisting of an Egyptian circle of a serpent, with the letter H in the centre. Every box of genuine HOLLOWAY'S PILLS and OINTMENT will have this trade mark on it; none are genuine without it.

The Grand Gift Concert

A FIXED FACT.

September 28th the Day.

Your Tickets Now or Never!

THE vast sale of tickets already made, and the increasing demand for them from all quarters having determined the Trustees that the GRAND GIFT CONCERT for the benefit of the PUBLIC LIBRARY OF KENTUCKY, advertised for SATURDAY, SEPT. 28, 1872, shall positively come off on that day without postponement, the management now invites those who expect to participate in the drawing that they should buy their tickets at once. Delay for a few days caused many who wanted tickets at the concert in December last to go without them. Some living in Louisville waited until sales were closed, expecting, no doubt, a postponement, and then offered fifteen, twenty, and even twenty-five dollars for tickets which the day before were offered to purchasers at the regular price. Others living at a distance sent thousands of dollars by mail and express, which got here after sales were closed, and had to be sent back. These disappointments need not occur again if the warning now given in due season is heeded.

The drawing will begin precisely at 6 o'clock Saturday morning, September 28, 1872, in the great hall of the Public Library building, and continue until the one thousand gifts are all drawn.

The Concert itself will be the most brilliant orchestral display that ever occurred in the West. One hundred performers, gathered from all parts of this country and from Europe, under the direction of Prof. Hast, will contribute to this grand musical carnival. And to afford ample room for every ticket-holder to enjoy such an unusual musical festival, the Concert will be given in Central Park, where arrangements have been made to accommodate all who may come.

Persons holding whole, half or quarter tickets, will be admitted to both the Concert and Drawing, and none without such tickets will be admitted to either.

PRICE OF TICKETS.

Whole Tickets $10; halves, $5; quarters, $2 50; 11 Whole tickets for $100; 28 for $255; 56 for $500; 113 for $1,000; 285 for $2,500; 575 for $5000. No discount on less than $100 worth of tickets at a time.

In accordance with numerous solicitations arrangements have been made with all the railroad and steamboat lines leading into the city for the sale of round-trip tickets, good for six days to all persons who may come to attend the Concert or drawing. Such tickets will be furnished by the Louisville & Nashville Railroad; the Louisville, Cincinnati and Lexington Railroad; the Louisville, Indianapolis and Madison Railroad; the Ohio and Mississippi Railroad; the Louisville and Cincinnati Mail Boat Line, and the Louisville, Owensboro and Henderson Mail Line Packets.

All agents are required to close sales and make their returns in full time to reach this office by Thursday, September 26. To do this successfully, those located at great distances must close some days before the 26th.

All tickets to which gifts are awarded, will be paid without discount, by the Farmers' and Drovers' Bank, either in currency, or by sight-draft upon the Fourth National Bank of New York, at option of the holder. The ticket must first be presented at this office, Room No. 4, Public Library Building, before they will be paid by the Bank.

The drawing will be published in the Louisville Papers and New York Herald, and official copies sent to purchasers to whom tickets have been sent by letter.

ANIMALS OF THE GALAPAGOS.—A corespondent with the Agassiz expedition furnishes an interesting account of the visit to the Galapagos Archipelago. The following description of the animals and insects found on the island will be found particularly interesting:

One of our most interesting adventures was landing in a little bay full of seals, so tame, or rather so little afraid of men, that we could tramp past groups of sleepers on the beach without awakening half of them, and without apparently frightening half of those that we did awake. They seemed to be fond of crawling under bushes just above high water mark, and sleeping two or three in a place, huddled close together. Under one bush lay a mother and her two cubs, so fearless that one of our officers held a piece of cracker to the old one, and she smelled it in his fingers as fearlessy as if she had been a pet dog. The cubs quarreled with each other as to which should cuddle nearest the mother, and they all three snarled and snapped at the flies in the manner of a sleepy dog, and all the while a party of ladies and gentlemen, creatures as large as the seals, and which the seals could scarce have seen before, stood looking on within touching distance. These seals had much more length of arm, and used their arms more in the manner of a quadruped than I had supposed any seal could do. I saw them walk on the beach the whole breast clear of the ground, and even jump upon the sand. Their favorite gymnastic exercise, however, was to lie upon their backs and roll, in the manner of a horse.

The tameness of these seals and of many of the land birds was very surprising; the Blountnoses were more shy than we had expected. I repeatedly put my fingers within a half an inch of little yellow birds and finches, and within six inches of mocking birds. On James Island the birds were so numerous and so tame that, while I was trying the experiment whether whistling to a yellow bird would divert his attention so much as to make him allow me to touch him, six other birds—including two mocking birds—came up and alighted on twigs within two yards of the yellow bird to see what was going on between us.

As for the flies, their tameness and pertidacity of adhesion, at the Galapagos, goes far beyond all travelers' accounts. I knew a good housekeeper in New England who affirmed that houseflies could not be driven out of a room unless you struck and killed one or two, in order to show the others that you were in earnest. You cannot drive the Galapagos flies from you even with that expedient. The birds and seals are not frightened by being stoned or shot; they don't know what stones and guns mean, and the flies are not frightened or discouraged by having any amount of their comrades killed. When a boat was coming off shore, the usual occupation, in order to prevent carrying the nuisances on ship, was for everybody to be picking the flies off themselves (almost as they would burrs), killing them and throwing them into the water, from the time of leaving the beach to the arrival on the deck of the ship; and the last fly slaughtered before you go into the cabin is no more afraid of you than the first one you slew on the beach. They are not all biting flies; we have escaped trouble from mosquitoes and biting flies during the whole voyage, but they are crawling, tickling, adhesive, tantalizing creatures.

It was pleasant to find here at the Galapagos a species of penguin, smaller and more sober in dress than our old friends of the Straits of Magellan, but with the same winning, cunning manners that made the birds in the Straits such favorites with our party. And while speaking of the birds of these islands, I would not forget the splendid flamingoes, six feet high, of which we got many fine specimens. They sailed about in parties of 12 or 20 birds together, making long lines of scarlet flame floating through the air. We tried their flesh on the table, and found it the most delibious game, fully equal to the canvasback, as it seemed to us.

—Four of the Japanese students, at Williston Seminary, board with Landlord Hill. Each wished a separate room, but he said he should have to put two in a room, unless one was sick. The boys are bright, and soon took their cue, and Mr. Hill received the following note, which is verbatim, et literatim, et punctuatim:—

Dear Mr. Hill: Mr. Seye has a sick, & he canot lay down to gether Mr. Ouske in the same bed, therefore he want a other bed. May he get it?

Ono.

—This note, picked up in a path at Martha's Vineyard, was circulated:

DARLING: Plank walk, farther end, ten Wednesday evening. Don't fail.

Yours devotedly, CHARLES."

Some thirty or forty unsympathetic wicked ones gathered to the rendezvous, and saw a sable youth join a sable damsel and promenade with her. They gave three cheers for Charles.

—A life without joy is worse than one of great grief.

AYER'S
CHERRY PECTORAL
For Diseases of the Throat and Lungs, such as Coughs, Colds, Whooping Cough, Bronchitis, Asthma and Consumption.
The few compositions, which have won the confidence of mankind and become household words among not only one but many nations, must have extraordinary virtues. Perhaps no one ever secured so wide a reputation or maintained it so long as AYER'S CHERRY PECTORAL. It has been known to the public about forty years, by a long continued series of marvellous cures which have won for it a confidence in its virtues, never equalled by any other medicines. It still makes the most effectual cures of Coughs, Colds, Consumption, that can be made by medical skill. Indeed the CHERRY PECTORAL has really robbed these dangerous diseases of their terrors, to a great extent, and given a feeling of immunity from their fatal effects, which is well founded, if the remedy be taken in season. Every family should have it in their closet for the ready and prompt relief of its members. Sickness, suffering, and even life is saved by this timely protection. The prudent should not neglect it, and the wise will not. Keep it by you for the protection it affords in sudden attacks, and by its timely use.

AMERICAN & FOREIGN PATENTS.
R. H. EDDY,
SOLICITOR OF PATENTS,
For Inventions, Trade Marks or Designs,
No. 76 STATE ST., OPPOSITE KILBY ST., BOSTON,
After an extensive practice of upwards of thirty years, continues to secure patents in the United States; also in Great Britain, France and other foreign countries. Caveats, Specifications, Assignments, and all papers for Patents, executed on reasonable terms with dispatch. Researches made to determine the validity and utility of Patents of Inventions, and legal and other advice rendered in all matters touching the same. Copies of the claims of any patent furnished, by remitting one dollar. Assignments recorded in Washington.
No Agency in the United States possesses superior facilities for obtaining Patents or ascertaining the patentability of inventions.
All models of a journey to Washington to procure a Patent and the usual great delay there, are here saved inventors.
TESTIMONIALS.
"I regard Mr. Eddy as one of the most capable and successful practitioners with whom I have had official intercourse. CHARLES MASON, Commissioner of Patents."
"I have no hesitation in assuring inventors that they cannot employ a man more competent and trustworthy and more capable of putting their applications in a form to secure for them an early and favorable consideration at the Patent Office. EDMUND BURKE, Late Commissioner of Patents."
"MR. R. H. EDDY has made for me over THIRTY applications for Patents, having been successful in almost every case. Such unanimitable proof of great talent and ability on his part leads me to recommend ALL inventors to apply to him to procure their Patents, as they may be sure of having the most faithful attention bestowed on their cases, and at very reasonable charges.
JOHN TAGGART."

CLEAR YOUR THROAT!
Relieve Your Lungs.
For the terrible diseases engendered by the lung-trying climate of New England,
Pulmocine Cordial
Is a speedy and reliable Preventive and Remedy. EVERY FAMILY should have a bottle at hand to check the sudden growth of all Pulmonary Diseases. For the Asthma, Coughs, Croups, Laryngitis, or inflammation of the larynx, Diphtheria, and all kindred diseases of the throat and lungs, Children attacked with Whooping Cough or Croup should be immediately cared for. These painful attacks come with scarcely a moment's warning, when a physician may be out of immediate reach. A dose of PULMOCINE CORDIAL gives speedy relief, and the little one can be spared hours of pain and agony. As "a stitch in time saves nine," so does the possession of this FAMILY MEDICINE prevent the sprout of disease. Parents seeing their children gasping with pain, friends and relatives beholding each other in peril from suffocation by the choking pain in the throat, paralyzed with fear and not knowing the best course to pursue, are liable to apply the wrong remedial agents. There is no safety in delay, no time to waste in such cases. CONSUMPTION, that fearful scourge of the human race, lies at the door of all this afflicted. BUCHMAN'S PULMOCINE CORDIAL arrests it (unless in its advanced stage at which time there is no local cure) relieves the pressing, suffocating feeling at the lungs, and the patient's danger is past.
Buchman's Pulmocine Cordial
BUCHMAN'S PULMOCINE CORDIAL is no new discovery. Twenty-three years ago it was used by one of New England's most famous physicians as the best PULMONARY CURATIVE he could prescribe, after a dozen years spent in experimenting with it before he was satisfied that the Materia Medica could add nothing in its favor.
Is the ultima thule of Medical Discovery.
Among its many ingredients are WILD CHERRY BARK, SQUILL ROOT, LIQUORICE ROOT, BLOOD ROOT, &c. It is a BLOOD PURIFIER, gently stimulating. It increases expectoration and is diuretic. It is sudorific and alterative. It is a necessary family medicine. It is a Tonic, and a powerful aid to the digestive organs. It is a gentle sedative, and relieves nervousness. It is aromatic and agreeable to the taste.
For Coughs, Croup, Diphtheria, Asthma, &c.
USE BUCHMAN'S
PULMOCINE CORDIAL.
The Pulmocine Cordial is not a quack medicine, is not an experiment, is not composed of any ingredients "discovered" by "walking in pastures" in South America or anywhere else, nor by one who discovered a weed and thereby cured himself. Most of the ingredients are such as our best educated physicians daily use for the complaints specified, in some form or other. The recipe is that perfected by one of New England's most learned and famous physicians, who used it entirely in his daily practice until his death. It is offered to the profession and to the public, absolutely pure and unadulterated.

BRIGGS' ALLEVANTOR is composed of Ammonia, Chloroform, Spirits of Camphor, Tincture of Lupulina, Oil of Juniper, and Alcohol. This compound is unequalled in the annals of medicine for the cure of Nervous or Sick Headache, Neuralgia, Trembling or Twitching of the Nerves, and all Nervous Diseases. It will counteract all poisons, banish pimples, cure scaly eruptions, itching humors, &c.; it equalizes the circulation, invigorates the system, increases the action of the heart, without exciting the brain, cures Heartburn, Palpitation and Fluttering of the Heart, Dyspepsia, &c. Briggs' Allevantor absolutely possesses more curative properties than any other preparation. Physicians, chemists, and others are requested to examine and test the remedy, and $1000 will be paid if found different from representation.
COUCHS. Much has been said and written, and many remedies have been offered for the relief and cure of throat and lung diseases; but nothing has been so eminently successful, or obtained such a wide celebrity, as Briggs' Throat and Lung Healer.
CORNS! The excruciating pain produced by Corns, the unceasing twinging from Bunions, the piercing, distressing pain from Ingrowing Nails, cannot be described. Thousands suffer, not knowing there is a cure. Briggs' Corn and Bunion Remedies are no acid or potash compounds, but are reliable, soothing, and effectual, and just merit the success they have earned from an appreciative public. The Curative is a healing ointment; immediate relief is obtained by its application, and it will positively cure the worst cases of Festered Corns, Inflamed and Ulcerated Bunions, the sorest instep, the largest and severest Blisters, the most extensive Callosities on the soles or heels of the feet, unequalled in the cure of Chilblains or Frosted Feet. The Allevantor for ordinary corns and preventing their formation is absolutely unexcelled by anything ever known.
PILES have been a terror to mankind for centuries, and almost every attempt to cure them has been baffled. By unceasing study and experimenting, Dr. Briggs has discovered an absolutely cure for internal, bleeding, external, and itching piles. Briggs' Piles Remedies are mild, safe and sure.
For sale by J. H. THACHER, WM. R. PRESTON, Portsmouth; JAMES O. TREFETHEN, Kittery; E. S. SAFFORD, Kittery Point; B. M. CURTIS, Newcastle, and dealers generally.

AYER'S HAIR VIGOR
FOR RESTORING GRAY HAIR
TO ITS NATURAL VITALITY AND COLOR.
Advancing years, sickness, care, disappointment, and hereditary predisposition, all turn the hair gray; either of them dispose to fall off prematurely, and either effect is unsightly and undesirable. DR. AYER'S unsummitable HAIR VIGOR sometimes reproduces lost hair; and always restores to faded and gray hair its natural color, as the hair vigor not yet discovered the virtues of AYER'S HAIR VIGOR for renewing the hair. The fresh and youthful hair we see on older heads is often the product of this art. If you are disfigured, or made old, austere and ugly, by gray hair, restore its youthful color, and with your features to their original softness and agreeable expression.
As an elegant dressing for beautifying the Hair, it has no superior.

The News.

Mutuals 10, Athletics 3.

Wall Street, New York, is excited over a corner in gold and Erie.

The German government has issued another circular against emigration. It is more threatening than the first.

The cotton caterpillar is going for that raw material.

Gen. Sherman arrived home from Europe on the 16th, after visiting all the principal battle fields of Europe.

A defalcation of $300,000 has been discovered in the sub-treasury at New York.

The Great Convention

Of soldiers and sailors at Pittsburg, Pa., opened on the 17th. Gen. J. B Sweitzer delivered the address of welcome. Governor Geary followed in a speech in which he welcomed the national soldiers and sailors to Pennsylvania. Gen. Burnside made a stirring address to his old comrades and announced Gen. Hawley as chairman of the Convention. Gen. Hawley spoke briefly and was cordially received.

Colonel Dudley, secretary of the national veterans' committee, handed the president a roll containing the names of 50,000 soldiers who are in favor of the re-election of General Grant.

A delegate moved that the soldiers here assembled in convention send greeting to General U. S. Grant, the President, with assurances that they give him their united support in November. It was unanimously adopted.

A communication, signed by 790 ex-confederate soldiers, urging the re-election of Gen. Grant, was received and read.

The committee on permanent organization announced Gen. John A. Logan for President of the Convention. Gen. Logan accepted in a telling speech and then introduced Senator Wilson, who was greeted with the wildest enthusiasm. Speeches were made by Gen. Garfield, Gen. Woodford, and Gen. Noyes.

Gens. Griffin and Harriman are the Vice Presidents from New Hampshire.

A convention of soldiers who had been prisoners of war was organized by the choice of Gen. Northcote as chairman.

Maine Election.

The Senate is unanimously Republican, and the House consists of 130 Republicans and 21 Democrats. Every county is Republican, although it is possible that a portion of the County officers in Somerset may be lost through the defection on the County buildings question. Last year the Senate consisted of 28 Republicans and 3 Democrats, and the House 114 Republicans and 37 Democrats. Androscoggin gives 1619 Republican majority; Aroostook 568; Cumberland 748; Franklin 683; Hancock 295; Kennebec 3237; Knox 82; Lincoln 295; Oxford 584; Penobscot 3317; Sagadahoc 1007; Piscataquis 779; Somerset 725; Waldo 736; Washington 803; York 1217.

Massachusetts Probabilities.

A Washington dispatch to the Bostob Globe says:—

The speculations in political circles as to the probable successor of Senator Wilson, his election to the Vice-Presidency being regarded as certain, point to the election of Secretary Boutwell. It is understood here that Gen. Butler will not contest for the vacancy, but hopes to be elected Governor of Massachusetts next year, and to succeed Senator Sumner in 1875. Judge Richardson, the Assistant Secretary of the Treasury, will, it is said, succeed Secretary Boutwell.

Political.

The most obvious feature of the Greeley movement, says the Indianapolis Journal, is the rapidity with which it is lapsing into Democratic direction and possession. There is hardly a streak of Liberalism visible in it. Inside and outside it is Democratic. The main element has absorbed its feeble adjunct.

"If any man attempts to haul down the American flag, ball him on the spot."—H. G.

What better endorsement of Grant's administration could be asked for than that when he was inaugurated a hundred dollar six per cent. gold-bearing bond was worth $82 71, while to-day it is worth $100, and is eagerly sought after in the money markets of the world?

The Louisville Courier-Journal occasionally drops a pearl, says the Buffalo Express, and should have credit for it. Here is one found in an editorial of August 22d: "The defeat of Horace Greeley will not leave as much as a grease spot of the Democratic party."

Hisses and Hen Fruit.

Under the auspices of the Grant and Wilson Campaign Club of the Tenth Ward, a banner was raised and a lively time had on Atlantic avenue, near Smith street. There were not fewer than two thousand people assembled in and about the speaker's stand, but they were not at all an harmonious crowd. After a German band had played "The Land of the Free and the Home of the Brave," the meeting nominally, if not really, was called to order by Mr. Charles J. Shepard, who wanted to make a short speech, but could not because of the noise and the general indisposition manifested to hear him. He therefore wisely gave way to United States Deputy Assessor J. B. Wass, who, after the groans which he received had partially subsided and three cheers for Horace Greeley had passed into the air, read with much vigor a series of resolutions, endorsing the National Administration and pledging the organization to work for the re-election of John A. Dix. These were declared carried by the chair, although from the storm of nays and the zephyr breeze of ayes the result seemed to be the other way. No sooner had this been done, however, than it became apparent that there was going to be a little trouble, and when, after some more music by the band, Mr. B. E. Hale was introduced as the first speaker of the evening, the trouble commenced.

Several hundred hard looking citizens, who had stretched themselves around the assemblage, commenced shouting with all their might and kept it up for about five minutes, in such a strain that Mr. Hale could not hear his own voice. He stretched out his hand in the most conciliatory manner, and attemped to be complimentary, but the audience would not be conciliated, and only shouted and howled the louder the more funny he attempted to be.

Thinking that this was but a peculiar manifestation of enthusiasm which would pass over, Mr Hale sat down to rest while the band played "The Wearing of the Green," and J. B. Wass went off in search of two policemen. At the end of the time three cheers were given for Horace Greeley and three groans for Grant. Mr. Wass returned with the two policemen, and standing in a very threatening attitude before the stand, called the attention of the chairman to the fact that he was ready to hear the next speaker.

The next speaker was the last speaker, Mr. Hale. On stepping forward he said amid considerable uproar, that he wanted to find out for certain whether this was a Greeley or a Grant meeting. To test this he proposed three cheers for Horace Greeley, which were given with enthusiastic emphasis; he then asked for three cheers for Grant, which were given with unmistakable power. Then leaning over the railing of the stand, and was some little anger in his eye, he said: "Now this is a Grant meeting and we will have peace. Let the Grant men collar every Greeley scoundrel who attempts to make a noise." This announcement was received with a storm of groans and applause, and resulted further in calling forth a shower of rotten eggs from some vile characters in the rear. One of these unsavory missiles struck Mr. Hale on the cheek, and sprinkled itself upon the coat collar of Col. Rowan, who sat near by.

Mr. Hale, feeling discouraged, again sat down, but Col. Rowan rose in his place and shaking his fist at the man whom he supposed to have thrown the hen fruit, called him a miserable low-lived skunk, and requested the police to take him off. The two policemen responded bravely, and laying their hands upon the coat of the wrong man ran him off in a style at once vigorous and suggestive of the majesty of the law.

This little incident did not, of course, have a tranquilizing effect upon the multitude. They grew more hostile in their manifestations, and added to the occasional egg, showers of dust and peas. After the band had rendered another melody Mr. R. F. Hale stepped forward again, and still in a conciliatory tone asked the people to say whether they wanted a speech. The instant and unmistakable reply was, no, Mr. Hale, however, not feeling disposed to accept this, looked disgusted at the president, and then turning to the audience said that he wanted to say a few words to them as a workingman. [More shouting, groaning and jeers]

Here Mr. Baker stepped forward and in an energetic manner shook his fist at somebody at the extreme limit of the crowd, and called the attention of everybody to the fact "that there is a man here making noise who has been employed in the tax office. He stands there now disturbing this minute." Strange to say the remark had no quieting effect whatever, and Mr. Shepard in a demonstrative sort of a way rose and said:—

Gentlemen, General Grant [cries of a-h——ah hisses, cheers for Greeley] bidded his time and took Richmond, and we intend to fight it out on that same line. [Cries "Wait a little longer," "Carry the news," &c.]

Here the police grabbed an obnoxious character named Gerrity and took him to the Station House. It having become clear that Mr. Hale could not speak under existing circumstances, Col. L. H. Rowan stepped forward; and amid an uproar that was not unsuggestive of the lower regions, delivered the following speech, very little of which could be heard beyond the end of the reporter's table:—"

I have been invited to make a speech, and I propose to make that speech. It is my purpose to treat every man here as a gentleman, provided he gives me the same treatment, but if they give me anything different, I shall try to repay them in their own coin. [Here a shower of peas and two most ancient hen berries divided themselves among the German band, the Chairman, the speakers and the solid supporters of the movement. Every one at this point buttoned up his coat and pulled his hat over his ears.] I have faced more than a hundred thousand rebels in battle, and they never cowed me down, and I say to you that all the rowdies and loafers in Brooklyn can't cow me down. [Applause and more eggs.] I believe in treating every man with the courtesy he is entitled to, and of meting out to every scoundrel the justice he deserves. [Howling and a threat on the part of the leader of the German band to leave unless some assurance of immunity from attack could be granted him—the chairman soothed him down.] I believe in free speech as the one grand prerogative of every American, and the man who attempts to crowd down free speech is a coward of the most contemptible kind on earth. You men standing there are attempting to crowd down this very free speech; you, in your ignorance, are trampling upon the liberties of the country, and you I consider as a pack of miserable, loud mouthed cowards. [Screams, groans, and more eggs.] Horace Greeley once said that the principles of the Democratic party consisted in loving rum and hating niggers, and when he said that he meant you. Horace Greeley once said that the Democratic party was composed of the blacklegs, loafers and jail birds of the country, and when he said that he meant you. He did not mean Francis Kernan, who is a hightoned gentleman, when he spoke of convicted felons who stuffed ballot boxes and had themselves no right to vote; he meant you, and I address the same language to you now. I neither fear nor love you. We have a man at the head of the National ticket who believes in supporting freedom of speech, even at the point of the bayonet, and at the head of our State ticket we have another man who ordered the first traitor who pulled down the American flag to be shot down on the spot; and these are the principles which should inspire the men who have to hold in subjection cowardly blackguards such as you. Your behavior, better than any speech, tells us what we are contending against in this campaign, and the good men who witness this outrage upon the rights of American citizens to assemble peaceably will know how to vote on the 4th of November next.

At this point Capt. Smith, of the First Precinct, arrived with a squad of police, and, in less time than it takes to write it, cleaned out the crowd of rioters and restored peace; the adverse shouts were stilled; the egg throwing was ended, and the heads of at least a dozen of the ignorant enemies of free speech were broken.

Peace being thus restored, Col. Rowan abandoned his belligerent tone, and made a sensible appeal in favor of the Republican ticket. Mr. Hale followed him with the address which he has delivered at all the banner raisings in the city, and the proceedings were brought to a close by John F. Henry, who spoke of the prospects throughout the country, and assured his hearers that on the night of election the cry would come to us over hill and valley that General Grant was again President of the United States.—Brooklyn Globe.

The Roar of the Bull.

The tory journals of England do not like the settlement at Geneva. The London Advertiser says:—

What a farce has been played at Geneva, where England has been adjudged to pay tribute to a bully who repudiates his own obligation! America is not yet contented with this settlement of claims against England.

The Herald breathes defiance and hatred of America, and says:—

The breach between the two countries has only been widened. Of course, had the arbitrators decided upon a large sum of indemnity England would pay it; and if they awarded nothing America could but show her teeth. What humiliation now awaits us?

The Standard comments on the award in a similar strain. It says:—

We went to Geneva for justice and reconciliation, but instead met with invective from the American counsel and a partially adverse award, dictated rather by a desire for a compromise than by equity. The whole proceedings in connection with the arbitration are entirely unsatisfactory to England.

A Deserter as Leader.

In the late call for a Convention of the straight Democratic Nationals at Louisville to nominate a President, the selection of Greeley is condemned and it is stated that history gives but one example of the selection of a deserter for a leader, and that was Coriolanus in Rome. It was disastrous to those who did it and it will be so in the present case.

By the history we find that Coriolanus was banished from Rome into perpetual exile before Christ 437. He went among another people at war with Rome, was made leader and with an armed force marched against Rome and when its capture seemed about to take place, he listened to the entreaties of some Roman women and Rome was spared punishment, to the great mortification of those who employed him. He afterwards repented of having betrayed the cause of those with whom he had gone into exile, but there was no confidence in him and in an insurrection he was slain.

A traitor cannot be trusted. Those who have been seeking to betray the Republican party of our country into the power of its enemies, may yet experience repentance, but it is doubtful if they will be forgiven. No party in the land will ever have confidence in them.

"NOT VERY WELL."—A feeling of vague bodily discomfort, which does not amount to positive illness, and yet is incompatible with health, is often aptly described by the phrase "Not very well." This feeling usually arises from a deficiency of the nervous power which is required to keep the vital machinery in vigorous and healthful operation. Nervous weakness has too frequently turned out to be the prelude of somberious malady to admit of any doubt in the matter Inactivity of the bodily functions as surely begets their derangement as cause precedes effect.

It is therefore absolutely essential for the preservation of health, perhaps of life itself, that this warning should be promptly heeded. The case does not admit of delay. Revitalize the system at once and effectually with Hostetter's Bitters—that peerless invigorant which, by infusing new health and strength into the system, protects it against disease more surely than ever knight of old was protected by armor of proof against his foe.

THE THIEF who was arrested for robbing Parsons' store in this town, was found to have a quantity of Ayer's Hair Vigor in his possession. When asked why he wished to steal that article, he answered that he "wanted to restore his hair, for it was hard to be a thief and bald too." If that invention of the great chemist could restore a faded character as effectually as it does their natural beauty to bald and grey heads, it would surely be, as they say it now is, truly invaluable.—Lewiston (Me.) Journal.

MASKS AND FACES.—Ladies who mask their faces and neck with enamels endanger their health to no purpose. The plaster work deceives nobody. There is but one article known which will restore a blemished complexion or create external brilliancy and bloom where they have never heretofore existed, and that article is Hagan's Magnolia Balm. It performs this toilet miracle by infusing vitality into the skin. The floral and herbal juices of which it is composed gently stimulate the circulation in the minute blood vessels and brace the network of nerves through which they pass. Thus quickened and strengthened the external covering soon acquires a fresh and healthful hue, and every trace of sallowness disappears. The palest checks derive from the beautifying baptism of this delightful cosmetic a warmer hue, and the arms, hands and neck, a blonde lustre which the charlatans, who profess to make ladies "beautiful forever" with their poisonous cement, can never hope to imitate.

CASTORIA.—A substitute for Castor Oil—is a physic which does not distress or gripe, but is sure to operate when all other remedies have failed. You may confidently rely upon the Castoria in Stomach-ache, Constipation, Flatulency, Croup, Worms, Piles or deranged Liver. It contains neither Minerals, Morphine, Opium nor Alcohol, but is purely a vegetable preparation, perfectly harmless, and above all, pleasant to take. The Castoria soothes and quiets the system, and produces natural sleep. It is a wonderful thing to assimilate the food of children and prevent them from crying. A 35 cent bottle will do the work for a family and save many doctors' bills.

HOLLOWAY'S PILLS AND OINTMENT—Dyspepsia is the most depressing of human ailments. The Pills will cure it in ten days! The Ointment is equally sure and speedy in its opperation on sores and eruptions. Sold 78 Maiden Lane, N. Y. Price 25 cents per pox or pot. Ask for new style; old is counterfeited. 15

USE BUCHMAN'S PULMOCINE CORDIAL for all throat diseases. For sale at the Union Store.

PILES.—The uncessing torture from internal bleeding, external and itching piles is fast wearing away the thousands of those who are afflicted and their hope and courage have long since given place to despair. Let those who see this cheer up, for a mild and sure cure may be had by using BRIGGS' PILE REMEDIES.

CORNS.—Since pride and fashion have had control of mankind, and shoemakers were compelled to make boots and shoes to fit fancy instead of the feet, the suffering from Corns, Bunions, Ingrowing Nails, Sore Instepes, Blistered Heels, Callosities on the bottom of the feet, &c., cannot be described. But Briggs' Corn and Bunion Remedies will cure all such torments, and proper fitting boots will prevent their reproduction. Sold by all druggists. a12

AFTER deciding what kind of Sewing Machine to buy, the next thing to be duly considered is where to buy it. E. A. Joy who sells all kinds of Sewing Machines and Findings, is permanently located here, and has sold more Machines during the past six years than all the others together, including the nineteen who have quit the business because they could not pay expenses. He has sold nearly five hundred of one kind during the past year (the names of the purchasers will be given if desired) and has twenty other kinds to choose from. Mr. Joy seems destined to be the only Sewing Machine dealer in this vicinity, for people have learned to their sorrow that the warrant of an itinerant agent or pedlar amounts to nothing. Among the claimants for damages for one fourth of value of ship "Star of Peace," burned by the Florida, are the heirs of the late Capt. William Lambert, of this city. The "Star of Peace" was a vessel of 941 tons.

The question whether Captain Colvocoresses, formerly of this Naval Station, committed suicide or was murdered at Bridgeport, Conn., a few months ago, is to be determined by the courts, the insurance companies refusing to pay any part of the insurance on his life.

Several stable keepers in Chelsea lost valuable horses last week by poisoning. On investigation, a poisonous weed called pollypod was found in the bales of hay purchased for them. Our horsemen should be careful in purchasing pressed hay.

The trot at the Park, Wednesday, was won by True W. Jones' stallion "Southerner," beating "Kentucky Chief," owned by J. D. Stott of Newmarket, three heats out of five. Time, 2.49, 2.49, 2.55, 2.44 1-4 2.53. The betting was $200 to $100 on "Kentucky Chief." A series of purses will be trotted for, Oct. 9th and 10th.

There were very high tides on Wednesday and the scene on the coast was of the wildest description. About 5000 people attended the Salisbury Beach gathering. The tide passed the Atlantic House so that a temporary bridge was erected between the toll house and hotel. Men, women and children were seen wading in the sand and water in all directions.

The "Metropolitan" for October, Butterick's celebrated fashion monthly, containing the latest Fall Fashions, is received at Henderson's.

The will of Miss Arabella Rice, was presented in the probate court this week. Among the legacies of a public nature are one to the town of Kittery, the birthplace of her father, of $30,000 to found a public library; $20,000 to the New Hampshire Asylum for the Insane; $3000 to the Portsmouth Athenæum, and a like sum to the Unitarian church. About $200,000 are given in legacies, and the balance goes to the first cousins of the deceased.

Kittery

Will probably have its public library, after all, before Portsmouth avails itself of the liberal offer made by Hon. Frank Jones. We hope our neighbors across the river will have the good fortune to select a man of energy who will take earnest interest in reaping for the town the benefits of the munificent bequest made by the late Arabella Rice, as their agent to forward the good work—and that the project will not fall lifeless from want of proper management.

Fire Department Parade.

Editors Chronicle:—There are two good reasons why the City Government should authorize a parade of the Fire Department this fall. The first reason is the encouragement of the public spirited men who man the machines. They have had two very large fires this summer at which they have worked hard and efficiently, preventing by their promptness and activity much more serious conflagrations. In addition to these, they have had several smaller fires and alarms, and were always on hand.

The second reason is, that the people of this city, the property owners and tax payers—the women and children—may see for themselves what an admirable arrangement is made to protect the city from the ravages of fire. I think the people would be glad and surprised to see our splendid machinery and our noble firemen at some other time than when they are employed on their arduous duties. The cost need not be large; a band of music and horses for the engines, and perhaps a collation, will cost not more than two or three hundred dollars, and will be money well spent. By all means let us have on some pleasant October day a Firemen's Parade. EX-FIREMAN.

The West Amesbury Branch Railroad, connecting that villlage with the Boston and Maine Railroad at Newton, five miles long, is about completed, and in a month will be ready for acceptance by the Boston and Maine corporation, who are to lease it, having agreed to pay five per cent. interest on the entire cost. The entire cost of the road, including stations and fences, will be $114,000, and the whole amount, excepting only a few hundred dollars, was raised in West Amesbury.

SMITH'S CHARIVARI.—Two days since a young man named Thomas Smith married a daughter of John McCombe, the money broker. Smith is a money broker, and is twenty-one years of age. He resides on Fair Oak street, where he owns a fine residence. A lot of young Hoodlums, some of whom, it seems, were schoolmates of Mrs. Smith while she was Miss McCombe, determined to treat her and her husband to a regular old-fashioned charivari.

Accordingly last night, about half-past nine o'clock, they approached the house, about fifty strong, in age ranging from twelve to eighteen years. They were plentifully provided with kettles, horns, drums, devil's fiddles, triangles and every imaginable instrument which would make a discordant noise.

Suddenly the stillness of the night air was broken by such a terrible conglomeration of horrible sounds that the whole neighborhood thought bedlam had broken loose. In a few moments an enraged bridegroom in a night-shirt was seen at a window.

It was Smith. He was bursting with anger, but seeing that the besieging force outnumbered him, he at first tried expostulation. That rolled off as duck-shot glides from the hide of a hippopotamus. He then in thunder tones ordered the young rascals off. They answered him by jeers of derision. He threatened them, and they laughed the louder, and beat their instruments more fiercely.

Seeing that he was making little progress, he allowed a gust of wind to blow the lower part of his night-shirt out into the breeze. This flag of truce was respected by the besiegers and a cessation of hostilities was declared.

The captain of the besieging army advanced, and an interview was had. Mr. Smith desired to know what would induce them to raise the seige. The captain said a donation of twenty dollars would enable them all to go on a spree. Mr. Smith said he would give them $20 if they would leave. The captain said they would leave if he would give them the twenty dollars.

Mr. Smith wanted them to leave first, and the captain wanted the twenty dollars first. Neither was willing to trust the other, and hostilities were again commenced. Smith told them if they did not quit he would fire among them. This brought forth a volley of discord louder than ever, and accompanied by vulgar shouts and songs.

Smith, feeling outraged beyond human endurance, drew his revolver, and fired among them. The scattering which followed was amusing. In the twinkling of an eye the whole force had vacated the ground, which was left strewn with tin pans, kettles and other relics of the fray. The surrounding stillness was for some time occasionally broken by a solitary toot, but all else was quiet. Smith believes in the efficacy of revolvers, and only regrets that he had not killed two or three of the young miscreants.—San Francisco Post.

—The Chinese language, which has some fifty thousand characters, has been a source of great perplexity to telegraph operators. They have surmounted the difficulty in this way: A few thousand of the characters most used are cut upon wooden blocks. On the opposite side of each block is its number. Duplicates of such numbered blocks are at each telegraph station. The China merchant selects the blocks which express the thoughts to be transmitted. The operator telegraphs only the numerals designating these blocks, which enables the receiving operator to select similar blocks at his end of the line.

The Singer

SEWING MACHINE

STILL LEADS THE MARKET.

The Success of the Company is far beyond that of any other similar concern; the

Daily Manufacture

—OF—

400 OF THE SINGERS

Failing to Supply the Constant Demand.

All other machines call the public attention to some new loop or stitch or tension or finish, some advantage in running or needles or feed or prices—and many of these are as we have said very good points, and the agents selling them use them to divert entirely the would-be purchaser from fairly considering the facts in the case; but the

seems to unite the good qualities of all, and is never found wanting.

THE SINGER

IS THE

OLDEST

SEWING MACHINE

IN THE MARKET,

All others being copied from its first model. It does two-thirds the sewing done in this country and preserves its advantages over all others combined.

It is readily kept clean, and has THE BEST TENSION EVER INVENTED; it is higher speeded and requires but little power to run; it works equally well upon the finest and heaviest goods; it does all the varieties of work known to the art.

N. B. Those purchasing for cash, before the 1 of January next, will have a consideration allowed them.

Morning Chronicle.

—In an enclosure on the Fair grounds may be seen the greatest wonder of the age. Human ingenuity has hitherto worked in vain to invent a machine to successfully navigate the air, and to Mr. Judson has fallen the lot—thanks to his enterprise and creative faculties—of bringing to perfection a carriage which will travel through the air with as much ease and rapidity as a bird flies through space. His accomplishment is purely scientific, but easily understood by those who see it in operation. A child may regulate it so that it will travel backwards or forwards, up or down, make a simple revolution or ascend in a spiral manner. In watching its movements one can scarcely refrain from applauding a masterpiece of ingenuity that combines so much; and those who attend the Fair this week and fail to see this eminently practicable and wonderful air ship will have missed the greatest piece of mechanism of this or any other age.—Quincy Herald.

—In a neighboring town three or four bright young ladies, residing in the same house, with a well known physician, determined to play a practical joke upon him. They made up a bundle of dainty linen, embroidery, etc., in the shape of an infant, so that the value of the fictitious child was certainly fifty or sixty dollars. They put the make-believe infant into a basket and tied the basket to the door handle. Ring went the bell, and the young ladies stood at the window above to see the physician take in the child and be taken in himself. Their horror may be imagined when they saw a man deliberately walk up to the bundle and as deliberately walk off with it. They are now mourning the loss of twenty-six yards of fine linen, twelve yards of thread lace, four hemstitched handkerchiefs and some other valuable property.—Boston Traveller.

AYER'S PURGATIVE PILLS.
For all the purposes of a Family Physic,
CURING
Costiveness, Jaundice, Dyspepsia, Indigestion, Dysentery, Foul Stomach, Erysipelas, Headache, Piles, Rheumatism, Eruptions and Skin Diseases, Biliousness, Liver Complaint, Dropsy, Tetter, Tumors and Salt Rheum, Worms, Gout, Neuralgia, as a Dinner Pill, and Purifying the Blood,
Are the most congenial purgative yet perfected. Their effects abundantly show how much they excel all other Pills. They are safe and pleasant to take, but powerful to cure. They purge out the foul humors of the blood; they stimulate the sluggish or disordered organ into action, and they impart health and tone to the whole being. They cure not only the every day complaints of every body, but formidable and dangerous diseases. Most eminent clergymen, most skillful physicians, and our best citizens send certificates of cures performed, and of great benefits they have derived from these Pills. They are the safest and best physic for children, because mild as well as effectual. Being sugar coated, they are easy to take; and being purely vegetable, they are entirely harmless.

$500,000 CASH DISTRIBUTION.
The Grand Gift Concert
A FIXED FACT.
September 28th the day.
Your Tickets Now or Never!
THE vast sale of tickets already made, and the increasing demand for them from all quarters having determined the Trustees that the GRAND GIFT CONCERT for the benefit of the PUBLIC LIBRARY OF KENTUCKY, advertised for SATURDAY, SEPT. 28, 1872, shall positive'y come off on that day without postponement, the management now notifies all who expect to participate in the drawing that they should buy their tickets at once. Delay for a few days caused many who wanted tickets at the concert in December last to go without them. Some living in Louisville waited until sales were closed, expecting, no doubt, a postponement, and then offered fifteen, twenty, and even twenty-five dollars for tickets which the day before were offered to purchasers at the regular price. Others living at a distance sent thousands of dollars by mail and express, which got here after sales were closed, and had to be sent back. These disappointments need not occur again, if the warning now given in due season is heeded.
The drawing will begin precisely at 6 o'clock Saturday morning, September 28, 1872, in the great hall of the Public Library building, and continue until the one thousand gifts are all drawn.

The Concert itself will be the most brilliant orchestral display that ever occurred in the West. One hundred performers, gathered from all parts of this country and from Europe, under the direction of Prof. Hast, will contribute to this grand musical carnival. And to afford ample room for every ticket-holder to enjoy such an unusual musical festival, the Concert will be given in Central Park, where arrangements have been made to accommodate all who may come.
Persons holding whole, half or quarter tickets, will be admitted to both the Concert and Drawing, and those without such tickets will be admitted to either.
PRICE OF TICKETS.
Whole Tickets $10; halves, $5; quarters, $2 50; 11 Whole tickets for $100; 28 for $255; 56 for $500; 113 for $1,000; 286 for $2,500; 575 for $5000. No discount on less than $100 worth of tickets at a time.
In accordance with numerous solicitations arrangements have been made with all the railroad and steamboat lines leading into the city for the sale of round trip tickets good for six days to all persons who may wish to attend the Concert or drawing. Such tickets will be furnished by the Louisville & Nashville Road; the Louisville, Cincinnati and Lexington Railroad; the Louisville, Indianapolis and Madison Railroad; the Ohio and Mississippi Railroad; the Louisville and Cincinnati Mail Boat Line, and the Louisville, Owensboro and Henderson Mail Line Packets.
All agents are required to close sales and make their returns in full time to reach this office by Thursday, September 25. To do this successfully, those located at great distances must close some days before the 25th.
All tickets to which gifts are awarded, will be paid without discount, by the Farmers' and Drovers' Bank, either in currency, or by sight-draft upon the Fourth National Bank of New York, at option of the holder. The ticket must first be presented at this office, Room No. 4, Public Library Building, before they will be paid by the Bank.
The drawing will be published in the Louisville Papers and New York Herald, and official copies sent to purchasers to whom tickets have been sent by letter.

Our Own.

If I had known in the morning
How wearily all the day
The words unkind would trouble my mind
That I said when you went away,
I had been more careful, darling,
Nor given you needless pain;
But we vex our own with look and tone
We might never take back again.

For though in the quiet evening
You may give me the kiss of peace,
Yet it well might be that never for me
The pain of the heart should cease!
How many go forth at morning
Who never come home at night!
And hearts have broken for harsh words spoken,
That sorrow can no'er set right.

We have careful thought for the stranger,
And smiles for the sometimes guest;
But oft for our own the bitter tone,
Though we love our own the best.
Ah! lips with the curl impatient,
Ah! brow with the shade of scorn,
'Twere a cruel fate, were the night too late
To undo the work of the morn.

—A Cuban athlete, Jose Villanova, fell dead while performing at a New York theatre on Saturday evening.

—The Gentile feeling against Brigham Young is so great in Utah, on account of his alleged complicity in the Mountain Meadow massacre, that he finds it unsafe to go from place to place in the Territory, except under the strongest guard.

—Six hundred single men and women arrived in New York by the Williams & Guion line, bound for Salt Lake City. Among them were English from the mining districts, Welsh from the mountains, and Germans from the Rhine Valley.

—The "greatest gas well ever struck" in the oil region is six miles north of Titusville, Pa., on what is known as the Nelson Farm. The outpouring of the gas makes a roaring that can be heard for two miles. It sounds like the rushing of a whirlwind. The column, which at first rose fifty feet above the derrick, can be seen at the distance of a mile. No tools can be put into the well, for as soon as the attempt is made the force of the gas throws them into the air. At first the people were much alarmed, and the cattle ran about the fields with fright. Some of these gas wells have run for several years, and are utilized for heating steam boilers and other purposes. How long they will last nobody can conjecture.

AYER'S
CHERRY PECTORAL
For Diseases of the Throat and Lungs, such as Cough, Colds, Whooping Cough, Bronchitis, Asthma and Consumption.
The few compositions, which have won the confidence of mankind and become household words among not only one but many nations, must have extraordinary virtues. Perhaps no one ever secured so wide a reputation or maintained it so long as AYER'S CHERRY PECTORAL. It has been known to the public about forty years, by a long continued series of marvellous cures which have won for it a confidence in its virtues, never equalled by any other medicines. It still makes the most effectual cures of Coughs, Colds, Consumption, that can be made by medical skill. Indeed the CHERRY PECTORAL has really robbed these dangerous diseases of their terrors, to a great extent, and given a feeling of immunity from their fatal effects, which is well founded, if the remedy be taken in season. Every family should have it in their closet for the ready and prompt relief of its members. Sickness, suffering, and even life is saved by this timely protection. The prudent should not neglect it, and the wise will not. Keep it by you for the protection it affords in sudden attacks, and by its timely use.

AMERICAN & FOREIGN PATENTS.
R. S. EDDY,
SOLICITOR OF PATENTS,
For Inventions, Trade Marks or Designs,
No. 75 STATE ST., OPPOSITE KILBY ST., BOSTON,
After an extensive practice of upwards of thirty years, continues to secure patents in the United States; also in Great Britain, France and other foreign countries. Caveats, Specifications, Assignments, and all papers for Patents, executed on reasonable terms with dispatch. Research made to determine the validity and utility of Patents of inventions, and legal and other advice rendered in all matters touching the same. Copies of the claims of any patent furnished, by remitting one dollar. Assignments recorded in Washington.
No Agency in the United States possesses superior facilities for obtaining Patents or ascertaining the patentability of inventions.
All necessity of a journey to Washington to procure a Patent and the usual great delay there, are here saved inventors.
TESTIMONIALS.
"I regard Mr. Eddy as one of the most capable and successful practitioner- with whom I have had official intercourse. CHARLES MASON, Commissioner of Patents."
"I have no hesitation in assuring inventors that they cannot employ a man more competent and trustworthy and more capable of putting their applications in a form to secure them an early and favorable consideration at the Patent Office. EDMUND BURKE, Late Commissioner of Patents."
"MR. R. H. EDDY has made for me over THIRTY applications for Patents, having been successful in almost every case. Such unmistakable proof of great talent and ability on his part leads me to recommend ALL inventors to apply to him to procure their Patents, as they may be sure of having the most faithful attention bestowed on their cases, and at very reasonable charges.
JOHN TAGGART."

CLEAR YOUR THROAT!
Relieve Your Lungs.
For the terrible diseases engendered by the lung-trying climate of New England,
Pulmocine Cordial
Is a speedy and reliable Preventive and Remedy. EVERY FAMILY should have a bottle at hand to check the sudden growth of all Pulmonary Diseases. For the Asthma, Coughs, Croups, Laryngitis, or inflammation of the larynx, Diphtheria, and all kindred PULMONARY DISEASES so all times prevalent, it is the ounce of PREVENTION. Children attacked with Whooping Cough or Croup should be immediately cared for. These painful attacks come with scarcely a moment's warning, when a physician may be out of immediate reach. A dose of PULMOCINE CORDIAL gives speedy relief, and the little ones are spared hours of pain and agony. As "a stitch in time saves nine," so does the possession of this FAMILY MEDICINE prevent the spread of disease. Parents seeing their children gasping with pain, friends and relatives beholding each other in peril from suffocation by the choking pain in the throat, paralyzed with fear and not knowing the best course to pursue, are liable to apply the wrong remedial agents. There is no safety in delay, no time to waste in such cases. CONSUMPTION, that fearful scourge of the human race, lies at the door of all thus afflicted. BUCHMAN'S PULMOCINE CORDIAL arrests it (unless in its advanced stage at which time there is no local cure) relieves the pressing, suffocating feeling at the lungs, and the patient's danger is past.
Buchman's Pulmocine Cordial
BUCHMAN'S PULMOCINE CORDIAL is no new discovery. Twenty-three years ago it was used by one of New England's most famous physicians as the best PULMONARY CURATIVE he could prescribe, after a dozen years spent in experimenting with it before he was satisfied that the Materia Medica could add nothing in its favor.
Is the ultima thule of Medical Discovery.
Among its many ingredients are WILD CHERRY BARK, SQUILL ROOT, LIQUORICE ROOT, BLOOD ROOT, &c. It is a BLOOD PURIFIER, gently stimulating. It increases expectoration and is diuretic. It is sudorific and alterative. It is a necessary family medicine. It is a Tonic, and a powerful aid to the digestive organs. It is a gentle sedative, and relieves nervousness. It is aromatic and agreeable to the taste.
For Coughs, Croup, Diphtheria, Asthma, &c.
USE BUCHMAN'S
PULMOCINE CORDIAL.
The Pulmocine Cordial is not a quack medicine, is not an experiment, is not composed of any ingredients "discovered" by "walking in pasture" in South America or anywhere else, nor by one who discovered a weed and thereby cured himself. Most of the ingredients are such as our best educated physicians daily use for the complaints specified, in some form or other. The recipe is that perfected by one of New England's most learned and famous physicians, who used it entirely in his daily practice until his death. It is offered to the profession and to the public, absolutely pure and unadulterated.

BRIGGS' ALLEVANTOR is composed of Ammonia, Chloroform, Spirits of Camphor, Tincture of Lupulina, Oil of Juniper, and Alcohol. This compound is unequalled in the annals of medicine for the cure of Nervous or Sick Headache, Neuralgia, Trembling or Twitching of the Nerves, and all Nervous Diseases. It will counteract all poisons, banish pimples, cure scaly eruptions, itching, humors, &c.; it equalizes the circulation, invigorates the system, increases the action of the heart, without exciting the brain, cures Heartburn, Palpitation and Fluttering of the Heart, Dyspepsia, &c. Briggs' Allevantor absolutely possesses more curative properties than any other preparation. Physicians, chemists, and others are requested to examine and test the remedy, and $1000 will be paid if found different from representation.
COUGHS, Much has been said and written, and many remedies have been offered for the relief and cure of throat and lung diseases; but nothing has been so eminently successful, or obtained such a wide celebrity, as Briggs' Throat and Lung Healer.
CORNS! The excruciating pain produced by Corns, the unceasing twinging from Bunions, the piercing, distressing pain from Ingrowing Nails, cannot be described. Thousands suffer, not knowing there is a cure. Briggs' Corn and Bunion Remedies are no acid or potash compounds, but are reliable, soothing, and effectual, and just merit the success they have earned from an appreciative public. The Curative is a healing ointment; immediate relief is obtained by its application, and it will positively cure the worst cases of Festered Corns, Inflamed and Ulcerated Bunions, the severest listing, the largest and severest Blisters, the most extensive Callosities on the soles or heels of the feet, unequalled in the cure of Chilblains or Frosted Feet. The Allevantor for ordinary corns and preventing their formation is absolutely unexcelled by anything ever known.
PILES have been a terror to mankind from time immemorial, and almost every attempt to cure them has been baffled. By unceasing study and experimenting, Dr Briggs has discovered an absolutely cure for Internal, bleeding, external, and itching piles. Briggs' Pile Remedies are mild, safe and sure.
For sale by J. H. THACHER, WM. R. PRESTON, Portsmouth; JAMES O. TREFETHEN, Kittery; E. S. SAFFORD, Kittery Point; H. M. CURTIS, Newcastle, and dealers generally.
CORNS, Bunions, Bad Nails, and other diseases of the feet, Scrofulous and Cancerous Humors, Piles, etc., skillfully treated at the great central Chiropodical and Healing Institute, No. 746 Broadway, New York. DR. J. BRIGGS, President; DR. ALEXANDER WEBBER, Secretary. ap9

AYER'S HAIR VIGOR
FOR RESTORING GRAY HAIR
TO ITS NATURAL VITALITY AND COLOR.
Advancing years, sickness, care, disappointment, and hereditary predisposition, all turn the hair gray; either of them disposes to fall of premature, and either effect is unsightly and unpleasant to behold. DR. AYER'S consummate skill has produced an antidote for these prematures, which has won gratitude for him from multitudes of men and women. His HAIR VIGOR sometimes reproduces lost hair; and always restores to faded and gray hair its natural color, with the gloss and freshness of youth. The comparatively few bald and gray heads, that we now see, are those who have not yet discovered the virtues of AYER'S HAIR VIGOR for renewing the hair. The fresh and youthful hair we see on older heads is often the product of his art. If you are disfigured, or made old, austere and ugly, by gray hair, restore its youthful color, and with your features to their original softness and agreeable expression.
As an elegant dressing for beautifying the Hair, it has no superior.

The Daily Chronicle,

Portsmouth, N.H.

FRIDAY, SEPT. 20, 1872.

The Campaign.

Cheering reports from Indiana have been received by the Republican national committee. Mr. Foster, chairman of the State Committee, writes that the Republican party in that State was never before so thoroughly organized. There is every reason to believe that the State will be carried by Grant by an increased majority.

Republicans appear confident of Gen. Hartranft's election in Pennsylvania, and are working energetically. They have already sent many popular orators into Pennsylvania, and scores of others will follow. The central committee of that State has thoroughly canvassed every county.

The Republican State Committee of Mississippi promise an unprecedented majority in that State for General Grant. The colored men are unanimous for the Republican candidates and thousands of Democrats refuse to acknowledge Greeley as their leader. In Colfax county three hundred Democrats have signed an agreement not to vote for Greeley.

A call has been issued for a straight-out Democratic convention in Columbus, O., Oct. 2, to choose two candidates for presidential electors at large, and select a Democratic central committee for the ensuing year. It also suggests that the several congressional delegations in attendance upon the State convention do then name candidates in their respective districts for presidential electors, in order that a full and complete ticket be at once printed.

Put Kansas down for 20,000 majority for Grant and Wilson.

Some fifteen or twenty Democratic newspapers in Georgia are supporting O'Conor and Adams for President and Vice-President.

King Charles of Sweden is dead.

Maine Election.

The Republican majorities for Congressmen are as follows: In the first district Burleigh has 2195 majority; second district, Frye, 4157; third district, Blaine, 3640; fourth district, Hersey, 5159; fifth district, Hale, 3031. The aggregate of these congressional majorities is 18,182, against 9465 at the preceding congressional election in 1870. Governor Perham's majority falls 1000 below the aggregate congressional majorities, owing to the cider law and other local issues. In the first, second, third and fifth congressional districts there was not a single scattering vote thrown, and in the fourth district there were but three scattering votes, This is unprecedented in Maine elections.

Political.

Dick Turner, the inhuman torturer of the Union soldiers confined in Libby prison, has clasped hands with Horace across the bloody chasm.

The Republicans do not need Horace in Ohio, as they will carry it without his assistance. We want him to croon and maunder in Indiana, for it is a closer State.—Toledo Blade.

On the 18th, the Republicans of North Hampton flung to the breeze a splendid Grant and Wilson flag on the flag staff near the residence of John L. Hobbs, Esq.

When Gratz Brown wants a simile to express utter worthlessness, he uses water. Hence the recent remark that the Liberals wasted money like water in Maine. Every dollar spent in his canvass, however, is worth its weight in sour apples.—Cincinnati Chronicle.

Citizen Bowles, says the Missouri Democrat, writing learnedly in the Springfield (Mass.) Republican about Missouri lawlessness, says: The fact is that the State has never been so tranquil, so free from violence and bloodshed, as it is to-day. And yet if Mr. Bowles were to venture into Reynolds county he would be hung within twenty-four hours for his pronunciation of "keow."

Henry J. Raymond told the truth when he said Greeley was as "vain as a school girl of fifteen, as ambitious as Lucifer, and as malignant as Satan."

The New York Sun "the pirate of the Press," published recently a slander said to be sworn to by a Col. McComb, charging a number of Republicans, including Senator Wilson, Vice President Colfax and Speaker Blaine, with being bribed by the "Credit Mobilier." Col. McComb says that his statements were not published as he made them, and Hon. Oakes Ames denies the story and says the gentleman spoken of never owned a share in the Pacific Railroad.

Drunkards.

Our Maine correspondent, doubtless, believes in the "Maine law," or the Prohibitory law, as they have tried it in that State and Massachusetts. We do not. Were we not tolerant of difference of opinion, it would be difficult for us to conceive how a man of common sense can possibly escape the conviction that that law is a failure. On a question of this sort theory is good for nothing; practical results alone are worthy of consideration. It is nearly half a century since the temperance movement was commenced in Massachusetts; it is certainly thirty years, perhaps more, since total abstinence—"teetotalism"— was announced as the only salvation from drunkenness; ten years or more have passed since the sale of liquor was prohibited except under restrictions, and yet there is as much intoxicating liquor manufactured, sold and consumed in Massachusetts as ever there was; there is as much drunkenness there now as there was fifty years ago, and the sum total of all the good of the labors of the temperance people for near a century is, as we said in a former article, that custom in regard to drinking is so far changed, that one is under no constraint of fashion to drink if he chooses not to do so. Surely this is small harvest for so much seed; a very small handful of fruit for so many weary years of labor in the Lord's vineyard. Is it not about time to learn and practise wisdom from so much experience?

Yet it would seem that an evil whose results are so melancholy and so many, and which so thoroughly pervades the social life of the people, should have some remedy. We have no doubt it has, but we confess that we expect only to find it, as we find it in some other things, nowhere else but in the general moral and intellectual growth of the race. We are not sure even that it will always be found there. Drunkards are not always, in any general sense, immoral or ignorant men. On the contrary, some of the best and some of the most gifted men we have ever known have been drunkards, and it is difficult to conceive of any state of society, however pure or however cultivated, in which they would not have been, but for that disgusting vice, an ornament. It is mere words, signifying nothing, to say that it is for just such men as these that the temperance cause is carried on. It is sale to say that it never saved one of them. "Moral suasion" is idle wind to them; prohibitory laws mere cobwebs. They are the unfortunate victims, apparently, of a disease which is neither moral or intellectual, but physical, and one which is no more under their control, under certain conditions, than the state of his brain is under the control of the man disposed to insanity. What will you do with them? Science as yet has no answer to give us, but the solution, we are persuaded, must come from science if it ever comes at all, and not from appeals either to the head or the heart of the victim himself.

The temperance people have, in conducting their cause, mixed together two things which should have been kept absolutely separate. They have confounded the reform of the individual with the relations which the intemperate may have to society. The drunkard may be, and generally is, a wasted farce; his gifts, or his acquirements, or his merely physical labor, are lost to his fellow-creatures, and he is a mere encumberer of the earth, who had better never have been born, or, being born, the best thing to do is to die. What else is to be done in his case we do not profess to know, nor do we think anybody has yet found out. It is, as we just said, a case for Science, and Science as yet has shown herself totally incompetent to deal with it. The most she has yet undertaken to do with this unhappy and unfortunate being is to shut him up. Assuming him to be a lunatic she puts him in the hands of a keeper. She does not pretend to cure; she only restrains.

The reformer may try moral suasion; or he may appeal to the reason of this victim of an insane and uncontrollable appetite. To this there can be no objection; on the contrary, it is highly commendable, though it is also, for the most part, eminently useful. But the reformer makes a great mistake when he goes beyond and appeals to legislation to carry out his moral purpose. He has no right to insist, because my neighbor abuses the use of whiskey or brandy, that I, therefore, shall be deprived the use of wine or beer, which I never abuse. The reformer has no right to assume that, because one man in a thousand is a drunkard, the other nine hundred and ninety-nine will certainly become so unless he intervenes by legislation to prevent it. Nor has he any right to assume that drunkenness is so bad a thing that, to save one man from it, legislation must be invoked to step beyond its legitimate province and override the rights of nine hundred and ninety-nine men for the sake of the one. So long as the drunkard is his own enemy only, so long as he refrains from positive assaults upon the rights of person or property in others, just so long he is properly beyond the reach of the arm of the law. It is only when he steps beyond that limit that he or his accomplice becomes responsible to society for the injury he may do to others, and then legislation properly steps in to consider what encroachment there has been upon the rights of others, and what is the remedy.

The line thus showing where it is that law has any cognizance of the case may be a fine one, but it is very clean-cut and distinct, and until it is clearly seen by the temperance reformers they will not only labor in vain but labor to harm, inasmuch as they stand in the way of the enactment of laws and regulations that may be of some service. Our advice to our correspondent is that, in the first place, he shall free his mind of cant; secondly, that he shall ponder the question of the real function of law, and how far it can rightfully interfere with the personal habits and private appetites of the citizen; thirdly, that he should test the prohibitory laws of his own State and Massachusetts by the actual amount of good and evil they have done according to the best information, statistical and otherwise, that can be procured in regard to them; and fourthly, that he shall examine into the laws of Ohio, which leaving the drunkard alone entirely as to his moral and intellectual condition, considers his state only as it may have relations to the property and persons of his fellow-creatures, and holds him, and those who may aid and abet his acts, responsible when he is led to so far forget his duty as a citizen as to infringe upon those rights of others. If our friend will give due consideration to these, and especially will clear his mind of all preconceived notions in regard to intemperance, he will not need to seek counsel from us or anybody else.—N. Y. Evening Post.

Political.

Congressman D. M. Du Bose, of Georgia, refuses to accept the Democratic nomination for re-election to Congress, if that means support of Greeley, whom he opposes. He will accept a Democratic nomination pure and simple.

The Fort Wayne Gazette says: "The Republicans of Indiana are enthusiastic, and working shoulder to shoulder, and the out-look at this stage of the campaign justifies us in predicting the election of General Browne in October, by 6000 to 8000 majority."

A letter is published from President Grant congratulating General Dix and the people of New York on his nomination for governor, and expressing the belief that his election is certain.

Governor Jewell of Connecticut has ordered an election for congressman to fill the vacancy caused by the death of Hon. Julius L. Strong. The election is appointed for Tuesday, November 5, the day of the presidential election.

The Republicans held a large and brilliant torchlight procession in Manchester, Wednesday evening, marching through the principal streets with music and banners. Five Grant and Wilson flags were flung to to the breeze.

About 50,000 persons attended the great soldiers and sailors' convention at Pittsburg, Pa. The decorations were fine and imposing. The torchlight procession was the most brilliant affair of the present campaign.

Tilton says "the Liberal movement is as yet little more than an enthusiasm and a mob." The enthusiasm is not so evident; the "mob" is plain enough.

The Nashua Gazette, Democratic, says:—"We have not a shadow of doubt there are 7000 Liberal Republicans in New Hampshire." The same paper also says there are few if any anti-Greeley Democrats. The Republican majority last March was 1000. If 7000 men who voted for Governor Straw should vote for Greeley, the Democrats will carry the State in November by 13,000 majority, according to that way of reckoning! We make the prediction that Grant and Wilson will have double the majority that Governor Straw had. Now let's wait and see which is right. Less than fifty days will decide.

THE MOUNTAIN REGION.—Surveys are being made for the extension of the White Mountain road from Bethlehem to the Mount Washington turnpike, and the road will probably be built before next season's business begins. At this point, opposite the old Fabyan stand, the construction of a large hotel called the Mount Washington House is in a good state of progress, and in case the Portland & Ogdensburg road is built to Bartlett, passengers will be conveyed by stage through the White Mountain Notch to this point in one day from Boston, over the Portsmouth, Great Falls and Conway Railroad, and be within a short ride of the railway of Mount Washington. The new hotel on the summit of Mount Washington, being built under the direction of Messrs. Lynn & Aiken, is completed in its exterior and is a grand improvement upon the present indifferent accommodations at the tip-top. The wet weather has caused the roads around the mountains to be in wretched condition the whole season, seriously affecting the business of Mount Washington Railroad. Doubtless, ere long, the road will be completed to the base of Mount Washington, and from Bethlehem to the Profile House, and thus the slow mode of communication between Mount Washington and the Franconia mountains will be succeeded by a cheaper and more agreeable transit. A good number of visitors are still enjoying the mountain regions, including many who remain till the latter part of September to escape the autumnal catarrh. North Conway visitors are the last to leave the mountains, the fall months in that region being always enjoyable to a late period.

A GREELEY CLUB COLLAPSES.—The Milwaukee, Wis., Fourth Ward Greeley Club gave up the ghost, Saturday evening. The President, Sidney Rood, resigned, and stated that he had made a —— fool of himself long enough, and did not calculate to fool away any more time. He had visited the club room frequently, and found only two persons present, both from the Emerald Isle, one blind and the other drunk.

Vice President Cutler also resigned, and did not propose to have the wool pulled over his eyes any longer. All Grant had to do was to walk over the course. Greeley was a black sheep in the flock, and there was nothing to be made in trying to spare him. It would be all cry and no wool.

W. S. Chandler, Secretary, followed suit, and thought it might fairly be considered a lost cause, and for his part he proposed to shake hands over the matter and let her go. He hoped some one would pay the bills and shut the room up. Thus ended the Fourth Ward Greeley Club.

"NOT VERY WELL."—A feeling of vague bodily discomfort, which does not amount to positive illness, and yet is incompatible with health, is often aptly described by the phrase "Not very well." This feeling usually arises from a deficiency of the nervous power to furnish a quantity of the vital machinery in vigorous and healthful operation. Nervous weakness has too frequently turned out to be the prelude of some serious malady to admit of any doubt in the matter. Inactivity of the bodily functions as surely begets their derangement as cause precedes effect.

It is therefore absolutely essential for the preservation of health, perhaps of life itself, that this warning should be promptly heeded. The case does not admit of delay. Revitalize the system at once and effectually with Hostetter's Bitters—that peerless invigorant which, by infusing new health and strength into the system, protects it against disease more surely than ever knight of old was protected by armor of proof against his foe.

THE THIEF who was arrested for robbing Parsons' store in this town, was found to have a quantity of Ayer's Hair Vigor in his possession. When asked why he wished to steal that article, he answered that he "wanted to restore his hair, for it was hard to be a thief and bald too." If that invention of the great chemist could restore a faded character as effectually as it does their natural beauty to bald and grey heads, it would surely be, as they say it now is, truly invaluable.—*Lewiston (Me.) MASKS AND FACES.—Ladies who mask their faces and neck with enamels endanger their health to no purpose. The plaster work deceives nobody. There is but one article known which will restore a blemished complexion or create external brilliancy and bloom where they have never heretofore existed, and that article is Hagan's Magnolia Balm. It performs this toilet miracle by infusing vitality into the skin. The floral and herbal juices of which it is composed gently stimulate the circulation in the minute blood vessels and brace the network of nerves through which they pass. Thus quickened and strengthened the external covering soon acquires a fresh and healthful hue, and every trace of sallowness disappears. The palest cheeks derive from the beautifying baptism of this delightful cosmetic a warmer hue, and the arms, hands and neck, a blonde lustre which the charlatans, who profess to make ladies "beautiful forever" with their poisonous cement, can never hope to imitate.

CASTORIA.—A substitute for Castor Oil—is a physic which does not distress or gripe, but is sure to operate when all other remedies have failed. You may confidently rely upon the Castoria in Stomach-ache, Constipation, Flatulency, Croup, Worms, Piles or deranged Liver. It contains neither Minerals, Morphine, Opium nor Alcohol, but is purely a vegetable preparation, perfectly harmless, and above all, pleasant to take. The Castoria soothes and quiets the system, and produces natural sleep. It is a wonderful thing to assimilate the food of children and prevent them from crying. A 35 cent bottle will do the work for a family and save many doctors' bills.

Those Percentage Gains.

It is cruel, perhaps, to remove the last vestiges of a claim of Greeley gains from the result of the Maine election; but the Democratic papers, headed by the New York Tribune and reared by the local office seekers' organ of Portsmouth, have so persistently refused to glean comfort from a proper comparison of the vote of Maine in 1871 and 1872, and, crab-like, go back for comparisons to the vote of 1868 and comfort themselves with a "five per cent. gain" in four years, that we cannot refrain from comparing the Congressional vote for 1868 and 1872. It must be admitted that on national matters the Congressional vote is the truest test. The Republican majority on Congressmen in 1868 in Maine was 17,472; the Republican majority on Congressmen in 1872 in Maine is 18,182. Republican gain, 710. Now we would like to see the Hardscrabble arithmeticians of the Greeley school figure out a Greeley percentage gain from these official figures.

On Thursday morning, Capt. D. M. Fairfax was relieved from duty as Executive officer of this Navy Yard, Capt. Earl English of New Jersey succeeding him. Capt English comes among us with a good record, although but few hereabouts are personally acquainted with him. The position which he enters upon is a trying one in many respects and well calculated to test the qualities of a man's makeup.—Capt. Fairfax stands near the head of the list of Captains and will be promoted to the rank of Commodore in a few months. He leaves here with the best wishes of all who know him.

Proposals for the construction of the Portsmouth and Dover R. R. will soon be advertised for.

The clerkship of Ward One having become vacant through the removal from the ward of Mr. James R. Morrison, who has filled that position very acceptably for several years past, the Selectmen have appointed Mr. Henry C. Walker in his place, agreeably to the statute.

Claimants for additional pay earned under the eight-hour law previous to the proclamation of the President directing the payment of full wages have no need to employ attorneys or claim agents for the collection of the amounts due them. All navy yard employes can obtain the requisite blanks from the commandants of the respective yards, and on forwarding their papers to the fourth auditor checks will be returned to the designated address.

SALLIE'S BEDTIME.—A father, not very far from here, read in the paper the other morning that the "Utica girls who want their beaux to go home the same night they call, pull a string at the proper hour which reverses a picture, on the back of which appear the words," "Ten o'clock is my bedtime."

This father, who had a daughter given to late hours when a certain youth sits up and helps her keep them, thought he would try this Utica plan, so he wrote in large characters on the back of a huge portrait of George Washington, this inscription:

"10 o'clock is Sallie's bedtime."

Then he arranged the picture so that when he attached a string to the frame he could reverse it from his bed chamber. But when Sallie entered the room an hour later, her æsthetic eye was outraged by observing the portrait of George hanging slightly out of plumb, so to speak, and in adjusting it her father's little game was revealed in all its subtle ingenuity.

Sallie was not a Utica girl, however, so she just went to work and neatly effaced the figure "0," leaving the 1 standing solitary and upright—which, you will observe, made a few hours' difference in her bedtime. That night, as usual, Sallie received a visit from her young man—which his front name it was Henry—and her paternal parent attached his string to G. W.'s portrait and retired to his downy couch.

About ten o'clock, while Henry and Sallie were deeply absorbed in some knotty problem with their heads so contiguous that you could not insert a piece of tissue paper between them, the Father to the Country suddenly turned his face to the wall as if he was ashamed to gaze upon such doings. Henry with a sudden start, glanced at the picture, and saw the hand writing on the wall, as it were, which read "1 o'clock is sallie's bedtime." Then Henry looked at Sallie with an interrogation in his eye, which was partly dispelled by the fair maid murmuring, "It's all right." Henry said of course it was all right—that he had long known one o'clock was her bedtime, and he thought it was plenty late enough, too, for a young girl to be out of bed, but what business, he said, had Washington's portrait to be flopping about in that way? Then Sallie explained—and the twain resumed work on the problem, Henry putting his arms around Sallie to prevent her falling off the chair.

Meanwhile the old man was listening for the front door to open, and his would-be-son-in-law's footsteps pattering over the pavement with the toes of his boots pointing from the house. These sounds not falling upon his ears, and thinking the old thing didn't work right he gave the string another pull, and George W. faced the audience. Then he listened, but he heard no footsteps—nothing but a peculiar sound, something resembling the popping of champagne corks.

Then he grew cross, and gave the string another jerk, causing George W. to turn about with violent suddenness, just as if he was dreadfully out of humor, too.

And still all is quiet below—except that popping sound.

Then the string was pulled again—and again—and again—indicating that the old fellow was just ready to explode with rage. And for fully fifteen minutes did he have the portrait of the man who couldn't tell a lie turning excited flip-flaps and things on the wall, like a bewitched gymnast, until he fell asleep exhausted—Sallie's father fell asleep, not the portrait.

Henry kissed Sallie good night at one o'clock, A. M., remarking as he did so, that it would seem like a long, long, weary year ere he would see her again—because you know he didn't expect to see her again until the evening of that day.

The next morning her father examined that portrait, and when he fully understood the situation he was pained. He shed a tear, detached the string, sponged out the inscription, and walked away with the weight of fifty years on his shoulders—that's his age. He says a girl who will go back on her father that way would just as lief as not disgrace her parents by marrying a Congressman.—Morristown Herald.

The oldest "whip" on the White Mountain stages is a driver of thirty-seven consecutive years' service on the mountain roads, who makes regular trips between the Crawford and Profile houses, and from his comfortable experience and well-preserved condition one is led to believe that his "lines have fallen in pleasant places."

A further examination of the spot where the body of the unknown man was found in Wentworth a few days ago shows that the remains were those of Samuel Jones of New Boston, who mysteriously disappeared in 1871.

Moses Fyler, who was recently seriously injured at one of the Concord granite ledges, has become totally blind, and there is but little hope of his recovery.

The house of Mr. Samuel Drake, in Tilton, was burned with all the contents on Sunday morning.

At Dover, H. A. Chesley of Farmington was fined $50 and costs in the S. J. Court for selling liquor, and went to jail. Walter Howard paid $50 and costs, and so did P. H. Hughes and P. H. Hughes, Jr., for liquor selling.

The Singer

SEWING MACHINE

STILL LEADS THE MARKET.

The Success o the Company is far beyond that of any other similar concern; the

Daily Manufacture

—OF—

400 OF THE SINGERS

Failing to Supply the Constant Demand.

All other machines call the public attention to some new loop or stitch or tension or finish, some advantage in running or needles or feed or prices—and many of these are as we have said very good points, and the agents selling them use them to divert entirely the would-be purchaser from fairly considering the facts in the case; but the

seems to unite the good qualities of all, and is never found wanting.

THE SINGER

IS THE

OLDEST

SEWING MACHINE

IN THE MARKET,

All others being copied from its first model. It does two-thirds the sewing done in this country and preserves its advantages over all others combined.

It is readily kept clean, and has THE BEST TENSION EVER INVENTED; it is higher speeded and requires but little power to run; it works equally well upon the finest and heaviest goods; it does all the varieties of work known to the art.

N. B. Those purchasing for cash, before the 1 of January next, will have a consideration allowed them.

Morning Chronicle.

Old Time Chronicles, No. 57.

BY UNCLE JOSEPH.

Hon. Daniel Webster's Ancestors.—Mr. Webster's family was of Scottish origin. In the book entitled "New Hampshire as it is," page 500, it is stated that his remotest ancestor in this country was Thomas Webster, who settled at Hampton in 1636. The fact is, Hampton was not settled till 1638. In the "History of Gilmanton," page 288, is what we consider more reliable, to the effect that John Webster came from Ipswich, England, settled in Ipswich, Mass., and took the freeman's oath in 1635. He died in 1647. He had 9 children, one of whom, Thomas, settled in Hampton, where he married at the age of 24, and had several children, one of them, Ebenezer, being the grandfather of Daniel. Thomas died in Hampton in 1715, aged 83.

We now speak of Ebenezer, grandfather of Daniel. In 1692 Kingston was chartered. It was at first called Kingstown, but as "ton" in the names of places means "town," the present orography is more convenient. In 1700, eight years after Kingston was incorporated, Ebenezer moved to that town from Hampton. He had a son named Ebenezer, who was the father of Hon. Daniel Webster. Daniel's father was a nobleman in person and of great powers of mind. He was engaged in some service in the French war, and was a soldier in the war of the Revolution, being at West Point when Arnold's treason was discovered; he was in the battle of White Plains; and in the battle of Bennington, was a Major under Gen. Stark. His house was in Salisbury, N. H., in the part now Franklin, where he had moved in 1763. Daniel was the son (as was his brother Ezekiel) of a servant wife, whose maiden name was Eastman. She was a woman of superior intellect and of great energy of character. Daniel was born January 16, 1782.

It should be added that the father of Daniel (besides other offices he held) was Senator in the legislature and Judge of the Court of Common Pleas. He and his wife were attendants at Church, and when Daniel was young he was carried to meeting and publicly christened by the minister. Hon. Ebenezer Webster died in 1806.

AYER'S PURGATIVE PILLS.
For all the purposes of a Family Physic,
CURING
Costiveness, Jaundice, Dyspepsia, Indigestion, Dysentery, Foul Stomach, Erysipelas, Headache, Piles, Rheumatism, Eruptions and Skin Diseases, Biliousness, Liver Complaint, Dropsy, Tetter, Tumors and Salt Rheum, Worms, Gout, Neuralgia, as a Dinner Pill, and Purifying the Blood.
Are the most congenial purgative yet perfected. Their effects abundantly show how much they excel all other Pills. They are safe and pleasant to take, but powerful to cure. They purge out the foul humors of the blood; they stimulate the sluggish or disordered organ into action, and they impart health and tone to the whole being. They cure not only the every day complaints of every body, but formidable and dangerous diseases. Most eminent clergymen, most skillful physicians, and our best citizens send certificates of cures performed, and of great benefits they have derived from these Pills. They are the safest and best physic for children, because mild as well as effectual. Being sugar coated, they are easy to take; and being purely vegetable, they are entirely harmless.

The Grand Gift Concert
A FIXED FACT.
September 28th the Day.
Your Tickets Now or Never!
THE vast sale of tickets already made, and the increasing demand for them from all quarters having determined the Trustees that the GRAND GIFT CONCERT for the benefit of the PUBLIC LIBRARY OF KENTUCKY, advertised for SATURDAY, SEPT. 28, 1872, shall positively come off on that day without postponement, the management now notifies all who expect to participate in the drawing that they should buy their tickets at once. Delay for a few days caused many who wanted tickets at the concert in December last to go without them. Some living in Louisville could until sales were closed, expecting, no doubt, a postponement, and then offered fifteen, twenty, and even twenty-five dollars for tickets which the day before were offered to purchasers at the regular price. Others living at a distance sent thousands of dollars by mail and express, which got here after sales were closed, and had to be sent back. These disappointments need not occur again, if the warning now given in due season is heeded.
The drawing will begin precisely at 6 o'clock Saturday morning, September 28, 1872, in the great hall of the Public Library building, and continue until the one thousand gifts are all drawn.

The Concert itself will be the most brilliant orchestral display that ever occurred in the West. One hundred performers, gathered from all parts of this country and from Europe, under the direction of Prof. Hast, will contribute to this grand musical carnival. And to afford ample room for every ticket-holder to enjoy such an unusual musical festival, the Concert will be given in Central Park, where arrangements have been made to accommodate all who may come.
Persons holding whole, half or quarter tickets, will be admitted to both the Concert and Drawing, and none without such tickets will be admitted to either.
PRICE OF TICKETS.
Whole Tickets $10; halves, $5; quarters, $2 50; 11 Whole tickets for $100; 28 for $225; 56 for $500; 113 for $1,000; 565 for $5,000.
No discount on less than $100 worth of tickets at a time.
In accordance with numerous solicitations arrangements have been made with all the railroad and steamboat lines leading into the city for the sale of round-trip tickets, good for six days to all persons who may wish to attend the Concert or drawing. Such tickets will be furnished by the Louisville & Nashville Railroad; the Louisville, Cincinnati and Lexington Railroad; the Louisville, Indianapolis and Madison Railroad; the Ohio and Mississippi Railroad; the Louisville and Cincinnati Mail Route, and the Louisville, Owensboro and Henderson Mail Line Packets.
All agents are required to close sales and make their returns in full time to reach this office by Thursday, September 26. To do this successfully, these locations at a great distance must close some days before the 28th.
All tickets to which gifts are awarded, will be paid without discount by the Farmers' and Drovers' Bank, either in currency, or by sight-draft upon the Fourth National Bank of New York, at option of the holder. The ticket must first be presented at this office, Room No. 4, Public Library Building, before they will be paid by the Bank.
The drawing will be published in the Louisville Papers and New York Herald, and official copies sent to purchasers to whom tickets have been sent by letter.

SEA-SICKNESS.—To be thoroughly sea-sick is to have reached the maximum of physical discomfort. And sea-sickness is one of those helpless maladies, defying medical explanation or skill. Dozens of doctors have started scores of theories regarding it, and prescribed no end of drugs and palliatives, but all to no purpose. Old wives have gone to the depth of their wisdom for remedies, and in their search have failed as signally as the doctors. Now science comes to the rescue with the universal and unchangeable principle of gravitation, and in the person of Mr. Bessemer, the inventor, bids the world watch for the results of experiments now in progress.

Mr. Bessemer has been to sea—has experienced the dreadful qualms of mal de mer—but has followed the nautical plan of keeping his eye on the compass. In crossing the British channel, where the steamers do everything but keep steady, and the passengers do anything but keep well, he has watched the compass swinging in its many-pivoted case, always right side up, and always steady and true. Happy thought: A big compass upon which passengers shall "live, move, and have their being," notwithstanding the unsteady behavior of the boat. Precisely on the same principle that the compass is protected from the motion of the sea, Mr. Bessemer means to protect travellers. If he is successful, all who go down to the sea in ships will rise up and call him blessed, for, however the sea may rise and the waves may roll, the happy passengers will sit serene and smiling in a saloon wherein no motion is experienced; a saloon bung amidships, as the compass is hung in its box.

Of course, it remains to be seen whether or not Mr. Bessemer's invention will stand the test of service. In the models it has more than answered his expectations, and it has, moreover, received the endorsement of Mr. E J. Reed, the late chief constructor of the British navy, who looks on this system as a complete revolution in seagoing passenger steamers, and is now engaged on plans for building for the channel passengers two ships of 350 feet in length, which will be propelled by engines of 5000 indicated horse-power, and capable of accomplishing with ease a speed of twenty miles an hour. In these vessels the hanging saloon will be 50 feet in length, by 30 feet wide and 20 feet in height. There will also be eight smaller rooms for the accommodation of passengers. On the top of the saloon there will be an open-air promenade-deck, 70 feet in length and 18 feet wide, about seven above the upper deck of the vessel. Several eminent engineers who have examined the details of the invention and seen the model at work, have expressed their full belief in the practicability of the plan.

AYER'S

CHERRY PECTORAL

For Diseases of the Throat and Lungs, such as Coughs, Colds, Whooping Cough, Bronchitis, Asthma and Consumption.

The few compositions, which have won the confidence of mankind and become household words among not only one but many nations, must have extraordinary virtues. Perhaps no one ever secured so wide a reputation or maintained it so long as AYER'S CHERRY PECTORAL. It has been known to the public about forty years, by a long continued series of marvellous cures which have won for it a confidence in its virtues, never equalled by any other medicines. It still makes the most effectual cures of Coughs, Colds, Consumption, that can be made by medical skill. Indeed the CHERRY PECTORAL has really robbed these dangerous diseases of their terrors, to a great extent, and given a feeling of immunity from their fatal effects, which is well founded, if the remedy be taken in season. Every family should have it in their closet for the ready and prompt relief of its members. Sickness, suffering, and even life is saved by this timely protection. The prudent should not neglect it, and the wise will not. Keep it by you for the protection it affords in sudden attacks, and by its timely use.

AMERICAN & FOREIGN PATENTS.

R. H. EDDY,

SOLICITOR OF PATENTS,

For Inventions, Trade Marks or Designs,

NO. 76 STATE ST., OPPOSITE KILBY ST., BOSTON,

After an extensive practice of upwards of thirty years, continues to secure patents in the United States; also in Great Britain, France and other foreign countries. Caveats, Specifications, Assignments, and all papers for Patents, executed on reasonable terms with dispatch. Researches made to determine the validity and utility of Patents of inventions, and legal and other advice rendered in all matters touching the same. Copies of the claims of any patent furnished, by remitting one dollar. Assignments recorded in Washington.

No Agency in the United States possesses superior facilities for obtaining Patents or ascertaining the patentability of inventions.

All necessity of a journey to Washington to procure a Patent and the usual great delay there, are here saved inventors.

TESTIMONIALS.

"I regard Mr. Eddy as one of the most capable and successful practitioners with whom I have had official intercourse. CHARLES MASON, Commissioner of Patents."

"I have no hesitation in assuring inventors that they cannot employ a man more competent and trustworthy and more capable of putting their applications in a form to secure for them an early and favorable consideration at the Patent Office. EDMUND BURKE, Late Commissioner of Patents."

"MR. R. H. EDDY has made for me over THIRTY applications for Patents, having been successful in almost every case. Such unmistakable proof of great talent and ability on his part leads me to recommend ALL inventors to apply to him to procure their Patents, as they may be sure of having the most faithful attention bestowed on their cases, and at very reasonable charges. JOHN TAGGART."

CLEAR YOUR THROAT!

Relieve Your Lungs.

For the terrible diseases engendered by the lung-trying climate of New England,

Pulmocine Cordial

Is a speedy and reliable Preventive and Remedy. EVERY FAMILY should have a bottle at hand to check the sudden growth of all Pulmonary Diseases. For the Asthma, Coughs, Croups, Children attacked with whooping cough, Croup should be immediately cared for. These painful attacks come with scarcely a moment's warning, when a physician may be out of immediate reach. A dose of PULMOCINE CORDIAL gives speedy relief, and the children are spared hours of pain and agony. As a stitch in time saves nine, so does the possession of this FAMILY MEDICINE prevent the spread of disease. Parents seeing their children gasping with pain, friends and relatives beholding each other in peril from suffocation by the choking pain in the throat, paralyzed with fear and not knowing the best course to pursue, are liable to apply the wrong remedial agents. There is no safety in delay, no time to waste in such cases. CONSUMPTION, that fearful scourge of the human race, lies at the door of all thus afflicted. BUCHMAN'S PULMOCINE CORDIAL arrests it (unless in its advanced stage at which time there is no local cure) relieves the pressing, suffocating feeling at the lungs, and the patient's danger is past.

Buchman's Pulmocine Cordial

BUCHMAN'S PULMOCINE CORDIAL is no new discovery. Twenty-three years ago it was used by one of New England's most famous physicians as the best PULMONARY CURATIVE he could prescribe, after a dozen years spent in experimenting with it before he was satisfied that the Materia Medica could add nothing in its favor.

Is the ultima thule of Medical Discovery.

Among its many ingredients are WILD CHERRY BARK, SQUILL ROOT, LIQUORICE ROOT, BLOOD ROOT, &c. It is a BLOOD PURIFIER, gently stimulating. It increases expectoration and is diuretic. It is sudorific and alterative. It is a necessary family medicine. It is a Tonic, and a powerful aid to the digestive organs. It is a gentle sedative, and relieves nervousness. It is aromatic and agreeable to the taste.

For Coughs, Croup, Diphtheria, Asthma, &c.

USE BUCHMAN'S

PULMOCINE CORDIAL.

The Pulmocine Cordial is not a quack medicine, is not an experiment, is not composed of any ingredients "discovered" by "walking in pastures" in South America or anywhere else, nor by one who discovered a weed and thereby cured himself. Most of the ingredients are such as our best educated physicians daily use for the complaints specified, in some form or other. The recipe is that perfected by one of New England's most learned and famous physicians, who used it entirely in his daily practice until his death. It is offered to the profession and to the public, absolutely pure and unadulterated.

BRIGGS' ALLEVANTOR is composed of Ammonia, Chloroform, Spirits of Camphor, Tincture of Lapulina, Oil of Juniper, and Alcohol. This compound is unequalled in the annals of medicine for the cure of Nervous or Sick Headache, Neuralgia, Trembling or Twitching of the Nerves, and all Nervous Diseases. It will counteract all poisons, banish pimples, cure scaly eruptions, itching, humors, &c.; it equalizes the circulation, invigorates the system, increases the action of the heart, without exciting the brain, cures Heartburn, Palpitation and Fluttering of the Heart, Dyspepsia, &c. Briggs' Allevantor absolutely possesses more curative properties than any other preparation. Physicians, chemists, and others are requested to examine and test the remedy, and $1000 will be paid if found different from representation.

COUGHS, Much has been said and written, and many remedies have been offered for the relief and cure of throat and lung diseases; but nothing has been so eminently successful, or obtained such a wide celebrity, as Briggs' Throat and Lung Healer.

CORNS! The excruciating pain produced by Corns, the unceasing twinging from Bunions, the piercing, distressing pain from Ingrowing Nails, cannot be described. Thousands suffer, not knowing there is a cure. Briggs' Corn and Bunion Remedies are no acid or potash compounds, but are reliable, soothing, and effectual, and just merit the success they have earned from an appreciative public. The Curative is a healing ointment; immediate relief is obtained by its application, and it will positively cure the worst cases of Festered Corns, Inflamed and Ulcerated Bunions, the sorest instep, the largest and severest Blisters, the most extensive Callosities on the soles or heels of the feet, unequalled in the cure of Chilblains or Frosted Feet. The Allevantor for ordinary corns and preventing their formation is absolutely unexcelled by anything ever known.

PILES have been a terror to mankind for centuries, and almost every attempt to cure them has been baffled. By unceasing study and experimenting, Dr. Briggs has discovered an absolutely cure for internal, bleeding, external, and itching piles. Briggs' Pile Remedies are mild, safe and sure.

For sale by J. H. THACHER, WM. R. PRESTON, Portsmouth; JAMES O. TREPEHEN, Kittery; E. S. SAFFORD, Kittery Point; H. M. CURTIS, Newcastle, and dealers generally.

AYER'S HAIR VIGOR

FOR RESTORING GRAY HAIR

TO ITS NATURAL VITALITY AND COLOR.

Advancing years, sickness, care, disappointment, and hereditary predisposition, all turn the hair gray; either of them disposes to fall off prematurely, and either effect is unsightly and unpleasant to behold. DR. AYER'S consummate skill has produced an antidote for these deformities, which has won gratitude for him from multitudes of men and women. His HAIR VIGOR sometimes reproduces lost hair; and the virtues of AYER'S HAIR VIGOR for renewing the hair. The fresh and youthful hair we see on older heads is often the product of his art. If you are disfigured, or made old, austere and ugly, by gray hair, restore its youthful color, and with your features to their original softness and agreeable expression.

As an elegant dressing for beautifying the Hair, it has no superior.

SATURDAY, SEPT. 21, 1872.

Political.

Moreau, the untamable lieutenant of Duncan in the Louisville convention, is going South to take the stump for O'Conor, who, he says, has not refused to be voted for, but only refused to declare. He threatens to beat Greeley in Maryland by 30,000 votes; and he prophesies that the Philosopher will be forced to withdraw in a few weeks.

Since the Maine election, Horace Greeley has taken to agriculture again. He has just sent a circular to his friends at the South advising them to plant corn and sugar cane together, so as to raise johnny-cake with molasses on.

Whoever says that the Greeley journals of Detroit are "organs" is, in the language of Horace Greeley, "a liar, a villiar, and a horse-thief." They are not "organs," they are only bag-pipes. —Detroit Post.

Judge Stallo, the prominent Ohio liberal, says Mr. Greeley "has a form syllogistic reasoning entirely his own, his syllogism consisting of a broad assertion of the thing to be proved as the major premise, a ringing imprecation as the minor, and a bold charge of venality or idiocy against his antagonist as the conclusion."

Ex-senator Carlile, of West Virginia, whose fight against secession in the Virginia convention nearly cost him his life, has declared in favor of Grant and Wilson, and will stump the state in behalf of the Republican party.

A prompt way of realizing handsome interest on money—take a Greeley bet, and then accept a portion of it for a release.

Governor Jewell says of Gen. Grant's private life: "His language is singularly chaste and moderate, as is his life. It is the universal testimony that, since he has been President, no man ever heard him use an expression in private conversation that was not proper to be made on the platform. Having had much opportunity to observe him I wish to bear witness to the propriety of his life. Having seen him under many varied and peculiar circumstances, never in a single instance have I seen anything which I could regret, and all stories reflecting upon the propriety of his life I believe to be false. In fact, I know them to be so as much as any man can know the facts concerning any one with whom he is on intimate terms, but with whom he is not in constant communication."

A North Carolina Greeley organ exhibits the hand-clasping feeling of our southern brethen in the following happy allusion: "Grant is growing weaker every day. The forces of the usurper are melting away like the Yankees under the fire of southern rifles in the Wilderness."

The State government of Tennessee has been in the hands of the Democracy during the past four years, and yet the Knoxville Chronicle sorrowfully says: "What the people of Tennessee want now is an honest, efficient administration of the State government."

The earnest efforts of the Greeley organs to convince themselves that the defeat they received in Maine was a thinly disguised blessing, reminds an exchange of the gentleman who, being mistaken for another, was severely beaten by a ruffian. When the exercise had ceased he seized his castigator warmly by the hand, exclaiming: "My dear sir, allow me to thank you. I've been the victim of dyspepsia for some time past, and I think this little shaking up will do me good."

Greeley's prospects must be very gloomy when the New York Star, Howard's disreputable ring journal, gives him up. Here is what Howard says in a recent issue:—"Well, I'm afraid Uncle Horace is gone up—not only gone up higher, but gone up in a balloon. He meant well, but the old thing won't work. It won't do in this land of the brave to know too much, and that's what's the matter. 'What he knows about' this, that and the other has so embarrassed the public that they have about made up their minds to go for him, but not the way he hoped."

In a recent speech Attorney General Williams admitted that Greeley had done some good in his day, but said: "Taking a farmer's view of one who claims to know so much about farming, I think of him as I would of a cow that had given a pailful of milk and then kicked it over."

The straightout Democrats of Indiana have nominated Hon. A. P. Egerton for Governor, and an electoral ticket.

The Prairie du Chien (Wis.) Courier, which hoists the names of O'Conor and Adams, says: "We printed 1,500 copies of The Courier, extra, last issue, and still we are unable to fill the orders that come in by the scores. The Democrats of Western Wisconsin and Northern Iowa are fairly wild with enthusiasm for Charles O'Conor. There is not a true Democrat in the Northwest but will cast his vote for O'Conor and Adams."

For a dead party the "straight outs" are doing very well. They have called State conventions in Iowa, Illinois, Indiana and Pennsylvania to nominate electoral tickets. In Kentucky three Democratic newspapers fly the O'Conor and Adams flag.

The Braidwood News, one of the first papers in Illinois that went for the "Old White Hat," has taken down the Greeley ticket from the head of its editorial columns, and announces itself to be independent in politics.

Hon. J. M. S. Williams has been nominated for Congressman by the Massachusetts Republicans of the 8th district.

Ex-Governor Marcus L. Ward has been nominated for Congress by acclamation by the Republicans of the sixth district of New Jersey.

The straight-out democracy of Connecticut have placed the following electoral ticket in the field, pledged to O'Conor and Adams. For electors at large, William D. Bishop of Bridgeport, James S. Carew of Norwich. For district electors—first district, General William B. Franklin of Hartford; second, Samuel Ingham of Essex; third, Benjamin Stark of New London; fourth, Miles T. Granger of North Canaan. Mr. Bishop is president of the New York, New Haven and Hartford Railroad, and Mr. Carew is a prominent man in the eastern part of the State. General Franklin is superintendent of the Colt fire-arms company, Mr. Ingham was for three years the Democratic candidate for governor and was defeated by Governor Buckingham. Mr. Stark was formerly United States Senator from Oregon, and Mr. Granger is one of the solid old-line Democrats of Litchfield county.

The "liberal" Republicans in Maine seem to be no better than the Democrats, 5,000 of whom, according to Mr. Greeley, sold their votes at the recent election. One of the Pike family, probably the gentleman who was so handsomely whipped in the fifth Congressional district, writes a long letter to the "melodeon," in which he says that men of the highest respectability, who had pledged themselves to vote the "liberal" ticket, became demoralized at the polls and sold their votes. A pretty set of fellows these "liberals" must be if we are to believe what one of their own journals publishes about them.

Marden of the Lowell Courier says: "That thing," the Vice-Presidency, is not worth looking at by Adams' sight.

Pennsylvania.

The Democratic party of Philadelphia, as in New-York, is in a state of complete demoralization. It is without organization, without spirit and without hope. The nomination of the old white coat of the Tribune office as their candidate for President has disgusted the respectable and substantial men of the party. There is scarcely a business men in Philadelphia who gets his living by any other occupation than that of selling bad rum who wishes to see Greeley elected President of the United States. Out of the fifteen daily papers printed here there are only two, (the Post, formerly Republican, and the Age, always Democratic,) that have a word to say in his favor. The first of these, I am informed, has made repeated overtures to sell out to the other side, and what the last thinks of Greeley's prospects may be inferred from the fact that it cautioned its friends the other day not to bet on the election of Buckalew, its candidate for Governor, whose chances of success, poor as they are, are certainly fifty per cent. better than Greeley's. Moreover, the Democracy here are in a peck of trouble about another little matter that affects the personal safety of their gang of ringleaders and most active workers. Here, as in New York under the rule of Tammany Ring, a large portion of the apparent strength which the Democracy has been accustomed to exhibit on election days has been the work of fraud—of double voting and false counting.

The "Fourth Ward gang," as they are called, headed by Alderman McMullen and his crowd of roughs, have heretofore been enabled to do for the Democratic Party of Philadelphia what the Sixth and other down-town Wards of New York have done for the Tammany Ring. If they have not quite been able to match their New York rivals in polling more votes than there were men, women and children in the ward, they have at least figured up larger majorities than there were legal voters in their several precincts. This Fourth Ward gang are at present in a fearful state of trepidation: in fact, they are "shivering in their boots" at the prospect of being called to account for their past misdeeds, and, if they could only be assured that they would be "let alone" by the legal authorities, they would gladly quit politics, and stay away from the polls altogether in the coming elections. Hugh Mara, or "Morrow," who is now under indictment for attempting to murder Alder-McMullen a few weeks ago, has made some startling disclosures about this Fourth Ward gang, which implicates the leaders in a plot to murder United States Detective Brooks, which, it will be recollected, was all but successful, as well as in several other actual and attempted murders. His disclosures, which are fortified by ample proof, have not yet been made public; but enough has leaked out, with the uncertainty as to what remains behind, to strike terror to the hearts of the Fourth Ward roughs, and they are only too willing to be put on their good behavior in future, and to eschew politics forever, if the authorities will only overlook the past and "let by-gones be by-gones," indeed, if they were allowed to do so, they would gladly "clasp hands over the bloody chasm" of their murders and assassinations, and tender their aid in the coming election to the Republican Party, but their services, fortunately, are not needed by that party, and their opposition is no longer dreaded. The Democratic Party of Philadelphia, however, will lose by the disclosures of Mara its most effective allies, and the Fourth Ward its accustomed majorities for the ticket.

What with the nomination of Greeley, the disgust of all reputable Democrats, and the breaking up of this McMullen gang, the Democracy of Philadelphia has become completely disorganized and broken up into fragments and fractions. Each man regards himself as absolved from all allegiance to party, and they are all "soldiers of fortune" together, ready for any trade, bargain, combination or dicker that promises to improve their individual fortunes. Under such circumstances it is exceedingly difficult, impossible in fact, to give any estimate of majorities for the Republican ticket in this city at the coming election. It may be twelve thousand, and it may be twenty-five thousand. No Republican that I have seen estimates it at less than fifteen thousand.—Cor. N. Y. Times.

Dennison's Slander of Grant.

For some weeks I have noticed a letter written by the Reverend Charles Wheeler Dennison on the drinking habits of President Grant being extensively used as a campaign document against Grant's re-election to the Presidency. The great charges laid against the President through the medium of this letter, have tended to excite the minds of the people for facts relating to the truthfulness of the accusations and to learn by what motive they were originated.

Belonging to the opposition party, it may seem prejudicial to attempt to injure a campaign document favorable to the Greeley movement. But I have not entered that clique whose cry is "anything to beat Grant," but rather claim to belong to an organization whose motto implies a higher and broader series of principles than that which is laid as the maxim for action in Rev. Dennison's letter.

What I say is not said in the spirit of injury to the Greeley cause or for the purpose of elevating the Grant cause; but to give a deserved rebuke to a man who has endeavored to manufacture a campaign document out of falsehood.

I met the Rev. Dennison on the 26th of last June in the office of the Grand Worthy Patriarch of the Sons of Temperance of Ohio, at Salem. During the day, on casually meeting him, our conversation turned upon the political situation. He spoke of the management of the campaign on the part of the opposition to Grant. He said "We must make a strong point on Grant's drinking." The inquiry was made "Can we substantiate the charge." He said "It will be an exciting campaign; the people grab easily; wind sometimes works better than facts." On the same subject he said "Though I live in Washington and frequently see the President, and sometimes call on him, I most say I never saw him drink, or drunk; but his den must be broken; we must play policy when we can." In speaking of the prospects of the canvass, he said:

"The prohibitionists are linked arm in arm with the Greeley men. When we can't get a vote we will toss it to Greeley."

"In politics, principles must often be laid aside, or no party will conquer. If we could only carry enough to secure electoral votes, Greeley would own them."

"It was a bad egg for the opposition when Wilson was nominated. Had Colfax continued on the ticket I believe I could prove he drank. It will be hard to prove that Wilson drinks, yet I believe it. Senator Thurman, of your State, once remarked: 'Well, the great Temperance hobby is feeling too good for duty to-day. When will Wilson get up another Temperance show?'"

Speaking of the two parties, he said: "It is fortunate there is a Prohibition party. We can carry thousands from the Grant field; we can work destruction. In fact, I believe we can kill them, and they not perceive the enemy."

In speaking of the vote that will ultimately decide the contest, he remarked:

"The laboring vote is the vote that elects. They are all, or nearly so, anti-temperance; it will not do for them to know that we are casting all we can for Greeley through our temperance influence, or they will go solid for Grant. We must work on temperance Grantites; every vote will count. By such a coalition I am confident of success for Greeley, but it depends on how many policy games we catch."

The effect of his last remark was that it is hard to carry on a war against Grant on account of his reticence, but "what I have been urging upon different parties is to get hold of a domestic failing of Grant's. It will appeal to the hearts of the people. It has been intimated that he is cruel to his family, but the argument I mentioned to you I consider far superior for canvass purposes. I don't know that Grant drinks, but it must be used on the stump against him."

The conversation was not of a private character—it was a mere partuitous meeting. I do not say that all the quotations are absolutely exact. Some of them are. In the rest there is no essential shade of difference between my construction of his remarks and his own expressions.

Let the anguis in herba with its Brutum Fulmen sink back to the base bed from which it sprung. I am Sir, yours truly, S. W. STREET.

—Cleveland Leader.

"LIBERAL" ORGANS ON MAINE.—When the New York Tribune sang peans of victory over the partial returns from North Carolina, Aug. 3d, it added a word for Maine:

"And now for Maine! A little over a month remains for work—the election coming on the 9th of September. A month's campaign sufficed to revolutionize North Carolina (!) Shall we not do as well in Maine? Men of Maine! North Carolina has made this campaign easy for us."

The returns are in from North Carolina and Maine, and now the Tribune's fallow laborer, the World, says:

"Nobody but a born idiot could ever have expected that either Vermont or Maine would give its electoral vote to Greeley."

"NOT VERY WELL."—A feeling of vague bodily discomfort, which does not amount to positive illness, and yet is incompatible with health, is often aptly described by the phrase "Not very well." This feeling usually arises from a deficiency of the nervous power which is required to keep the vital machinery in vigorous and healthful operation. Nervous weakness has too frequently turned out to be the prelude of some serious malady to admit of any doubt in the matter. Inactivity of the bodily functions as surely begets their derangement as cause precedes effect.

It is therefore absolutely essential for the preservation of health, perhaps of life itself, that this warning should be promptly heeded. The case does not admit of delay. Revitalize the system at once and effectually with Hostetter's Bitters—that peerless invigorant which, by infusing new health and strength into the system, protects it against disease more surely than ever knight of old was protected by armor of proof against his foe.

THE THIEF who was arrested for robbing Parsons' store in this town, was found to have a quantity of Ayer's Hair Vigor in his possession. When asked why he wished to steal that article, he answered that he "wanted to restore his hair, for it was hard to be a thief and bald too." If that intention of the great chemist could restore a faded character as effectually as it does their natural beauty to bald and grey heads, it would surely be, as they say it now is, truly invaluable.—Lewiston (Me.) Journal.

MASKS AND FACES.—Ladies who mask their faces and neck with enamels endanger their health to no purpose. The plaster work deceives nobody. There is but one article known which will restore a blemished complexion or create external brilliancy and bloom where they have never heretofore existed, and that article is Hagan's Magnolia Balm. It performs this toilet miracle by infusing vitality into the skin. The floral and herbal juices of which it is composed gently stimulate the circulation in the minute blood vessels and brace the network of nerves through which they pass. Thus quickened and strengthened the external covering soon acquires a fresh and healthful hue, and every trace of sallowness disappears. The palest cheeks derive from the beautifying baptism of this delightful cosmetic a warmer hue, and the arms, hands and neck, a blonde lustre which the charlatans, who profess to make ladies "beautiful forever" with their poisonous cement, can never hope to imitate.

CASTORIA.—A substitute for Castor Oil—is a physic which does not distress or gripe, but is sure to operate when all other remedies have failed. You may confidently rely upon the Castoria in Stomach-ache, Constipation, Flatulency, Croup, Worms, Piles or deranged Liver. It contains neither Minerals, Morphine, Opium nor Alcohol, but is purely a vegetable preparation, perfectly harmless, and above all, pleasant to take. The Castoria soothes and quiets the system, and produces natural sleep. It is a wonderful thing to assimilate the food of children and prevent them from crying. A 35 cent bottle will do the work for a family and save many doctors' bills.

CORNS.—Since pride and fashion have had control of mankind, and shoemakers were compelled to make boots and shoes to fit fancy instead of the feet, the suffering from Corns, Bunions, Ingrowing Nails, Sore Insteps, Blistered Heels, Callosities on the bottom of the feet, &c., cannot be described. "WELL

Old Wheezy, what's the matter with you and why are you muffled up so?"

"Wretched cold! Can't speak aloud. My throat's so sore and lungs so oppressed it pains me to talk."

"Now, Old Boy, I was in the same predicament and have been wonderfully cured. Met a friend who urged me to take

PULMOCINE CORDIAL

For the Throat and Lungs.

Bought a bottle at the

on Market Street. Now I'm going to tell you the truth. The bottles are small and sell at only

50

Cents each, but the

PULMOCINE CORDIAL

is powerful. A half bottle completely cured me; a single dose

RELIEVED MY THROAT INSTANTANEOUSLY.

— THE —

PULMOCINE CORDIAL

Is a condensed cure-all. Try it—and take off that muffler."

"I WILL."

AFTER deciding what kind of Sewing Machine to buy, the next thing to be duly considered is where to buy it. E. A. Joy who sells all kinds of Sewing Machines and Findings, is permanently located here, and has sold more Machines during the past six years than all the others together, including the nineteen who have quit the business because they could not pay expenses. He has sold nearly five hundred of one kind during the past year (the names of the purchasers will be given if desired) and has twenty other kinds to choose from. Mr. Joy seems destined to be the only Sewing Machine dealer in this vicinity, for people have learned to their sorrow that the warrant of an itinerant agent or pedlar amounts to nothing. You can select from a stock of nearly one hundred machines of different kinds at

The Lingards made a great hit at Lynn and are having crowded houses everywhere.

One of the editors of the office seekers' organ has been repairing the Journal's press.

The temperance lecture at the Temple to-morrow evening will commence at a quarter before eight o'clock. The doors will be open at quarter past seven. A male quartette will furnish appropriate music.

Commodore John C. Howell is to succeed Admiral Pennock in command of this Naval Station. Paymaster Edwin Putnam of this city has been ordered to U. S. S. "Benicia" on the Pacific coast.

Hon. John E. Butler has 1145 majority for Senator in York county, Me. Last year, he was defeated by bolters.

In the Board of Mayor and Aldermen, a bill increasing the pay of firemen and reducing the number was read. A recommendation for the sale of a hand engine and apparatus and the purchase of another steamer was laid on the table.

We chronicled a day or two since a case of brutal assault on a man named Perkins, of Kittery, by a party of lawless fishermen who had put into our Lower Harbor from the storm, and now we have another instance of the unprincipled character of these occasional visitors. On Thursday night a number of men from the mackerel fleet visited the schooner Roscoe, owned by Capt. Horatio Trefethen and lying at Kittery Foreside, and stole her anchor, cables, and all her running rigging; even the bags of sand used for ballast. The fair wind of Friday morning enabled them to get away to sea with the property, thus placing them beyond the reach of the law. We ought to double our police force in this city when these fellows make their advent among us, for a more reckless, thieving, dissipated crowd never invaded our usually quiet city than a portion of these maraunding mackerel catchers.

The Biddeford Journal says the P. S. & P. Railroad will not discontinue its line from Kittery to Kennebunk, but may build a branch road from Kittery to Wells, connecting with the Boston & Maine.

The Exeter Horticultural Society will hold its fifth exhibition next Thursday and Friday.

NEW MUSIC.—We have received from Oliver Ditson & Co., 277 Washington St., Boston, the following pieces of Music: Mormonite, by Frank L. Martyn; I'd be a Star (Song), by James R. Murray; Rail Road Steam galop, by Gungl; The Chieftain Brave (Song), words by Jas. F. Keegan, Music by Arthur Percy; Night Song (Nachtgesang), by Jean Vogt; Darling little dainty Nell (ballad), by Horace Norman; Christmas comes but once a year (Song), words by G. Macfarren.

AMENITIES OF JOURNALISM.—Two Democratic editors in one of the Southern States are throwing paper bullets at each other in a manner that brings out the strong points in the Democratic creed. One of them puts the following leading questions to the other:

When you came out of the penitentiary to join the service, had you served your time out?

Was the regiment you entered the one out of which you were drummed?

Did you ever steal a horse?

How many?

Are you expert in slandering a gentleman, when you can't make anything out of him?

Are you a good boot-licker, for loaves and fishes?

Are you ashamed of yourselves, generally, when in the presence of gentlemen?

Don't you feel mean?

GRANT TO DIX.—The following letter from Gen. Dix, congratulating him upon his nomination by the Republican Convention at Utica, has just been made public:

LONG BRANCH, N. J., Aug. 24.

MY DEAR GENERAL: I congratulate you upon the unanimity and enthusiasm of the Utica Convention on the occasion of your nomination for the honorable and responsible position of Governor of the great State of New York. Especially do I congratulate the citizens of that State, almost irrespective of party, upon your nomination. I believe you will receive the active support of the great majority of the best people of the State, and the secret smypathy of thousands who may be so bound up by party ties and pledges as to force them to support your opponent.

To doubt your election would be to impugn the intelligent patriotism of a people by whose enlightened discrimination such eminently good men as Tompkins, Clinton, Marcy, Wright, Seward, Fish, King, and Morgan have been elevated to the Chief Magistracy of the Empire State. With your election, reforms in the State will naturally follow, which, all acknowledge, have been much needed for years.

No one acquainted with the political history of New York for the past eight years will claim that all the abuses of legislation are due to Democratic rule, but members, or at least pretended members, of both political parties share the responsibility of them.

When I read the proceedings of the Convention of the 21st inst., and of the unanimity of feeling in favor of you and your associates on the State ticket, I felt that victory had been already achieved, and reform inaugurated in the State of New York.

Again I congratulate you, not upon the prospect of being Governor, but upon having it within your reach to render such service to your State.

It is a happy day when conventions seek candidates, not candidates nominations. This dream has been realized in the action of the Convention of the 21st inst., at Utica, N. Y.

I have the honor to be, General, your most obedient servant. U. S. GRANT.

—As a contrast to the case of Miss Barber, who married the Sioux chief "Squatting Bear," and whose doleful story has gone the rounds of the papers, a New York Journal tells us of Miss Ayres of Philadelphia. When Col. Downing, chief of the Cherokees, was in Philadelphia, his eloquence so impressed Miss Ayres, that disregarding the remonstrances of her friends, she resolved to cast her lot with the "noble red men." She established her home at the beautiful Cherokee village of Talequah. Here she instructed the people, and devoted herself to advancing their religious training and their educational interests. She soon became a Lady Bountiful among the Indians, and by the friendship of the grateful chief, Colonel Downing, was able to effect much good. When the Indian wife of Colonel Downing died, she married him, and now is Queen of the Cherokees, and apparently as happy as poor Miss Barber is miserable.

—A colored youth employed as bell boy in a New Haven hotel was sent recently to answer a call from one of the rooms. The occupant was ill and wanted "whiskey hot," and gave the boy the order. The youth came down the stairs, rushed into the kitchen and ordered a "hot bi-cuit for No. 31." The cook flew round, soon had the order ready, and it was sent up to the room. The disgust of the sick man, the indignation of the proprietor, the surprise of the boy can all better be imagined than described. The same youth was set to work in the cellar of the house. As soon as he heard the rain he stopped and ran up stairs. On being asked the reason why he did not continue his work, he replied, "Because it rains." He was sent back to work.

—Joke on the Chicago police—they put wire screens over the jail windows to prevent liquor being passed in through the gratings by friends of the prisoners outside. Too thin. Prisoner lowers a string to friend under the window who attaches a bottle with a straw fixed in the cork, which is drawn up, and the straw being pulled through the meshes of the screen, prisoner proceeds to get gloriously drunk in spite of the police.

—The man who never touched a drop of spirituous liquor, never smoked nor chewed tobacco, and never attended a circus or theatre undertook to digest thirty-two clams Saturday night. They carried him home on a new board, and rubbed him with the front breadth of a coffee sack until the people in the next house smelt smoke.—Danbury News.

—A boy three years old gave a reason for his infant brother's good behavior, as follows: "Baby doesn't cry tears because he doesn't drink any water, and he can't cry milk."

—Let us take care of how we speak of those who have fallen on life's field. Help them up—not heap scorn upon them. We do not see the conflict. We do not know the scars.

—Alexander H. Stephens has hired a rope-walk, that he may write editorials without one end having to be carried out on the roof of his sanctum.

—A young man named Starkey was shot and killed near Yorkville, Ky., recently. He had disturbed a church meeting.

The Singer
SEWING MACHINE
STILL LEADS THE MARKET.

The Success o the Company is far beyond that of any other similar concern; the

Daily Manufacture
—OF—
400 OF THE SINGERS
Failing to Supply the Constant Demand.

All other machines call the public attention to some new loop or stitch or tension or finish, some advantage in running or needles or feed or prices—and many of these are as we have said very good points, and the agents selling them use them to divert entirely the would-be purchaser from fairly considering the facts in the case; but the

seems to unite the good qualities of all, and is never found wanting.

THE SINGER
IS THE
OLDEST
SEWING MACHINE
IN THE MARKET,

All others being copied from its first model. It does two-thirds the sewing done in this country and preserves its advantages over all others combined.

It is readily kept clean, and has THE BEST TENSION EVER INVENTED; it is higher speeded and requires but little power to run; it works equally well upon the finest and heaviest goods; it does all the varieties of work known to the art.

N. B. Those purchasing for cash, before the 1 of January next, will have a consideration allowed them.

FEMALE HELP IN THE FARM HOUSE. The lack of female help for the household is as great as that of male help for the outdoor operations, and even greater. We believe that "farming as a business" is dwarfed more by the scarcity of female help, than by that of male. The wife of the farmer is already taxed to the extent of endurance in caring for the wants of her own family. Enlarging it therefore by the employment of men for extending the operations of the farm is simply out of the question unless the needed female help can be secured. Many of the girls are well educated, and are away teaching. Others are at the stores, shops, and factories, earning more than the farmer thinks he can afford to pay them. That is, he is willing to pay their price to help over a present emergency, but prospects will not warrant him in basing operations on the necessity of paying the price their labor commands in other directions. Of course the labor principally goes where it commands the best pay, and the farmers's operations are dwarfed thereby. — Maine Farmer.

BEES AND THE GRAPES.—George W. Campbell, of Delaware, O., in a recent letter in the Ohio Farmer says: "The point which I wished to establish was, whether honey-bees were justly classed among the grape-destroying insects, or whether they simply utilized the juices of the grape by appropriating what would otherwise have been lost after the skin of the berries had been broken by some other agency. I have up to this time been wholly unable to ascertain that they ever attack a sound, unbroken grape, and believe they have acquired this reputation only by reason of being sometimes found in bad company. The wasp is furnished with a powerful and efficient saw-toothed cutting apparatus, with which the grape could be easily abraded; but this is entirely wanting in the honey-bee, whose organs seem only suited to the suction of liquid substances. Grapes are often burst by over-crowding on the stems, especially if rainy weather succeeding a drought occurs about the time of ripening, and wasps and other insects will then be found abundant among the vines."

POULTRY LICE.—Carbolic soap will certainly kill lice on fowls or chickens. We use Buchan's. Dissolve half an ounce in a quart of boiling water; when cool, wet their heads and necks with it. The lice die in an instant, and in half an hour the chickens are as dry and nice as ever. To clean soiled plumage, confine the fowl in a small coop and cover the bottom with dry, clean sand at least six inches deep; the fowl will clean itself.—Iowa Homestead.

AYER'S PURGATIVE PILLS.

For all the purposes of a Family Physic,

CURING

Costiveness, Jaundice, Dyspepsia, Indigestion, Dysentery, Foul Stomach, Erysipelas, Headache, Piles, Rheumatism, Eruptions and Skin Diseases, Biliousness, Liver Complaint, Dropsy, Tetter, Tumors and Salt Rheum, Worms, Gout, Neuralgia, as a Dinner Pill, and Purifying the Blood,

Are the most congenial purgative yet perfected. Their effects abundantly show how much they excel all other Pills. They are safe and pleasant to take, but powerful to cure. They purge out the foul humors of the blood; they stimulate the sluggish or disordered organ into action, and they impart health and tone to the whole being. They cure not only the every day complaints of every body, but formidable and dangerous diseases. Most eminent clergymen, most skillful physicians, and our best citizens send certificates of cures performed, and of great benefits they have derived from these Pills. They are the safest and best physic for children, because mild as well as effectual. Being sugar coated, they are easy to take; and being purely vegetable, they are entirely harmless.

The Grand Gift Concert

A FIXED FACT.

September 28th the Day.

Your Tickets Now or Never!

THE vast sale of tickets already made, and the increasing demand for them from all quarters having determined the Trustees that the GRAND GIFT CONCERT for the benefit of the PUBLIC LIBRARY OF KENTUCKY, advertised for SATURDAY, SEPT. 28, 1872, shall positively come off on that day without postponement, the management now notifies all who expect to participate in the drawing that they should buy their tickets at once. Delay for a few days consuming may wanted tickets at the concert in December last to go without them. Some living in Louisville waited until sales were closed, expecting, no doubt, a postponement, and then offered fifteen, twenty, and even twenty-five dollars for tickets which the day before were offered to purchasers at the regular price. Others living at a distance sent thousands of dollars by mail and express, which got here after sales were closed, and had to be sent back. These disappointments need not occur again, if the warning now given in due season is heeded.

The drawing will begin precisely at 6 o'clock Saturday morning, September 28, 1872, in the great hall of the Public Library building, and continue until the one thousand gifts are all drawn.

The Concert itself will be the most brilliant orchestral display that ever occurred in the West. One hundred performers, gathered from all parts of this country and from Europe, under the direction of Prof. Hast, will contribute to this grand musical carnival. And to afford ample room for every ticket-holder to enjoy such an unusual musical festival, the Concert will be given in Central Park, where arrangements have been made to accommodate all who may come.

Persons holding whole, half or quarter tickets, will be admitted to both the Concert and Drawing, and none without such tickets will be admitted to either.

PRICE OF TICKETS.

Whole Tickets $10; halves, $5; quarters, $2 50; 11 Whole tickets for $100; 28 for $255; 56 for $500; 113 for $1,000; 285 for $2,500; 575 for $5000. No discount on less than $100 worth of tickets at a time.

In accordance with numerous solicitations arrangements have been made with all the railroad and steamboat lines leading into the city for the sale of round-trip tickets, good for six days to all persons who may wish to attend the Concert or drawing. Such tickets will be furnished by the Louisville & Nashville Railroad; the Louisville, Cincinnati and Lexington Railroad; the Louisville, Indianapolis and Madison Railroad; the Ohio and Mississippi Railroad; the Louisville and Cincinnati Mail Road Line, and the Louisville, Owensboro and Henderson Mail Line Packets.

All agents are required to close sales and make their returns in full time to reach this office by Thursday, September 23. To do this successfully, those located at great distances must close some days before the 26th.

All tickets to which gifts are awarded, will be paid without discount, by the Farmers' and Drovers' Bank, either in currency, or by sight-draft upon the Fourth National Bank of New York, at option of the holder. The ticket must first be presented at this office, Room No. 4, Public Library Building, before they will be paid by the Bank.

The drawing will be published in the Louisville Papers and New York Herald, and official copies sent to purchasers to whom tickets have been sent by letter.

VEGETINE

The Great Blood Purifier.

A valuable Indian compound, for restoring the health, and for the permanent cure of all diseases arising from impurities of the blood, such as Scrofula Scrofulous Humors, Cancers, Cancerous Humor Erysipelas, Canker, Salt Rheum, Pimples and Humors on the Face, Ulcers, Coughs, Catarrh, Bronchitis, Neuralgia, Pains in the Side, Rheumatism, Dyspepsia, Constipation, Costiveness, Dizziness, Piles, Headache, Nervousness, Faintness at the Stomach Pains in the Back, Kidney Complaints Female Weakness, and General Debility.

This preparation is scientifically and chemically combined, and so strongly concentrated from roots, herbs and barks, that its good effects are realized immediately after commencing to take it. There is no disease of the human system for which the VEGETINE cannot be used with PERFECT SAFETY, as it does not contain any metallic compound. For eradicating the system of all impurities of the blood, it has no equal. It has never failed to effect a cure, giving tone and strength to the system debilitated by disease. Its wonderful effects upon these complaints are surprising to all. Many have been cured by the VEGETINE that have tried many other remedies. It may well be called

AYER'S

CHERRY PECTORAL

For Diseases of the Throat and Lungs, such as Coughs, Colds, Whooping Cough, Bronchitis, Asthma and Consumption.

The few compositions, which have won the confidence of mankind and become household words among not only one but many nations, must have extraordinary virtues. Perhaps no one ever secured so wide a reputation or maintained it so long as AYER'S CHERRY PECTORAL. It has been known to the public about forty years, by a long continued series of marvellous cures, which have won for it a confidence in its virtues, never equalled by any other medicines. It still makes the most effectual cures of Coughs, Colds, Consumption, that can be made by medical skill. Indeed the CHERRY PECTORAL has really robbed these dangerous diseases of their terrors, to a great extent, and given a feeling of immunity from their fatal effects, which is well founded, if the remedy be taken in season. Every family should have it in their closet for the ready and prompt relief of its members. Sickness, suffering, and even life is saved by this timely protection. The prudent should not neglect it, and the wise will not. Keep it by you for the protection it affords in sudden attacks, and by its timely use.

AMERICAN & FOREIGN PATENTS.

R. H. EDDY,
SOLICITOR OF PATENTS,
For Inventions, Trade Marks or Designs,
No. 76 STATE ST., OPPOSITE KILBY ST., BOSTON,

After an extensive practice of upwards of thirty years, continues to secure patents in the United States; also in Great Britain, France and other foreign countries. Caveats, Specifications, Assignments, and all papers for Patents, executed on reasonable terms with dispatch. Research made to determine the validity and utility of Patents of inventions, and legal and other advice rendered in all matters touching the same. Copies of the claims of any patent furnished, by remitting one dollar. Assignments recorded in Washington.

No Agency in the United States possesses superior facilities for obtaining Patents or ascertaining the patentability of inventions.

All necessity of a journey to Washington to procure a Patent and the usual great delay there, are here saved inventors.

TESTIMONIALS.

"I regard Mr. Eddy as one of the most capable and successful practitioners with whom I have had official intercourse. CHARLES MASON, Commissioner of Patents."

"I have no hesitation in assuring inventors that they cannot employ a man more competent and trustworthy and more capable of putting their applications in a form to secure for them an early and favorable consideration at the Patent Office. EDMUND BURKE, Late Commissioner of Patents."

"MR. R. H. EDDY has made for me over THIRTY applications for Patents, having been successful in almost every case. Such unmistakable proof of great talent and ability on his part leads me to recommend ALL inventors to apply to him to procure their Patents, as they may be sure of having the most faithful attention bestowed on their cases, and at very reasonable charges. JOHN TAGGART."

BRIGGS' ALLEVANTOR is composed of Ammonia, Chloroform, Spirits of Camphor, Tincture of Lupuline, Oil of Juniper, and Alcohol. This compound is unequalled in the annals of medicine for the cure of Nervous or Sick Headache, Neuralgia, Trembling or Twitching of the Nerves, and all Nervous Diseases. It will counteract all poisons, banish pimples, cure scaly eruptions, itching, humors, &c.; it equalizes the circulation, invigorates the system, increases the action of the heart, without exciting the brain, cures Heartburn, Palpitation and Fluttering of the Heart, Dyspepsia, &c. Briggs' Allevantor absolutely possesses more curative properties than any other preparation. Physicians, chemists, and others are requested to examine and test the remedy, and $1000 will be paid if found different from representation.

COUCHS. Much has been said and written, and many remedies have been offered for the relief and cure of throat and lung diseases; but nothing has been so eminently successful, or obtained such a wide celebrity, as Briggs' Throat and Lung Healer.

CORNS! The excruciating pain produced by Corns, the nauseating twinging from Bunions, the piercing, distressing pain from Ingrowing Nails, cannot be described. Thousands suffer, not knowing there is a cure. Briggs' Corn and Bunion Remedies are no acid or potash compounds, but are reliable, soothing, and effectual, and just merit the success they have earned from an appreciative public. The Curative is a healing ointment; immediate relief is obtained by its application, and it will positively cure the worst cases of Festered Corns, Inflamed and Ulcerated Bunions, the most intense, the largest and severest Blisters, the most extensive Callosities on the soles or heels of the feet, unequalled in the cure of Chilblains or Frosted Feet. The Allevantor for ordinary corns and preventing their formation is absolutely unexcelled by anything ever known.

PILES have been a terror to mankind for centuries, and almost every attempt to cure them has been baffled. By unceasing study and experimenting, Dr. Briggs has discovered an absolutely cure for internal, bleeding, external, and itching piles. Briggs' Pile Remedies are mild, safe and sure.

For sale by J. H. THACHER, WM. R. PRESTON, Portsmouth; JAMES O. TREFETHEN, Kittery; E. S. SANFORD, Kittery Point; H. M. CURTIS, Newcastle, and dealers generally.

AYER'S HAIR VIGOR

FOR RESTORING GRAY HAIR

TO ITS NATURAL VITALITY AND COLOR.

Advancing years, sickness, care, disappointment, and hereditary predisposition, all turn the hair gray; either of them disposes to fall off prematurely, and either effect is unsightly and unpleasant to behold. DR. AYER'S compound is still has a place as the antidote for these deformities, which has won gratitude for him from multitudes of men and women. His HAIR VIGOR promotes new growth, restores hair and always restores to faded and gray hair its natural color, with the gloss and freshness of youth. The comparatively few bald and gray heads, that we see, are those who have not yet discovered the virtues of AYER'S HAIR VIGOR for renewing the hair. The fresh and youthful hair we see on older heads is often the product of his art. If you are disgfured, or made old, austere and ugly, by gray hair, restore its youthful color, and with your features to their original sociness and agreeable expression.

As an elegant dressing for beautifying the Hair, it has no superior.

Life is Passing.

Life is passing, Oh! be active
For there's little time for fight,
Use your strength and give your manhood
For the noble and the right.

Life is passing, oh! my brother,
Help the weaker ones who fall
For there soon will come a message
Which will summon each and all,

And before our Maker standing
We must give account of life;
Life is passing, be more manlike,
Be more Christ-like in the strife.

Life is passing, oh! improve it,
These few years which have been given,
So that when the Master calleth,
We can feel that we have striven

For the pure and for the noble,
That your Christian lamp burns bright,
And that oar against the river,
All is beautiful and light.

FARLEY NORTH.

Political.

The Nebraska Press says "the Cleveland Greeleyites have refused to pay the expenses of the hundred guns fired over the North Carolina election, and evince a desire to go into bankruptcy."

"Silence is golden," says the proverb, but "speech is greenbacks," says the Schurz.

The Cincinnati Commercial again expounds the situation, as it understands it, to the bewildered Democratic mind: "The truth is, the Democrats must make choice between two Republicans—that is to say, if the President can be called a Republican. If they are not persuaded that Greeley would make a better President than Grant, we are not aware that there is any reason in the world why they should vote for him. If they think that Grant would make a better President than Greeley, they should on all accounts vote for him."

Says the Springfield Republican: There is not, and never can be hereafter, any "democratic party," so far as its past history and antecedents are concerned. It is totally and forever defunct. That fact the democrats know themselves, and rejoice in it with "joy unspeakable."

A Massachusetts orator was unkind enough to remark after hearing General Banks express his sorrow that General Grant had ever received a present: "As regards receiving presents, the liberal party found no fault with the present of $14,000 made to General Banks by the merchants of Boston.

NEATLY PUT.—Judge L. Crounse, the Republican candidate for Congress in Nebraska, has consented to meet Col. J. F. Warner, the Greeleyite nominee, on the stump in that State. In his reply he pointedly says:

"Your challenge seems to be modelled after a form out of date in this campaign. You propose a discussion of 'All questions of national and State policy.' In the Liberal speeches I have heard and read, there has been so little discussion of principles and so much of abuse of the President, that I shall be disappointed to find that you have expressed exactly what you mean. But, whether to discuss the questions suggested, or to defend the President, I shall be most happy to meet you at the times and places already fixed for me, and divide the time with you."

ACCIDENTS on the Boston & Maine R R. are becoming quite frequent; recently a train was thrown from the track at Lawrence, and a smoking car containing eighteen persons was overturned and rested on its roof. Several persons were injured, and others escaped mutilation and death only by chance. What is the cause of these accidents? The report of that referred to above, states that it was occasioned by a defect in a "frog," which would have been repaired had proper care been observed in keeping the track in order.

The Superintendent, Mr. Merrilt, is in Europe and cannot of course attend to the details now, but there should be in his place some one energetic and competent enough to keep the track in such good repair as to prevent such accidents as that at Lawrence. Travellers cannot afford to risk their lives on a road where there is evidence of carelessness in important details.

The notoriously shabby cars on this road may have something to do with these accidents and are additional evidence that the Maine Railroad does not occupy the high position that it did formerly.—Boston News.

—There is a man living on the Walnut river, in Kansas, who says he is about to suffocate for want of air. The corn is growing so tall that it shuts off all the breeze. He wants to employ a good marksman to shoot the ears off the stalk; thinks it would be cheaper than to rig a scaffolding for gathering the corn.

The Daily Chronicle,

Portsmouth, N. H.

MONDAY, SEPTEMBER 23, 1872.

Horace Speaks.

The Presidential candidate of the Dolly Vardens, having failed to find the "home of his youth" in his swing around the circle through New Hampshire and Maine, has been touring through the Middle and Western States in search of it. At Pittsburg, Pa., he spoke; and if he would only do as well in every place he visits as he did there, Gen. Kilpatrick would soon lose the proud distinction he has won of being able to make more Republican voters in a given time than any other stump speaker in either party. Horace's speechmaking does not offend his political opponents; they rather like it. His painful exhibition of childish egotism, in the press-room of the Boston Coliseum, was an annoyance only to his political friends; and his civil-service-reform speech at Portland, in which he bid high for the Democratic vote by intimating that he should divide the offices fairly between his party friends, neither won him a victory in Maine nor disheartened a single Republican. Now he has spoken at Pittsburg; and if "whom the gods would destroy they first make mad," then there must exist among the gods a relentless determination to destroy Mr. Greeley, for he was evidently shock full of mad at the recent convention of soldiers and sailors, and scolded them after the fashion of an elderly lady whose fish-stand has been capsized. He said:

The city of Pittsburg has recently witnessed a rehearsal of the pomp and pageantry, the blazonry and circumstance of civil war. A very large number of men were collected here at a vast expense with the single purpose of rekindling the bitterness, the hatred, the animosities, the antipathies, the fears and exultations of civil war for the advantage of a political party. I take you to witness that the greater portion of the journals of Pittsburg, as well as the orators on the occasion, have been trying their best to make us, the people, to hate each other for the sake of partisan advantage.

This terrible gathering—this "very large number of men," was composed of soldiers and sailors who fought for the Union when Mr. Greeley's present friends, were attempting to destroy it. They met, as citizens of the United States, to declare their preference for a chief magistrate; so it seems that Mr. Greeley looks upon any movement of the men who stood between the nation and destruction during the war, looking towards influencing its legislation in time of peace, as an outrage on humanity, a needless scratching of the sensibilities of his ex-rebel friends, and something to be denounced in the bitterest terms. Before we read Mr. Greeley's speech, we always considered that if any one class of men had more right than another to be consulted on national affairs, it was the men who fought to save the nation; but Mr. Greeley's idea seems to be that having fought for the country should debar a man from asserting his rights as a citizen, in political affairs. This is clasping hands across the bloody chasm with a vengeance.—when the chief hand-clasper assumes that the only men who have rights are the ex-rebels. Possibly the fact that the citizen-warriors of the Union preferred Grant to Greeley, for a President, may have had something to do with the latter's disgust. But Mr. Greeley, a "reformer," should not have plagiarized "us, the people," as he evidently did, for the famous pronunciaments of the Three Tailors of Tooley Street commenced with "We, the People." As a historian, Mr. Greeley proved in his Pittsburg speech that he could beat Sylvanus Cobb, Jr. He said:

We demanded of our adversaries in the great civil war, that they surrender their arms and go their homes. They surrendered them.

That was probably what took Mr. Greeley to the Niagara conference—to demand that the rebels should surrender their arms and go home. He says further:

We demanded that they enfranchise the blacks; they are enfranchised. We demanded that they stipulate that the emancipated slaves shall not be paid for, and that the rebel debt shall never be paid by the Government or States. They assented to that.

We always thought it was the Union men, and not "our adversaries in the great civil war," who enfranchised the blacks; and we had an idea that Mr. Greeley was one "we" who advocated that the emancipated slaves should be paid for, to the tune of $400,000,000. As to the ex-rebels having assented to the stipulation that the slaves shall not be paid for and that the rebel debt shall never be paid, the ex-rebels themselves sturdily repudiate having made any such compact. Mr. Greeley further said:

It is maintained that there are this day thousands of people of Arkansas alone, probably the most intelligent and responsible people of that State, forbidden to exercise the right of suffrage—forbidden exclusively by the party that meets here and shouts for Grant and Wilson.

As the entire political disability of the South rests on less than five hundred persons, and on them only to the extent of their being excluded from office, no one being deprived of the right to vote by the United States laws, Mr. Greeley must have intended to convey the idea that the Ku-Klux, which does deprive thousands of the right of suffrage, is a Grant and Wilson institution. Mr. Greeley refused to accept the title of secessionist, and by way of explaining his "go-in-peace" policy and proving his loyalty to the Union, he said:

I demanded that there should be open, free discussion before the Southern people, and an honest, unterrified, unconstrained vote, and if they approve, if the people of the South say they want disunion I will consent to it; I know they will not. I know the Southern people, the great majority of them, would have voted as they actually did that winter, not for secession, but for clinging to the Union, and now to-day, if the nation were to be imperiled and there were just two modes of saving it—to trust to the chances of civil war or to the chances of a free, fair vote of the Southern people, I would very greatly prefer to take the latter chance rather than the former.

And Mr. Greeley not only shone as a loyalist and historian, in his Pittsburg speech, but he gushed. This is the way he did it:

How I have sympathized with Pittsburg, how I have rejoiced in her prosperity, how I have wondered at and admired her magnificent growth, you surely do know. No place on this continent has been dearer to me than Pittsburg.

From this we should imagine he has at last found the "home of his youth" and the "playmates of his childhood." Altogether, Mr. Greeley's Pittsburg speech, if correctly given in the papers, was a remarkable affair, and proves that the Republicans could not lay out money to better advantage than in hiring him to stump the country in his own behalf. On one point only Mr. Greeley forgot to enlighten his hearers; he forgot to say, if a horse-thief was to break into the Chappaqua stable and steal a horse, and was to be caught and forgiven by Mr. Greeley, whether or not he would think it necessary and wise to mark his forgiveness by presenting the horse-thief with the key of the stable, particularly if he would not acknowledge that he was sorry for stealing the horse but only regretted being caught.

What Next?

What will the partizan "reformers" of politics and hand-claspers across bloody chasms trump up next, in the shape of slander against the administration and its supporters? The "Credit Mobilier" slush-bucket, first handed out by the New York Sun, passed around by the Tribune, and dabbled in by all the lesser filth-throwers of the coalition press, has been capsized and had the bottom kicked out. It has been just the same with every other mare's nest discovered by the "reformers," but the stock seems to be inexhaustible; and the question now is, not "will the Greeleyeratic advocates of purity trump up another false charge, knowing it to be false?" but "what will their next slander be?"

The Sun, on the authority of one McCoomb, the Tribune, on the authority of the Sun, and the smaller fry of the Greeley press, in humble imitation of their great exemplars, have howled loud and long over certain shares of Credit Mobilier stock which McCoomb swore were presented to certain Congressmen by Oakes Ames, to influence legislation in behalf of the Pacific Railroad. Senator Wilson, Speaker Blaine, Vice President Colfax, Representative Dawes and others were named as having been thus bribed, and a letter from Mr. Ames, with their names written on its back, has been brought forward to prove the charge. Some of the Greeley papers undertake to make capital out of the slight notice paid to these charges by the Republican papers; but the latter care too little for the effect of the slanders of Charles A. Dana and the Tribune to pay much attention to refuting them. The gentlemen accused, however, have promptly and indignantly denied the charge; and Oakes Ames, in a letter to his constituents, shows that every one of the slanders against him were nothing but revamped stories that had long since been exploded. All the executive officers of the company and several of the largest stockholders, including Mr. Ames, had already answered the charges under oath, and their answers are on file, as was perfectly well known to the infamous libellers who revived the slanders for political effect. The suit was brought by McCoomb, a companion of the late James Fisk, Jr., for the purpose of obtaining blackmail. The Sun, which (now in connection with the Tribune) is engaged in the dirty work of slandering gentlemen of the highest reputation, was not very long since exposed by Mr. Greeley's organ as being in league with Tweed and his ring and receiving a regular salary from them for doing their work. Mr. Ames says:

The charges referred to, made against me and some of my associates in Congress, with others equally false against the Company, were first made by Henry S. McCoomb in a suit against the Credit Mobilier in the State of Pennsylvania, for the purpose of obtaining money wrongfully from the Company, as every one of the officers and stockholders believed then and now. All the Executive officers of the company and several of its largest stockholders, including myself, have answered in said suit, long since, under oath, that the charges were entirely false,—that not a single share of the stock of that Company was ever given to any member of Congress, directly or indirectly by me or any one else, to my knowledge. I now reiterate and reaffirm the statement with the further declaration that I never gave a share of stock of that or any other company, directly or indirectly to any member of Congress.

The sworn answers of myself and these other gentlemen, made and filed in the same suit, lying side by side in the same record, could have been published with the charges, had it suited the political purposes of the New York Sun. I am willing to place the sworn declarations of any one of these individuals of the highest character and reputation against the affidavits of McCoomb, wherever he is well known, with no fear of an adverse opinion of the integrity of any one of them as against him. And the list of names given by McCoomb, as endorsed on my letter, and published, were written by himself, as he stated, when under oath, in the hearing in Pennsylvania.

Perhaps I ought to add, all the legislation ever asked for in aid of the construction of the Pacific Railroad was granted years before these alleged transactions. The last act of Congress in aid of that road was passed in 1864, nor has anything been asked for excepting the removal of the office of the company from New York to Boston to avoid the blackmailing suits of James Fisk, Jr., and McCoomb in Judge Barnard's Court.

A long time after the act of Congress amended in 1864 in aid of the Pacific Railroad was passed, the road being in great danger of breaking down, I was urged to aid in its construction, which I consented to do, and never since I had any connection with it or thought of being connected with its construction, has Congress granted any aid or been asked to. I did not own a share of stock until 1866, and this charge that a distribution of the stock of the Credit Mobilier in 1868 bribed members of Congress to procure the passage of an act in 1864 is too absurd to be credited.

Mr. Greeley's organ responds on Mr. Ames' letter as follows—

Mr. Oakes Ames denies. Nothing is more natural. The man accused of bribery always pleads not guilty; and, whenever he is half a dozen grades above an idiot, he is sure, if guilty, to have covered his tracks so well that nothing is harder than to prove him so. But this is not a case for newspaper denials; but for sworn testimony, under rigid cross examination. The charges are not those of a newspaper. They are transcripts of legal proceedings, documents proved in court, and sworn testimony, sifted by opposing lawyers. They are not fairly met by the inevitable plea of "not guilty;" they can only be met by rebutting testimony of equal weight.

So it seems that in the Tribune's opinion the "sworn testimony" of many reputable witnesses, coupled with the indignant denials of the eminent and honorable men traduced, cannot be considered as "testimony of equal weight" with the statements of a worthy companion of the late James Fisk Jr. In agreeable contrast with the vindictive misrepresentation of the Tribune, is the following paragraph from the leading Greeley paper in New England, the Springfield Republican:

No sane man supposes that Colfax or Patterson, or Boutwell has stained his hands with a bribe. No sane man supposed anything of the sort of Dawes, Wilson, or Garfield. No just man has ever hinted a doubt or suspicion on that head. The American people have known the character of these men too long and too well. Character has not yet lost its value in this country. If any political journals have permitted themselves to pretend doubt and simulate suspicion, so much the worse for them.

According to the Republican, the editors of nearly all the Greeley papers in the country are unjust men, and either insane or liars. If Honest Horace was only in his old editorial chair, wouldn't he call them liars and horse-thieves! No one need be simple enough to wonder if the Greeley puritans will retract this (or any other) slander, for they won't; they will reiterate it in the face of evidence that it is but a slander, or will quietly let it drop and seek to cover it up with a still bigger one.

Political.

It is reported that Charles O'Conor has written a letter to a member of the Straight Democratic Committee, accepting the nomination of the Louisville Convention. Mr. C. P. Sykes, one of the leaders of the movement, says that O'Conor uses these words in his letter: "I do accept the Louisville nomination."

The Illinois straight-out Democrats have nominated a full electoral ticket and a candidate for governor.

The Beaver (Pa.) Conservative, hitherto for Greeley and Brown, has hauled down that flag and run up one for O'Conor and Adams.

The New York Day Book has deserted the Baltimore nominees and indorsed O'Conor.

Greeley is coming West, says the Missouri Democrat, with his little chasm to visit "the doubtful States." He will, therefore, spend some time in Kentucky, and then go back to Delaware. Grant can carry all the other States without his assistance.

THE NEW ENGLAND FAIR A FINANCIAL SUCCESS.—The total number of single tickets which were sold at the New England Fair at Lowell, as appears by the books of the Treasurer of the Society, amounted to $55,312. The number of season tickets was 532, and the number of carriage tickets was 1910. The total receipts of the fair amounted to about $28,713.35. The fair was the most successful, financially, of any which has been given by the Society. The receipts of the fair at Lowell in 1871 amounted to $25,743.20, and the receipts of the fair at Manchester in 1870 amounted to $27,560.36.

USE BUCHMAN'S PULMOCINE CORDIAL for all throat diseases. For sale at the Union Store.

THE LATEST SWINDLE.—Certain sanctimonious charlatans would fain persuade the world that diffusive stimulants have no medicinal value, and that destestable slops, composed of griping acids and drastic purgatives, are better tonics than the finest vegetable ingredients combined with the purest and mellowiest products of the still. But this sort of thing won't go down. The stomach of our common sense rejects it, as the physical stomach of every man with an undepraved palate rejects, with loathing and abhorrence, the nauseous abominations, "free from alcohol," which Humbugs are trying to thrust down the throats of Temperance Invalids under the pretense that the filth will do them good? It is not likely that while PLANTATION BITTERS, the Standard Tonic of America, is anywhere accessible, such sickening frauds can make headway, but it is as well to put the public on their guard against them.

THE THIEF who was arrested for robbing Parsons' store in this town, was found to have a quantity of Ayer's Hair Vigor in his possession. When asked why he wished to steal that article, he answered that he "wanted to restore his hair, for it was hard to be a thief and bald too." If that invention of the great chemist could restore a faded character as effectually as it does their natural beauty to bald and grey heads, it would surely be, as they say it now is, truly invaluable.—Lewiston (Me.) Journal.

HE IS TRULY A STUMP SPEAKER, Who, when talking, exhibits a mouthful of stumps. If you would keep your dental fixtures in perfect talking order, use the fragrant SOZODONT daily; the recipe is simple but sure.

SOUR STOMACH.—If the food taken into the stomach is not digested it decomposes. In the latter case a pungent acid is developed which causes sour eructations or else the stomach itself secretes an acid, which rising upward at intervals stings the gullet sharply. These extremely disagreeable sensations are attributable to impaired digestion To get rid of them, or prevent their recurrence, it is only necessary to tone and regulate the gastric organs with Hostetter's Bitters. It will not answer to postpone the great corrective with the idea that the unpleasant symptoms will disappear of themselves. So far from that being the case, they almost invariably culminate, if neglected, in chronic dyspepsia, with its concomitants of gnawing in the stomach, dizziness, perverted vision, headache, and sleeplessness. It is true that all disagreeables may be obviated by a course of the Bitters; but how much wiser to anticipate their arrival with one or two doses of that sure preventive of indigestion and strengthener of the alimentary organs.

CASTORIA.—A substitute for Castor Oil—is a physic which does not distress or gripe, but is sure to operate when all other remedies have failed. You may confidently rely upon the Castoria in Stomach-ache, Constipation, Flatulency, Croup, Worms, Piles or deranged Liver. It contains neither Minerals, Morphine, Opium nor Alcohol, but is purely a vegetable preparation, perfectly harmless, and above all, pleasant to take. The Castoria soothes and quiets the system, and produces natural sleep. It is a wonderful thing to assimilate the food of children and prevent them from crying. A 35 cent bottle will do the work for a family and save many doctors' bills.

HOLLOWAY'S OINTMENT.—Sore leg and all ulcers, eruptions, and injuries of the flesh, heal kindly and swiftly under the operation of the Ointment, and the Pills by their gentle aperient action, assist the cure. Sold 78 Maiden Lane, N. Y. Price 25 cents per pot. Ask for new style; the old is counterfeited.

USE BUCHMAN'S PULMOCINE CORDIAL for all throat diseases. For sale at the Union Store.

PILES.—The unceasing torture from internal bleeding, external and itching piles is fast wearing away the thousands of those who are afflicted and their hope and courage have long since given place to despair. Let those who see this cheer up, for a mild and sure cure may be had by using BRIGGS' PILE REMEDIES.

CORNS.—Since pride and fashion have had control of mankind, and shoemakers were compelled to make boots and shoes to fit fancy instead of the feet, the suffering from Corns, Bunions, Ingrowing Nails, Sore Insteps, Blistered Heels, Callosities on the bottom of the feet, &c., cannot be described. But Briggs' Corn and Bunion Remedies will cure all such torments, and proper fitting boots will prevent their reproduction. Sold by all druggists. a12

AFTER deciding what kind of Sewing Machine to buy, the next thing to be duly considered is where to buy it. E. A. Joy who sells all kinds of Sewing Machines and Findings, is permanently located here, and has sold more Machines during the past six years than all the others together; including the nineteen who have quit the business because they could not pay expenses. He has sold nearly five hundred of one kind during the past year (the names of the purchasers will be given if desired) and has twenty other kinds to choose from. Mr. Joy seems destined to be the only Sewing Machine dealer in this vicinity. The people have learned to their sorrow that the swarm of an itinerant agent or pedlar amounts to nothing. Marriage Certificate.

The sign "Democratic Granite Club No. 10," which marked the headquarters of the Democrats in this city from the commencement of the last State-election campaign until within a few days, has given place to one bearing the inscription "Greeley and Brown Headquarters."

We are informed—we know not how correctly, not being Greeley and Brownies ourselves—that at a recent meeting of the hand-claspers' club the Democracy abdicated in favor of the "Liberals," by whom the concern will be run from now till Greeley is swamped in Salt River, is thrown overboard by his purchasers or withdraws from the canvass in favor of some one who stands some chance of making a decent contest at the polls, if such a person can be found—there being no possible chance for anybody "to beat Grant." We hope our information is correct; for as the Democrats, in States where they have decided majorities and in Democratic districts of Republican States, generously allow the "Liberals" to take back seats and vote coalition tickets bearing only the names of straight Democrats, it is but fair that where the Democrats are in a hopeless minority the "Liberals" should receive some consideration — as in Massachusetts, Vermont and Maine,—and in this city. If the "Liberals" are really put in the van of the Portsmouth Dolly Vardens, we hope they will manage to raise a company of Greybacks—surely there are enough "enthusiastic" Liberals and Democrats in this city to form one company—for street parade, as it is dull music carrying on a campaign with no opposition, and the Grant and Wilson men having organized four companies already, now think it time the Greeleycrats lend a hand (otherwise than by throwing bricks at the Guards) to make things lively. If the Greeley men do not think Horace's prospects of an election sufficiently promising to justify them in laying out three dollars each for uniforms, we have no doubt the Grant and Wilson Guards will loan them uniforms for street wear on any evening when they do not appear as an organization themselves. This is the era of good feeling and the time for clasping hands across bloody chasms.

Laconics.

The post-office in this city has been made a money order office for the German States, the arrangement to go into effect October 1st.

Mr. Jeff. C. Rowe has sued the Eastern Railroad for $35,000 damages for injuries received at the Revere accident. So say the Boston papers.

Mr. Henry R. Stoddard of this city has within a few months become sole proprietor, by purchase, of the Rockingham Trotting Park, near this city, he covenanting with the late owners to keep the premises for the same uses as heretofore for at least ten years. The Park is a fine one, and cost $8000 to $10,000. Mr. Stoddard will in due season, we are informed, offer a series of purses for two days' trotting on his track Oct. 9th and 10th prox.

From the Portsmouth Journal.

—Rev. Mr. DeNormandie with the pastor of the Dover Society, are to represent the New Hampshire Unitarian Association at the National Convention of the Unitarian Churches. This Convention meets but once in two years, and is to be holden in Boston next month.

—According to foreign journals received, Miss Annie M. Bernard, formerly of this city, who is pronounced "a noble American candidate for musical honors" and who is now studying vocal music in Italy, has already won distinction in appearing in opera. Miss Bernard will remain in Italy about a year longer to complete her studies.

—The frescoing of the ceiling of the North Church has been completed, and workmen commenced on Thursday to take down the staging preparatory to finishing the walls. As far as completed the work is really elegant in design and finish, reflecting great credit upon the artists employed. It is expected that by Thursday next the interior will be ready for inspection.

—Workmen are now engaged on the Eastern Railroad in putting up the apparatus and wires for the new magnetic safety signals which are being adopted by this road. These wires are to be connected in the depot with alarm bells, which are to be struck by electricity as trains approach from either direction. At Salem we noticed eighteen of these wires pass through the tunnel. These signals will be among the greatest safety improvements adopted by this road.

—New Hampshire Lodge, No 17, I. O. O. F., of this city, have received an invitation from the Essex and Fraternity Lodges of Salem to become their guests on the 15th of October, on which day they propose to parade in the afternoon with the Salem Brass Band, concluding with a supper and a dance and promenade concert at Hamilton Hall in the evening. The invitation will doubtless be accepted. The Portsmouth Lodge a few weeks since extended similar courtesies to the Odd Fellows of Salem, and this return of the attention will no doubt be taken hold of with spirit.

—On Saturday last Mr. John P. Weeks of Greenland (Bay Side) delivered to Mr. Benj. F. Webster, in this city, a load of 1400 feet of pine boards, all cut from one log. Besides this lot, the tree from which it was cut made about 1500 feet of lumber. It was one of three trees purchased from the farm of Mr. Weeks by Mr. Webster, the entire amount of lumber cut from all of which was 6,194 feet. The age of this tree, according to the rings upon the sawed end of the stump, was 200 years. It was probably the largest tree standing anywhere in this vicinity; and it is doubtful if there will ever again be raised one as large. The trees now standing will not be suffered to grow to old age and large size, but will have to succumb to the progress of improvement.

400 OF THE SINGERS
Failing to Supply the Constant Demand.
All other machines call the public attention to some new loop or stitch or tension or finish, some advantage in running or needles or feed or prices —and many of these are as we have said very good points, and the agents selling them use them to divert entirely the would-be purchaser from fairly considering the facts in the case; but the
seems to unite the good qualities of all, and is never found wanting.
THE SINGER

SEWING MACHINE
IN THE MARKET,
All others being copied from its first model. It does two-thirds the sewing done in this country and preserves its advantages over all others combined.
It is really kept clean, and has THE BEST TENSION EVER INVENTED; it is higher speeded and requires but little power to run; it works equally well upon the finest and heaviest goods; it does all the varieties of work known to the art.

Morning Chronicle.

Mark Twain in London.

Mark Twain was entertained at dinner by the Whitefriar's club, London, at the Mitre Tavern, on the evening of August 6. In reply to the toast in his honor, Mark thus spoke:

Gentlemen: I thank you very heartily indeed for this expression of kindness towards me. What I have done for England and civilization in the arduous affairs which I have engaged in—that is good—that is so smooth that I will say it again and again, what I have done for England and for civilization in the arduous part I have performed, I have done with a single hearted devotion and with no hope of reward. I am proud that it was reserved for me to find Dr. Livingstone, and for Mr. Stanley to get all the credit. (Laughter.)

I hunted for that man in Africa all over seventy-five or one hundred parishes. Thousands and thousands of miles in the wilds and deserts, all over the place, sometimes riding negroes and sometimes traveling by rail. I didn't mind the rail or anything else, so that I didn't run in for the tar and feathers. I found that man at Ujiji—a place you may remember, if you have ever been there—and it was a very great satisfaction that I found him just in the nick of time. I found that poor old man deserted by his nigers and by his geographers, deserted by all of his kind except the gorillas—dejected, miserable, famishing, absolutely famishing; but he was eloquent. Just as I found him he had eaten his last elephant, and he said to me, 'God knows where I shall get another.' He had nothing to wear except his venerable and honorable naval suit, and nothing to eat but his diary.

But I said to him, 'It is all right, I have discovered you, and Stanley will be here by the 4 o'clock train and will discover you officially, and then we will turn to and have a reg'ler good time.' I said, 'Cheer up, for Stanley has got corn, ammunition, glass beads, hymn books, whiskey, and everything which the human heart can desire; he has got all kinds of valuables, including telegraph poles and a few cartloads of money. By this time communication has been made with the land of Bibles and civilization, and property will advance.' And then we surveyed all that country from Ujiji, through Unanogo and other places, to Unyanyembe.

I mention these names simply for your edification, nothing more—do not expect it—particularly as intelligence to the Royal Geographical Society. (Roars of laughter.) And then, having filled up the old man, we were all too full for utterance, and departed. We have since then feasted on honors. Stanley has received a snuff box and I have received considerable snuff; he has got to write a book and gather in the rest of the credit, and I am going to levy on the copyright and to collect the money. Nothing comes amiss to me—cash or credit; but, seriously, I do feel that Stanley is the chief man, and an illustrious one, and I do applaud him with all my heart.

Whether he is an American or a Welshman by birth, or one, or both, matters not to me. So far as I am personally concerned, I am simply here to stay a few months, and to see English people and to learn English manners and customs, and to enjoy myself; so the simplest thing I can do is to thank you for the toast you have honored me with and for the remarks you have made, and to wish health and prosperity to the Whitefriars Club, and to sink down to my accustomed level. (Cheers.)

GEN. GRANT'S ANTE-WAR VIEWS.—On the authority of the late Major Mace, of Lafayette, Ind., with whom Grant stopped over Sunday when on his way to accept the Colonelcy of the Illinois Twenty-first Regiment, tendered him by Gov. Yates, the Springfield Journal relates the following:

"During the entertainment, the negro being the subject of warm discussion, an Ohio officer, whose name we omit, (for he afterward performed patriotic service,) said that, should he have command of an army in a slave State, drawn up in a line of battle, with a rebel force in front of him, about to begin the fight, and the slaves should rise in insurrection against their masters, he would suspend the battle, and unite with the rebel army in suppressing the revolt. To this Col. Grant in a quiet, delicate voice, replied that, while reluctant to give offence or wound the feelings of a brother officer, he must say that a man who could express such a sentiment was not far from being a traitor! A belligerent scene followed, which required all the tact of Major Mace and his other guests to compose. This fact was related in our hearing, by Major Mace, just after the close of the war, in familiar illustration of the changes of opinion which the war brought about, and long before Gen. Grant was thought of for President.

—Poor but dishonest young boys fasten wrought nails to the end of strings, and harpoon sweet potatoes and apples from their hiding places in front of the stores. This may be considered sport, but it is the first step in the downward road to Congress.—Danbury News.

—A grocer being solicited to contribute to the building of a new church, promptly subscribed his name to the paper in the following manner: "John Jones (the only place in town where you can get 11 pounds of good sugar for a dollar) 25 cents."

—M. Davergier de Haurasne the younger has made haste into print to deny the soft impeachment of his engagement to Miss Nellie Grant.

—Fifty-four out of sixty-nine Chinamen wrecked on the island of Formosa recently afforded a good meal to the immediate inhabitants of that coast who are now doubtless prepared to give an opinion on Celestial victuals.

—A young Connecticut lady was lately taken aback when her swain got upon his knees before her and read a declaration of love which he had nicely written off.

—Three persons died in Crockett County, Ky., recently, after drinking coffee from a pot into which a box of matches had fallen.

AYER'S PURGATIVE PILLS.

For all the purposes of a Family Physic, CURING Costiveness, Jaundice, Dyspepsia, Indigestion, Dysentery, Foul Stomach, Erysipelas, Headache, Piles, Rheumatism, Eruptions and Skin Diseases, Biliousness, Liver Complaint, Dropsy, Tetter, Tumors and Salt Rheum, Worms, Gout, Neuralgia, as a Dinner Pill, and Purifying the Blood.

Are the most congenial purgative yet perfected. Their effects abundantly show how much they excel all other Pills. They are safe and pleasant to take, but powerful to cure. They purge out the foul humors of the blood; they stimulate the sluggish or disordered organ into action, and they impart health and tone to the whole being. They cure not only the every day complaints of every body, but formidable and dangerous diseases. Most eminent clergymen, most skillful physicians, and our best citizens send certificates of cures performed, and of great benefits they have derived from these Pills. They are the safest and best physic for children, because mild as well as effectual. Being sugar coated, they are easy to take; and being purely vegetable, they are entirely harmless.

VEGETINE

The Great Blood Purifier.

A valuable Indian compound, for restoring the health, and for the permanent cure of all diseases arising from impurities of the blood, such as

Scrofula Scrofulous Humors, Cancers, Cancerous Humor Erysipelas, Canker, Salt Rheum, Pimples and Humors on the Face, Ulcers, Coughs, Catarrh, Bronchitis, Neuralgia, Pains in the Side, Rheumatism, Dyspepsia, Constipation Costiveness, Dizziness Piles, Headache, Nervousness, Faintness at the Stomach Pains in the Back, Kidney Complaints

Female Weakness, and General Debility.

This preparation is scientifically and chemically combined, and so strongly concentrated from roots, herbs and barks, that its good effects are realized immediately after commencing to take it. There is no disease of the human system for which the VEGETINE cannot be used with PERFECT SAFETY, as it does not contain any metallic compound. For eradicating the system of all impurities of the blood, it has no equal. It has never failed to effect a cure, giving tone and strength to the system debilitated by disease. Its wonderful effects upon these complaints are astonishing to all. Many have been cured by the VEGETINE that have tried many other remedies. It can well be called

AYER'S

CHERRY PECTORAL

For Diseases of the Throat and Lungs, such as Coughs, Colds, Whooping Cough, Bronchitis, Asthma and Consumption.

The few compositions, which have won the confidence of mankind and become household words among not only one but many nations, must have extraordinary virtues. Perhaps no one ever secured so wide a reputation or maintained it so long as AYER'S CHERRY PECTORAL. It has been known to the public about forty years, by a long continued series of marvellous cures, which have won for it a confidence in its virtues, never equalled by any other medicines. It still makes the most effectual cures of Coughs, Colds, Consumption, that can be made by medical skill. Indeed the CHERRY PECTORAL has really robbed those dangerous diseases of their terrors, to a great extent, and given a feeling of immunity from their fatal effects, which is well founded, if the remedy be taken in season. Every family should have it in their closet for the ready and prompt relief of its members. Sickness, suffering, and even life is saved by this timely protection. The prudent should not neglect it, and the wise will not. Keep it by you for the protection it affords in sudden attacks, and by its timely use.

AMERICAN & FOREIGN PATENTS.

R. H. EDDY, SOLICITOR OF PATENTS,

For Inventions, Trade Marks or Designs,

No. 76 STATE ST., OPPOSITE KILBY ST., BOSTON.

After an extensive practice of upwards of thirty years, continues to secure patents in the United States; also in Great Britain, France and other foreign countries. Caveats, Specifications, Assignments, and all papers for Patents, executed on reasonable terms with dispatch. Researches made to determine the validity and utility of Patents of inventions, and legal and other advice rendered in all matters touching the same. Copies of the claims of any patent furnished, by remitting one dollar. Assignments recorded in Washington.

No Agency in the United States possesses superior facilities for obtaining Patents or ascertaining the patentability of inventions.

All necessity of a journey to Washington to procure a Patent and the usual great delay there, are here saved inventors.

TESTIMONIALS.

"I regard Mr. Eddy as one of the most capable and successful practitioners with whom I have had official intercourse. CHARLES MASON, Commissioner of Patents."

"I have no hesitation in assuring inventors that they cannot employ a man more competent and trustworthy and more capable of putting their applications in a form to secure for them an early and favorable consideration at the Patent Office. EDMUND BURKE, Late Commissioner of Patents."

"Mr. R. H. EDDY has made for me over THIRTY applications for Patents, having been successful in almost every case. Such unmistakable proof of great talent and ability on his part leads me to recommend ALL inventors to apply to him to procure their Patents, as they may be sure of having the most faithful attention bestowed on their cases, and at very reasonable charges. JOHN TAGGART."

BRIGGS' ALLEVANTOR is composed of Ammonia, Chloroform, Spirits of Camphor, Tincture of Lupulins, Oil of Juniper, and Alcohol. This compound is unequalled in the annals of medicine for the cure of Nervous or Sick Headache, Neuralgia, Trembling or Twitching of the Nerves, and all Nervous Diseases. It will counteract all poisons, banish pimples, cure scaly eruptions, itching, humors, &c.; it equalizes the circulation, invigorates the system, increases the action of the heart, without exciting the brain, cures Heartburn, Palpitation and Fluttering of the Heart, Dyspepsia, &c. Briggs' Allevantor absolutely possesses more curative properties than any other preparation. Physicians, chemists, and others are requested to examine and test the remedy, and $1000 will be paid if found different from representation.

COUCHS, and colds, and written, and many remedies have been offered for the relief and cure of throat and lung diseases; but nothing has been so eminently successful, or obtained such a wide celebrity, as Briggs' Throat and Lung Healer.

CORNS! The excruciating pain produced by Corns, the unceasing twinging from Bunions, the piercing, distressing pain from Ingrowing Nails, cannot be described. Thousands suffer, not knowing there is a cure. Briggs' Corn and Bunion Remedies are no acid or potash compounds, but are reliable, soothing, and effectual, and just merit the success they have earned from an appreciative public. The Curative is a healing ointment; immediate relief is obtained by its application, and it will positively cure the worst cases of Festered Corns, inflamed and Ulcerated Bunions, the sorest instep, the largest and severest Blisters, the most extensive Callosities on the soles or heels of the feet, unequalled in the cure of Chilblains or Frosted Feet. The Allevantor for ordinary corns and preventing their formation is absolutely unexcelled by anything ever known.

PILES have been a terror to mankind for centuries, and almost every attempt to cure them has been baffled. By unceasing study and experimenting, Dr. Briggs has discovered an absolutely cure for internal, bleeding, external, and itching piles. Briggs' Pile Remedies are mild, safe and sure.

For sale by J. H. TEACHER, WM. R. PRESTON, Portsmouth; JAMES O. TREFETHEN, Kittery; E. S. SAFFORD, Kittery Point; H. M. CURTIS, Newcastle, and dealers generally.

CORNS, Bunions, Bad Nails, and other ailments of the Feet, Scrofulous and Cancerous Humors, Piles, etc., skillfully treated at the great central Chiropodical and Healing Institute, No. 765 Broadway, New York. DR. J. BRIGGS, President; DR. ALEXANDER WEBBER, Secretary. ap9

AYER'S HAIR VIGOR

FOR RESTORING GRAY HAIR

TO ITS NATURAL VITALITY AND COLOR.

Advancing years, sickness, care, disappointment, and hereditary influences, all turn the hair gray; either of them disposes to fall off prematurely, and either effect is unsightly and unpleasant to be avoided. DR. AYER'S consummate skill has produced an antidote for these deformities, which has won gratitude for him from multitudes of men and women. His HAIR VIGOR sometimes reproduces lost hair; and always restores to faded and gray hair its natural color, with the glossy and freshness of youth. The comparatively few bald and gray heads, that we now see, are those who have not yet discovered the virtues of AYER'S HAIR VIGOR for renewing the hair. The fresh and youthful aspect it gives, by restoring, or more nearly than any other dressing, gray hair, restore its youthful color, and with your features to their original softness and agreeable expression.

As an elegant dressing for beautifying the Hair, it has no superior.

A New "Excelsior."

The night had sunk on Chappaqua,
The wind was keen, the air was raw,
As forth the farmer went in peace,
With this device on his valise;
"I'm going West!"

His pants were short, his boots ran down,
His felt hat smashed in at the crown,
And like a squeaking cart-wheel rung
The accents of that well-known tongue,
"I'm going West!"

In White House window, bright and warm,
He dreams he sees Ulysses' form,
Then yanks his trousers high and higher,
Rips fiercely out, and screams in fire,
"I'm going West!"

"Don't try that dodge!" John Cockrane cried,
"The Free-trade boys will tan your hide!"
Upon his nose a tear-drop shines,
He wipes it on his sleeve and whines,
"I'm going West!"

"Beware of those who've read your book!
You'll known them by their vacant looks;"
This was a "forehead's" parting cry;
A silvery voice replied: "You lie!"
"I'm going West!"

A sleepy "cop" that morning found
The old man seated on the ground,
Still clinging to his carpet-bag,
Which bore this motto on its tag;
"I'm going West!"

The Late Minister to St. Petersburg: The fringed Curtin of thine I advance!

Sumner to H. G.: Thou canst not say I did it. Never shake thy gory locks at me!

Tammany: Now is the winter of our discontent made glorious summer by this son of York.

Brown on the highest floor of the New Haven Hotel: I can call spirits from the vasty deep.

Trumbull on Dead Issues: As the soldiers bore dead bodies by, he called them untaught knaves.

Hyacinthe: When I said I would die a bachelor, I did not think I should live till I were married.

H. G. to Tweed: He that stands upon a slippery place makes nice of no vile hand to stay him up.

H. G. on November 6: The big tears coursed one another down his innocent nose in piteous chase.

The Prince of Wales: They are as sick who surfeit with too much as they who starve with nothing.—Chicago Post.

Nasby.

The book most likely to meet with popular favor is "The Struggles of Petroleum V. Nasby." The illustrations, which are many, are the work of Thomas Nast, the Hogarth of America. There is a very flattering Introduction by Charles Sumner, written, we may add, before that eminent Senator had taken up his abode at the "Confederit X Roads." The Nasby letters form a distinct and important feature of our country's history during the rebellion. Artemus Ward's star sank as Nasby's rose. The former had aimed at exciting laughter, and nothing more. He was as devoid of any purpose and principle as Jack Falstaff; but Nasby conceived the idea of combining the wit of Ward with lofty patriotism. The result was a success never before attained in humorous literature. The whole Republican press copied the letters, and everybody read and laughed over them. The most remarkable thing about these letters is that the author could sustain himself so long. Mr. Nasby's book is a ponderous tome of over seven hundred pages. Yet there is no flagging in the wit, and no tedious iteration.

We give the following extract as peculiarly apropos at this time:—

JEFFERSON DAVIS OUT ON BAIL.—Ther wuz sum triflin legal formalities, and the President's counsel made a motion that he be admitted to bail. Ther wuz a stir in the Court. "Make it a million!" sed one, "so that the craven North shel see how we kin take keer uv them we love!" But Judge Underwood fixed it at $100,000, and, brisk as bees, a Noo York Dimocrat, several Richmond Dimocrats, and Horris Greeley, stept forrerd and signed it.

Never shel I forgit the shout that ascended ez Horris wuz a signin his name.

"Three cheers for Jeff'son Greeley and Horris Davis—one and inseparable, now and forever!" shoutid one enthousiastic Confedrit.

"Immortality is yours!" sed another. "Jeff'son Davis is the big dog uv the age, and you, my deer sir, are now the tin kittle tied to his tale! Wat joy! When posterity speeks uv him, they'll speek uv you!"

I coodent restrane myself no more. Bustin into teers, I fell onto Greeley's buzzum, and we embraced. Ez he hedn't his specticles on, he sposed it wuz Davis hisself, and he bustid into teers also, and there wuz won uv the most strikin tableos ever exhibited. I got away afore he diskivered his mistake.

Editorial Notes.

War with Mexico, growing out of the Rio Grande troubles, is among the posibilities. Wouldn't it be rare fun to see Horace Greeley as President endeavoring to carry on the war and ever ready to clasp hands across the bloody chasm with the bandits of that region?

Col. John W. Forney denies that he has said that Gen. Hartranft will be chosen Governor of Pennsylvania next month. It is immaterial, however. Col. Forney is injuring the Grant and Wilson electoral tickets in his own and other States by his factious opposition to Gen. Hartranft. We hope our brethren in Pennsylvania will sustain their gallant standard bearer and thus encourage the friends of Republicanism elsewhere. The great loyal party of the land will rejoice should Gen. Hartranft be elected Governor of Pennsylvania, and would sorrow at his defeat. If the veterans of the war sustain Gen. Hartranft, Col. Forney should stand back.

A SOUTH CAROLINA TRAGEDY.—Judge Melton, a prominent Republican, who was nominated for attorney-general, has recently been denounced in a published card as liar, poltroon and coward, by Senator Montgomery of New Berry. Melton had previously accused Montgomery of frauds on the State, and the latter published the card mentioned in retaliation. No further action was taken until Saturday evening, when Montgomery and a friend named Tupper were in Pollok's house; Melton entered, accompanied by J. D. Caldwell, brother-in-law of United States Senator Robinson, and Major Morgan. Melton rushed on Montgomery, and a scuffle ensued. All present sprang to their feet. Caldwell and Morgan both interfered to separate the combatants, when two pistol shots were heard, and Caldwell fell to the floor dead, and Morgan immediately thereafter placing his hand on his shoulder, exclaimed: "I'm shot." It appears that Tupper, who was at the opposite end of the room during the scuffle, had fired the shots, believing Montgomery overpowered by Melton's friends. Tupper then grappled Morgan and the fight continued till all were arrested. Melton and Morgan were afterwards released, but Tupper and Montgomery were held for trial.

Base Ball.

The final game between the Bostons and Mutuals, Saturday, was very exciting. The Mutuals scored eight in the second inning. At the close of the eighth inning, the Mutuals had scored 10, Bostons 7. The Bostons made four in the ninth inning and blanked the Mutuals, the game being won by the Bostons by a score of 11 to 10.

The News.

Enoch L. Fancher of New York city has been appointed Judge of the supreme court in place of Judge Barnard, removed.

Garrett Davis of Kentucky died on Sunday, aged 71.

Political.

Senator Cragin is stumping Pennsylvania.

The Leavenworth Times says that on the train of the Catholic excursionists to Kansas City, last Sunday, a vote was taken on the Presidential question, which resulted as follows: For O'Conor, 2; for Grant, 47; for Greeley, 296.

The straight out Democrats of Illinois have nominated Hon. Sidney Breeze for Governor.

The St. Louis Press, a Grant paper, says that "every negro has as much brains as 3000 ordinary Dutchmen put together."—Indianapolis Sentinel. If it were not that the Sentinel holds so high a fame for uncarrying truth, we would pass this by with the silent scorn it seems to deserve. It is a libel on the editor of the Press. That gentleman, in the first place, never was known to use such forcible language; secondly, the Press is at present without an editor; thirdly, the Press is not a Grant paper, and lastly, there is no such paper as the St. Louis Press.—St. Louis Globe.

Franz Sigel "fights mit" Grant.

It is said to be peculiarly awkward to have a band stand break down at a Greeley gathering, because there is nobody about to pick the band up.

After fooling around in the Greeley crowd for a while, the New Orleans Republican has gone back. It says it has discovered that Liberalism, instead of meaning reform, only means "how to get into office ourselves by putting the other fellows out."

In Douglas county, Minn., a canvass has been made. There are 350 Democrats in the county, and 110 of them refuse to vote for Greeley.

At the annual election for the two School Directors in Jefferson City, Mo., last week, the Republican candidates were chosen by a majority of sixty-eight. Last year the election was carried by the Democrats.

A secret circular issued from the Liberal Republican headquarters has come to light in Connecticut. It urges union with Democrats in the town elections next month to reduce the regular Republican vote, as "gains on their part would be very damaging in its effect on our friends," and then it is added, and there is a special significance in it, that "gains on our part would bring out the hesitating who want to come out for the liberal cause but do not like to join themselves to a failing cause."

Hon. G. N. Fitch, ex-U. S. Democratic Senator, of Indiana, has begun the canvass of that State for O'Conor and Adams.

Gen. William H. Morris, an influential Democrat of Putnam county, New York, declares for Grant. In a recent speech he gave his reasons, as follows: "We find ourselves without a regular Presidential nominee of our own creed, and are forced to choose between two Republicans. Party discipline orders us to follow a man who has been, in the words of O'Conor, the party's bitterest enemy; a man buried in any important official trust; a radical of the most visionary character—it is time to rebel against the dictates of unfaithful managers. The administration of Gen. Grant has been safe and satisfactory. Under it the country has prospered, its laws have been enforced, its credit sustained, and the ballot everywhere protected. It would be vile servitude to party to vote for the exchange of such an administration for one which would, in all human probability, prove wildly experimental and vainly vacillating."

It is reported that Horace Greeley will play "short stop" in the Boston base ball nine next season.

When Mr. Kernan was nominated as the Democratic candidate for governor, it was telegraphed to one of the papers that all Catholics ought and would support him because he was an earnest Catholic. At the same time a correspondent of another paper suggested that Mr. Greeley deserved the favor of the same religionists because he had caused his daughters to be educated at the Convent of the Sacred Heart, where they had become Catholics, because his sister and two nieces were Catholics, and because he was himself liberal towards the Church. But if they are reasons why the Catholics should support them, they are reasons why Protestants should suppose them; and there you have the very evil of religion in politics against which we protested.—N. Y. Post.

The Logansport (Ind.) Sun hoists the names of O'Conor and Adams.

The editor of the Richmond Enquirer says: "The battle appears to be progressing splendidly. There is heavy firing all along the line, and our heaviest artillery is concentratee upon the enemy's centre. The new impulse that has been imparted to the cause by the grand rally in New York, added to the re-assuring effects of the Maine and Vermont elections, have re-awakened the dormant enthusiasm of the people, and everywhere there are hopeful signs of a most active and determined canvass." Who would imagine that editor is advocating the Greeley and Brown ticket!

"Re-assuring effects of the Maine and Vermont elections!" Oh!

The Shelby (Tenn.) Rescue repudiates Greeley and hoists the O'Conor banner.

The Greeley democrats in Maryland have profited by Mr. Sumner's farewell oration, in which he protested against the enormity of preserving any trophies of the late unpleasantness, since they might wound the sensitive feelings of some ex-rebel now converted to Greeleyism and conciliation. The flags of the Union regiments of Maryland which were preserved in the Adjutant-General's office at Annapolis, have been taken down and packed away in a lumber room used for storing old muskets and worn-out militia material. The reason given for the change is that the authorities considered it unadvisable by such a display to keep in memory the fratricidal strife which patriotic men of both parties are willing to cast a veil over forever. And this was probably the reason which compelled the Greeley men of Baltimore to assault the Union veterans as they passed through the city. They were unpleasant reminders of a fratricidal strife.—New Haven Palladium.

The Chicago Mail, Greeley, thinks Horace "wants to be elected very bad."

The Democrats of the eleventh Missouri district have nominated John B. Clarke, Jr, for Congress. A straight-out Democratic convention for the nomination of an electoral ticket and appointment of a State central committee has been called, to meet at Jefferson City, October 4. The Democracy of St. Joseph county nominated a straight-out Democratic ticket. Dissatisfaction is expressed by the Liberals at the refusal to allow them representation.

"While asserting the right of every Republican to his untrammeled choice of a candidate for next President until a nomination is made, I venture to suggest that Gen. Grant will be far better qualified for that momentous trust in 1872 than he was in 1868."—Horace Greeley,—speech on the 5th of Jan., 1871.

Commissioner Douglass of the internal revenue bureau, who has been spending his vacation in Pennsylvania, says that the Republican nominees for Congressmen at large and judge of the Supreme Court will receive from twelve thousand to fifteen thousand majority. Gen. Hartranft's majority will be from eight to ten thousand.

The mutations of party sometimes bring people into queer situations. For example, Mr. Schurz is now the friend and compatriot of T. A. Hendricks, who called him "the lying Duchman;" of David Turpie, who said that the "portrait of Carl Schurz could be found in every rogue's gallery in Europe;" of D. W. Voorhees, who called him a "dirty Dutch viper," and of Bingham, who likened him to "a yelping cur, barking at the heels of Stephen A. Douglas." It was the Indianapolis Sentinel, now a Greeley paper, that called him a "mercenary Hessian, who would fight on either side for pay." If Mr. Schurz's memory is good he must feel decidedly amiable among his new friends.

It is a comforting fact that every one of the slanders heaped upon the President by the Tribune, this year, are triumphantly refuted in the columns of the Tribune last year.

The Missouri Democrat says: There is the largest sort of a row in the bowels of the Democratic party, respecting the next senatorship from this State. Frank Blair is using his best endeavors to have legislative candidates instructed in his favor; but he has several warm competitors, who want a free fight. The indications are that Frank will have a hard time to retain his seat, even should the Democrats carry the legislature, which is not at all likely.

Colorado has given 1300 Republican majority. This does not look like a falling away of Republicanism in the West. Colorado was supposed to lean strongly toward Democracy.

There seems to be a sudden and energetic movement among the national Democrats in New York, for their State committee has issued an address, formally presenting the names of O'Conor and Adams, with a brief summary of the reasons for supporting their nomination, and calling a State convention to assemble at Albany, on the third of October, for the purpose of getting up an electoral ticket.

Hon. Fred. Horn, one of the most influential Democrats in the State of Wisconsin, has come out in a card announcing himself an independent anti-Greeley candidate for Congress, in opposition to the Greeley nominee in the Fourth district. Mr. Horn says: "After thirty years of service in the ranks of the old time-honored and glorious Democracy, I, with thousands of other Democrats, find myself without a party. Our men, our principles have been sacrificed for an expediency of the most doubtful kind; we have been sold by a certain set of men presuming to act for our party."

State News.

The house and barn of Mr. George Carter, at Boscawen Plain, were burnt Friday afternoon. Loss estimated at $6000; insured for $4500.

"H. H.," Helen Hunt, the charming writer for The Independent, has an incident to elaborate which is quite exciting. Last Sunday, at Bethlehem, a bear and three cubs were discovered on Strawberry Hill. Several men set out in pursuit of the animals regardless of the ringing of the church bells. Mrs. Hunt joined them and was with them when the old bear and to cubs were killed. She personally assisted in dragging the dead bears to the wagon which took them to the town, and was quite the heroine of the hour. The bears proved a decided sensation, as they are seldom seen in Bethlehem. The church in a body viewed the remains as soon as the services were over and parties for miles around drove up to witness the remarkable spectacle.

Sir Charles Lyell declares that the entire continent of North America will be washed away into the ocean in four and a half millions of years. And yet the knowledge of this fact will not affect real estate investments half so disastrously as would the election of Horace Greeley.

—The sudden cooling of the weather has made quinine active again in Indiana.

THE LATEST SWINDLE.—Certain sanctimonious charlatans would fain persuade the world that diffusive stimulants have no medicinal value, and that destestable slops, composed of griping acids and drastic purgatives, are better tonics than the finest vegetable ingredients combined with the purest and mellowest products of the still. But this sort of thing won't go down. The stomach of our common sense rejects it, as the physiol stomach of every man with an undepraved palate rejects, with loating and abhorrence, the nauseous abominations, "free from alcohol," which Humbugs are trying to thrust down the throats of Temperance Invalids under the pretence that the filth will do them good? It is not likely that while PLANTATION BITTERS, the Standard Tonic of America, is anywhere accessible, such sickening frauds can make headway, but it is as well to put the public on their guard against hem.

THE THIEF who was arrested for robbing Parsons' store in this town, was found to have a quantity of Ayer's Hair Vigor in his possession. When asked why he wished to steal that article, he answered that he "wanted to restore his hair, for it was hard to be a thief and bald too." If that invention of the great chemist could restore a faded character as effectually as it does their natural beauty to bald and grey heads, it would surely be, as they say it now is, truly invaluable.—Lewiston (Me.) Journal.

HE IS TRULY A STUMP SPEAKER, Who, when talking, exhibits a mouthful of stumps. If you would keep your dental fixtures in perfect talking order, use the fragrant SOZODONT daily; the recipe is simple but sure.

SOUR STOMACH.—If the food taken into the stomach is not digested it decomposes In the latter case a pungent gas is developed which causes sour eructations or else the stomach itself secretes an acid, which rising upward at intervals stings the gullet sharply. These extremely disagreeable sensations are attributable to impaired digestion. To get rid of them, or prevent their recurrence, it is only necessary to tone and regulate the gastric organs with Hostetter's Bitters. It will not answer to postpone the great corrective with the idea that the unpleasant symptoms will disappear of themselves. So far from that being the case, they almost invariably culminate, if neglected, in chronic dyspepsia, with its concomitants of gnawing in the stomach, dizziness, perverted vision, headache, and sleeplessness. It is true that all disagreeables may be obviated by a course of the Bitters; but how much wiser to anticipate their arrival with one or two doses of that sure preventive of indigestion and strengthener of the alimentary organs.

CASTORIA.—A substitute for Castor Oil—is a physic which does not distress or gripe, but is sure to operate when all other remedies have failed. You may confidently rely upon the Castoria in Stomach-ache, Constipation, Flatulency, Croup, Worms, Piles or deranged Liver. It contains neither Minerals, Morphine, Opium nor Alcohol, but is purely a vegetable preparation, perfectly harmless, and above all, pleasant to take. The Castoria soothes and quiets the system, and produces natural sleep. It is a wonderful thing to assimilate the food of children and prevent them from crying. PILES.—The unceasing torture from internal bleeding, external and itching piles is fast wearing away the thousands of those who are afflicted and their hope and courage have long since given place to despair. Let those who see this cheer up, for a mild and sure cure may be had by using BRIGGS' PILE REMEDIES.

CORNS.—Since pride and fashion have had control of mankind, and shoemakers were compelled to make boots and shoes to fit fancy instead of the feet, the suffering from Corns, Bunions, Ingrowing Nails, Sore Insteps, Blistered Heels, Callosities on the bottom of the feet, &c., cannot be described. LOCAL AFFAIRS.

Jefferson Market.

The work of remodelling and beautifying the exterior of the old Jefferson Market building on Market Square was begun on Monday morning, under direction of Alderman Isaiah Wilson, of the Committee on City Lands and Buildings. An entire new front is to be put in, and the whole outer appearance of the building changed so that instead of being a blemish to the Square, it will henceforth be an ornament. After all that has been said, we can but regard this as the best thing to do, for the City Councils, Clerk, Police, and other City officers have good accommodations here, and the interior of the building needs little change; and whenever our citizens decide to build a City Hall, the old but substantial Market building is too good to be demolished, nor is this the best lot for this purpose.

The above is from the pen of one of the most active and wide awake men in the city, and doubless expresses the views of many others beside the writer. We believe the "repairs" of the City Building are being made under authority of the following vote of the Board of Aldermen:

Voted, That the Committee on City Lands and Buildings be authorized to make such repairs on the City Building on Market Square as they think necessary.

We learn that the Committee think it necessary to make the "repairs" in accordance with certain plans and specifications submitted to the City Council some months ago, and which were approved by the Aldermen but rejected by the Common Council. When the "repairs" the Committee "think necessary" are completed, the result will be not unlike that of repairing a ship in the navy, where the vessel to be repaired first has the bottom knocked out and a new one put in, after which the old top is knocked off and a new one built on, so that by the time she is relaunched only an experienced shipwright can tell the difference between the "repaired" ship and a bran new one.

The Washingtonian Movement

Has been started in good style, in response to a call for a meeting to inaugrate this best of all measures of reform. J. Horace Kent Esq., who has earnestly engaged in the movement, was chairman of the meeting. Prayer was made by Rev. Mr. Dinsmore, after which Mr. Kent spoke briefly and to the point in a few well chosen remarks which enlisted the warm approbation of the audience. Mr. Kent closed by introducing Mr. John F. Coles, who spoke for an hour, illustrating his remarks with droll anecdotes. He is a pleasing speaker, appeals directly to the hearts of his hearers and has so happy a faculty of causing them to be interested in all he says, that his influence must be great and productive of great good. There was a large attendance of ladies and gentlemen, who were annoyed by the presence of a hundred or more "so-year-old" urchins who thought it was nice fun to chatter aloud while Mr. Coles was speaking. We hope better order will be maintained at future gatherings.

Sail Ho!

Seventeen schooners and four brigs, most of them large vessels of their class, arrived at this port on Saturday and Sunday, much the largest part of them bringing coal, the principal portion of which will go inland per Concord Railroad. With the completion of the Dover Railroad, and of the Lake Shore Line, which will soon follow, this port will become the importing coal depot for a great extent of inland country, and the already extensive proportions of that business be greatly increased.

A Good Doggie.

The reason why Mr. Walter A. Hoyt wasn't well cooked early Sunday morning was because of a canine's sagacity. Mr. Hoyt went to sleep reading in bed by the light of a kerosene lamp. The lamp exploded and set thebed on fire, and yet he slept. A faithful canine of the feminine persuasion, which slept in the room, thought there was too much light on the subject and awoke her master by vigorously dancing on his stomach. Mr. Hoyt sprang from the bed and partially smothered the flames, which were finally put out with the help of other members of his family. So Islington Street escaped a fire and the numbers of hair dressers in town is not decreased by roasting. Several chairs were burned, the bed tick was destroyed and Mr. Hoyt lost the upper portion of his night shirt.

The Kearsarge Prize Money.

Pay Inspector Eldredge of the Navy has been disbursing the bounty money to the officers and crew of U. S. S. Kearsarge, residing here, for their heroic conduct in sinking the "Alabama." The seamen receive about $300 to $500 each, and firemen $750. It is said that Captain Thornton's share is but $5700 while Rear Admiral Winslow receives about $23,000. The crew of the Kearsarge assert that to Capt. Thoroton is due the credit of sinking the "Alabama," as he was executive officer of the Kearsarge and fought the ship. The men who fought in the engagement under his command never forget to praise him as an officer whom they respect and have the highest consideration for.

Hon. Thomas L. Tullock

Is on a brief visit to this city and reports great activity among the Republicans of the Western and Middle States. The Republican National Committee have strong hopes of redeeming Indiana next month. At the gubernatorial election in 1868, the Republicans had less that 1000 majority and at the last election the Democracy had 2500 majority. Pennsylvania, it is thought, will elect Gen. Hartranft Governor by a decided majority, and no doubts are held of the election of the Republican Congressmen-at-large by a much larger vote. Mr. Tullock reports the utmost confidence in the success of Republicanism in the West and says the general feeling is that Greeleyism is on the wane.

Not Dead.

A lady from Germany states that the report of the death of Mr. Morris Kichler is untrue, that she saw him in Berlin six weeks ago and he was about to leave for Italy for his health.

The Lingards

Present an attractive programme for this evening and have a good stock company. The comedy "A Life's Dream" affords an excellent opportunity for them to display their versatile talents, many of the sketches by William Horace are new, the costumes are elegant, and the performances of Signor Operti are said to be wonderful. There is a great demand for tickets. Those wishing the best seats should secure them as soon as possible at Preston's.

Laconics.

Portsmouth & Dover Railroad stock, now advertised, is an excellent investment at good rates, the interest guarantee of the Eastern making it popular. When the road is completed citizens of Dover will find it more convenient to go to Boston via Portsmouth than by the Boston & Maine route. By building four miles of branch road to Great Falls, the distance to Conway will be shortened four miles.

The train over the Concord Railroad, Sunday, took firemen, engineers and brakemen to Newmarket Junction, from whence they were taken to Centre Harbor via the B. & M. R. R. The employees of the B. & M., Concord and Eastern, 700 in all, participated in the excursion.

Two of the new signals lately adopted by the Eastern railroad were put in operation on Saturday morning. They are at Swampscott station, are situated a mile apart, and their manner of working is such that when the engine passes the first one, a red signal is displayed and remains till the other one is reached, when the red signal is replaced by a white one. The object is to keep the trains a mile apart, and the system will soon be in operation on the whole line of the road.

The Singer
SEWING MACHINE
STILL LEADS THE MARKET.

The Success of the Company is far beyond that of any other similar concern; the

Daily Manufacture
—OF—
400 OF THE SINGERS
Failing to Supply the Constant Demand.

All other machines call the public attention to some new loop or stitch or tension or finish, some advantage in running or needles or shuttles or prices —and many of these are as we have said very good points, and the agents selling them use them to divert entirely the would-be purchaser from fairly considering the facts in the case; but the

SINGER
seems to unite the good qualities of all, and is never found wanting.

THE SINGER
IS THE
OLDEST
SEWING MACHINE
IN THE MARKET,

All others being copied from its first model. It does two-thirds the sewing done in this country and preserves its advantages over all others combined.

It is ready kept clean, and has THE BEST TENSION EVER INVENTED; it is higher speeded and requires but little power to run; it works equally well upon the finest and heaviest goods; it does all the varieties of work known to the art.

N. B. Those purchasing for cash, before the 1 of January next, will have a consideration allowed them.

Morning Chronicle.

HOW TO WALK WELL.—It seems an easy enough matter to walk, and yet very few learn how to do it properly. One can reckon among his acquaintances very many fine looking men and women, but perhaps not one of the entire number is a good walker. The ancient poet tells how the goddess was known by her walk, but that distinguished mark of exalted birth seems to have passed away with the mythological days. We talk of lordly port, and queenly bearing, but such scions of royalty as have visited our shores seem to have little that is regal in their personal carriage. We are not without fine specimens of male and female beauty, but we are too often disenchanted when we see these Venuses and Adonises moving about. There is no real reason for this unsesthetic of motion. Men and women are particular enough about their dress, but they shamble, trot, or waddle along without much apparent regard for the appearance they make.

One of the secrets of good walking is to be able to balance the body easily, first on one foot and then on the other. When the soldier has learned to stand steadily on one foot, he then can walk without swaying, and preserve that steadiness in marching which is always a mark of well drilled troops. So if civilians wish to learn to walk as well as soldiers, they must like them first learn something of the mysteries of balancing. But it is not an easy thing to stand steady on a narrow sole with a small heel, and this is just the difficulty with the walking of fashionable people.

The sandaled feet of these ancient beauties, whose forms have come down to us preserved in marble, are beautiful in their unrestrained naturalness, and very unlike those of modern belles, or beaux either, for the matter of that. With low heels and broad sole, it is not difficult to balance the body, while by drawing in the chin the shoulders are naturally thrown back, the lungs given full opportunity to expand, and the head carried erect. Fashionable boots and high heels must be discarded, or it is useless to make the experiment of learning to walk well.—Hearth and Home.

—Since the steam whistles have almost ceased on the line of the Boston and Albany Railroad, there has arisen a demand for houses heretofore unknown. It is even said that some young physicians are preparing to remove to other localities, owing to a diminution of their practice. An estimate has been made (which we think not extravagant) that the increased value of real estate is greater than the whole cost of the railroad.

—It is related as a singular circumstance that the owner of the farm on which Lee surrendered also owned that on which the first battle of Bull Run was fought. Fleeing from the might of the Union armies, he found in Appomattox, as he thought, a place to which they would never penetrate, and there, by a singular chance, witnessed the downfall of the confederacy.

—The last cod-fishing vessel of the Provincetown fleet out on the spring trip recently returned from the grand banks. The Yarmouth Register says that not a man or vessel has been lost during the entire season. The average catch has been good, and the size and quality of the fish are excellent.

—Matt Morgan, the house-painter who spoils the pages of Frank Leslie's paper, was arrested by a thick-skulled policeman, recently.

—There are twenty-nine sponge vessels now on the banks of South Florida.

For Coughs,
Croup,
Diphtheria,
Asthma, &c.
USE BUCHMAN'S
PULMOCINE CORDIAL.

The Pulmocine Cordial is not a quack medicine, is not an experiment, is not composed of any ingredients "discovered" by "wading in pastures" in South America or anywhere else, nor by one who discovered a weed and thereby cured himself. Most of the ingredients are such as our best educated physicians daily use for the complaints specified, in some form or other. The recipe is that perfected by one of New England's most learned and famous physicians, who used it entirely in his daily practice until his death. It is offered to the profession and to the public, absolutely pure and unadulterated.

Geo. C. Goodwin & Co.,
WHOLESALE AGENTS,
HANOVER STREET, BOSTON.
And at the N. E. P. UNION STORE, Market St.
FOR SALE BY ALL DRUGGISTS,

Buchman's Pulmocine Cordial

BUCHMAN'S PULMOCINE CORDIAL is no new discovery. Twenty-three years ago it was used by one of New England's most famous physicians as the best PULMONARY CURATIVE he could procure, after a dozen years spent in experimenting with it before he was satisfied that the Materia Medica could add nothing in its favor.

Is the ultima thule of Medical Discovery.

Among its many ingredients are WILD CHERRY BARK, SQUILL ROOT, LIQUORICE ROOT, BLOOD ROOT, &c. It is a BLOOD PURIFIER, gently stimulating. It increases expectoration, and is diuretic. It is sudorific and alterative. It is a necessary family medicine. It is a Tonic, and a powerful aid to the digestive organs. It is a gentle sedative, and relieves nervousness. It is aromatic and agreeable to the taste.

CLEAR YOUR THROAT!

Relieve Your Lungs.

For the terrible diseases engendered by the lung-trying climate of New England,

Pulmocine Cordial

Is a speedy and reliable Preventive and Remedy. EVERY FAMILY should have a bottle at hand to check the sudden growth of all Pulmonary Diseases. For the Asthma, Coughs, Croups, Laryngitis, or inflammation of the larynx, Diphtheria, and all kindred THROAT DISEASES at all times prevalent, it is the quince of PREVENTION. Children attacked with Whooping Cough or Croup should be immediately cared for. These painful attacks come with scarcely a moment's warning, when a physician may be out of immediate reach. A dose of PULMOCINE CORDIAL gives speedy relief, and the little ones are spared hours of pain and agony. As "a stitch in time saves nine," so does the possession of this FAMILY MEDICINE prevent the spread of disease. Parents seeing their children gasping with pain, friends and relatives beholding each other in peril from suffocation by the choking pain in the throat, paralyzed with fear and not knowing the best course to pursue, are liable to apply the wrong remedy or agents. There is no safety in delay, no time to waste in such cases. CONSUMPTION, that fearful scourge of the human race, lies at the door of all who are afflicted. BUCHMAN'S PULMOCINE CORDIAL arrests it (unless in its advanced stage at which time there is no local cure) relieves the pressing, suffocating feeling at the lungs, and the patient's danger is past.

AYER'S PURGATIVE PILLS.

For all the purposes of a Family Physic,
CURING
Costiveness, Jaundice, Dyspepsia, Indigestion, Dysentery, Foul Stomach, Erysipelas, Headache, Piles, Rheumatism, Eruptions and Skin Diseases, Biliousness, Liver Complaint, Dropsy, Fetter, Tumors and Salt Rheum, Worms, Gout, Neuralgia, as a Dinner Pill, and Purifying the Blood,

Are the most congenial purgative yet perfected. Their effects abundantly show how much they excel all other Pills. They are safe and pleasant to take, but powerful to cure. They purge out the foul humors of the blood; they stimulate the sluggish or disordered organ into action, and they impart health and tone to the whole being. They correct not only the common complaints of every body, but formidable and dangerous diseases. Most eminent clergymen, most skillful physicians, and our best citizens send certificates of cures performed, and of great benefits they have derived from these Pills. They are the safest and best physic for children, because mild as well as effectual. Being sugar coated, they are easy to take; and being purely vegetable, they are entirely harmless.

CAUTION.

THE immense demand for HOLLOWAY'S PILLS and OINTMENT, has tempted unprincipled parties to counterfeit these valuable medicines.

In order to protect the public and ourselves, we have issued a new "Trade Mark," consisting of an Egyptian circle of a serpent, with the letter H in the centre. Every box of genuine HOLLOWAY'S PILLS and OINTMENT will have this trade mark on it; none are genuine without it.

VEGETINE

The Great Blood Purifier.

A valuable Indian compound for restoring the health, and for the permanent cure of all diseases arising from impurities of the blood, such as Scrofula Scrofulous Humors, Cancers, Cancerous Humor Erysipelas, Canker, Salt Rheum, Pimples and Humors on the Face, Ulcers, Coughs, Catarrh, Bronchitis, Neuralgia, Pains in the Side, Rheumatism, Dyspepsia, Constipation Costiveness, Dizziness Files, Headache, Nervousness, Faintness at the Stomach Pains in the Back, Kidney Complaints Female Weakness, and General Debility.

This preparation is scientifically and chemically combined, and so strongly concentrated from roots, herbs and barks, that its good effects are realized immediately after commencing to take it. There is no disease of the human system for which the VEGETINE cannot be used with PERFECT SAFETY, as it does not contain any metallic compound. For eradicating the system of all impurities of the blood, it has no equal. It has never failed to effect a cure, giving tone and strength to the system debilitated by disease. Its wonderful effects upon these complaints are surprising to all. Many have been cured by the VEGETINE that have tried many other remedies. It can well be called

AYER'S

CHERRY PECTORAL

For Diseases of the Throat and Lungs, such as Coughs, Colds, Whooping Cough, Bronchitis, Asthma and Consumption.

The few compositions, which have won the confidence of mankind and become household words among not only one but many nations, must have extraordinary virtues. Perhaps no one ever secured so wide a reputation or maintained it so long as AYER'S CHERRY PECTORAL. It has been known to the public about forty years, by a long continued series of marvellous cures which have won for it a confidence in its virtues, never equalled by any other medicines. It still makes the most effectual cures of Coughs, Colds, Consumption, that can be made by medical skill. Indeed the CHERRY PECTORAL has really robbed these dangerous diseases of their terrors, to a great extent, and given a feeling of immunity from their fatal effects, which is well founded, if the remedy be taken in season. Every family should have it in their closet for the ready and prompt relief of its members. Sickness, suffering, and even life is saved by this timely protection. The prudent should not neglect it, and the wise will not. Keep it by you for the protection it affords in sudden attacks, and by its timely use.

AMERICAN & FOREIGN PATENTS.

R. B. EDDY, SOLICITOR OF PATENTS,

For Inventions, Trade Marks or Designs,

No. 76 STATE ST., OPPOSITE KILBY ST., BOSTON,

After an extensive practice of upwards of thirty years, continues to secure patents in the United States; also in Great Britain, France and other foreign countries. Caveats, Specifications, Assignments, and all papers for Patents, executed on reasonable terms with dispatch. Researches made to determine the validity and utility of Patents of inventions, and legal and other advice rendered in all matters touching the same. Copies of the claims of any patent furnished, by remitting one dollar. Assignments recorded in Washington.

No Agency in the United States possesses superior facilities for obtaining Patents or ascertaining the patentability of inventions.

All necessity of a journey to Washington to procure a Patent and the usual great delay there, are here saved inventors.

TESTIMONIALS.

"I regard Mr. Eddy as one of the most capable and trustworthy practitioners with whom I have had official intercourse. CHARLES MASON, Commissioner of Patents."

"I have no hesitation in assuring inventors that they cannot employ a man more competent and trustworthy and more capable of putting their applications in a form to secure for them an early and favorable consideration at the Patent Office. EDMUND BURKE, Late Commissioner of Patents."

"Mr. R. H. Eddy has made for me over THIRTY applications for Patents, having been successful in almost every case. Such unmistakable proof of great talent and ability on his part leads me to recommend ALL inventors to apply to him to procure their Patents, as they may be sure of having the most faithful attention bestowed on their cases, and at very reasonable charges. BRIGGS' ALLEVANTOR is composed of Ammonia, Chloroform, Spirits of Camphor, Tincture of Lupulina, Oil of Juniper, and Alcohol. This compound is unequalled in the annals of medicine for the cure of Nervous or Sick Headache, Neuralgia, Trembling or Twitching of the Nerves, and all Nervous Diseases. It will counteract all poisons, banish pimples, cure scaly eruptions, itching, humors, &c.; it regulates the circulation, invigorates the system, increases the action of the heart, without exciting the brain, cures Heartburn, Palpitation and Fluttering of the Heart, Dyspepsia, &c. Briggs' Allevantor absolutely possesses more curative properties than any other preparation. Physicians, chemists, and others are requested to examine and test the remedy, and $1000 will be paid if found different from representation.

COUGHS, Much has been said and written, and many remedies have been offered for the relief and cure of throat and lung diseases; but nothing has been so eminently successful, or obtained such a wide celebrity, as Briggs' Throat and Lung Healer.

CORNS! The excruciating pain produced by Corns, the unceasing twinging from Bunions, the piercing, distressing pain from Ingrowing Nails, cannot be described. Thousands suffer, not knowing there is a cure. Briggs' Corn and Bunion Remedies are no acid or potash compounds, but are reliable, soothing, and effectual, and just merit the success they have earned from an appreciative public. The Curative is a healing ointment; immediate relief is obtained by its application, and it will positively cure the worst cases of Festered Corns, Inflamed and Ulcerated Bunions, the sorest Instep, the largest and severest Blisters, the most extensive Callosities on the soles or heels of the feet, unequalled in the cure of Chilblains or Frosted Feet. The Allevantor for ordinary corns and preventing their formation is absolutely unexcelled by anything ever known.

PILES have been a terror to mankind and defied all remedies for centuries, and almost every attempt to cure them has been baffled. By unceasing study and experimenting, Dr. Briggs has discovered an absolutely cure for internal, bleeding, external, and itching piles. Briggs' Pile Remedies are mild, safe and sure.

For sale by J. H. THACHER, WM. R. PRESTON, Portsmouth; JAMES O. TREFETHEN, Kittery; E. S. SAFFORD, Kittery Point; H. M. CURTIS, Newcastle, and dealers generally.

AYER'S HAIR VIGOR

FOR RESTORING GRAY HAIR

TO ITS NATURAL VITALITY AND COLOR.

Advancing years, sickness, care, disappointment, and hereditary predisposition, all turn the hair gray; either of them disposes to fall off prematurely, and either effect is unsightly and unpleasant to behold. DR. AYER'S consummate skill has produced an antidote for these deformities, which has won gratitude for him from multitudes of men and women. His HAIR VIGOR sometimes reproduces lost hair; and always restores to faded and gray hair its natural color, with the gloss and freshness of youth. The comparatively few bald and gray heads, that we now see, are those who have not yet discovered the virtues of AYER'S HAIR VIGOR for renewing the hair. The fresh and youthful hair we see on every side, testifies to the value of this art. If you are disfigured, or made old, ASHAMED by premature gray hair, restore its youthful color, and with your features to their original softness and agreeable expression.

As an elegant dressing for beautifying the Hair, it has no superior.

Halls.

Halls as a rule are a nuisance of the first order. There is always a rush for the front seats, for if these are not secured all is hopeless. The seats are all on a "dead level," (as people, unfortunately, are not,) if anything sinking rather than elevating toward the rear. The stage is lower than at other places of amusements, and the building much longer the wrong way. Laying aside any such thing as comfortable sitting, minus a cushion, (which want could be tolerated by a majority for a season,) we denounce the hall simply because it is—as it should not and need not be—the most perfect piece of inconvenience conceivable.

Let us detail: At twenty feet from the stage, say the tenth bench, you see, if the "amusement loving" portion of the public in front of you be not over five feet seven inches, and providing the prevailing fashions do not attain to anything above a foot or so over this measure, the performers' shoulders, possibly their waists. At forty feet from the stage you discern a minute portion of the performer's eyebrows, if he or she be standing. At sixty you have a faint idea of the corner of the building immediately over the stage adjoining the ceiling. At eighty you flutter in the midst of a thick jungle of feathers, fringes, ribbons, rolls of hair, and sprigs of imitation flowers. At one hundred you resign yourself hopelessly beneath the flood, gaze abstractedly at the surging sea around you, and wonder if you will survive it. At a hundred and twenty and back of that to infinitude you struggle manfully to keep afloat, content to catch at sundry little waifs of sound that may float in upon you from the unknown distance, or amuse yourself (you went there to be amused, mind,) with grumbling at the big man in front of you, who amuses himself with mumbling certain sharp inarticulates at the immense "New York Promenade" hat in front of him, which is mad at the "a la something else" in front of it, and so on up to the tenth bench.

Such a wiggling, wriggling, bobbing, jerking, twisting, and ill humored crowd is hard to find save at a Hall! Besides this the benches are neither scored off into seats or other tangible division to speak of. The numbers that are not obliterated are myths. They are never where you can see them, being on the outside of the back of your bench, staring in the face of the parties behind you whom they do not concern. But it doesn't matter in the least; if two or three more can be "scrouged" in, so be it. Any enterprising usher can fix that. (In fact the ushers are the only ones who have facilities in the matter whatever.) Keep your temper, "If dogs delight to bark and bite," an audience must not. Keep cool; let yourself down gently,—there you are; so! Wait a while and you'll have an indistinct impression of somebody's clapping hands and thumping canes or bootheels against the floor. This is to let you know that the performances are about to begin. Raise yourself,—don't be afraid, everybody is doing it,—and you will see an extravagant mass of hair appear and disappear by turns. Dodge about right skillfully and by dint of much peeping you will see—well, perhaps a very bare neck, highly powdered, and a lace frill.

A sudden clash of uncertain chords nearly annihilates you, so that you dodge about and peep again to make quite sure of no explosion of the gas pipes, or anything like a caving in of the stage or the scenery. Then comes a pause. You think to yourself there has been a mistake somewhere. You pull out your watch to ascertain,—when you are again annihilated by a loud cry and another smash of chords. The cry follows again after an interval. Then another pause. Then another cry,—this time very loud. Another pause. A series of disjointed cries, like the pitiful lamentations of a second summer baby. Another interval, and, finally a tremendous shriek which is followed by the clapping of hands, the canes and the bootheels again.

When it is done you ask the man next to you "what's up?" Man looks at you and replies, "he guesses it 'aint begun yet," at which there is another clapping, and so on with the same effect. "What's up, now?" you ask, and once more the man says, "guess it 'aint begun yet." By this time the audience have risen en masse. You look around for the man who sat next to you, possibly to repeat your question, "What's up now?"—but he is gone. You gaze up at the raging billows breaking against you, and think of propounding the question to them. You take out your watch again—it is half-past ten! At this some one's elbow flies off at a tangent and smashes the crystal. "Cheap Concert this!" you mutter, grimly, "hope there'll be another soon,"—but of a sudden you are hustled into the street.

The fresh air makes a pass at you, which causes you to gasp for breath, as it were, and your next thought is to imagine it laughing at you for making such a fool of yourself. You scramble out of the knots of indecision about the doorway and strike out manfully for the corner. There is a solitary lamp-post there, blinking at you and smiling compassionately at every victim that happens to pass,—especially yourself.

You move up to it, when in the shadow beneath it you descry the identical man of whom you made the inquiry. "What's up?" He beckons for you, salutes you, and you ask him "what he thinks of it?"

"Think of what?" he replies. You return; "the Concert?" Man answers: "Darnfine! 'Taint just clear that I've been to one. When I started out I thought I was going to one, but I guess I made a mistake. Must have gotten into a political meeting."—Philadelphia Amateur.

The Coming Man.

Mr. Theodore Tilton, who is announced to address a meeting in the interest of Horace Greeley at the Temple on Thursday evening, will doubtless have a large audience, as he is said to be an able speaker, and his reputation will draw enough Republicans to fill the house if the Democrats won't attend—the "Liberal" partizans are too few to be worth considering. Mr. Tilton is perhaps the most brilliant newspaper paragraphist in the country, and as a biographer is second only to James Parton, the Life of Victoria Demosthenes Woodhull being the best known specimen of his ability in the latter line. He advocates a thorough purification of politics—meaning the election of Horace Greeley—and in his paper, the Golden Age, sometimes gives as an example of how high-toned, just and gentlemanly even a political partizan editor can be when he likes. For example: some time ago President Grant sent his daughter, Miss Nellie Grant, to Europe; Miss Grant, who is said by the New York World's Washington correspondent to be a perfectly ladylike, modest appearing and unassuming young woman, dressed and behaved like a lady; and certain European despots actually treated the daughter of the Chief Magistrate of a powerful and friendly nation with courtesy. Such a combination of frightful outrages on republican institutions would have made almost any other Democratic editor foam at the mouth, but all the Golden Age said was this:

The attention bestowed upon the members of our royal family by European courts must be very pleasing to the young people and very gratifying to the old folks at home. But the people generally do not look at the matter in that light. They have a decided prejudice in favor of simple, old-fashioned, republican traditions. And "our son and daughter in Europe," done up in courtly toggery and reported now in this palace and now in that, are a little too much of a good thing for the common American constitution.

Some people regard it as rather mean for Mr. Tilton to desert Demosthenes and the Woodhull—we believe he has deserted them—but the above paragraph from the Golden Age shows that he could not do a mean thing if he tried. For a President of the United States to manage his private family affairs as he pleases is bad enough; for his daughter to dress like a lady is worse; but for Queen Victoria to treat that daughter with courtesy is an unbearable insult to the Greeley party, which never treats anybody with courtesy or even common decency. Considering all this, our readers will no doubt admire as much as we do the generosity with which Mr. Tilton commented on the outrageous conduct of Miss Nellie Grant in travelling through Europe at her father's expense, and enjoying herself to the best of her ability while there. Let us clasp hands across the bloody chasm.

The News.

Plowman, the leader of the assailants of the veterans passing through Baltimore a few nights since to the soldiers' convention, was sentenced on Saturday to one year's imprisonment for his share in the attack.

It is reported that another universal congress of Internationals is to be held on account of the dissatisfaction with the recent proceedings at the Hague.

The carpenters' strike in Chicago has begun. The men quit work Monday. The strike of miners in St. Clair county, Ill., has been settled.

A despatch from Nice states that Caleb Cushing has arrived in that city, and after remaining a few hours left for Bordeaux. He sails from Havre for America soon.

Five married ladies at Gardner, Mass., have bid their husbands an abrupt "good bye," within the last few weeks.

Billy Forrester has been discharged by the New York courts on the complaint charging him with complicity in the Nathan murder case, the evidence being insufficient to hold him. Forrester will be sent to Illinois to serve out the balance of an unexpired term of imprisonment.

Daniel Foley, a teamster, was caught beneath the wheels of a wagon at the Monson (Mass.) quarries last week and crushed to death.

A steam canal-boat arrived in New York from Buffalo on Sunday, with a full freight by the way of the Erie Canal, in five days' less time than by the usual horse locomotion. It is the first steam canal-boat that has thus made a full trip.

The President has appointed as commissioners to examine the North Pacific Railroad, S. H. Kauffman of Washington, Thomas Underwood of Lafayette, Ind., and A. C. Sands of Cincinnati, Ohio.

Great excitement was occasioned at the Brooklyn Navy Yard, Friday, when it was reported that a torpedo boat, recently experimented with, had sunk with three men on board. It appears that after the board of naval officers had postponed their experiment, and the three men remained on board to do some work, the boat suddenly sunk, but the hatch was closed, and thus prevented the water flowing in and drowning the men. A steam derrick with a large gang of men was immediately manned, and after two hours' work the boat was raised. The men were still alive, the compressed air in the air-tight chambers not having become exhausted. The men had been under water over three hours.

John Bachman, of Brooklyn, N. Y., had a christening at his house on the evening of the 22d. An episode in the festivities was the killing of one of the guests in a fight.

During the race between the yachts Vision and Gracie, which was won by the former, the Gracie lost five men overboard.

Ex-Mayor Kalbfleisch of Brooklyn, N. Y., is sued for breach of promise, with $150,000 damages claimed. The complainant is a widow lady 40 years of age.

A vigilance committee is trying to rid Dakota of horse thieves and similar characters. Tuesday, at Snake Creek, they hung Henry Hyer and Michael Aartest to telegraph poles. This infamous movement to defeat the election of Mr. Greeley deserves the severest reprobation.

Dispatches from London state that there is no abatement to the spread of cholera in Roumania. The nature of the plague is epidemic in the extreme and it is feared that it will spread over the entire country. Ten thousand have already died from the disease.

There was a slight shock of earthquake at Shanghae Saturday afternoon.

The pie bakers of New York have formed a company with a working capital of $300,000.

Political.

Our Concord correspondent writes as follows:—After reading the speech of "Honest Horace," at Pittsburg, an old soldier turned to a friend and said—"John, you know I've always been a Democrat, never voting any other ticket; but I've eaten hard-tack, salt-horse and other hard fare when I had two hands to help cram it down. This is the toughest dose, and I can't go it, for you see I left one of my hands on the field at Antietam."

Advices have been received at the Republican headquarters at Washington, confirming the previous reports of an extensive rupture between the Schurz, Liberals and the Democrats of Missouri. The Anzeiger Des Westens, the leading German paper of St. Louis, repudiates Greeley, although it does not support Grant, and there is other evidence of a serious defection in the coalition ranks.

"Show me a Democratic district and I will show you a district where there are ten gallons of whiskey for every spelling book in it."—Horace Greeley.

The Coalitionists affect to make light of the straight-out movement. Nevertheless, in Kentucky three Democratic newspapers fly the O'Conor and Adams flag. In St. Louis three German papers have hauled down the Greeley flag and go for O'Conor and Adams. The New York Irish World and Day Book are out for O'Conor, and O'Conor nominations for electors and Congressmen are becoming frequent in the West and South.

The Congressional Republican committee have been making survey of the political situation, and have concluded that there is no longer the slightest reason to fear the result of the present contest. As the result of their examination they believe that not only will the Republicans carry the October elections, but that Mr. Greeley will be in much more trouble to find what State he will carry than to count the number of electoral votes he may secure.

Said a bright little boy: "Pa won't let me join the Tanners, and gran'pa won't let me join the Greeley boys, and I can't do nothing. Boo-hoo-hoo! 'rah for Horace Grant!"

They Don't Like It.

The Concord Patriot says we "heard an article in defence of the Credit Mobilier swindle, 'What Next?' The Patriot is evidently mistaken concerning that same article, for instead of being a defence of any swindle whatever, it was a protest against the Patriot and other Greeleymocratic crow-eaters defaming honorable men for partizan purposes, on the unsupported testimony of men of infamous character. The Patriot answers our query as follows:

The next thing in the programme is that the bribed Congressmen declare specifically and on oath, that they never gleaned any profit, in any way, directly or indirectly through Credit Mobilier management.

Modest, very. Who the "bribed Congressman" are the Patriot does not say; but as McComb, the fellow on whose statements the whole Greeley slander concerning the Credit Mobilier rests, was a boon companion of that eminent Democrat, the late James Fisk, Jr.,—as he acknowledged when under oath that he was himself the writer of the names on the back of Oakes Ames' letter,—and as he was proved to be a liar, so far as the sworn statements of many reputable men could prove one disreputable person to be such, in the trial of the blackmailing suit he brought against the Credit Mobilier, in Pennsylvania, we hardly expect to see the "bribed Congressmen" take the witness stand to defend their reputations from his attacks—not even to please that puritan "reformer," the Concord Patriot.

Nor do we believe that the wholesale dealing in slanderous falsehood in which the entire Greeley press has been engaged ever since there has been a Greeley press, will yield any better dividends in the shape of political victories (and government offices) for the dealers than their bluster and brag—"the woods are full of 'em"—has done. But we are very sorry the Patriot and other feasters on crow can't swallow our article.

Mrs. Laura D. Fair is on trial in San Francisco for the murder of Judge Crittenden. The Chronicle says, of her appearance in Court:—

She was dressed in black silk dress, black hat and veil, and black gloves. Everything was black except her face, which was as white as Parian marble. Her golden curls trailed down through the folds of her sombre veil, and seemed like rays of sunlight streaming through a blackened cloud. She seated herself at the lawyer's table, and resting her head on her hand, seemed lost in sad, sad reverie. In the opening proceedings she took no interest whatever. She sat with her eyes on the floor, and only lifted them when her counsel turned to her to make some remark. Her veil was kept down closely over her face, and her features were almost entirely hidden from the eager, curious gaze of the crowd. Later in the day, when the names of the jurors were called, she manifested a slight degree of interest, but when, one after another, they were excused because they entertained opinions, she seemed to gather from the circumstance a knowledge of how little sympathy there was in the cold, hard faces about her. For a while she listened, but soon sank back in her chair, evidently disheartened and depressed. Once she smiled when listening to the questioning of an idiot, who was on the stand under examination as to his qualifications to sit on the jury, but it was a sickly, mournful smile, and passed away as quickly as it came.

Sitting apart from the prominent actress in the scene was another, older lady. She, too, was attired in black and looked sad and sorrowful. This was the mother of Mrs. Fair. She had come into court before Mrs. Fair, but when the latter entered she did not notice her. Neither spoke to the other, and both sat apart silent and alone.

An enthusiastic reporter who had been to see her says she is "perfectly heavenly," that her long residence in jail has improved rather than injured her beauty.

Trotting.—Thirty-three years ago the horse Dutchman trotted three miles over the Philadelphia course in 7:32 1-2 and until Saturday that remained the best three mile time on record. At the Prospect Fair Grounds, New York, on Saturday, the mare Huntress performed the same distance in 7:21 1-4. Dutchman trotted under saddle and Huntress to a sulkey. She is 8 years old, of the Abdallah line, and trotted a mile in 2:22 1-2.

Mr James W. Champney, better known among artists as "Champ," has returned from a summer's sojourn in Germany, where he has made many admirable studies.

—This is the verdict of a New York coroner's jury: "Deceased came to his death by being found in the Hudson river."

The Latest Swindle.—Certain sanctimonious charlatans would fain persuade the world that diffusive stimulants have no medicinal value, and that destestable slops, composed of griping acids and drastic purgatives, are better tonics than the finest vegetable ingredients combined with the purest and mellowest products of the still. But this sort of thing won't go down. The stomach of our common sense rejects it, as the physical stomach of every man with an undeprayed palate rejects, with loathing and abhorrence, the nauseous abominations, "free from alcohol," which Humbugs are trying to thrust down the throats of Temperance Invalids under the pretense that the filth will do them good! It is not likely that while Plantation Bitters, the Standard Tonic of America, is anywhere accessible, such sickening frauds can make headway, but it is as well to put the public on their guard against them.

The Thief who was arrested for robbing Parsons' store in this town, was found to have a quantity of Ayer's Hair Vigor in his possession. When asked why he wished to steal that article, he answered that he "wanted to restore his hair, for it was hard to be a thief and bald too." If that invention of the great chemist could restore a false character as effectually as it does their natural beauty to bald and grey heads, it would surely be, as they say it is, truly invaluable.—Lewiston (Me.) Journal.

Use Buchman's Pulmocine Cordial for all throat diseases. For sale at the Union Store.

Teeth in Ruins are a sore drawback on personal appearance and personal comfort. Therefore keep them in good repair with that established antidote for all the diseases that assail them, fragrant Sozodont.

Sour Stomach.—If the food taken into the stomach is not digested it decomposes. In the latter case a pungent gas is developed which causes sour eructations or else the stomach itself secretes an acid, which rising upward at intervals stings the gullet sharply. These extremely disagreeable sensations are attributable to impaired digestion. To get rid of them, or prevent their recurrence, it is only necessary to tone and regulate the gastric organs with Hostetter's Bitters. It will not answer to postpone the great corrective with the idea that the unpleasant symptoms will disappear of themselves. So far from that being the case, they almost invariably culminate, if neglected, in chronic dyspepsia, with its concomitants of gnawing in the stomach, dizziness, perverted vision, headache, and sleeplessness. It is true that all disagreeables may be obviated by a course of the Bitters; but how much wiser to anticipate their arrival with one or two doses of that sure preventive of indigestion and strengthener of the alimentary organs.

Castoria.—A substitute for Castor Oil—is a physic which does not distress or gripe, but is sure to operate when all other remedies have failed. You may confidently rely upon the Castoria in Stomach-ache, Constipation, Flatulency, Croup, Worms, Piles or deranged Liver. It contains neither Minerals, Morphine, Opium nor Alcohol, but is purely a vegetable preparation, perfectly harmless, and above all, pleasant to take. The Castoria soothes and quiets the system, and produces natural sleep. It is a wonderful thing to assimilate the food of children and prevent them from crying. A 35 cent bottle will do the work for a family and save many doctors' bills.

Piles.—The unceasing torture from internal bleeding, external and itching piles is fast wearing away the thousands of those who are afflicted and their hope and courage have long since given place to despair. Let those who see this cheer up, for a mild and sure cure may be had by using Briggs' Pile Remedies.

Corns.—Since pride and fashion have had control of mankind, and shoemakers were compelled to make boots and shoes to fit fancy instead of the feet, the suffering from Corns, Bunions, Ingrowing Nails, Sore Insteps, Blistered Heels, Callosities on the bottom of the feet, &c., cannot be described. But Briggs' Corn and Bunion Remedies will cure all such ingments, and proper fitting boots will prevent their reproduction. Sold by all druggists. a12

AFTER deciding what kind of Sewing Machine to buy, the next thing to be duly considered is where to buy it. E. A. Joy who sells all kinds of Sewing Machines and Findings, is permanently located here, and has sold more Machines during the past six years than all the others together, including the nineteen who have quit the business because they could not pay expenses. He has sold nearly five hundred of one kind during the past year (the names of the purchasers will be given if desired) and has twenty other kinds to choose from. Mr. Joy seems destined to be the only Sewing Machine dealer in this vicinity, for people have learned to their sorrow that the warrant of an itinerant agent or pedlar amounts to nothing. Laconics.

J. E. Ham & Co. advertise one of the most complete stocks of fall goods east of Boston.

The Boston Globe says: "We learn from a straight-out Democrat of Portsmouth, N. H. that he knows one hundred and twenty of his party in that city who will not vote for Horace Greeley under any circumstances." We don't know of so many as that, but we do know of a great many more than any Greeleyite will acknowledge.

Three apples weighing two pound and three ounces—one girting 12 1-4 inches—lie on our desk, gifts of Rufus K. Oxford, Esq. "Geewhollakers" our imp calls them, and we guess they are.

The young lady who dropped from her panier a bundle of the daily evening democratic organ revealed her lineage. Her pa's name was on them all!

A very life-like and artistic bust of Mr. B. P. Shillaber has just been finished by the artist-brothers Cobb, and may be seen in Williams & Everett's window, in Boston. It faithfully presents in strong relief those striking intellectual characteristics by which Mr. S. has become so widely known for his versatile talents as a writer and poet.

Assistant Naval Constructor Philip Hichborn has been ordered by Chief Constructor Hanscom to proceed to Philadelphia, Chester, Wilmington and Baltimore, to visit the various yards where iron ships are built and report in person at Washington upon the quality of iron used and the most approved tools and machinery used for working iron and building iron vessels.

There will be a meeting of the Grant and Wilson Guards at the Republican Headquarters, this (Wednesday) evening at half past 7 o'clock. A full and punctual attendance is requested.

Lovers of dancing, after a long abstinence, are to have an opportunity of indulging in their favorite amusement this evening at Congress Hall—when and where the first Social Assembly of the season will be given, with music by Turner's full Quadrille Band. Tickets of admission, 50 cents; to the gallery, 25 cents. Grand March at 8 o'clock.

Mr. Francis Murphy, President of the Portland Reformed Club, will deliver the next temperance lecture, at the Temple, Sunday evening. He is one of the most effective speakers in New England, and was a seller and drinker.

A son of Portsmouth resident in Boston has a rare book which he is keeping to present to the public library of this city!

For genuine enthusiasm commend us to the company of Junior Grant & Wilson Guards, Commander Percy I. Lowd, who parade the streets about once a week with a dozen torch-lights and a drum. The little fellows were annoyed by a youth of larger growth, Monday evening, who persisted in extinguishing their torches until Marshal Johnson took charge of him. The smallest members of the company are about two and a half feet high, but the noise they make in cheering the campaign flags and prominent citizens about town shows that they are not afraid of their lungs.

President Grant has tendered the appointment of Assistant Librarian of Congress to M. V. B. Stimson, Esq., of Kittery, who has been obliged to decline, on account of his connection with the introduction of the Mutual Benefit Account Book to the public, and other duties. He is also about to start a commercial paper in Portland.

There are thirty vessels most of them with cargoes of coal lying between Spring Hill and Railroad wharves.

Chief Engineer Thos. Williamson is detached from duty at this Station and ordered to U. S. S. Hartford as Fleet Engineer of Asiatic squadron.

More Enthusiasm.

The Young Men's Greeley and Brown club are requested to meet at Union Hall, on Market street, this evening at 8 o'clock. A full attendance is requested.—Portsmouth Greeley organ.

A friend of ours—a Greeley man, but not over "enthusiastic" — who looked into Union Hall at ten minutes past 8 o'clock on the evening mentioned, found that the "Young Men's Greeley and Brown club" had mustered ten strong—one Irishman, two Americans and seven boys. Our friend, thinking if that was all the "full attendance" the hiring and lighting of a special place of meeting, joined to the earnest appeals of the office-seekers' organ, could bring together, that he would probably have the Greeley procession in honor of the October elections all to himself if he joined the Y. M. G. and B. C., stood not upon the order of his going but cleared out as quick as possible.

The Fearnaught Horses

Appear to be well named. The old horse Fearnaught (now thirteen years old, and owned by Col. Russell of Boston,) took the first premium in his class, and also the gold medal, at the late New England Fair at Lowell. Fearnaught Junior, his son, also now owned in Boston, likewise took the first premium in his class. And other Fearnaughts also took premiums.

Hon. F. Jones' Fearnaught Prince, of this city was not exhibited at Lowell, owing to cutting his foot very severely in a race at Rescue the day previous—after which injury he won a beat in 2:40. But this Prince can make a splendid show of colts, and had some fine ones at Lowell, including the noble three-year-old chestnut stallion "Dover," owned by Lewis T. Sanborn of Hampton Falls. Also Fearnaught Chief, owned by Mr. A. Churchill of Exeter, two years old, for which $1500 was said to be offered at the Fair.

Of yearlings by Prince, Messrs. C. H. Hayes, Com. C. W. Pickering, and F. W. Miller, and probably others of this city, have fine specimens—Mr. Miller's "Junie," black filly, at fifteen months, weighing 800 pounds and standing almost fourteen and a half hands, and well broken to harness. Mr. Jones' himself has the only colts of the present year by Prince—from his well known trotting mares Mountain Maid and St. Lawrence Maid.

Mr. Brown of Stratham, who raised the first Fearnaught, has also three full brothers of that noted horse: and judging from the reported value of Fearnaught and the Junior, (neither of whom, it is said, can be bought for fifty thousand dollars!) these youngsters ought to be worth something. The oldest, Fearnaught Second, a handsome black stallion, now past four years, is a beautiful animal, and the pet of the Stratham Hill Stock Farm. His first colt, a very promising black filly two months old, called "Jilly," is owned by Mr. F. W. Miller, of Lincoln Hill in this city; in whose stables, singularly enough, may be found the oldest son of old Fearnaught, being Mr. Miller's fine horse "Brownie," or the Wiggin colt.

By the enterprise of the Messrs. Brown, of Stratham, and their success in the Fearnaught venture, the quality and value of horse stock in this region has been greatly improved.

State News.

On Friday, the barn of John Willis, of Manchester, containing some four or five tons of hay, was consumed. The L of the house caught fire also, and the house itself was only saved by tearing away the L.

Arithmetical Problem.

Arrange the figures from 1 to 9, inclusive, in such order that by adding them together they will amount to 100. This problem appeared a few years since in the Boston Journal, and as far as my knowledge goes was unanswered. It was generally given up as impracticable. It now appears in Thomas' Almanac for 1872. It can be solved, fairly and squarely. Can any of your many readers give us the solution? N. D.

400 OF THE SINGERS
Failing to Supply the Constant Demand.

All other machines call the public attention to some new loop or stitch or tension or finish, some advantage in running or needles or feed or price —and many of these are as we have said very good points, and the agents selling them use them to divert entirely the would-be purchaser from fairly considering the facts in the case; but the

IN THE MARKET,

All others being copied from its first model. It [illegible] country and preserving done in this over all others combined.

It is readily kept clean, and has THE BEST TENSION EVER INVENTED; it is higher speeded and requires but little power to run; it works equally well upon the finest and heaviest goods; it does all the varieties of work known to the art.

STORING EARLY POTATOES. — We know a large potato grower in Western New York, who dug ten or a dozen acres of Early Rose potatoes last year in August. He was offered forty cents a bushel for them at the time, but thinking they would be higher he pitted them in the field. He apprehended no danger, and it was only for some casual reason that he opened one of the heaps, when he was surprised to find it so hot that he could scarcely bear his hand on it. Had they been left a few days longer every potato would have been spoiled. As it was, he immediately drew them into his barns and basement cellar, and was glad to take the first offer he could get for them. Early potatoes should be barrelled and marketed as soon as they are dug, or else they should be placed in thin layers or small heaps in a barn cellar, and turned over occasionally if there are any signs of heating. If this cannot be done, it is better to leave them in the ground until cool weather sets in. In the case we have alluded to, the farmer dug them because he wanted to sow the land to winter wheat. The expense of handling potatoes is so great that, as a rule, these farmers make the most profit, especially in the case of early potatoes, who ship them directly from the field.—American Agriculturist.

For Coughs, Croup, Diphtheria, Asthma, &c.

USE BUCHMAN'S

PULMOCINE CORDIAL.

The Pulmocine Cordial is not a quack medicine, is not an experiment, is not composed of any ingredients "discovered" by "walking in pastures" in South America or anywhere else, nor by one who discovered a weed and thereby cured himself. Most of the ingredients are such as our best educated physicians daily use for the complaints specified, in some form or other. The Pulmocine Cordial contains no one of Kate Robinson's entirely in his daily practice until his death. It is offered to the profession and to the public, absolutely pure and unadulterated.

FOR SALE BY ALL DRUGGISTS,

Buchman's Pulmocine Cordial

BUCHMAN'S PULMOCINE CORDIAL is no new discovery. Twenty-three years ago it was used by one of New England's most famous physicians as the best PULMONARY CURATIVE he could prescribe, after a dozen years spent in experimenting with it before he was satisfied that the Materia Medica could add nothing in its favor.

Is the ultima thule of Medical Discovery.

Among its many ingredients are WILD CHERRY BARK, SQUILL ROOT, LIQUORICE ROOT, BLOOD ROOT, &c. It is a BLOOD PURIFIER, gently stimulating. It increases expectoration and is diuretic. It is sudorific and alterative. It is a necessary family medicine. It is a Tonic, and a powerful aid to the digestive organs. It is a gentle sedative, and relieves nervousness. It is aromatic and agreeable to the taste.

CLEAR YOUR THROAT!

Relieve Your Lungs.

For the terrible diseases engendered by the lung-trying climate of New England,

Pulmocine Cordial

Is a speedy and reliable Preventive and Remedy. EVERY FAMILY should have a bottle at hand to check the sudden growth of all Pulmonary Diseases. For the Asthma, Coughs, Croups, Laryngitis, or inflammation of the larynx, Diphtheria, and kindred THROAT DISEASES at all times prevalent, it is the ounce of PREVENTION. Children attacked with Whooping Cough or Croup should be immediately cared for. These painful attacks come with scarcely a moment's warning, when a physician may be out of immediate reach. A dose of PULMOCINE CORDIAL gives speedy relief, and the little ones are spared hours of pain and agony. As "a stitch in time saves nine," so does the possession of this FAMILY MEDICINE prevent the spread of disease. Parents seeing their children gasping with pain, friends and relatives beholding each other in peril from suffocation by the choking pain in the throat, paralyzed with fear and not knowing the best course to pursue, are liable to apply the wrong medial agents. There is no safety in delay, no time to waste in such cases. CONSUMPTION, that fearful scourge of the human race, lies at the door of all thus afflicted. BUCHMAN'S PULMOCINE CORDIAL arrests it (unless in its advanced stage at which time there is no local cure) relieves the pressing, suffocating feeling at the lungs, and the patient's danger is past.

AYER'S PURGATIVE PILLS.

For all the purposes of a Family Physic,

CURING

Costiveness, Jaundice, Dyspepsia, Indigestion, Dysentery, Foul Stomach, Erysipelas, Headache, Piles, Rheumatism, Eruptions and Skin Diseases, Biliousness, Liver Complaint, Dropsy, Tetter, Tumors and Salt Rheum, Worms, Gout, Neuralgia, as a Dinner Pill, and Purifying the Blood,

Are the most congenial purgative yet perfected. Their effects abundantly show how much they excel all other Pills. They are safe and pleasant to take, but powerful to cure. They purge out the foul humors of the blood; they stimulate the sluggish or disordered organ into action, and they impart health and tone to the whole being. They cure not only the every day complaints of every body, but formidable and dangerous diseases. Most eminent clergymen, most skillful physicians, and our best citizens send certificates of cures performed, and of great benefits they have derived from these Pills. They are the safest and best physic for children, because mild as well as effectual. Being sugar coated, they are easy to take; and being purely vegetable, they are entirely harmless.
